PROTECTION OF CHILDREN.

The trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company intend to co-operate in Mayor Curley's crusade for the protection of lives of children in the public highways, and have promised to contribute half the $3,000 estimated cost of conducting the campaign, Mayor Curley announces.

E. B. Mero, identified with a civic committee, also interested in the campaign, has been authorized by the Mayor to proceed to New York to consult the directors in the home offices of Boston accident and life insurance companies, and the prospect is that such concerns will contribute between them the remaining $1,500 necessary to meet the expense of production and display.

E. P. Cornell, active in the moving picture industry, is now mapping out on paper the argument of "The Slaughter of the Innocents," the film which will be produced for the safety education of Boston's thousands of children and grown-ups.

"The scenario I'm preparing for Mayor Curley is going to be a straightaway, gripping, realistic presentation of loose thinking and its results as the story is told by newspaper accounts of how children are knocked down, run over or killed outright by the countless number of vehicles that run through the streets," he said.

"Before starting to make the picture I intend to 'train' a group of children and grown-ups to take part in this production. They will be specially fitted to act in the picture in a way to bring home to our audiences the message of the picture, to make auditors, young and old, sit up and gasp at the details of the types of accidents presented.

"After talking with traffic policemen and motorists and those familiar with the habits of children at play in the streets, I believe that in a campaign like this the best way to effect the result we wish to bring about is gently to shock the child or adult mind into a realization of the dangers against which they must guard at the hands of others or through their own carelessness."

Mayor Curley has been receiving queries from other eastern municipalities during the past week, such is the widespread curiosity aroused by the campaign he is undertaking. No film of the kind Mr. Cornell is to make up ever has been prepared elsewhere, and the finished idea will undoubtedly be widely copied.

Dr. David D. Scannell, chairman of the School Committee, informed the Mayor the schoolyards will be opened for community presentation of the film and that the department will give whatever other co-operation it can to the campaign. It will be shown also upon the public parks and playgrounds.

CHANGE IN CONTRACT.

COMMERCE IMPROVING HERE.

Boston is no longer seventh in her rating with other ports of the country in import and export business, showing such rapid improvement as to have already displaced Philadelphia in tonnage and value, and to be rapidly approaching second place. In February of this year, 76 vessels entered the port with cargo to the amount of 218,853 tons, while 58 vessels cleared with 153,350 tons.

In June, 137 vessels entered with 169,015 tons, and 94 cleared with 161,888 tons. June was not the best month of the present year for the port, however, for in April, 102 vessels arrived with 270,211 tons of cargo, while 71 vessels cleared with 138,683 tons. In May, 133 vessels entered the port with 251,449 tons of cargo, and 104 vessels cleared with 192,231 tons.

These figures, according to the customs officials, and presented by Mayor Curley, do not include the vessels entering to discharge portions of their cargo or coming from other United States ports to complete loading. Such vessels are recorded at the port from which they clear or complete discharging. Were these to be added to the figures, it would show a larger increase for the port, since in April eight ships entered to take on a portion of their cargo and then left for other ports, seven in May and nine in June. In April, 43 vessels cleared after having left a part of their cargo; in May, 38, and in June, 51 vessels.

For the same period in 1921 the figures for April reveal there were entered 101 ships with a tonnage of 217,080 tons, and 71 ships cleared with a tonnage of 133,952 tons. In May there were 122 ships entered with 190,148 tons, while 87 cleared with 98,709 tons. In June of 1921 there were 138 ships entering the port with 212,628 tons, and 100 cleared with 119,945 tons. June's exports in 1921, however, amounted to but $3,173,628, and the imports to but $8,439,474. Boston's imports for April of this year were valued at $15,789,094 and her exports at $4,145,223. For May of this year the imports were $15,562,325 and the exports $4,757,275. In May of 1921 the imports were $9,775,206 and the exports but $3,778,672.

For Philadelphia, according to the figures on the "Marine Review," in April there were 94 ships entered with 245,785 tons of goods, and 63 ships with 197,807 tons of cargo cleared; in May there were 117 ships entering Philadelphia with 310,117 tons of cargo, and 80 clearings with 234,220 tons. These figures, however, include the ports of Chester, Wilmington and the whole Philadelphia port district.

REPAIRS AT SANITARY STATION.

The Mayor has approved the request of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works that the day labor forces of the department may be utilized for reconstructing the ramp and platform of the sanitary receiving station at Albany street, which at present is in an extremely dangerous condition. The work is very urgent and will be done by Sanitary, Sewer and Paving Service carpenters and laborers from the Sanitary Service The estimated cost is $5,000.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the laying out and construction of an extension of Breck avenue as a highway, from Langley road to Brayton road, Brighton district.

For the making of the aforesaid improvement an easement for street purposes is taken in the following described land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto:

A parcel of land, being the northwesterly part of the lot now or formerly owned by Charles H. B. Breck heirs, situated on the southeasterly side of Breck avenue, containing twenty-two hundred and fifteen square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, being the southeasterly part of the lot now or formerly owned by Edna L. Rafuse, situated on the northwesterly side of Breck avenue, containing seventy-six square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, being the southeasterly part of the lot now or formerly owned by Hilda Larson, situated on the northwesterly side of Breck avenue, containing three hundred and seventy-seven square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, being the southeasterly part of the lot now or formerly owned by George E. Wood, situated on the northwesterly side of Breck avenue, containing about eight hundred and forty-six square feet, more or less.

The land, owners unknown, running from Breck avenue (highway) to the southwesterly line of Brayton road, now known as Breck avenue.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom, following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Said highway is bounded and described as follows:

Northeast by Breck avenue (highway) sixty-seven and 38/100 feet; southeast by the southeasterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, by two measurements, twenty-six and 63/100 feet on a curve of twenty-three and 19/100 feet radius and two hundred twelve and 71/100 feet; east by the easterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, nineteen and 20/100 feet on a curve of nine and 57/100 feet radius; again southeast by the southeasterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, forty-four and 11/100 feet; again southeast by the southeasterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, twenty-six and 70/100 feet on a curve of twenty-three and 51/100 feet radius; again southeast by the southeasterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, by two measurements, one hundred two and 50/100 feet and sixty-five and 4/100 feet on a curve of eleven hundred two and 26/100 feet radius; again east by the easterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, nineteen and 46/100 feet on a curve of ten feet radius; again southeast by the southeasterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, by two measurements, forty and 79/100 feet and one and 85/100 feet; again south by the southerly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, twenty-five and 20/100 feet on a curve of twenty feet radius; again southeast by the southeasterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, by two measurements, eighty-one and 71/100 feet on a curve of eleven hundred two and 26/100 feet radius and one hundred eighty-nine and 22/100 feet; southwest by the southwesterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, forty-six and 44/100 feet; again northwest by the northwesterly line of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out, by four measurements, one hundred seventy-seven and 75/100 feet, two hundred twenty-seven and 43/100 feet on a curve of eleven hundred forty-seven and 26/100 feet radius, three hundred fifty-four and 48/100 feet and twenty-eight and 53/100 feet on a curve of one hundred forty-six and 4/100 feet radius.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the abutting lots of land on the northwesterly and southeasterly sides of said extension of Breck avenue as hereby laid out and two abutting lots of land on the southwesterly side of Brayton road, now or formerly owned by William H. Elliott and Thomas King, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein.

ACCEPTANCE OF STREET.

The location, direction, width and grade of the private way, at West Roxbury, designated as Roseway, leading southeastery from Centre street for a distance of about 266 feet, have been approved.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

Boston, July 18, 1922.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Finance Commission submits the following report to your honorable body in the matter of an appropriation order of $250,000 from a loan, to establish a building line on Province street, between School street and Bromfield street, submitted by his Honor the Mayor.

The first notice that the Finance Commission had that the establishment of such a line was contemplated this year was the report in the public press of a meeting of the owners of the real estate on Province street, the Street Commissioners and his Honor the Mayor at the Mayor's office on Thursday, July 6, 1922. Such investigation as the Finance Commission has been able to make since that time establishes the following facts:

1. The establishment of a building line or the widening of Province street, as the project is now called, was not considered by the Street Commissioners in their program for this year.

2. Early in June the desirability of widening Province street was suggested to the Street Commissioners by one of the trustees of the McAleer estate, who, at the same time, interviewed the owners of the land abutting the easterly side of Province street on the matter and found them opposed. He did no more about it.

3. The proposed widening contemplates a 50-foot street, and substantially all the land necessary for the widening is to be taken from owners abutting on the easterly side of the street.

4. The land on the easterly side of Province street is owned or controlled by the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, the Olympia Realty Company and George U. Crocker and others, trustees of the Ballard Real Estate Trust.

5. The Olympia Realty Company owns or controls a frontage on Province street of 105 feet about midway between School and Bromfield streets, and is now engaged in building a theater upon this land which will have its entrance on Washington street. The city issued a permit to tear down the old buildings on this land May 9, 1922, when the work of tearing down the building was begun.

6. Max Shoolman is the treasurer of the Olympia Realty Company. He stated to the Finance Commission that the building plans contemplated a building devoted to stores and offices on Washington street, with an arcade entrance to the theater, and that one of the stores is already leased on a long term and includes a basement extending under the theater to the present Province street line.

7. The taking by the city to widen Province street to 50 feet, Mr. Shoolman states, would leave an insufficient depth for a theater, and the construction of a theater and part of the basement to be constructed under the theater would have to be abandoned.

8. The Olympia Realty Company has excavated to a depth of 35 feet on the Province street frontage and has built cement walls on three sides the entire depth. Much of the steel for the proposed building is in place. Mr. Shoolman stated that 500 tons of steel would be rendered worthless except for a junk value if the theater building is abandoned.

9. The Boston Five Cents Savings Bank has tentative plans for a new bank building to be erected in the near future. The taking of part of its land to widen Province street to 50 feet will not prevent such building as is contemplated for banking purposes, provided the bank is able to procure certain land in the rear of such land fronting on School street as remains after the taking.

10. The trustees of the Ballard estate, corner of Bromfield and Province streets, have a frontage of about 60 feet on Bromfield street. To widen Province street to 50 feet it will be necessary to take about 30 feet of this land, all the way back to Province court. This would leave a parcel remaining of not more than 30 feet in width, which is probably too narrow to develop to the best advantage.

The debt-incurring power of the city was estimated at the beginning of the present fiscal year at $3,642,050.65. During the first five months loans aggregating $3,160,000 were authorized by your honorable body, leaving a debt-incurring power as of July 1, 1922, of $482,050.65.

Of the loans already authorized, $1,025,000 is to be devoted to park and playground improvements; $800,000 for sewerage works; $500,000 for making of highways; $500,000 for building Police Station 2, and $335,000 for rebuilding two bridges.

The Finance Commission believes that Province street ought to be made wider. The time that it has had to study this matter has not been sufficient to enable it to consider all the factors that enter into a determination of the extent of the widening.

The commission does not believe that the widening of Province street to 50 feet would solve present traffic conditions to any appreciable degree. If the widening of Province street is to be the beginning of the construction of a through street parallel with Tremont street north and south, that fact ought to be known and a thorough study of the whole situation made before any part of it is begun. But whatever the purpose of the proposed widening, very much more time to study the problem than has been given to any of the parties vitally interested, including city officials who have a duty in the matter, should be allowed before an appropriation order is passed.

There seems to the Finance Commission to be an insuperable financial objection to this widening in this financial year. A conservative estimate of the cost of widening and constructing Province street will exceed $1,000,000 by a substantial amount. As the commission understands the matter, the city is now proposing to take such action as will prevent the Olympia Realty Company from continuing to build upon certain of its land bordering on Province street. The city proposes to do this for the purpose of widening Province street its entire length. The city cannot be said to be establishing a building line when it is actually depriving the owner of real estate of its present use. Before undertaking such a public improvement the city must have the money available to pay for it. There are not now sufficient funds available to carry out this proposed widening project, even if the entire balance of the debt-incurring power is used.

The Finance Commission has repeatedly reported on the danger to the city of reducing its borrowing power below $500,000 so early in the financial year. To further reduce the city's borrowing power—now $482,000—would be to place the finances of the city in a perilous condition for the next six months.

The Finance Commission recommends that your honorable body do not approve the order now before you for an appropriation of $250,000 to establish a building line on Province street.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman,
COURTENAY GUILD,
JOHN F. MOORS,
J. WALDO POND,
The Finance Commission.

The Mayor addressed the following communication to the Finance Commission:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.
July 19, 1922.

HON. MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman Finance Commission, 413 Tremont Building, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge receipt this day of your communication relative to the improvement of Province street.

Replying thereto, I beg to state that the recommendation made to the City Council provides for the creation of a building line to continue until June 1, 1923. This recommendation was made for the sole purpose of safeguarding the city financially and making such provision as was possible for the convenience of the public and the establishment of a new business thoroughfare in the heart of the city. The question of the ultimate establishment of a permanent thoroughfare of which the portion between Bromfield and School streets would serve as a part is a question that can best be determined by the City Planning Board. To follow the recommendation of the Finance Commission and to delay action at this time would result in a later increased cost which might render the proposed improvement impossible of consummation. My personal opinion is that at no time during the past century has it been possible to carry through a project of this character at a less cost than at the present time, and there is no way in which either the City Council or the Mayor can justify further delay.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

BOSTON, July 20, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—Your letter of the 19th instant in reply to a report of the Finance Commission, dated 18th instant, to the City Council, in the matter of an appropriation from loan of $250,000 for establishing a street line on Province street, has been received.

The commission is in accord with your Honor in believing that the widening of Province street would be a desirable improvement. The real questions at issue, however, are whether the finances of the city will justify the proposed widening now and whether the way proposed is the appropriate way.

The Finance Commission is not in accord with your Honor in the opinion expressed in your letter that at no time during the past half century has it been possible to carry through a project of this character at a less cost than at the present time.

It appears that during the past three months the abutting owner of the land where your Honor now desires to establish a street line has expended or contracted to expend a sum approximating the amount that you ask the City Council to appropriate, not including the value of the land itself.

In the opinion of the Finance Commission the time to have widened Province street on the east was three months ago, before these expenditures were undertaken and before the city had authorized the use of nearly the whole of its borrowing power for the year for other purposes.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman,
COURTENAY GUILD,
JOHN F. MOORS,
J. WALDO POND,
The Finance Commission.

CALL FOR WORKMEN.

Mayor Curley has issued a call for 2,000 workmen, through his Municipal Employment Bureau, directed by Luke E. Shields, and there is a demand for nearly 3,000 employees. The men wanted are to be of practically all skilled craft, including machinists and allied workmen, and needed by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Quincy Point, which has charge of the remodeling of the United States Cruiser "Lexington."

Appeal was made to the Mayor's Unemployment Bureau during the week and already more than 800 men have been sent to Quincy. The work on the "Lexington" is expected to last about two years, as the cruiser is to be changed over to be used by aircraft at the expenditure of about $3,000,000.

In addition to this contract there is other work in the construction line for those desiring employment. When these men have been put to work it is hoped that this will so effect the buying power that there will be a demand for clerks. For the present the Bureau has no call from employers for this kind of work.

"The Bureau is being more and more recognized," said the Mayor, in making his announcement, by private employers, and more and more of them are calling on the Bureau to supply the help they need. The workers are turning from private employment agencies, too, and coming to the Bureau, showing that it is doing a great public good.

"Another good feature about the Bureau is that there have been no complaints of discourtesy."

REQUEST FOR NEW APPARATUS.

Mayor Curley has requested the City Council to transfer $25,000 from the hospital appropriations for the purchase of a new X-ray apparatus for the Boston City Hospital.

The suggestion came after Mayor Curley had visited the hospital with his three-year-old son, George, who had sustained a fracture of the shinbone while playing leap frog at Kenberma. While the Mayor was waiting, he noticed the long line of patients waiting for X-ray examinations.

REMOVAL OF MOSQUITO PEST.

A conference was held at the office of Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, Health Commissioner of the City of Boston, 1107 City Hall Annex, upon Monday, 17th instant, for the purpose of considering ways and means for the eradication of the mosquito.

It was determined to inaugurate a citizens' campaign throughout the Commonwealth and it is declared that such results willl be determined as draining all lowlands in the state, uniform treatment of all mosquito-producing bodies of water with oil, and the state-wide adoption of all other means known to science of doing away with mosquitoes were predicted. Such results are not to come from the passing and enforcing of any state, county or community laws, but simply from the voluntary co-operation of individuals, associations and communities everywhere in Massachusetts.

George C. Whipple, professor of sanitary engineering, Harvard University, chairman of the committee of the new organization, which is to be known as the Anti-Mosquito Association of Massachusetts, presided.

The objects of the new organization are stated as follows:

"To stimulate interest in the suppression of mosquitoes and other insects which prejudicially affect human comfort and health; to secure and spread information; to urge co-operative efforts by individuals, associations, communities and their governments, to the end that these insect nuisances may be done away with."

The appointment of technical, publicity and finance committees was left in the hands of Chairman Whipple. Plans discussed call for the formation of committees in every community, a delegate from each community committee to be responsible to a county committee, and delegates from the county committee in turn to be responsible to the state committees.

A wide appeal will be made to such organizations as the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts and church and civic organizations generally, and thorough scientific knowledge will be available for every individual or group.

Doctor Mahoney predicts the completion of this organization will eventually result in the reclaiming of all swamp lands in the state.

The menace of the mosquito was explained by Doctor Mahoney, who said they carry not only malaria, but other infections and pointed out 400 such cases were reported in Massachusetts in the last year.

He added that the influx of people from Eastern and Southern Europe, who arrive in this country with malaria in their systems, but with no outward signs, are easy victims for the mosquito. Having bitten such a person, transmission of malaria becomes easy.

Mr. W. F. Harris recalled a case within recent years when a number of aliens were taken to work in Belmont. Soon after their arrival malaria developed in the town, and it was traced to the laborers via the mosquito route. The town was sued for having brought the men with malaria there.

A radio broadcast will be sent from the station at Medford Hillside, setting forth the purposes of the organization, the danger of mosquitoes, etc., as prepared by Professor Whipple and approved by the committee.

The committee is composed as follows: George C. Whipple, chairman, professor of sanitary engineering, Harvard University; J. Albert C. Nyhen, secretary, director of fly and mosquito suppression, Brookline Health Department; Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, Boston Health Commissioner; Dr. Richard P. Strong, professor of tropical medicine, Harvard University; Charles T. Brues, assistant professor of economic entomology, Harvard University; William F. Harris, chairman of the Cambridge Planning Board; Mrs. L. J. Johnson of Cambridge; Mrs. Edward Ellis Allen, president of New England Women's Club of Watertown; W. C. Gray of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange and the Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Percy G. Bolster of the Municipal Women's League of Boston.

FUNDS FOR SOLDIERS.

Mayor Curley has received from Acting Commissioner John H. Dunn of the Soldiers' Relief Department an application for $250,000, to be dispensed in state and military aid, in soldiers' relief and in the cost of burying destitute World War heroes.

The Mayor will forward the request, with his approval, to the City Council. He thinks his administration has done pretty well in cutting down the soldiers' relief disbursements from $135,970 in March to $109,000 in June, by the simple expedient of finding employment for able-bodied men who were hitherto receiving allowance and thus saving the cost of further payments.

The Soldiers' Relief Department asked $1,400,000 last April in the new budget and received $1,100,000.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 67.

The commanding officer of Division 19 has called to my attention the following meritorious police work performed by Patrolmen John D. McPherson and George H. Oliver of that division.

At about 3.30 a. m., Saturday, July 15, the patrolmen were notified by their station to be on the lookout for a colored man who was wanted for assault and robbery on Division 4. Soon after receiving this message they observed a colored man with his face cut and bleeding, hurrying down Blue Hill avenue towards Boston, and on coming up with him, as his account of himself proved unsatisfactory, they arrested him as a suspicious person and he was booked at the station house as such at 4.30 a. m., only one hour after receipt of the message. Upon investigation, the man was found to have stolen a Buick sedan from a man in Brockton, and the Brockton police having a warrant for him, he was turned over to them.

I am very glad to know of this excellent piece of police work on the part of these two patrolmen, and I heartily commend the zeal and alertness which they showed in making this arrest.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 69.

The following named persons are hereby appointed patrolmen and are assigned as follows:

John J. O'Keefe, to Division 6; Harold H. Sturtevant, to Division 17; Thomas Dunn, to Division 15; John E. Striplin, to Division 17; Gaetano G. DeGiacomo, to Division 13; Walter J. Lindsay, to Division 3; John F. Barthel, to Division 9; Edward S. Skehan, to Division 17; James W. Schroeder, to Division 17; Albert E. Ellis, to Division 17; Patrick J. Crowley, to Division 11; Frank E. Barthelmess, to Division 11; Hubert L. Canada, to Division 15; Alfons G. Kolaitis, to Division 3; John T. Sexton, to Division 15; Roland G. Reid, to Division 3; James J. Mulrey, to Division 6; Joseph P. Cullinane, to Division 9; James F. Quinn, to Division 11; Duncan MacKillop, to Division 17; George L. Klages, to Division 13; John S. Wellings, to Division 15; Frederick L. Wilson, Jr., to Division 13; Francis O'Reilly, to Division 11; Harold F. Fitzsimmons, to Division 12; Thomas Carty, to Division 18; James W. Goodfellow, to Division 11.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 72.

The following transfers are hereby ordered:

Patrolman Vincent W. Blackburn, from Division 11 to Division 8.

Patrolman James W. Broderick, from Division 15 to Division 8.

Patrolman William H. Morris, from Division 17 to Division 8.

Patrolman Frederick C. Fallon, from Division 17 to Division 18.

Patrolman Thomas F. Glennon, from Division 2 to Division 17.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

STRANDWAY IMPROVEMENT.

Upon the initiative of Mayor Curley, one of the largest parkway improvements in years, the completion of the Strandway in South Boston, will be started Monday, the 24th instant, and is expected to be completed by Christmas. The work involves the laying out of eleven baseball diamonds and two football fields in the area now covered by mud flats, which are an eyesore to South Boston people and to the motorists who otherwise enjoy a remarkable waterfront drive. Moreover, the drive will be greatly enhanced by the treatment devised by landscape architects.

Readvertisement of bids has caused a reduction of $75,000 in the cost of the work. On original specifications, the contract went to the John McCourt Company, at $524,715. It was decided, however, that the resurfacing of Columbia road, between Mt. Vernon street and a point opposite the Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club, could well be dispensed with for the present. When the new bids were opened, J. C. Coleman & Sons Company was found to be the lowest bidder, at $448,190.

Mayor Curley persuaded the City Council to pass a loan order for $750,000 for the improvement, but this sum may not be needed, either at present or later

REJECTED CLAIMS.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, the Corporation Counsel, states the Law Department has disapproved ten claims against the city in which no amounts were specified. They are classified as follows:

Against the Fire Department, two, in which no amounts were specified; against the Hospital Department, one, in which no amount was specified; against the Police Department, one, in which no amount was specified; against the Public Works Department, six, in which no amounts were specified.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liability on the part of the city.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time for completion of the contract made with John Guarino for building sewerage works in Humboldt avenue, between Walnut avenue and Seaver street, Roxbury, has been granted from July 18, 1922, to August 10, 1922, twenty-three days This extension of time is occasioned by delay caused by Boston Elevated railroad track construction.

An extension of time for completion of contract made with DiLucci & Co. for building sewerage works in Mt. Vernon street, between Charles street and Charles River Embankment, has been granted from June 15, 1922, to August 15, 1922, sixty-one days. This extension of time is occasioned by contractors encountering an exceptionally large amount of water at the junction of new conduit with Boston marginal conduit.

An extension of time for the completion of contract made with Thomas Burke for building catch-basins, manholes and minor drains in Charlestown, has been granted from July 1, 1922, to August 1, 1922, thirty-one days. This extension is occasioned by the fact that the work was not begun as soon after the date set for opening the bids and to the addition of one catch-basin and connection to the contract

An extension of time for completion of the contract made with C. & R. Construction Company for buiiding sewerage works in Washington street, between Beach street and Parkway, West Roxbury, has been granted from June 15, 1922, to November 30, 1922, 138 days. This extension is occasioned by the fact that with the rock to be excavated in the trenches on both sides of the street, the traffic conditions render it inadvisable to excavate on both sides of the street at the same time.

An extension of time for completion of the contract made with J. W. O'Connell for building sewerage works for Oakland brook in Monterey avenue, Savannah avenue, private land, Itasca street and Currier street, Dorchester, from July 31, 1922, to September 30, 1922, sixty-one days. This extension of time is in addition to a previous extension dated April 10, 1922, making a total of 153 days, and is occasioned by the fact that the work is of a more difficult nature than was anticipated. It will take this additional length of time to complete the work.

An extension of time for completion of the contract made with William Barrett & Co., for building sewerage works in Hyde Park avenue, from 250 feet southwest of New Allen street, 550 feet southwesterly, Hyde Park, has been granted from August 5, 1922, to September 30, 1922, fifty-six days. This extension of time is occasioned by the fact that owing to the difficult nature of the work it will require the requested additional length of time to complete the work.

An extension of time for completion of the contract made with L. DeSisto & Co. for laying and relaying water pipes in Ogden street and Wilmington avenue, Dorchester, Ashfield, Berry, Conway, Dunbar, Fairview, Maple, Orange, Primrose, South Walter, Weld, Westover and Willow streets, West Roxbury, has been granted from July 15 to August 12, 1922, twenty-eight days. This extension of time is occasioned by the fact that the contractor suffered serious delay at the outset on account of labor conditions and has been greatly handicapped for the past few weeks by unfavorable weather.

An extension of time for completion of the contract made with George J. Regan for building sewerage works in Morton street, from West Selden street to summit about 90 feet southeast of Fairmount street, Dorchester, has been granted from July 15, 1922, to September 30, 1922, seventy-seven days This extension of time is in addition to a previous extension dated April 10, 1922, making a total of 147 days and is occasioned by the fact that the work is of a more difficult nature than was anticipated and hence will take this additional length of time to complete it.

An extension of time for completion of the contract made with the B. E. Grant Company, Floyd street, Roxbury, for recutting and relaying granite block pavement, in Essex street, from Washington street to Atlantic avenue; and Harrison avenue, from Essex street to Beach street, city proper, from August 1, 1922, to September 15, 1922.

This extension is requested for the reason that August 1 was set as the date of completion when bids were opened May 25; and inasmuch as these bids were rejected and new proposals invited, which were opened June 15, the award was not made until July 12, 1922.

MAYOR RECEIVES THANKS.

Mayor Curley has received the following indorsement from the National Equal Rights League of the United States:

34 Cornhill,
Boston, July 17, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I have the pleasure of forwarding to you the following copy of resolution passed by the 15th annual convention of the Equal Rights League convening in Boston, on July 8, 1922.

Voted, On Motion of W. M. Trotter, That the National Equal Rights League in 15th annual convention assembled, at the City of Boston, Mass., in the 12th Baptist Church, July 4-8, 1922, thanks his Honor James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston, for the generous donation of $500 toward the expenses of this convention of the League by the City of Boston, affording much edifying pleasure and facilitates for our work for equality of rights.

M. A. N. Shaw,
President.

Attest:
James L. Neill,
Recording Secretary.
William Munroe Trotter,
Corresponding Secretary.

NEW ROADS IN FENS.

A Park Department order, seeking the transfer of $50,000 from the Parkman Fund income to make permanent new roads in the Fens, in the area between Westland avenue and Pond street, Jamaica Plain, has been approved by Mayor Curley and will be presented at the next meeting of the City Council.

Some $12,800 more will be sought from the same fund, with which to repair granolithic walks on Boston Common, near Boylston and Tremont streets, which were disturbed recently by the widening of Tremont and Boylston streets at that point.

PROVINCE STREET HEARING.

Few persons were present in the City Council Chamber upon the 18th instant at the public hearing on the project of widening Province street, as advanced by Mayor Curley, and concerning which an order for $250,000 is under consideration.

Mayor Curley requested the Council to expedite matters. He called attention to the issues involved and deplored delay.

John A. Sullivan appeared as legal representative for the Olympia Realty Corporation, now building what is thought to be an office building and theater on the large plot of land in Washington street at the head of Milk street and backing into Province street. Mr. Sullivan said the Council ought to give a decision quickly, so that the corporation could know whether to change its building plans.

William E. Tucker, representing the Fifty Associates and the Boston Real Estate Trust, said that the organizations were not opposed to the establishment of a 50-foot building line on Province street, but that if the plan was to extend the street southward it would affect some of the property he represented. Councilor Watson failed to induce the speaker to express himself one way or the other with regard to the Province street plan.

Alexander Whiteside, representing as trustee certain property on the west side of Province street, said the beneficiaries had not made up their minds whether they desired to oppose the improvement.

P. Harry Jennings, representing the Boston Central Labor Union, said that his organization had not gone on record one way or the other, but he thought the work would be encouraged as it would mean further employment.

Lieut.-Col. William J. Keville, representing the Boston Real Estate Exchange, reported that organization as against the project, as the street would not form a part of a comprehensive plan of a highway to relieve congestion on Tremont and Washington streets.

Miss Elisabeth Herlihy, secretary of the Boston Planning Board, reported the organization as on record in favor of a highway between Tremont and Washington streets, of which the Province street work would be the first link.

REVISION OF ASSESSMENTS.

In the matter of the application for revision of assessments levied on account of the construction of sewerage works, the Board of Street Commissioners, acting under the provisions of chapter 359 of the acts of the year 1896, and deeming it just and proper that such action should be taken upon said applications, have

Ordered, That the amounts hereinafter specified, being the annual apportionments of said assessments for the years specified below, be and the same are hereby abated:

John J. McGrath, trustee, 1921 apportionment, Plan 5, 1909, lot 11, Poplar street, assessed March 22, 1911	$25 42
Hannah A. Gilman (Augustus W. Mott), 1921 apportionment, Plan 65, 1910, lot 12, Lorette street, August 20, 1912	7 20

ACCEPTANCE OF STREET.

The location, width, direction and grade of the private way designated as Forest avenue, from Milton street to Linden street, Hyde Park, has been accepted.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

Antony Baruffaldi has been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for building sewerage works for Glendale road outlet, Section 1, North avenue, between metropolitan sewer and Centre street, West Roxbury. Items ordered: Remove 50 feet of old stone culvert under New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, West Roxbury Branch, at agreed price of $15 per linear foot, and care for all water flowing under the railroad on line of the culvert at agreed price of $750, due to this culvert, as indicated on the plan, being different from what was found on excavating, the estimated cost of extra work being $1,500.

P. DeCristoforo has been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for laying and relaying water pipes in Dudley street, Roxbury. Items ordered: To relocate two catch-basin drains, clean out and remove catch-basin at Magnolia street, reset about 150 linear feet of edgestone, lower 6-inch water pipe in Brook avenue, brace and block 24-inch low service water pipe, assist Water Service employees to transfer twelve services to 16-inch high service pipe. The estimated cost of extra work being $450.

Samuel J. Tomasella has been directed to perform the following extra work upon contract for building sewerage works in Adams street, from Rosemont road southeast to Lonsdale street, Dorchester. Items ordered: Cut gutter-mouth in existing edgestone, the estimated cost of extra work being $8.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1909 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms.

BOSTON TRUST FUNDS AND BEQUESTS.

Number of permanent funds and bequests held by the City, February 1, 1921, for various purposes, 128, representing a total value of $10,025,490. The earliest dates back to 1674, viz., Gibson School Fund. The largest fund is the bequest of the late George F. Parkman, consisting of various parcels of real estate (now mostly sold) valued at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000, the income from which (about $195,000 annually) is used for the upkeep and improvement of the older parks. Total amount of Parkman Fund in custody of City Treasurer, $5,377,877; next in amount, $907,894, made up of 17 funds in charge of the Overseers of the Public Welfare; (3) the Franklin and Franklin Union, amounting to $766,808; (4) 41 Public Library funds, $674,533; (5) Public School Teachers' Retirement, $665,568; (6) 8 Cemetery funds, $609,839; (7) Permanent School Pension, $380,516; (8) Police Charitable, $207,550; (9) 19 School funds, $170,936; (10) 19 Hospital funds, $97,750; 18 others, $166,219. Average annual income from all invested funds, nearly 4 per cent.

Two other funds are held by incorporated members of the Fire Department and Police Department respectively, viz.: Firemen's Relief Fund, amounting to $240,000 and Police Relief Fund, $232,005.

The Thorndike Memorial Building Fund, viz., $200,000 (bequest of George L. Thorndike) received by City Treasurer in 1919, is to be used for a ward building for clinical research purposes by the City Hospital Trustees. A loan of $150,000 for this object has been authorized but not yet issued.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to September 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works for the following construction work:

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch and 12-inch earthen pipe in Roanoke road, between Pleasantview street and a point 55 feet southeast of Hebron street, in the Hyde Park district, at an estimated cost of $8,400.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Fairview street, between Manor street and a point 80 feet northeasterly, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $520.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Ormond street, between Duke street and Outlook road, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $619.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Ruskin road, between 239 feet, southeast of Wood avenue and a point 200 feet northeasterly, in the Hyde Park district, at an estimated cost of $1,400.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Oak avenue, between Adams street and a point 240 feet easterly, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $1,560.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe and a surface drain of 10-inch earthen pipe in Catherine road, between Wren street and a point 315 feet northeasterly, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimatd cost of $2,230.

A surface drain of 15-inch earthen pipe and two catch-basins in Murray Hill road, at Roslindale Branch of Stony brook, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $956.

Sanitary sewers of 10-inch earthen pipe in the following streets: Owen street, between Tiverton road and Morton street; Stow road, between Tiverton road and Doone avenue; Doone avenue, between Stow road and Glenhill road; Tiverton road, between Lorna street and Glenhill road; Glenhill road, between Tiverton road and 650 feet southwesterly; and a sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Lorna road, between Morton street and Tiverton road, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $14,994.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe and a surface drain of 18-inch earthen pipe in Colonial road, between Melton road and a point 80 feet northeasterly, in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $1,100.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Colonial road, between Euston road and a point 150 feet northwesterly, in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $800.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Colonial road, between Melton road and a point 165 feet northerly and northwesterly, in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $1,100.

REMOVAL OF ODORS.

Mayor Curley has started a well defined plan to eliminate the noxious odors which emanate from the garbage plant at Spectacle Island, and residents of Winthrop, East Boston, South Boston, Hull and parts of Dorchester will experience their first relief in years. Ever since this plant was established, the nuisance from the conversion of the garbage into salable products has caused protest. A few months ago when the new contract for ten years was under consideration, complaints were expressed in even greater number than ever.

Mayor Curley held a conference with Health Commissioner Mahoney and Public Works Commissioner Rourke, at which the suggestion that George A. Johnson, of the firm of that name in New York, be engaged as consulting engineer in the Sewer and Sanitary Division, in an effort to solve the problem of odors, was adopted.

The present seems an opportune time to secure the services of some engineer of national reputation and experience in connection with Public Works Department problems, particularly those relating to the collection and disposal of garbage and refuse.

George A. Johnson, of the George A. Johnson Company, Inc., consulting engineers, 150 Nassau street, New York City, had a very important assignment during the war, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel, acting as assistant to the officer in charge of the various camps, cantonments, army base and army post utilities throughout the United States and in the Canal Zone.

Mr. Johnson is very well known and has a splendid reputation in the engineering profession, and his services will undoubtedly be of great help to the city for expert advice.

The Spectacle Island proposal is one of magnitude. New machinery would have to be installed to absorb the odors. The cost might be so great that the present administration would not attempt to make the change unless with the co-operation of the contractor. Health officials, however, believe that every effort should be made to relieve the populous sections from the nuisance which prevails.

Orders were given to a rendering plant in South Boston that it must take some means of eliminating odors or the plant would be closed. The proprietor assured the Health Department that steps had already been taken and that the plant would be closed at once for the installation of new machinery. Some time ago a Charlestown plant was informed that odors must be prevented and today the plant is odorless.

OPPORTUNITY FOR EXPERT.

The Mayor's Commercial and Industrial Bureau is in search for a $15,000 man for a lumber firm that made the request, with the following qualifications necessary in order to get the position.

"He must be an engineer familiar with every branch of the lumber industry, must know the best uses for different kinds of timber, know how to handle large crews of men, how to build and operate the roads to the camps, and how to build and operate saw mills and pulp mills."

Such a man can get a hearing with the principals by applying to the Commercial and Industrial Bureau at City Hall.

WATER MAINS FOR AERO FIELD.

Mayor Curley has received a request from Edmund W. Longley, representing the Boston Chamber of Commerce, for the laying of water mains leading to the airplane field in East Boston, for which the state appropriated $35,000. The Mayor was informed that the Chamber will be obliged to spend $9,000 to place the field in proper condition and that the estimated cost of the water mains would be $4,000. The Mayor declared that it was to be deplored that the state fund was insufficient, but that nothing should be permitted to interfere with the development of so important an enterprise.

DEMOLITION OF BUILDINGS.

The Mayor has granted Dr. David J. Johnson, Commissioner of the Institutions Department, permission to tear down two wings of the hospital building at Deer Island. These wings have been partly destroyed by fire and are considered a fire hazard by the fire chief, who has recommended their destruction. All material that is in any condition to be of future value will be salvaged. There will be left a four-winged hospital building, which will house about eighty persons if necessary.

PROCEEDINGS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

July 5, 1922.

A special meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the School Committee Building, Mason Street, at 6:07 o'clock P. M., the Chairman presiding.

Present: Dr. Bogan, Miss Curtis, Messrs. Lane, O'Connor and Scannell.

APPROVAL OF RECORDS.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was omitted, the Board approving them as printed.

APPOINTMENTS OF TEACHERS.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointments of teachers, as reported by the Superintendent, and laid over at the last meeting.

The appointments were approved.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED. That the three accompanying pamphlets of a series of courses in science for intermediate schools and classes,

No. 10. Fire.
No. 11. Heat.
No. 12. Sound.

are hereby authorized to be printed as school documents.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED. That the accompanying revised Special Syllabus—Shopwork for Grades VI to IX is hereby adopted for elementary schools, intermediate schools and classes and prevocational classes and that eight hundred fifty (850) copies be printed as a school document.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED. That the accompanying revised outline of work in geography for intermediate classes is hereby adopted and that one thousand (1,000) copies be printed as a school document to take the place of the outline of geography, which appears in school document No. 10, 1917—Outline of Work in Geography and History for Intermediate Classes.

ESTABLISHMENT OF SPECIAL CLASS. EDMUND P. TILESTON DISTRICT.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of July 5, 1922, reporting that, subject to the approval of the Board, he has established a special class in the Edmund P. Tileston District, to take effect Sept. 12, 1922.

Approved, and placed on file.

ESTABLISHMENT OF AFTERNOON KINDERGARTEN, ELIOT DISTRICT.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the establishment of an afternoon kindergarten is hereby authorized in the Eliot District, to take effect Sept. 12, 1922.

EMPLOYMENT OF TEMPORARY ATTENDANCE OFFICER.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the continuance of the employment of a temporary attendance officer on Saturdays in the market district, to assist the Supervisor of Licensed Minors in the conduct of his duties, is hereby authorized up to and including Dec. 31, 1922, the hours of such service to be from 2:30 to 10:30 o'clock P.M., compensation to be at the rate of five dollars ($5) per day of service.

SUMMER VACATIONS OF SUPERVISING NURSE AND SCHOOL NURSES.

The Superintendent offered the following:

ORDERED, That the vacations of the supervising nurse and the school nurses, as provided for in section 154, paragraph 5 of the regulations, are hereby extended to include September 1 and 2, 1922.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

RESIGNATION AND APPOINTMENTS OF CLERICAL ASSISTANTS, DAY HIGH AND DAY ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of July 5, 1922, reporting the resignation of Margaret W. Brownson, as clerical assistant, Brighton High School, to take effect Aug. 31, 1922.

Placed on file, and the resignation accepted, to take effect on the date stated.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of July 5, 1922, reporting that, subject to the approval of the Board, he has appointed the following-named clerical assistants in the day elementary schools as indicated, by transfer from the offices of the Superintendent and Secretary, said transfers to take effect Sept. 12, 1922:

Abraham Lincoln District—Elinor E. Gethins.

Eliot District—Alice G. Walsh.

Mary Hemenway District—Frances M. Donahoe.

Mather District—Lulu Clark.

William E. Endicott District—Catherine G. Lenehan.

Placed on file, and the transfers approved, to take effect on the date stated.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of July 5, 1922, reporting that, subject to the approval of the Board, he has appointed Alice R. Norton as clerical assistant, Dearborn District, by transfer from the Finance Commission, to take effect Sept. 12, 1922.

Placed on file, and the transfer approved, to take effect on the date stated.

PETITION FOR NEW QUARTERS FOR TRADE SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

A communication was received from the Superintendent under date of July 5, 1922, to whom was referred at the meeting of Feb. 20, 1922 (see p. 13) a petition from the Advisory Committee of the Trade School for Girls for a new building or better accommodations for that school, reporting that the Board of Apportionment gave careful attention to this school's need for better and more suitable accommodations in connection with the preparation of this year's land and building budget, but found it impracticable to recommend an item for a building for the Trade School for Girls, partly because of lack of available funds, and partly because of the seeming impossibility of finding suitable available site or suitable accommodations for the school at a moderate price.

The Board of Apportionment has placed the Trade School for Girls on the list of items now deserving of special consideration, and the members of the Board of Apportionment, in conference with the Schoolhouse Commission, are studying the South End situation and the City Proper, with a view to securing a suitable site at a reasonable price, or a building which could be remodeled for the school.

Placed on file.

PETITION OF PHYSICAL TRAINING TEACHERS FOR PRIVILEGE OF APPOINTMENT AS ASSISTANTS, DAY HIGH SCHOOLS.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of July 5, 1922, to whom was referred at the meeting of May 2, 1921 (see p. 50), a petition from teachers of physical training in the day high schools that the seven-year privilege for the granting of the IV. High School certificate which now applies to other special teachers in those schools be given to teachers of physical training, reporting that the amendments to the rules and regulations submitted at the meeting of June 19, 1922, on recommendation of the Board of Superintendents, contain amendments which, when adopted, will give to these teachers of physical training in the day high schools the opportunities for obtaining the IV. High School certificate under the conditions which apply to other teachers in those schools serving under the valid in day high schools certificate, and no further action upon the prayer of the petitioners is therefore necessary.

Placed on file.

AMENDMENT TO REGULATIONS.

The Superintendent offered the following:

ORDERED, That the regulations are hereby amended as follows:

Section 255, paragraph 2. Strike out the words "provided, that no appointments of teachers to permanent positions in the day schools shall be made to take effect between the first Monday in May and the close of the same school year"—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

2. Appointments of teachers to the day school service, of members of the supervising staff, and of other persons whom the superintendent is authorized to appoint, may be made at such times as the needs of the service may require.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

CERTIFICATION OF SPECIAL ASSISTANTS AND TEMPORARY TEACHERS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the Superintendent is hereby authorized to approve for certification to the Business Agent special assistants and temporary teachers, who have been employed during the current school year, and whose names have not been approved by the School Committee prior to this date.

SALARY SCHEDULE FOR TEACHERS, MEMBERS OF SUPERVISING STAFF AND OTHERS, YEAR ENDING, AUG. 31, 1923.

The following eleven orders, establishing a salary schedule for teachers, members of the supervising staff and others, for the year ending, Aug. 31, 1923, were submitted:

1. ORDERED, That the salaries of teachers, members of the supervising staff, and others in the public schools, are hereby established for the year, Sept. 1, 1922, to Aug. 31, 1923, inclusive, in accordance with the following schedules and subject to the following restrictions:

1A. ORDERED, That the salaries of teachers, members of the supervising staff, and others who receive annual salaries which have been fixed by Order 1A of the salary schedule for the year ending, Aug. 31, 1922, shall, during the year, Sept. 1, 1922, to Aug. 31, 1923, inclusive, be fixed and advanced in accordance with the provisions of said order.

1B. ORDERED, That the salaries of teachers, members of the supervising staff, and others who receive annual salaries which have been fixed by Order 1A or Order 1B of the salary schedule for the year ending August 31, 1922, shall, during the year September 1, 1922 to August 31, 1923, inclusive, be fixed and advanced in accordance with the provisions of said orders; provided, that the salaries of such persons in those ranks in which the minimum and maximum salaries have been increased over the minimum and maximum provided in the existing schedules by unequal amounts, shall on September 1, 1922 be advanced by the amount of the increase in the minimum of their respective schedules, and the salaries of such persons shall thereafter be advanced upon their respective anniversaries by the annual increment provided in the following schedules until the new maxima of their ranks are reached; provided, that the final increment shall be such amount as shall place the teacher upon the maximum salary of the rank.

1C. ORDERED, That the salaries of masters of day elementary and day intermediate schools which have been fixed by Order 1C of the salary schedule for the year ending August 31, 1922, shall, for the year September 1, 1922 to August 31, 1923, inclusive, be fixed and advanced in accordance with the provisions of said order.

1D. ORDERED, That in the application of the following schedule to teachers and members of the supervising staff whose appointments to enter or re-enter the service take effect on or after September 1, 1919, and whose compensation is paid under the ten-payment plan, the annual compensation as specified for teachers and members of the supervising staff appointed to permanent positions in the day school service shall be for such service rendered between September 1, 1922, and June 30, 1923, both inclusive.

1E. ORDERED, That subject to the provisions of Order 1A, the salaries of assistants elementary schools, assistants kindergarten, assistants Horace Mann School for the Deaf, instructors special classes, assistants speech improvement classes and classes for conservation of eyesight, teachers of cookery, teachers of sewing, and assistant instructors in manual training, appointed before February 1, 1921, which have been fixed by Order 1E of the schedule for the year ending August 31, 1922, shall, for the year September 1, 1922 to August 31, 1923, inclusive, be fixed and advanced in accordance with the provisions of said order.

UNIT GARAGES AND SIDEWALK PUMPS.

Mayor Curley sent the following communication to Gen. John H. Dunn, chairman of the Board of Street Commissioners, upon the 27th instant, relative to unit garages and sidewalk pumps:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 27, 1922.

Gen. John H. Dunn, Chairman, Board of Street Commissioners.

Dear Sir,—I would greatly appreciate a study by your Board of the unit garage proposition and also sidewalk gasolene pumps.

In my opinion, from what I have been able to observe, unit garages in excess of three units constitute a distinct injury to property valuations and are an injustice to everyone except the individual to whom the permit is granted.

In the matter of sidewalk gasolene pumps, I confess that there seems no way to justify this encroachment on public thoroughfares, and I sincerely trust that your Board will consider the advisability of establishing a limitation on unit garages and the prohibition of sidewalk pumps.

Respectfully,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Park Department.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with J. C. Coleman & Sons Company for grading and constructing concrete bleachers at the Christopher Gibson Playground, Dorchester. A communication from Chairman James B. Shea of the Park Department was as follows:

City of Boston,
Park Department, July 19, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—By vote of the Board of Park Commissioners authority is respectfully asked to award, without advertising, to J. C. Coleman & Sons Company, 1620 Tremont street, Roxbury, a contract for grading and constructing concrete bleachers at the Christopher Gibson Playground, Dorchester, for the approximate sum of $32,250, as follows:

Work to be done on revised plan. All quantities are estimated.

Clearing site, $75; 4,500 cubic yards loam excavation at $1, $4,500; 6,500 cubic yards earth excavation at $0.90, $5,850; 100 cubic yards rock excavation at $3, $300; 100 cubic yards loam furnished at $1.50, $150; 10 cubic yards brick masonry at $20, $200; 300 linear feet 8-inch drain at $1.25, $375; 200 linear feet 10-inch drain at $1.50, $300; 6 stone posts at $50, $300; 8 concrete posts at $10, $80; 30 cubic yards concrete foundation at $8, $240; 670 cubic yards concrete grandstand at $26.50, $17,755; 25,000 pounds steel reinforcement at $0.05, $1,250; 35 cubic yards concrete stairways at $25, $875. Total, $32,250.

The reason that the Board asks to award this contract without advertising is that we have abandoned the first contract for doing this work on account of the opposition of the adjoining residents to the location of the bleachers, and we believe that as the contractor has agreed to adjust his claim to the satisfaction of the Board, that it would be more advantageous to the interests of the city to make a contract with the J. C. Coleman & Sons Company who have their whole equipment on the grounds at the present time.

Yours very truly,

James B. Shea,
Chairman.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon July 21 the Mayor approved a contract with Hardy & Streeter for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 20, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Hardy & Streeter, 12 Pearl street, Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract for relaying wood block on Washington street, from Cornhill to Court street, with division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 19, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— Authority is requested to relay wood block pavement, on Washington street, from Cornhill to Court street, with division force, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $1,500. This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Yours respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 26 the Mayor approved a contract with Metzger, Fisher & White for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 26, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets without advertising, to Metzger, Fisher & White, Otis Building, Philadelphia, Pa., is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and the abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

CHIEF TABER REPORTS UPON NEW FIRE APPARATUS.

Mayor Curley received from Chief John O. Taber of the Boston Fire Department upon the 24th instant, a report upon the installation of new fire apparatus and the further motorization of the Department.

The report of Chief Taber was as follows:

City of Boston,
Fire Department.
Office of Chief of Department,
July 21, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Mr. Mayor,—For your information I beg to tender the following data as the same affects motor-driven apparatus:

We have received from the American-LaFrance Company the following various types of motor-driven apparatus, eleven pieces in all:

Seven Type 75, 750-gallon combination pump and hose cars.
Three Type 75, combination chemical and hose motor cars.
One Type 31, 75-foot aerial truck.

The hose cars are of the six-cylinder type and the aerial truck is of the four-wheel tractor type. These extremely powerful hose cars were purchased for the reason that we have found from experience that in heavy storms we have the required power. The four-wheel tractor for aerial trucks which has come into existence in recent years is singularly flexible, especially where there is also a tiller, in that it can be utilized in our narrower streets and thoroughfares, while on the other hand, with the ordinary front-drive tractor, proper manipulation of apparatus is exceedingly difficult, and in many instances impossible.

All of the apparatus is equipped with a solid 8 per cent semipneumatic tire, which is very resilient, eliminating much of the pound and vibration developed in very heavy apparatus such as we have in this department. Furthermore, they possess a nonskid quality which is truly wonderful and, of course, after trial and experience, we have adopted this type of tire as it spells safety not alone to the apparatus but to the members of the department who are carried on apparatus to fires.

After reviewing the entire field, it was decided to locate the various apparatus with the following companies:

Engine 4.—Having very limited runs, a Christie front-drive steam fire engine, 4⅝ size pump, was placed in service with this company, thereby replacing horse-drawn steam fire engine and three horses.

Engine 6.—The same conditions prevailed here as in Engine 4, mentioned above. In this house will be located a new 750-gallon combination pumper and hose motor car, carrying hose equipment, so that really the service in this section of the city is practically doubled, in that they have two pieces of apparatus carrying the necessary chemicals, pumpage and hose, with efficient operation to handle a very stiff fire.

Engines 12, 13 and 24.—Will be equipped in much the same manner as Engine Company No. 6, described above.

Engine 49.—Now a hose company, will have installed a combination pump and hose motor car.

With the exception of Engine Company No. 49, in each of the above companies there will be a double service similar to that of Engine Company No. 6.

The hose car which will be taken out of Engine 49 will be located in Engine House 45 in the central section of the West Roxbury district, which will give them double service, and will also reinforce the efficiency of the fire stream by having a deck gun which can be utilized to stop or hold a fire which, by virtue of a good start, might extend.

It is our intention, as soon as the companies herein mentioned are fully motorized, to eliminate independent chemical companies, as this is really not needed owing to the fact that the apparatus now in construction (motor) has 50 per cent more efficiency in its operation covering a larger area in one half the time that the horse-drawn apparatus would consume. These chemicals are a surplus, and the apparatus which is now in service with the chemical companies will be relocated with motor pumping engines, thereby reducing the overhead and obtaining a much greater pressure than they would have operating from a hydrant or as a chemical company.

Again, demonstrating the double service that the combination pump and hose motor car and the combination chemical and hose motor car, operating from the same house, would give, they could operate under extraordinary conditions as two pieces of apparatus, with more efficiency and a lesser number of men. For example, we will take Chemical Company No. 10. By virtue of its location, within striking distance of Engines 12, 13, 14, 23 and 24, in some few instances in this group it is within approximately 1,500 feet therefrom, and is also located in the same quarters with a truck company. What chance is there for Chemical 10 to operate with companies responding to a central location assuming that it be the location of Chemical 10's quarters? Ordinarily, the apparatus would be there within a minute or a minute and a half from the time that the box was pulled. The greatest distance for all of the apparatus responding would be less than one half mile. Such cases as these have been picked out in which there has been needless overhead existent, and with motorization we have not alone reduced maintenance, but will render a more efficient service, and the men that are not carried on this chemical company will be used for strengthening in man power other companies in the department.

Extensively running to single-units known as a three-way combination service in a city such as we have, in which the construction is more than seventy-five per cent wood frame, all of it built to burn, it has been found to be the most practical move. After all, the greatest factor is getting to the fire safely and quickly with a heavy stream if needed. This can only be done where you have a double-unit response, and where such is the case there is always a deck gun which carries a heavy stream of water if needed, which can be handled by one member of the company, permitting the other members of the crew to assist in handling flexible streams within or without any side of the building where they may be required.

Engine Company No. 7's quarters are to be rebuilt, and during the said period the horses now stationed therein will be taken out of service, and a 1,000-gallon motor pumper will be assigned there, thus operating as a single unit until their house is completed. The company will be installed, upon completion of its quarters, with a 1,000-gallon combination pump and hose motor car and a six-cylinder combination chemical and hose motor car with deck-gun equipment, so that we are really increasing the efficiency of the force in the congested district with this new installation.

I beg to call your attention to an item wherein you instructed me to provide a motorized ladder truck for the Parker Hill section. Under the present existing conditions, I find that a city service truck would be suited for 98 per cent of truck requirements in that vicinity. In view of this fact, and with a certainty of response with one aerial ladder, I feel that a truck of the type above-mentioned should be located there and I have made arrangements to establish in the quarters of Engine Company No. 37 a motorized city service truck, thereby replacing a horse-drawn truck.

In addition to carrying ladders the truck above described will have a battery of chemical tanks for primary use in the extinguishment of fires. This should certainly reassure the people of the Parker Hill district.

Upon completion of the assignment of apparatus mentioned above, we will have for reserve apparatus the following:

Five motor pumpers; five combination chemical and hose cars; three aerial trucks; three city service trucks; three Christie front-drive tractors; one water tower, thus making a total of twenty pieces, to be utilized for replacement in the event of breakdown, repair or special assignment.

The problem now at hand is fuel, and this has been provided for in many ways. First, by emergency service established from headquarters. Second, by units located throughout the department, and the establishment of a new fuel service by placing in commission a large-sized Mack truck which we now have on hand, with approximately two or three tons of fuel, thus taking the place of the now obsolete horse-drawn apparatus.

The establishment of the apparatus hereinbefore mentioned will release approximately thirty-three (33) horses from service, and will result in motorizing the department by fully eighty-five (85) per cent.

At this writing we have in service six (6) horse-drawn engines and seven (7) horse-drawn trucks, which will in all probability be taken care of by appropriation to cover further purchase and installation in the future of motor-driven apparatus.

Respectfully,
John O. Taber,
Chief of Department.

Locations of companies affected, as described in accompanying communication:

Engine 4, Bulfinch street, West End.

Engine 6, Leverett street, West End.

Engine 7, East street, city proper.

Engine 12, Dudley street and Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury.

Engine 13, Cabot street, Roxbury.

Engine 24, Quincy and Warren streets, Roxbury.

Engine 49, Milton and Hamilton streets, Readville.

Chemical 10, Dudley and Winslow streets, Roxbury. (In quarters of Ladder Company No. 4.)

Mayor Curley issued the following statement:

"The report of the Fire Commissioner setting forth that with the installation of the eleven new pieces of apparatus installed this week that the Department will be 85 per cent motorized is most gratifying and one of the pleasing features of the report is the knowledge that the horse-drawn ladder truck located at Longwood avenue and Huntington avenue and upon which the Parker Hill Hospital section relied in part for protection during the past four years is to be replaced with modern motor apparatus."

STEALING RIDES BY MESSENGER BOYS.

Mayor Curley addressed a letter in behalf of public safety in the streets to the resident directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company and Postal Telegraph Companies upon the 24th instant.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
July 24, 1922.

Resident Director, Western Union Telegraph Company, 169 Congress Street, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—The question of public safety upon our public streets and the devising of ways and means for the protection against needless accidents upon the part of the youth of our city has today become an imperative necessity.

After numerous conferences with public-spirited men, I have determined that one of the most instructive methods of obviating the enormously increasing number of accidents is to depict, by motion picture films, unnecessary dangers that are constantly assumed by the children of our city.

I regret to advise you that the inspectors, who have carefully studied the question of public safety in the streets of Boston, report the fact that, among the youthful offenders in the practice of stealing rides upon trucks and other conveyances, are the messenger boys of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and by reason of the fact that they are in uniform and especially conspicuous, they set an extremely bad precedent for the ordinary boys upon the public streets.

The messenger boys of your company in reality perform a most important public service and it is absolutely necessary that their behavior upon the public streets shall be most exemplary in character.

I sincerely trust that you will give this proposal your careful consideration and review and aid, in every manner possible, this important necessity of providing greater safety upon public thoroughfares.

Sincerely yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor

LAND TAKING IN DORCHESTER AND HYDE PARK.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for a taking of land for sewerage works, in Weybosset street, Dorchester and Hyde Park.

The property is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Weybosset street, bounded:

Northeast by land hereinafter described as taken from owners unknown (Randolph road) six and 38-100 feet; southeast by another part of Weybosset street, seven hundred thirty-two and 84-100 feet; southwest by the same, six feet; and northwest by the same, seven hundred and thirty-five feet; containing forty-four hundred and four square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Randolph road, bounded:

Southwest by land hereinbefore described as taken from owners unknown (Weybosset street) six and 38-100 feet; northwest by another part of Randolph road, fifty-six and 36-100 feet; northeast by Oakland street, six and 70-100 feet; southeast by another part of Randolph road, by two measurements, fifty-eight and 2-100 feet and 83-100 feet; containing three hundred forty-five square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows:

About 791 linear feet of 12-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above-described premises, being part of the private way known as Weybosset street, leading southwesterly from Randolph road for a distance of about seven hundred and thirty-five feet, and part of the private way known as Randolph road, between Weybosset street and Oakland street.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northwesterly and southeasterly sides of Weybosset street, from Randolph road to Roanoke street, excluding the two lots at the southeasterly corner of Weybosset street and Roanoke street, now or formerly owned by Felix Lufkiewicz, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against it herein:

PROVINCE STREET WIDENING APPROVED.

Mayor Curley received the following communication in behalf of Province street widening upon the 24th instant:

Obrion, Russell & Co.,
108 Water Street, July 22, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

In re Province Street.

Sir—From every point of view, particularly that of fire protection of our city, I approve of your projected taking. Upon looking at the foundation wall already installed, it occurs to me that this could be utilized as one wall of a fireproof vault under the proposed street. A footing could doubtless be arranged for in the new foundation wall of the theater and girders carried across to form a roadbed and fireproof roof and doubtless some kind of entrance could be arranged for with one of the abutters.

The city could use this for some of their valuable records to advantage or possibly it could be rented to the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank.

Respectfully yours,

Clinton L. Bancroft,
Fire Protection Engineer.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the discontinuance as a highway of the portion of Geneva avenue, from Dorchester avenue to Park street, between the Christopher Gibson Playground and the John A. Doherty Playground, Dorchester district, and the widening and construction of Park street, as a highway, from Dorchester avenue to Bourneside street, Dorchester district.

The highway named Park street is hereby widened from Dorchester avenue to Bourneside street, and ordered constructed.

The part of said highway as widened herein and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southeast by Dorchester avenue, twenty-three and 99–100 feet; southwest by the southwesterly line of Park street as hereby widened, forty-three and 11–100 feet on a curve of twenty feet radius; southeast by the southeasterly line of Park street as hereby widened, five hundred forty-two and 60–100 feet; west by Bourneside street, twenty and 58–100 feet; northwest by the southeasterly line of Park street as it existed previous to this widening, five hundred and fifty-one feet; and northesat by the southwesterly line of Park street as it existed previous to this widening, forty-three and 11–100 feet on a curve of twenty feet radius; containing eleven thousand six hundred and eighty square feet, more or less.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

The highway named Geneva avenue is hereby discontinued from Dorchester avenue to Park street, between the Christopher Gibson Playground and the John A. Doherty Playground The said highway as hereby discontinued is bounded:

Southeast by Dorchester avenue, one hundred fourteen and 63–100 feet; southwest by the southwesterly line of Geneva avenue as it existed previous to this discontinuance, by two measurements, forty-two and 63–100 feet on a curve of forty feet radius and four hundred forty-three and 3–100 feet; south by the southerly line of Geneva avenue as it existed previous to this discontinuance, thirty-two and 70–100 feet on a curve of thirty feet radius; northwest by Park street, ninety-nine and 34–100 feet; east by the easterly line of Geneva avenue as it existed previous to this discontinuance, thirty and 77–100 feet on a curve of fifteen feet radius; northeast by the northeasterly line of Geneva avenue as it existed previous to this discontinuance, three hundred seventy-two and 41–100 feet; and north by the northerly line of Geneva avenue as it existed previous to this discontinuance, forty-one and 52–100 feet on a curve of twenty feet radius.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvements.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the making of the public improvement, consisting of the widening and construction of Park street, from Dorchester avenue to Bourneside street, Dorchester district, as a highway and award no damage therefor.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the making of the public improvement, consisting of the discontinuance, as a highway, of the portion of Geneva avenue, from Dorchester avenue to Park street, Dorchester district, and awards no damages therefor.

MAYOR EFFECTS SAVING.

With the bulk of Boston's supplies contracted for in the spring and early summer before prices began to soar again the city is making economic history with the prospect of being run at a cost of more than 50 per cent less than last year, according to figures secured by the Mayor from the Supply Department upon the 25th instant.

Last year supplies for the city totaled $3,408,485.12. With half the municipal year for 1922 gone and most of the supplies purchased, the amount contracted for is but $759,817 exclusive of crushed stone, bank gravel and hay. Since most of the supplies are purchased in the spring for the entire year and since Boston took advantage of prices prevailing just before business began its upward climb and prices began to soar again the saving to the city will be enormous.

Lumber prices, for example, have jumped from $5 to $10 per thousand since the city negotiated its contracts in the spring. It has been the same with many other commodities, according to Mayor Curley, and the saving thus achieved will cut the cost by the end of the year to less than half the cost of 1922.

Among the larger items of expense for supplies by the city thus far contracted are: $21,105 for asphalt road oil; $17,172 for emulsified asphalt; $38,760 for road asphalt for construction; $38,172 for cement; $26,750 for iron castings; $24,000 for edgestones; $22,672 for eggs; $108,374 for fire apparatus; $28,673 for flushing and sprinkler machines; $3,163 for hard pine lumber; $32,464 for milk; $59,052 for structural steel; $95,372 for water pipes and castings; $38,345 for water meters and $10,500 for gasolene. ,

THE REMOVAL OF ODORS.

A conference was held at the Mayor's office upon the 27th instant at which were present his Honor Mayor Curley, Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan, Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, Health Commissioner, Mr. Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, Mr. Rupert S. Carven, City Auditor, and Mr. John F. Coleman, contractor in charge of the garbage disposal plant at Spectacle Island.

As a result of the conference, certain facts, overlooked by the general public, were presented, namely: First, that the new contract has been in operation less than one month; second, that large quantities of material, the property of the Boston Development Company who had the contract prior to July 1, is still stored upon the island; third, that there was some doubt as to whether the improvement of the building should be made at the joint expense of the city and the contractor or otherwise; and fourth, the fact that the character of machinery necessary to reduce odors is, in a sense, custom made and not easily procured.

The contractor, as a result of this conference, has agreed to proceed immediately with the repair and reconstruction of the entire plant on the island and he further informed the conference that contracts had been awarded by him for the installation of the machinery which undoubtedly will be installed within 90 days, and which, in his opinion, would result in the elimination of objectionable odors which at present obtain at Spectacle Island.

ERRATA.

By reason of a typographical error in the issue of the City Record of July 22, an addition in the amount of $24,910.77, upon the contract with John Bowen for certain changes in the Thorndike Memorial Building at the Boston City Hospital, while correctly stated in the caption to be $24,910.77, was published in the letter of President Joseph P. Manning as $2,910.77.

MAYOR DENIES MORE PATROLMEN.

Mayor Curley received the following letter from Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson upon the 27th instant:

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I desire to call your attention to the urgent need of this department for more police officers, to the number of at least one hundred. This same recommendation was made by my predecessor in his report to his Excellency the Governor on December 31 of last year; and a few of the reasons for this request I submit herewith:

The traffic situation in this city is becoming more and more acute. There are today more than fifteen thousand additional pleasure cars in this city than there were a year ago, to say nothing of the additional number of trucks which have been added since then, and as you know the traffic in the downtown districts, especially in the market section, is almost unbearable. This department is receiving constant complaints from merchants and others asking for some relief. The captain of the Traffic Division informs me that he will need at least fifty additional men for his division alone.

At the present time the shopmen and other employees of the railroads are on strike. As a matter of precaution since the strike began on July 1, 1922, all long-day men report to their respective stations every day, except on their day of relief which is every eighth day. This is all extra work, for which no extra compensation is given, as only a small percentage of the men detailed of men so detailed are obliged to remain in their respective stations, and are held in reserve to answer any emergency that may occur in the railroad yards and upon the premises of the several railroad companies.

During the summer months, when block parties, band concerts, baseball games on Sundays, free bathing at City Point Headhouse, parades, reviews and public gatherings on Boston Common, conventions, and other public meetings are held, extra details are called for by the captains of the divisions where each special affair is to be held. This means a detail of anywhere from five to forty men, necessitating two or three men from each station throughout the city. This thing happens on an average of from two to three days a week, and as a consequence stations needing men to cover their respective routes are left short of patrolmen, and routes have to be doubled and sometimes tripled in order to make up the required detail. This sort of thing happens also during the winter months, in taking care of large public gatherings and meetings held in different places throughout the city. Then again on Sundays a special detail of seventeen men is sent from seventeen different stations to Division 13 to patrol and protect the large crowd of men, women and children who frequent Franklin Park. This very week a delegation of citizens from that immediate vicinity called upon me and requested me to place additional officers in Franklin Park at all hours of the day and night, and I had to tell them that under the present conditions it was impossible to do so.

During these troublesome days of hold-ups and large store robberies all men assigned to any particular division are absolutely needed in their respective stations for the prevention of crime and the detection and apprehension of criminals if crime has been committed, also for the protection of the lives and property of the citizens who reside or have places of business within that particular district.

These are but a few of the many reasons which I might set forth to your Honor as to why the number of patrolmen in this department should be increased. I am trying, as I know you are anxious to have me do, to keep down the expenses of the city, but I submit that one of the first essentials in carrying on the business of any municipality is to have a police force of sufficient size that it will properly protect the lives and property of its citizens who pay the taxes, and who expect such protection.

Trusting that you may see your way clear to grant this request, I am

Yours very truly,

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Police Commissioner.

Mayor Curley, in a communication addressed upon the 26th instant, declined to accede to the request of Police Commissioner Wilson relative to the appointment of additional policemen declaring the city was already well policed.

A report submitted by Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox reveals that the number of patrolmen, per capita, in the City of Boston is greater than in any one of four leading metropolitan cities.

Mayor Curley authorized the filling of vacancies to which reference was made by the appointment of two patrolmen and three policewomen.

The following figures were submitted by Budget Commissioner Fox:

CITY.	Population.	Patrolmen Employed.
New York	5,620,048	9,887
Detroit	993,678	1,497
Boston	748,060	1,673
Buffalo	506,775	774
San Francisco	506,676	800

MAYOR AGAIN APPEALS FOR NAVY MEN.

Mayor Curley addressed the following letter to Secretary of War Weeks, in behalf of the men of the Boston Navy Yard, upon the 24th instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
July 24, 1922.

Hon. John W. Weeks,
Secretary of War,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary,—The War Department is about to have constructed six (6) sand suckers and hoppers, known in these latitudes as dredges; speecifications for the construction have been advertised and bids called for; yet, unless the bidders are given an opportunity to scrutinize and study the detailed plans and drawings of the draughtsmen it would appear to be impossible to submit a really intelligent competitive bid upon the contemplated construction.

The Boston Navy Yard desires and should have an opportunity to bid on this work in view of the economic conditions existing here and the increasing unemployment at the yard. As the Mayor of Boston to whom these conditions present an acute and intimate problem, I ask that you afford the Boston Navy Yard a chance to enter this competition and provide an opportunity for a highly efficient body of workers—many of them now idle—to obtain work and wages. With this in mind I would earnestly suggest that a copy of the draughtmen's plans and drawings of the work to be done be sent to the Boston Navy Yard for the scrutiny of its Construction Department, and that the time for opening bids be deferred for some weeks to afford them time to make the necessary estimates upon which to base their bids for construction.

I am of the opinion that Boston is entitled to this consideration as a matter of ordinary justice to the workers at the yard and the economic welfare of the city in which they reside; and I trust the War Department will find itself able to do what I cannot help believing the Navy Department has failed and is failing to do. The character of the naval construction at the Boston Navy Yard has been marked in the past by high efficiency and economic desirability; the growing unemployment at the yard entails a loss of a body of workers to this section that represents a menace to the military defensiveness and preparedness of Massachusetts; a loss difficult to supply in emergencies and every honorable effort should be made to conserve the Navy Yard at its highest point of effectiveness.

May we not look to one of our own honored fellow citizens, the Secretary of War, to help out Boston in this economic situation and lend us the aid it calls for.

I have the honor to subscribe myself

Very truly yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 53.

I. Motor Apparatus.

At 5 p. m., June 28, 1922, the horse-drawn steam fire engine in service with Engine Company No. 4 was replaced by a steam fire engine equipped with a Christie tractor. The horse-drawn steam fire engine was placed in reserve, and the horses turned over to the veterinary surgeon.

On July 13, 1922, the horse-drawn steam fire engine in service with Engine Company No. 6 was replaced by a motor driven 750-gallon American-LaFrance pumping engine. The horse-drawn steam fire engine was placed in reserve. The horses were turned over to the veterinary surgeon.

II. New Fire Alarm Box.

A new alarm box will shortly be established at the following location:

Box 2748.—La Grange street and Brook Farm road; assignments will be the same as for Box 2746, and the box will be connected into circuit No. 65.

III. Boston Firemen's Relief Fund.

A donation of $25 has been received from Mr. W. J. Capron, in appreciation of the services of the members of this department at a fire in the building No. 718 Commonwealth avenue, July 1, 1922. The donation has been turned over to the treasurer of the Boston Firemen's Relief Fund.

IV. Register Tape.

Hereafter, register tape for station registers will be delivered to messengers on requisition or memoranda at the Fire Alarm Shop, 11 Wareham street, instead of at headquarters, Bristol street.

General Order No. 55.

I. Inspections.

On inspection routes inspectors shall take note of and include in their reports the following items:

a. Condition of fire escapes, hallways, stairways, floor space, egresses, entrances and obstruction of same, to buildings.

b. Condition of fire shutters and vertical openings, and coverings thereof.

c. Dilapidated buildings, garages and the equipment of same.

d. The keeping for sale and use of volatile and inflammable fluids in mercantile and factory buildings.

e. Condition of water pails, fire appliances and all appurtenances connected thereaith.

District chiefs will direct their inspectors to interview the occupants of all buildings where there is reason to believe that there are volatile or nonvolatile fluids of an inflammable nature kept for use. Wherever found, steps must be taken to have the same kept safely, and applications for permits to keep and use the same should be made, provided it has not already been done.

Inspections must be made regularly and reports of same forwarded through channels to the Fire Commissioner.

II. "Field Service."

"Field Service," published by the National Fire Protection Association will be issued to the deputy chiefs, and through them to the district chiefs. One copy will be retained by these officers, and one loaned to each of the inspection force as a guide to intelligent inspection. Deputy chiefs will apply to the Bureau of Fire Prevention and Intelligence for their copies of the book, and give a receipt for the number received.

These books are the property of the Boston Fire Department and must be accounted for in the same manner as other city property.

General Order No. 56.

I. New Motor Apparatus.

At 1.30 p. m., July 19, 1922, the horse-drawn steam fire engine in service with Engine Company No. 12 was replaced by an American-LaFrance 750-gallon motor-driven combination pumper and hose car. At the same time the horse-drawn hose wagon in service with Engine Company No. 12 was replaced by an American-LaFrance motor-driven combination hose and chemical car. The old apparatus was placed in reserve and the horses turned over to the veterinary surgeon.

At 3.30 p. m., July 21, 1922, the horse-drawn steam fire engine in service with Engine Company No 24 was replaced by an American-LaFrance combination motor-driven 750-gallon pumper and hose car. At the same time the horse-drawn hose wagon in service with Engine Compnay No. 24 was replaced by an American-LaFrance motor-driven combination hose and chemical car. The old apparatus was placed in reserve and the horses turned over to the veterinary surgeon.

II. Chemical Company No. 10 Disbanded.

At 9 a. m., Friday, July 28, 1922, Chemical Company No. 10, Dudley street, Roxbury, District No. 9, will be disbanded and the apparatus placed in reserve. The members of the company will be reassigned, and all response and covering assignments for this company is rescinded.

LAND-TAKING IN BRIGHTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works in Colonial road, Brighton.

The property is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Colonial road, bounded:

South by another part of Colonial road, ten feet; west by the same, fifty-two and 67–100 feet; southwest by the same, one hundred ten and 67 100 feet; northwest by the same, ten feet; northeast by the same, one hundred fifteen and 33–100 feet; and east by the same, fifty seven and 33–100 feet, containing sixteen hundred and eighty square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows, 205 linear feet of 10-inch pipe, sanitary sewer, in the above described premises, being part of the private way known as Colonial road, near Melton road.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northeasterly side of Colonial road, now or formerly owned by George C. Coyle, M. E. and C. E. Wyzanski Trust, Max E. and Charles E. Wyzanski, trustees, Nellie Kelly, and John and Mary J. Kelly, and the lot of abutting land on the southwesterly corner of Colonial road and Melton road, now or formerly owned by Theodore B. Munroe, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against it herein.

Lot.		Amount.
1.	George C. Coyle	$125
2.	M. E. and C. B. Wyzanski Trust, Max B. and Charles E. Wyanski, trustees	125
3.	Nellie Kelly	125
4.	John and Mary J. Kelly	125
6.	Theodore B. Munroe	150
	Total	$650

IMPROVEMENT AT NORTH END.

Mayor Curley has announced plans for the improvement of North End Park, made following a personal inspection and survey with Richard Shaw and Frederick Law Olmstead, architects. The sum of $150,000 will be expended to give plain, practical facilities for the proper utilization of the beach facilities, of which $75,000 has already been appropriated for a new locker and shower bath building, which will be begun in September, at the end of the bathing season.

The Mayor found at his visit that it was difficult to maintain segregation of adults and children of both sexes with existing facilities, and emphasized the need of the new bath house. Separate showers for men, women, girls and boys will be provided. The new building will be of simple, durable construction. Steel, concrete and thick, unbreakable glass will be the material employed. Stones will not shatter the skylights, he predicted.

The fence erected to divide the sexes on the beach by the Mayor in his first administration was down and he found no improvement had been made since. He ordered traffic signs put up instructing bathers to cross the street only where the traffic officer stood. A record of three child deaths in one day and of thirteen in a single year by being run over while passing between the beach and the other side of Atlantic avenue were reported to the Mayor.

Mayor Curley authorized the laying of 1,000 tons of sand on the beach, finding that the entire surface sand previously placed there had been washed away. It was discovered that two fresh water springs on the beach caused this erosion. The Mayor ordered six-inch pipes installed to allow a run-off below the low water mark. No sand has been put on the beach in ten years, he found. The piers will be repaired.

ALIEN LABOR BARRED.

Luke E. Shields, Director of the Municipal Employment Bureau, has found four contractors have violated the law in the employment of aliens on public work, and warned them that drastic action would be taken if conditions were not remedied at once. The contractors agreed to replace aliens with citizens as rapidly as the city employment agency could provide them.

The contractors appeared at the hearing before Director Shields.

M. DeMatteo, A. J. McMurtry, the C. & R. Construction Company and James Barletta were the offending contractors. Patrick E. Donovan pleaded ignorance, and said if he employed any aliens he did not know it. His case was continued. A hearing will be given Warren Brothers at the next session.

Secretary Johnson of the Building Trades Council appeared in behalf of the laborers and cross-examined the contractors. McMurtry admitted he was paying less than the legal wage of 50 cents an hour for ash collection in the Brighton district, in addition to employing aliens.

The contractors declared it was difficult to obtain citizens who would work in water. Most contractors provide rubber boots for their men, it was brought out. The C. & R. concern is laying sewer pipe on Norfolk avenue. It was technically guilty, but had applied to the city for citizens, it was brought out.

Barletta is engaged in laying water pipe on Perkins street, Jamaica Plain. Donovan has a garbage contract in Brighton.

LAND-TAKING IN CITY PROPER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the widening of Kneeland street as a highway, on the southwesterly side, from Harrison avenue to Whitmore street, city proper.

The part of said highway as widened herein and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southeast by Harrison avenue, three feet; southwest by the southwesterly line of Kneeland street as hereby widened, one hundred forty-one and $\frac{58}{100}$ feet; northwest by Whitmore street, three and $\frac{5}{100}$ feet; and northeast by the southwesterly line of Kneeland street as it existed previous to this widening, one hundred forty and $\frac{91}{100}$ feet; containing four hundred and twenty-four square feet, more or less.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

The board determines that the undermentioned estate sustains damages by the making of the public improvement, consisting of the widening of Kneeland street, from Harrison avenue to Whitmore street, city proper, as a highway, to the amount hereinafter set against it, and awards said amount therefor.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 73.

The commanding officer of Division 2 has brought to my attention an especially meritorious piece of police work performed by Patrolman Cecil V. Craig of that division on the morning of July 19.

While patrolling his route on State street at about two o'clock, a. m., Patrolman Craig observed three United States sailors in uniform running from in front of a doorway and immediately gave chase. In passing the doorway the officer saw there a man whom the three sailors had assaulted and robbed of over two hundred dollars.

Finding that he could not catch up with the sailors, Patrolman Craig telephoned to the station for the automobile which was immediately sent, together with Patrolmen McNealy and Shorley, who picked up Patrolman Craig and the man who had been robbed and started in pursuit of the sailors, overtaking them in the vicinity of North End Park.

Before reaching the sailors, two of the officers got out of the automobile and the other speeded past them, thus bringing the sailors between the officers and the automobile and preventing their escape.

The sailors attempted to run away on seeing the officers, but were arrested, identified by the man whom they had robbed, and brought to the station, and the money that they had stolen was recovered.

I am very much gratified to learn of such admirable police work on the part of Patrolman Craig and warmly commend him for his vigilance, sagacity and quickness of action and for the very clever manner in which, with the assistance of Patrolman McNealy and Shorley, who also deserve credit, he made the arrest of the three sailors.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

SIDEWALK SIGNS CONDEMNED BY MAYOR.

Mayor Curley addressed the following communication to Gen. John H. Dunn, Chairman of the Board of Street Commissioners, upon the 27th instant, relative to and condemning the practice of placing signs upon the sidewalks of the city.

The letter of Mayor Curley was as follows:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR, July 27, 1922.

GEN. JOHN H. DUNN, Chairman Board of Street Commissioners.

DEAR SIR,—The custom pursued by many merchants, particularly in the downtown district, of cluttering the sidewalks which should be reserved for the benefit of the traveling public, with signs reading "No Parking Here," in my opinion is illegal and an injustice to the public.

I trust that your Board will consider the advisability of ordering the practice of placing these obstructions on the public sidewalks discontinued

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1909 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms.

UNDERGROUND RAPID TRANSIT IN BOSTON.

The Boston Transit Commission, consisting of five members, two appointed by the Governor and three by the Mayor, began its official existence July 1, 1894, and ended it July 1, 1918, after seven extensions of the original term. It constructed, under the authority of Acts of the Legislature, the following subways and tunnels, the ownership of which is vested in the City of Boston, and all costs to be covered by revenue from same, not by taxation; Tremont Street Subway from Broadway and Tremont st., South End, to North Station and from Boylston st., near Charles to Park st., 1.68 miles, opened to Park St. September 1, 1897, and to North Station on Sept. 3, 1898, costing with subsequent alterations, $4,416,000, the first municipal subway in the United States; East Boston Tunnel, from Maverick square, E. Boston, under Boston Harbor and State st. to Scollay square, Boston Proper, 1.42 miles, opened December 30, 1904, costing $3,336,000; Washington Street Tunnel, from Ash st. opp. Nassau, South End, to Traverse st., near North Station, 1.16 miles, opened November 30, 1908, costing $8,496,700 (including $2,850,000 land damages); Cambridge Connection Subway, from under Park st. station of Tremont St. Subway to Grove st., near Cambridge Bridge, 0.47 miles, opened March 23, 1912, costing $1,465,000; Boylston Street Subway, from Commonwealth ave., near Kenmore st., Back Bay, to Tremont St. Subway, near Charles st., 1.5 miles, opened October 3, 1914, costing $5,327,000; East Boston Tunnel Extension, from Scollay square to North Russell st., 0.41 miles, opened March 18, 1916, approximate cost, $2,450,000; Dorchester Tunnel, from Park st., Boston Proper, to Andrew square, South Boston, 2.26 miles, opened December 3, 1916, as far as South Station, on December 15, 1917 to Broadway, South Boston, and on June 29, 1918, to the Andrew Square terminal; trains of four or six cars are run in the Washington St. Tunnel, continuing on elevated track to Forest Hills, also in Dorchester Tunnel and connecting Cambridge Tunnel from Andrew sq., So. Boston to Harvard sq., Cambridge, while only single or double street-cars are run in the other tunnels and subways; amount borrowed to 1921 for the Dorchester tunnel, $10,750,000. Total cost of all subways and tunnels, about $36,995,000, incl. loan of $825,000 for new Arlington Station, against which a sinking fund of $5,818,710 has been accumulated from the revenue, payable mostly in 40 years from date of each loan (loans since 1911 payable in 45 years), annual interest averaging 3.8 per cent. These underground ways about 8.9 miles in all with total of 19.27 miles of single track were leased to the Boston Elevated Railway Company (which furnished the equipment) for term of 25 years (except Tremont Street 20 years) at annual rental of 4½ to 4⅞ per cent of net cost (except East Boston Tunnel which was at ⅝ of one per cent of all annual gross receipts of said company). In accordance with Chapter 741, Acts of 1911, the various leases were extended to July 1, 1936, the rental to be 4½ per cent of net cost after expiration of the first-term leases.

POPULATION OF BOSTON BY WARDS.

In stating the population by wards and comparing same with the ward totals in 1915, various incredible decreases appear. The 1920 totals are as follows, with increase or decrease from 1915 stated for each ward by + or — sign: Wd. 1, 24,738 (+962); Wd. 2, 38,313 (—3,591); Wd. 3, 18,566 (— 2,450); Wd 4, 15,706 (—2,879); Wd. 5, 63,267 (—14,306); Wd. 6, 35,030 (—2,220); Wd. 7, 38,091 (+3,007); Wd. 8, 39,105 (+788); Wd. 9, 28,959 (—5,037); Wd. 10, 25,727 (—14); Wd.11, 26,875 (+641); Wd. 12, 28,015 (—1,401); Wd. 13, 26.380 (—4,153); Wd. 14, 26,003 (—1,796); Wd. 15, 25,960 (—265); Wd. 16, 29,363 (+3,959); Wd. 17, 27,277 (+1,424); Wd. 18, 28,547 (+2,670); Wd. 19, 24,810 (+2,062); Wd. 20, 26,546 (+3,588); Wd. 21, 33,938 (+7,439); Wd. 22, 25,989; (+2,177); Wd. 23, 24,904 (+3,462) Wd. 24, 23,849 (+1,234); Wd. 25, 22,8282 (+5,681); Wd. 26, 20.020 (+1,639). Gain of 40,733 in 15 wards, mostly in Wards 16 to 26 incl.; loss of 38,112 in 11 wards, mostly in Wds. 2 to 15 incl. These 11 wards contained 56.8 per cent of the foreign-born residents in the entire city in 1915.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to September 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with the General Construction Company for rebuilding Hyde Park Avenue Bridge, over Mother brook, from July 19, 1922, to September 1, 1922. The further extension of time is occasioned by the fact that the contractor was delayed on account of the heavy rains, which caused the brook to rise to such a height that it was unwise to place supports for concrete forms until the water subsided.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with M. DeSisto Company for building sewerage works in Warren street, between Woodstock avenue and a point 190 feet southeasterly, Brighton, from July 29, 1922, to August 12, 1922, 14 days. This extension of time is occasioned by the fact that the work was begun about ten days later than was anticipated when the original date for completion was set.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with James J. Conway for building sewerage works for Glendon street outlet at Condor street, East Boston, from July 29, 1922, to September 2. 1922, 35 days. This extension of time is occasioned by the fact that it required more time than was anticipated to drive the piles for foundation and cofferdam.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with R. Zoppo for building sewerage works in Woodstock avenue, between Bellvista road and Summit avenue, Brighton, from July 29, 1922, to September 2, 1922, 35 days. This extension of time is occasioned by the fact that the work was begun about a month later than was anticipated when the original date for completion was set.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS, SOUTH END.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 11, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The South End section of Boston has changed so materially in the last twenty-five years that there is apparently no longer equitable reason for maintaining restrictions relative to the set back of this business.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized to execute on behalf of the city, so far as he may lawfully do so without affecting the legal or equitable rights of others holding title under it, an instrument satisfactory to the Law Department, releasing the conditions in the words following:

"The front line of the building which may be erected on the said lot shall be placed on a line parallel with and ten feet back from the said Washington street. The building which may be erected on the said lot shall be of a width not less than eighteen feet. No dwelling house or other building except necessary outbuildings shall be erected or placed on the rear of the said lot except as hereinafter mentioned. No building which may be erected on the said lot shall be less than three stories in height exclusive of the basement and attic, nor have exterior walls of any other material than brick, stone or iron, nor to be used or occupied for any other purpose, or in any other way than as a dwelling house for the term of twenty years from the eleventh day of February, 1857. By the front line of the building above mentioned is meant the straight line thereof and it is understood that the swell front of the building erected upon said lot together with the steps thereof shall be allowed to project beyond said line. It is also agreed and understood that said Roberts and his assigns shall be allowed to erect a stable upon the rear of said lot for the private use of the occupants of the aforesaid building only; the exterior walls of which shall be of brick, stone or iron and the roof of which shall be slated or tinned. The above mentioned premises are to be conveyed subject to all the easements acquired therein by the proprietors of the adjoining lot fronting upon Washington street between the above adjoining lot fronting upon Washington street, between the above named premises and Northampton street. The building erected on said lot is to be built in conformity to the requirements of the foregoing conditions."

Contained in a deed given by the City of Boston to Joseph D. Roberts, dated October 11, 1858, and recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 746, page 35, conveying to him an estate on the southeasterly side of Washington street, between Massachusetts avenue, formerly Chester square, and Northampton street, and now belongiing to the Roxbury Trust Company.

Also ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized to declare in said instrument that the city will not claim any forfeiture of any of the land described in said deed by reason of any breach of said conditions.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

IMPROVEMENT OF CHELSEA STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 11, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The improvement of Chelsea street, Charlestown, has been under consideration for more than a quarter of a century and actual construction work has been in progress for a period of five years. The Public Works Department within the last six weeks has awarded a contract for the construction of the Chelsea Street Bridge representing an expenditure in excess of $500,000 and which I have approved and upon which construction work is now in progress. It is essential that the widening and improvement of Chelsea street may be completed at the earliest possible date so that this artery of travel to the north may be available for public use.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $100,000 be and hereby is appropriated for highways, making of, under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

PURCHASE OF LAND, BATH STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 11, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Post Office Square Company are desirous of razing the block bounded by Congress, Kilby, Water and Milk streets, with the exception of the building located at the corner of Water and Congress streets.

It is essential that the passageway known as Bath street and containing an area of 1,766 feet, more or less, be discontinued in order that this building project, involving an expenditure in excess of three million dollars, may be consummated.

The Post Office Square Company in consideration of sale to them by the city of the 1,766 feet have agreed to deed back to the city a strip of land fronting on Congress street containing 200 feet, more or less, and have further agreed to pay for the land acquired by them, formerly known as Bath street, the sum of $46,980.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Boston, July 5, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Post Office Square Company formed for the purpose has recently purchased land at the corner of Milk and Bath streets, Boston, running back to Kilby street in the rear, this parcel being partly on Post Office square and partly in the rear of the Delta Building, which itself faces on Post Office square. The company is to begin construction of a high-grade eleven story office building on the premises so purchased, but feels that it would be of advantage to all concerned, including the city, if the company were to extend its operations so as to include within its new building the land now occupied by the Delta Building. This would obviously necessitate building across Bath street, which lies between the building originally contemplated by the company and the Delta Building. For this purpose it would be necessary that Bath street should be discontinued as a public street and that the Post Office Square Company should acquire title to the fee of Bath street. Following the company's conferences with the Street Commissioners, proceedings for this discontinuance have been begun.

It is planned that the Post Office Square Company, joined by the trustees of the Delta Building Association shall enter at once upon proceedings for registration of title to the fee of Bath street. It appears from such investigation as has already been made that Bath street is a very ancient way, dating back to 1654 or thereabouts, and the title to the fee of this street is consequently subject to some degree of uncertainty. It seems probable that the city has an interest in this fee, and may be the actual holder of the fee itself. Under the circumstances, in connection with the company's registration proceedings, the company would doubtless find it necessary to get a release from the city of any interest in this fee which the city may hold, this in addition to the discontinuance of the street as a public way.

In the conferences which the officers of the Post Office Square Company have heretofore held with the Street Commissioners, the Corporation Counsel and yourself, all the facts relating to the foregoing situation have been set out, and the matter is presumably understood by all. For the sake of clearness, however, a blueprint showing the location is inclosed herewith. This plan shows an area of 1,766 square feet lying within the lines of Bath street, over which area the discontinuance of the street is desired and in regard to which a deed of release from the city to the Post Office Square Company is also necessary. There may be offset against the area just mentioned a matter of about 200 square feet shown on the plan at the northerly end of the Delta Building, which 200-foot parcel is expected to be conveyed by the company to the city for street purposes, which would leave a net of about 1,566 square feet coming to the company. The suggestion for disposition of these matters by payment to the city of $46,980 for the net amount of land above named seems to us a reasonable one.

It will be readily apparent that a proposition of the above magnitude involves a good many conditions which are difficult to meet, the company's proposed adjustment with the city being only one of a number of such matters. The company's plans for proceeding with the building originally contemplated are under way, and demolition of the former buildings has already been begun. Consequently, if the company is to undertake this larger project as above outlined, it will be necessary for it to proceed in the most expeditious manner possible in order that the engineers may learn at an early date whether or not their plans are to be altered. The company would therefore greatly appreciate it if the city's proceedings relative to the matters above referred to, could be instituted forthwith, while the company is itself engaged in endeavoring to dispose of other and similar questions, thus pushing forward to a completion a project which will add greatly to the taxable value of the city's real property and make use of land which is of little or no practical service to the community at present.

Anything you or other members of your administration could do to assist the company in its plans would be warmly appreciated by all concerned. The company begs particularly to thank you for the time and consideration which you have already given to its project.

Yours very truly,
Post Office Square Company,
George W. Harvey, President.

Whereas, it is proposed that a portion of Bath street, containing an area of 1,766 feet, more or less, as shown on a plan hereto annexed, shall be discontinued;

Ordered, In the event of such discontinuance, that the Mayor, in the name and behalf of the city, is hereby authorized to release to the Post Office Square Company, its successors or assigns, by an instrument in writing, satisfactory to the Law Department, all right, title and interest which the City of Boston may have in the said land after the said portion of said street is discontinued, upon the payment to the city of the sum of forty-six thousand nine hundred and eighty dollars; and upon the further consideration that the Post Office Square Company shall, without compensation, convey or cause to be conveyed in fee to the City of Boston for street purposes, a strip of land containing two hundred feet, more or less, which is now located on the southeasterly corner of Post Office square and said Bath street, as shown on the above mentioned plan.

APPROPRIATION FOR PUBLIC WELFARE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 11, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the inclosed communication from the Overseers of the Public Welfare requesting additional appropriations in the sum of $99,000 for Mothers' Aid and in the sum of $235,000 for Care of Dependents.

It is possible that with the improvement in industry a less amount may be sufficient to meet the requirements of the Public Welfare Department for the remainder of the financial year, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Overseers of the Public Welfare,
July 8, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—The following statement was read by Judge Frank Leveroni, chairman of the Committee on Finance and Accounts of the Overseers of the Public Welfare at a meeting held July 5, 1922, and it was voted to send a copy of the same to your Honor.

Care of Dependents.

July 5, 1922.

Appropriation		$350,000 00
Expended to July 1, 1922:
Cash, five months	$218,000 00
Bills, five months	52,548 31
		270,548 31
Balance available July 1, 1922		$79,451 69

Exhibit of Expenditures under this Item March 1, 1921–July 1, 1922.

March	$28,761 47
April	36,250 65
May	32,713 18
June	30,271 36
July	31,152 18
August	31,470 75
September	32,799 26
October	30,113 83
November	35,530 16
December	35,164 20
1922.
January	40,373 34
January 31	41,145 00
Special account	24,558 84
March	40,981 74
April	61,016 99
May	69,876 93
June	54,536 26
July	44,136 39

Total expenditures for the five months October 1, 1921, to January 31, 1922, were $206,885.37; average per month, $41,400.

Total expenditures for the five months March, 1922, to July, 1922, inclusive, were $270,548.31; average per month, $54,110.

Total expenditures for the seven months October, 1921, to April, 1922, were $308,884.10; average per month, $44,125.

Total expenditures for the twelve months August, 1921, to July, 1922, were $541,703.69; average per month, $45,340.

Examining the above, it is noted that expenditures began their critical up-grade movement in November, 1921, and continued steadily until the peak was reached May, 1922, when disbursements seem to have entered upon a descending movement of about the same momentum as on the ascent.

The average monthly expenditure for five months March to July, 1922	$54,110 00
The average monthly expenditure for five months October 1, 1921, to January 31, 1922	41,400 00
The average monthly expenditure for seven months October, 1921, to April, 1922	44,125 00
The average monthly expenditure for twelve months August, 1921, to July, 1922	45,340 00

For guidance in estimating the probable expenditures for the coming months, the average of the first five months of the year, being the peak months of the upward movement, would be too high; the average of the last five months of 1921 would obviously be too low, including too many months of minimum expenditure. The average for the seven months, October, 1921, to April, 1922, giving the expenditure of the upward curve, and the average for the twelve months, August, 1921, to July, 1922, giving a twelve-months' movement, would appear to foretell approximately the average for the coming months, based always on the present improvement in economic conditions. Prolongation of the coal strike, the possibilities in the event of extended railroad strike, would increase the demands on the department. Taking the average for 7 months, $44,125. $308,875; taking the average for 12 months, $45,340, $317,380, it would appear that our needs for the balance of the year would be about $310,000 to $315,000, less balance available of $79,000; equal amount needed $230,000 to $235,000.

Mothers' Aid.

Appropriation		$625,000 00
Expended to July 1, 1922:
Cash, five months	$292,000 00
Bills, five months	9,801 51	301,801 51
Balance available		$323,198 49

On basis of expenditures of past five months, we will need for the balance of the year:

Cash, seven months @ $58,400	$408,800 00
Bills, seven months @ $1,960	13,720 00
		$422,520 00
Balance available		323,198 49
		$99,321 51

Under this item, cases being aided at least one year, expenditures are not affected much by numbers. The question is one of size of grants, and until some reduction is shown we cannot hope for decreased needs of approximately $95,000 over the balance available for remainder of the year.

We therefore respectfully request that you will supplement our budget for Mothers' Aid to the amount of $99,000, and for Care of Dependents to the amount of $235,000.

Very truly yours,
W. H. Hardy,
Secretary.

Ordered, That to meet the current expenses payable during the financial year beginning with the first day of February, 1922, of performing the duties and exercising the powers devolved by statute or ordinance, or by vote of the City Council during the year upon the City of Boston, or the departments or officers thereof, the respective sums of money specified in the tables hereinafter set forth be and the same are hereby appropriated to be expended for the objects and purposes hereinafter stated, that the same be raised by taxation upon the polls and estates taxable in the City of Boston, and that all orders relating to appropriations, taxes and the interest thereon apply to the taxes herein provided for.

City of Boston.
Overseeing of the Public Welfare Department.

F. Special Items		$200,000
9. Care of dependents	$150,000
10. Mothers' aid	50,000

EVENING REGISTRATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 11, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—It has been customary in the past to conduct outside evening registration for seven evenings prior to the state primaries and election, and it has been found that a hardship is imposed upon women desiring to become voters who are mothers and who find it impossible to be away from their homes during the evening.

For the convenience of those who desire an opportunity to register and that the fullest possible opportunity may be provided everyone who desires to exercise their franchise, I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order which will furnish seven daily sessions in the twenty-six wards of the city between the hours of 2 and 6 p. m.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Board of Election Commissioners,
Boston, July 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—It has been deemed advisable to furnish further opportunity for the registration of voters, particularly for women, and in order to provide new day service for seven days, August 21 to August 28, 2 p. m. to 6 p. m., it becomes necessary to have provided additional funds by transfer from the Reserve Fund, as outlined below.

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $1,988, to the appropriation for A-2, Assistant Registrars, 52 to 104, at $5 per day, $1,820. Janitors, 237, $168.

Explanation: In order to provide janitor service in schoolhouses used for registration during the vacation period an additional charge of $2 each day for the seven days in twelve schoolhouses makes up the sum of $168.

Respectfully,
Board of Election Commissioners,
M. W. Burlen, Chairman.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $1,988, to the appropriation for Election Department, A-2, Temporary Employees. Assistant Registrars, 52 (104) at $5 per day, $1,820; Janitors, 237, $168.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MONEY FOR COMMITTEE ON AMERICANISM.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 11, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Committee for Americanism have submitted a request for an additional appropriation of $5,000 to be expended in connection with the work of the department, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $5,000 be and hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Boston Committee for Americanism, under the direction of the Mayor, in the prosecution of its duties, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER TO SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 11, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the inclosed communication from the Soldiers' Relief Department requesting the transfer of $940.74 from the Reserve Fund, and respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Soldiers' Relief Department, July 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I respectfully request a transfer from the Reserve Fund of $940.74 to provide for the employment of a male clerk at $1,700 per annum, the same to date from Friday, July 14, 1922.

Respectfully,
John H. Dunn,
Acting Soldiers' Relief Commissioner.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $940.74, to the appropriation for Soldiers' Relief Department, clerk, 1 at $1,700 per year, $940.74.

Passed under suspension of the rule, yeas 7, nays 0.

EMPLOYMENT OF PATHOLOGIST.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 11, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the inclosed communication from the trustees of the Boston Sanatorium, requesting a transfer within their department appropriation to provide for the employment of a pathologist, and respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Boston Sanatorium, July 1, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The trustees wrote you June 16, 1922, in regard to the position of pathologist, for which no appropriation had been made this year. A letter from your secretary, Mr. Ward, dated June 21, 1922, states that you suggest that the necessary money be obtained by transferring from another item. The amount needed from July 1 to the end of the fiscal year is $1,166.66. There is a balance available under A-1, Nurses at $840 a year, which will more than cover this amount.

The trustees respectfully request that a transfer be made:

From the appropriation for A-1, permanent employees, nurses at $840 a year, $1,166.66 to the appropriation for A-1, Permanent Employees, Pathologist, at $2,000 a year, $1,166.66.

Yours respectfully,
James I. Minot, Secretary.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to make the following transfer in the appropriations for Boston Sanatorium:

From the appropriation for A-1, Permanent Employees, Nurses, 28 at $840 per year, $1,166.66, to the appropriation for A-1, Permanent Employees, Pathologist, 1 at $2,000 per year, $1,166.66.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BUILDING OF PROVINCE STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 11, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The importance of opening the block bounded by Tremont, Washington, School and Bromfield streets, both for the purpose of providing a highway for public travel and for the development of realty located within this lot of land before prohibitive realty development has been created makes it essential that action be taken at once and I accordingly recommend the adopton of the accompanying order, providing for the establishment of a building line on Province street, between School street and Bromfield street.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $250,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated for the establishment of a building line, on Province street, between School street and Bromfield street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

CONSTABLES' BONDS.

The City Treasurer, after having duly approved of the same, submitted the constables' bonds of Joseph W. Bennett, John F. Campbell and Samuel Shain.

Approved by the City Council.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

President BRICKLEY, for Coun. GILBODY, offered an order that there be allowed and paid to the Acting Soldiers' Relief Commissioner, and charged to the appropriation for Soldiers Relief Department, the sum of $300, said sum to be expended subject to the approval of the committee on Soldiers' Relief, by said commissioner in affording immediate relief to persons entitled to aid under chapter 79 of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof and addition thereto.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

EXAMINATIONS FOR CITY APPOINTMENTS.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commission announce examinations for desirable positions in the municipal service as follows:

Gasfitting Inspector, Boston Building Department, August 28, 1922.

The salary is $1,600 per year. According to section 5, chapter 265, Acts of 1897, inspectors shall be practical gas fitters, of at least five years' continued practical experience. Applicants should possess a gas fitter's license.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 5; report, 1; practical questions, 4; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in experience.

Gas Fixture Inspector—Investigator, Boston Health Department, August 28, 1922.

The salary is $2,000 a year. The duties of this position are to investigate all deaths caused by illuminating gas poisoning in the City of Boston and the immediate causes of such deaths, in order to secure accurate data and facts for new rules and regulations concerning gas and combination gas-electric fixtures and their connection with such deaths. Applicants must be practical gas fitters of at least five years' continued practical experience and should have a knowledge of ancient and modern types of fixtures and methods of installation. Applicants must be not less than thirty years of age at the time of filing application. A certificate of date of birth must be filed with the application.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 4; report, 1; special questions on the duties of the position, 3; personality and fitness as determined by an oral interview, 2; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Plumbing Inspector, Boston Building Department, August 28, 1922.

The salary is $2,000 per year, with a maximum of $2,100. Under chapter 142, section 11, of the General Laws, inspectors of plumbing shall be practical plumbers, and shall also have practical experience, either as masters or as journeymen continuously, during the five years last preceding the date of appointment. According to section 12, chapter 142 of the General Laws, no person can be employed in this position who, at the time of said employment, engages in or works at the business of plumbing. Applicants should possess a journeyman's or master plumber's license.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 5; report, 1; special questions, 4; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Special Examiner (Female), Boston Auditing Department, August 29, 1922.

The salary is $2,700 per year. Applicants should have a knowledge of municipal procedure as it affects both the city and county in connection with appropriations, loan orders, issuance and transfer of bonds, claims and executions of court, appointments, transfers and compensation of employees, retirements and pensions, tax limits, tax levies, budget procedure and other matters as they arise which require special examination and investigation. It is desirable that applicants have a knowledge of the fundamentals of accounting and be able to typewrite. Applicants must be not less than 25 years of age at the time of filing application. A certificate of date of birth must be filed with the application.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 1; special questions, 1; total, 2.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in section 23 of chapter 31 of the General Laws.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Proposals for Sheet Asphalt or Bitulithic Pavement in Brookline Avenue, from Newbury Street across Audubon Road, City Proper.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States, for sheet asphalt or bitulithic pavement in Brookline avenue, from Newbury street across Audubon road, city proper. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of ten thousand (10,000) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sheet Asphalt or Bitulithic Pavement, Brookline Avenue," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. of Tuesday, August 8, 1922, with a certified check for two thousand (2,000) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

Bethlehem Steel Company, $6,593.51; Boston Structural Steel Company, $6,696.95.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 31 the Mayor approved a contract with the Wedlake-Lamson Company for repairing four Christie motors. A communication from Major William J. Casey, Acting Fire Commissioner, was as follows:

Boston, July 27, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Your Honor's permission is requested to award a contract, without advertising, to the Wedlake-Lamson Company of Hoboken, N. J., to repair four (4) Christie motors. This company is the sole manufacturer of Christie motors, and have submitted a figure of three thousand seven hundred ninety-one (3,791) dollars for the work.

It is necessary in the interests of the department to have the work done immediately.

Yours very truly,

William J. Casey,
Acting Fire Commissioner.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

Upon August 1 the Mayor approved the resetting of edgestone and relaying of brick sidewalks in Whittier street, from Cabot street to Ruggles street, Roxbury, with division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 31, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to reset edgestones and relay brick sidewalks in Whittier street, from Cabot street to Ruggles street, Roxbury, with division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,000.

This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 28 the Mayor approved a contract with P. P. Caproni, Inc., for removing statuary and casts from the old Public Latin School and setting up anew in the new Public Latin School. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

Boston, July 25, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of a contract, without advertising, in the sum of one thousand nine hundred and sixteen (1,916) dollars, to the firm of P. P. Caproni & Brother, Inc., for taking down statuary and casts from the old Public Latin School, cleaning and repairing same and setting up anew in the new Public Latin School.

On account of the value of this collection, and particularly of one statue valued at $17,000, the Board desires to have this work done by a reliable firm, and as this concern has done work of this nature in the past for this department, the Board is satisfied that the interests of the city will be best protected by awarding the contract to them, and, subject to your approval, has so voted.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas P. Glynn, Chairman.

Upon August 2 the Mayor approved a contract with R. J. Connolly for eight portable school buildings, to be set up and completed in the yards of the High School of Commerce and the Brighton High School. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

Boston, August 1, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of a contract, without advertising, to R. J. Connolly, 1146 Dorchester avenue, in the sum of thirteen thousand two hundred (13,200) dollars, for eight portable school buildings set up complete in the yards of the High School of Commerce and the Brighton High School.

These portable school buildings were originally erected by the Polish Catholic Church authorities on their land on Dorchester avenue for use while their school was in process of construction. They were built after the plans for portables used by this department. They have now no further use for them, and the portables have been purchased by Mr. Connolly, who agrees to sell them to the city, set up complete in the locations desired by this department at the price above named. As the department has need of the portables in the locations named above, and as this price represents a saving of approximately $7,200 under the cost of new portables, the Board has voted to make this purchase, subject to your approval as above set forth.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas P. Glynn,
Chairman.

Supply Department.

Upon July 31 the Mayor approved a contract with the International Equipment Company for furnishing supplies to the Paving Service of the Public Works Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department, was as follows:

Boston, July 17, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising the same, to the International Equipment Company, 352 Western avenue, Brighton, Mass., for furnishing the following to the Public Works Department, Paving Service: One 4-cylinder bevel abrasion machine 110 D. C. complete, $315; 1 impact machine, complete with motor, $324; 1 heavy model, 20-inch drill press, with diamond core drill, complete, $390; 1 extra diamond drill, $75; 1 combination diamond saw and grinding lathe, $187; 1 extra 6-inch diamond saw blade, $16; 12 brass and wooden wedges, clamp and bed plate, etc., as described, $35; total amount of contract, $1,342.

The material has been selected by the chemist of the Public Works Department as the equipment best suited for the needs of the laboratory of the Public Works Department, and in view of the above I trust the permission asked for will be granted.

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon August 3 the Mayor approved a contract with the Acme Road Machinery Company for supplying a scarifying road roller to the Public Works Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, August 2, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award, without advertising, to the Acme Road Machinery Company for one scarifying road roller, for the Public Works Department at a cost of $6,000.

This department opened up bids, after publicly advertising on June 27, 1922, and received a bid from the Acme Road Machinery Company for one four-cylinder, 10-ton motor scarifying roller for $6,000.

The Public Works Department decided that they did not want a gasolene roller, and the Acme Company offered to furnish a steam roller for the same price as a motor roller.

I submitted the specifications for the steam roller furnished by the Acme Road Machinery Company to the Commissioner of Public Works, and he informed me that it is practically identical with that of the Buffalo Springfield rollers, which have been used exclusively by the City of Boston.

The purchase of the Acme roller will mean a saving to the Public Works Department of almost $1,000, and I therefore trust that the permission requested will be granted.

Respectfully,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon August 3 the Mayor approved a contract with Castner, Curran & Bullitt for furnishing to the Boston City Hospital 200 gross tons of soft coal. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, August 2, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, to Castner, Curran & Bullitt for furnishing to the Hospital Department, Boston City Hospital, 200 gross tons, more or less, of soft coal, at $10 per gross ton.

The entire list of coal dealers in Boston was canvassed for prices on this lot of coal, and Castner, Curran & Bullitt were the only concern who could make delivery of this amount of coal. The Hospital Department is in need of coal, and owing to the seriousness of the coal situation it is impossible to advertise publicly and await the opening of bids in order to secure coal immediately.

Trusting that the permission requested will be granted, I am,

Respectfully,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

VOTE OF THANKS.

Mayor Curley has received a hearty letter of thanks from the members of the National Confectionery Salesmen's Association of America for courtesies extended during the recent convention held at the Pemberton Inn, Hull.

The letter of Secretary-Treasurer H. E. Sander of Lancaster, Pa., was as follows:

The National Confectionery Salesmen's Association of America.

Lancaster, Pa., July 28, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—At our recent convention at the Pemberton Inn, Hull, Mass., a standing vote of thanks was given to you and your administration for the many courtesies extended to us during the life of the convention.

The convention itself because of the many courtesies extended by you, the ideal location of the convention hotel, and the wonderful weather we enjoyed during our visit, helped to make it the most enjoyable convention we ever had in the history of the association.

We take great pleasure, therefore, in advising you of this vote of thanks and wish to assure you that we enjoyed the affair so much that we intend to be back in the very near future for another convention.

Again thanking you in the name of our association, we beg to remain

Very truly yours,

National Confectionery • Salesmen's Association.
H. E. Sander,
Secretary-Treasurer.

CONGRESSMAN TAGUE DECLINES.

Mayor Curley received a communication from Hon. Peter F. Tague, M. C., upon the 29th instant, declining the office of Fire Commissioner of the City of Boston.

The letter of Congressman Tague was as follows:

House of Representatives.
Washington, D. C., July 28, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—I have just received your special delivery letter of yesterday reiterating your request that I accept the appointment to the Fire Commissionership which you offered me some months ago.

Of course, you know the position in which your offer has placed me. I have been torn between, first, a desire to accept a position which would permit me to be in closer contact with my family and second, a desire to be of every possible service to the people of the Tenth Massachusetts District, who have elected me to Congress. The latter desire has so far always predominated, and I have not yet been satisfied that the interests of the district, the city and the state can be well represented in these trying times by the election of a new representative in Congress from my district. Accordingly, I feel that my first duty is to the people who have honored me, making it impossible for me to accept the Fire Commissionership. It would give me great pleasure to be a member of your cabinet and render you all possible assistance in the administration of the affairs of the City of Boston, and I am flattered to feel that you have so much confidence in me as to offer me this important position. It is needless for me to add that I am everlastingly grateful.

No man can decline so tempting an offer as you have extended me without first dwelling on his reasons for doing so, which I will now proceed to do, in order that you may agree that I am following the proper dictates of my conscience and considering the greatest good for the greatest number.

During the present Congress I have been a member of the most important committee of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Ways and Means. Your former service in Congress reminds you that it is this committee which makes all the important revenue and tax laws of the United States, as well as the equally important tariff laws. In addition, the present committee has been charged with the responsibility of administering to the just claim of the heroes of the World War. I am the only New England Democrat serving on that committee, and should I resign at this time New England would lose a place on this most important committee of Congress. Representatives from disabled veterans' associations and from the business men of Boston and New England have pleaded with me to remain in Congress.

At no time within my memory have the interests of the workers of the United States been in greater majority than at the present. The foes of organized labor have been striving to undermine the organizations which have been the very life of the workingman of this country, and considerable harm has already been done so far as his living conditions, wages and constitutional prerogatives are concerned. The situation is decidedly menacing to the welfare of the great bulk of the American people and must be fought quickly, and by experienced legislators. It has always been my desire and my pleasure to do my utmost for the cause of the workingman and his family, and I am proud to be today regarded as one of the foremost champions of labor in this country. So fraught with danger is the present situation that the legislative representatives of the American Federation of Labor in Washington have formally asked me to remain in Congress to continue to assist them in their fight for the rights of the workers. They dread a vacancy on the important Committee on Ways and Means which would be open to the possible appointment of some Congressman antagonistic to the cause of the workingman.

I need not dwell on the manner by which the effectiveness of a representative in Congress is enhanced by continuous service. Anybody familiar with national legislative practices knows that prestige in Congress only travels hand-in-hand with long and distinguished service. It is also a fact that only those members who have distinguished themselves beyond the average recognition receive appointment to the important committees; consequently, it is the older members, from point of service, who really enact the laws.

It is with great reluctance that I find myself compelled to decline your offer of the Fire Commissionership of Boston, and I wish to thank you most sincerely for honoring me. It is my hope and desire to co-operate with you in your aims to upbuild and develop the City of Boston for the everlasting benefit of her people.

It is proper that you should be the first to know of my intention to announce my candidacy for re-election to the Sixty-eighth Congress.

With every good wish, believe me,

Sincerely yours,

Peter F. Tague.

COMMENDS BOSTON COURTESY.

To the Editor of the City Record:

As a New York business man who has been in your midst for some three months I want to make what is, perhaps, a rather unusual request from such an individual.

I desire in this way to be allowed to take off my hat to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and Boston in particular, for the particularly high standard of their charitable and semi-charitable public institutions, and for the high caliber of the officials responsible for their maintenance and upkeep.

When I was about to leave New York I was cautioned to expect a very cold reception Down East, and to find, naturally, that the New England public institutions, with which my business would largely be, "far inferior" to those in and around Little Old New York.

Well, I have found these gloomy warnings to have been very ill-founded. I frankly, and with much pleasure, admit that the atmosphere that surrounds any business deal here is far more pleasant than it is, as a rule, down my way. When there is no business to be had I am, here in Boston, never brusquely and rudely shown the door by an impudent office boy detailed for this very purpose by his boss.

As for the Boston public officials, well, at the risk of being disfranchised, taken off the jury list and excommunicated when I get back home, I must say that Mayor Hylan might profitably hold up these men as shining models for his own lieutenants and other public servants. They are both efficient and considerate, as far as I can see, to all with whom they come in contact.

Your institutions on Long Island and Deer Island, the Boston City Hospital, to pick out a few that are but typical of the whole, have been an eye-opener to me, and I have had some experience in this field of public work. Their extreme cleanliness, the orderliness with which they are conducted, the consideration which is the uniform attitude towards the inmates, have proved to me that service of this nature need not be divorced from the exercise of a real Christian-like spirit, as is so often the case.

May I also respectfully pay my regards to those good sisters and others who spend their lives in self-sacrifice at the beautiful St. Elizabeth Hospital at Brighton, and at the other Catholic institutions, convents and retreats hereabouts.

And finally permit me to congratulate you upon your patriotism. Everywhere I go I come across dignified and modest memorials to show that you have not forgotten those who sacrificed their lives in the Great War that we might enjoy those blessings of life that I find in so much abundance in this part of New England.

The phrase "The Hub of the Universe" has now for me a far nobler and deeper significance, and I won't forget to give voice to my feeling when I get back to my, I fear, rather self-centred and self-satisfied cronies who live within the lights and shadows of the Great White Way.

Ernest Grainger.

Coleman & Sons Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for excavating and backfilling trenches on Washington street, West Roxbury, between West Roxbury Parkway and La Grange street, on line of street widening by Massachusetts Highway Commission. The items ordered: Labor assisting Water Service employees on pipe changes, gate installation and hydrant changes, the estimated cost of extra work being $100.

The C. & R. Construction Company have been directed to perform the following additional work under contract for laying high pressure fire pipes in Pearl street, between Milk and Franklin streets, city proper. Items ordered: Increase items in contract as required to lay two hundred feet additional 20-inch high pressure fire pipe and appurtenances, southeasterly in Pearl street, from Franklin street, city proper, the estimated cost of additional work being $4,000.

V. Barletta has been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for laying and relaying water pipes in Perkins street, West Roxbury. Items ordered: Sealing ends of 24-inch pipes abandoned, refitting service pipe to bubble fountain and relocating catch-basin drain —the estimated cost of extra work being $65.

John T. Shea, Jr., has been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for constructing Allenwood, Castleton and Chilton streets and Parkwood terrace, West Roxbury. Items ordered: Excavate and remove concrete sidewalks as directed in Castleton street and Parkwood terrace; price to be paid for each cubic yard of concrete sidewalk removed the sum of $3 per cubic yard—the estimated cost of extra work being $180.

John Guarino & Co. have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for laying and relaying water pipes in Fairview street, Von Hillern street, Locust street, Ceylon street, Allerton street, East Seventh street and Power House street. Items ordered: Establish post hydrant on Power House street; establish post hydrant and set 12-inch gate on L street, near Power House street; move granite blocks from line of trench, the estimated cost of extra work being $75.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 57.

I. Motor-driven Fuel Wagon.

A motor-driven fuel wagon has been installed in the quarters of Rescue Company 1, which will cover all second alarms in Districts 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9, and all third alarms in Districts 10, 12, 13, 14 and 15. The wagon will respond to all districts not mentioned herein by special call when needed.

The above-mentioned arrangement will be taken care of by the Bureau of Supplies and Repairs.

II. Assignment of Deputy Chiefs.

The following additions in the assignment of deputy chiefs are hereby ordered:

Boxes 1481, 1482, 1492 and 1514: Add deputy chief of Division 1 to respond on first alarm.

BIDS FOR DREDGES.

The Mayor received the following communication from Secretary of War John W. Weeks on the 3d instant:

Department of War,
Washington, D. C.
August 2, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I desire to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of July 21, 1922, urging that the date of opening of bids for the seagoing dredges to be constructed for the Engineer Department be postponed in order to afford the Boston Navy Yard an opportunity to bid on the work.

Complete plans and specifications for the vessels have been furnished the Navy Yard and it is the understanding and expectation of this department that bids from that yard will be duly presented on August 2, the date fixed for the opening of the bids. No request has been received from the Navy Department for the postponement of the date of opening. In view of these facts and to the further circumstances that representatives from ship yards on the Pacific Coast are now undoubtedly en route to Washington with bids for the work, I regret that I cannot assent to the postponement of the time fixed for opening.

Cordially yours,

John W. Weeks,
Secretary of War.

CLEANING THE NORTH END.

The North End district is declared more unclean this summer than ever before, and complaints received at City Hall from those who believe that conditions require radical treatment have stirred the public officials to action. From now on the Police, Health and Public Works Departments will co-operate in the attempt to persuade the residents to exercise more care in the disposition of refuse.

Health Commissioner Francis X. Mahoney calls upon the people to see that the alleyways and the streets are not made dumping grounds for offal that putrifies in a few hours and becomes a menace to health. He urges them to see that vegetable matter is not mixed with ashes and that sidewalks are not littered by material from the kitchens and shops. He warns them that offences against cleanliness are punishable in the courts.

Superintendent Crowley of the Police Department has promised the Health Department that the police officers of the North End will be vigilant in tracing breaches of the law, as well as in educating the residents to become neater about their homes. The Public Works Department has appointed Henry Santosuosso a constable in the Sanitary Service to follow up instances of street and alley littering, and has announced that it will follow Mayor Curley's suggestion and spend $100,000 in constructing smooth pavements on Salem, Prince, Thacher, Hull and Foster streets, so that these streets may be flushed every night. Granolithic sidewalks will also be built on Salem and Prince streets.

Mayor Curley spent two hours in the North End recently and though not surprised at conditions became convinced that cleanliness was a real problem which the city should meet in earnest. He believes it to be a matter of education whether the streets, alleys and sidewalks shall be free of objectionable material.

MUNICIPAL REPORTS RECEIVED.

The following reports have been lately received by the Statistics Department, Room 73, City Hall, and placed on file for the convenience of the public and department heads:

Newark, N. J.: 1921 Annual Report Department of Revenue and Finance.

Portland, Ore.: Public Health Methods and Their Application; 1921 Report of Library Association; 1922 Budget Facts and Financial Statistics; Combined Reports Auditor, 1918, 1919, 1920.

District of Columbia: 1921 Report Trustes Public Library; 1921 Report Finances of the District of Columbia; 1921 Report Fire Department; 1921 Report Health Officer; 1921 Miscellanous Reports; 1921 Report Board of Education; 1921 Report Metropolitan Police; 1921 Report Department of Insurance.

United States Department of Commerce; 1919 Manufacture of Needles, Pins, Hooks and Eyes.

MAYOR CURLEY PROTECTS RESIDENTS.

Communications were addressed by Mayor Curley, upon the 28th ultimo, to Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department and Commissioner John H. Mahony of the Building Department devising ways and means whereby the residents of West Roxbury, who have suffered intolerant hardship by the grasping methods of real estate dealers, may now and in the future receive the full measure of protection.

The letters of Mayor Curley were as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 28, 1922.

Mr. John H. Mahony,
Building Commissioner:

Dear Sir,—Many persons in the West Roxbury section of Boston have become the victims of sharp practice on the part of real estate sharks through the purchase of home sites upon paper streets laid out at a width of 15 feet. Under the law the city cannot accept these streets, and neither can it provide the sewerage and water facilities which are necessary for the health and well-being of the people. There is no law as far as I have been able to ascertain at present which permits us to limit the width of breadth of streets in the city, but you have it in your power as Building Commissioner to refuse to grant permits for the construction of any structure to be used as a place of habitation on a street of less than 40 feet width and you are directed to refuse to grant a permit on all such applications as may hereafter be made.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 28, 1922.

Mr. Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works:

Dear Sir,—I have considered with care your communication of June 20, and note what you say with reference to the legality of expending money to provide water and sewerage facilities for those persons who were unfortunate enough to become the dupes of real estate sharks of the West Roxbury section. I have also conferred with the secretary of the Street Commission and with the Law Department, and regardless of legal aspects of providing relief for these people, I am of the opinion that it is possible through the power which the city can exercise to adjust the situation and aid the unfortunate. I have instructed Joseph Sullivan, secretary of the Street Commission, to wait upon the Corporation Counsel, Building Commissioner and yourself and arrange at the earliest possible date for a conference of property holders of the section affected and if possible the individuals who sold them land on streets laid out at a width of 15 feet. There is no way in which it is possible to justify the acceptance of streets fifteen feet in width but it is possible that the Secretary of the Street Commission may be able to induce the owners of property in the section affected to move their homes back to a point which will permit of laying out of the street to a width of 40 feet and if this is done and the streets are accepted I can see no objection to immediate action on the question of water and sewerage.

I beg to say that I have this day instructed the Building Commissioner to refuse the granting of building permits for structures to be used as places of habitation on streets of a less width than 40 feet in order that the city may not in future be confronted with a condition similar to the present unfortunate one, for which neither you nor I are responsible.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 88.

The commanding officer of Police Division 2 has called to my attention the following meritorious police work performed by Patrolman Coleman P. Conroy of that Division on July 28, 1922.

About one o'clock in the afternoon of that day, a bookkeeper employed by a firm in State street came out of the Old Colony Trust Company with almost $900 which she had drawn at the direction of her firm and which she was carrying in a pocket book held tightly under her arm.

While still on Court street, near Washington street, the pocketbook was snatched from her by a young man who ran with it down State street.

The bookkeeper screamed, thereby attracting the attention of Patrolman Conroy, and also of Patrolman Collins of the Traffic Division, both of whom were in the vicinity and pursued the fleeing man.

Patrolman Conroy was first to overtake the thief and knocked him down, causing him to drop the money, which scattered over the street and was recovered by Patrolman Collins.

I am very much pleased to learn of this excellent piece of police work on the part of Patrolman Conroy and heartily commend him for his alertness and quickness of action. Patrolman Collins is also deserving of credit for his prompt assistance to Patrolman Conroy.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 90.

The Police Commissioner has received an official copy of the following order passed by the City Council and approved by the Mayor:

City of Boston,
In City Council, July 24, 1922.

Ordered, That all dogs within the limits of the city of Boston be muzzled or restrained from running at large for the period of three months from the date of the passage of this order, and the members of the police force of the city of Boston are hereby authorized and empowered to make special service upon the owner or keeper of each dog within the limits of the city by delivering to the owner or keeper of such dog a certified copy of this order.

Passed. Approved July 25, 1922.

James M. Curley, Mayor.

A true copy,
Attest: W. J. Doyle, Assistant City Clerk.

The directions which follow are based upon statute law and the court experiences of the police, when similar action was last taken by the city authorities:

Copies of the foregoing order certified under the hand of the Assistant City Clerk will be distributed to the several police divisions. When a police officer finds in a public place a dog which is neither muzzled nor restrained by leash or otherwise from running at large, he will ascertain as best he may the ownership of the animal. He will then serve upon the owner or keeper of the dog a certified copy of the order of the City Council and will transmit to the Superintendent of Police another certified copy with the following return indorsed on the back by the officer making the service:

On............1922, at....o'clock....m., I served a copy of the within order upon.......... (name)............, (residence)............, by delivering it in hand to said person.

Patrolman, Division....

If after a lapse of twelve hours from the time of service the dog is again found unmuzzled or not restrained from running at large, complaint shall be made against the owner or keeper in the ordinary manner.

In order that the police may not exceed the authority conferred upon them by the statutes and the order of the City Council, they will note the following conditions:

1. A licensed dog in a public place must be led in leash or otherwise effectively restrained or must be muzzled; and the muzzle must be of such construction as to prevent the dog from biting.
2. A licensed dog in a public place is not required to be leashed and muzzled at the same time.
3. A licensed dog upon the premises of its owner is not required to be restrained with either leash or muzzle.
4. No police officer has been authorized to kill a dog because it is running at large without a muzzle or other restraint. No person can be so authorized except by direct warrant of the Mayor and City Council, addressed to him individually. The police will therefore follow in this respect the department rule governing the use of revolvers.

The treatment by the police of dogs not licensed and of dogs or other animals at large and dangerous is to be the same as heretofore.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time has been granted for the completion of contract made with James J. Conway for building sewerage works in Ipswich street, between Lansdowne street and Charlesgate West, Roxbury, dated from August 1 to August 15, 1922, 14 days. This extension of time is occasioned by a large amount of ground water encountered at the end of the work.

An extension of time for the completion of the contract with Carmine Russo for laying and relaying water pipes in Bellevue street, Catherine road, Cowing street, Francis street, Kingsboro park, Martin street and Richards avenue, West Roxbury; Central avenue, Walter street and Winthrop street, Hyde Park, has been granted from August 5, 1922, to September 2, 1922. The contract required that Mr. Russo should operate two gangs, but owing to demands upon our inspection force it was necessary to have him proceed, after the streets were completed where building construction was in progress, with one gang only. The work under this contract has been satisfactorily carried on to date.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of contract with Gore, Inc., for granite block pavement in Main street and Mystic avenue, Charlestown, from August 1 to September 15, 1922. This extension is requested as work was delayed by reconstruction of bridge on Main street, and by work of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, which had to be done without interfering with the operation of trolley cars.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with John Guarino & Co. for building sewerage works in Martin street, between Wren street and Bellevue street, West Roxbury, from August 5, 1922, to September 2, 1922, 28 days. This extension is occasioned by the fact that work was not started until about four weeks later than was anticipated when the date for completion was set.

INVESTIGATION OF CLERK'S OFFICE.

Mayor Curley has approved the City Council's unanimous order for an investigation of the office of Clerk John P. Manning of the Superior Criminal Court. Such action was taken following the receipt by the Mayor of Mr. Manning's request that the order be approved.

It is expected that the City Council will decide upon Monday when the public hearings will start.

PROPOSALS FOR CHANGES AND REPAIRS TO FENDER PIERS OF NORTHERN AVENUE BRIDGE.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States for changes and repairs to fender piers of Northern Avenue Bridge, and giving bond thereof of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of three thousand (3,000) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex after Monday, August 7, 1922. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Bid for Northern Avenue Bridge," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 o'clock m. on Tuesday, August 15, 1922, with a certified check for seven hundred (700) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal, after acceptance, is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the bid containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to accept any proposal should he deem it to be for the best interest of the city so to do.

Commissioner of Public Works.

NET DEBT PER CAPITA IN LEADING CITIES (BY RANK).

New York, $183.87; Cincinnati, $169.13; New Orleans, $117.56; Boston, $113.72 (i. e. with population wrongly estimated at 738,901. Should be $106.39 with population estimated at 789,817 on Feb. 1, 1919); Baltimore, $100.54; Cleveland, $95.75; Pittsburgh, $91.44; Los Angeles, $87.61; San Francisco, $86.24; Philadelphia, $79.60. Figures are approximate, as population had to be estimated. (See U. S. Census Bureau's Financial Statistics of Cities, 1919, page 297.)

The per capita figures are high for New York, Boston and Cincinnati, as compared with other cities, because of their extensive investments in public service enterprises. Boston's debt for subways and tunnels being 38 per cent of the whole debt and the interest and sinking-fund dues payable from the revenue earned, it should be classed as investment-debt and kept separate from the debt for non-productive outlays met by taxation. Hence the per capita net general debt of Boston in 1919 was $67.32, not $106.39, assuming that the population was 789,817 on Feb. 1.

SALE OF HOUSE, HYDE PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 24, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—On May 15, 1922, an order was submitted to your honorable body authorizing the Board of Street Commissioners to sell at public auction, at a price of not less than $1,500, a wooden house located on a plot of land at the junction of River and Winthrop streets, Hyde Park. The sale was held, but no bids were received.

Under date of June 12, 1922, another order was submitted to your honorable body requesting authority to sell the house at a price of not less than $900. No bids were received.

I have conferred with the real estate expert, Mr. Beck, and he is of the opinion that a fair price for this house would be $300.

I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be authorized to sell at public auction, at a price not less than three hundred (300) dollars, a wooden house located on plot of land at the junction of River and Winthrop streets, Hyde Park, which was taken for municipal purposes by order approved January 16, 1922.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER FOR MUNICIPAL BUILDING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 24, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication received from the Superintendent of Public Buildings, requesting a transfer of $32,000 for the furnishing of the new municipal building, old Ward 12, and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
July 13, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I wish to advise you that inasmuch as the new municipal building, old Ward 12, is about nearing completion, it will be necessary to take up the question of furnishing same at the earliest possible moment. The architect estimates that it will cost about $32,000, including his commission, and as there is no money available in the general appropriation, it will be necessary to provide same in some other manner. The required sum may be obtained as follows:

Transfer from Recreation Building, West Roxbury	$25,000
Transfer from Quincy Market Building	7,000
Total	$32,000

Respectfully yours,
Fred J. Kneeland,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Recreation Building, West Roxbury, $25,000; Quincy Market Building, $7,000, to the appropriation for Municipal Building, old Ward 12, Furnishings, etc., $32,000.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATIONS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 24, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith appropriation order for $5,150 to meet additional requirements of the Law and Treasury Departments, and respectfully recommend the passage of the same by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

ORDER CONCERNING BATH STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 24, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication received from the Law Department relative to Bath street, and respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order by your honorable body in substitution for the original order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Boston, July 18, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Re Bath Street, Post Office Square.

Honored Sir,—Inclosed herewith is an order of the City Council relative to conveying to the Post Office Square Company such title and interest as we have in that part of Bath street discontinued by order of the Street Commissioners, as amended. This order would authorize you to give such title as the city has in another parcel of land lying at the south end of the Delta Building property.

This parcel has hardly anything more than an imaginary geometrical existence and has never been a part of Bath street, as it is officially laid out. The title to this triangle comes to the city by deed given in 1874 by Ellen Stearns, part of whose estate was taken for the purposes of Bath street. I submit herewith a diagram of the immediate locality of Bath street and thereon will appear the triangular piece I refer to.

I have increased the consideration that is to be paid to the city by the Post Office Square Company by an additional sum calculated on the basis of $30 a foot.

I assume that the Bath street order, as originally sent you, has not yet gone through the City Council, in which event this may be offered as a substitute.

Respectfully submitted,
E. Mark Sullivan,
Corporation Counsel.

Whereas, It is proposed that a portion of Bath street, containing an area of 1,766 feet, more or less, as shown on a plan hereto annexed, shall be discontinued,

Ordered, In the event of such discontinuance, that the Mayor, in the name and behalf of the city, is hereby authorized to release to the Post Office Square Company, its successors or assigns, by an instrument in writing, satisfactory to the Law Department, all right, title and interest which the City of Boston may have in the said land after the said portion of said street is discontinued, and also in a triangular parcel containing about thirteen square feet of land lying west of Bath street and bounded northerly by the southerly end of the Delta Building property, upon the payment to the city of the sum of $47,370; and upon the further consideration that the Post Office Square Company shall, without compensation, convey or cause to be conveyed in fee to the City of Boston for street purposes a strip of land containing 200 feet, more or less, which is now located on the southeasterly corner of Post Office square and said Bath street, as shown on the above mentioned plan.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

SUPPLEMENTARY APPROPRIATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 24, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith order making a supplementary appropriation for the County of Suffolk, and respectfully recommend the passage of same by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Office of the Mayor, July 24, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Under the terms of the recent will of Jams Phinney Baxter, late of Portland, Maine, deceased, a bequest of $50,000 was made to the City of Boston, $5,000 of which is to be paid to the city, provided it accepts the bequest, within three years after the final probate of the will, which was July 19, 1921, and the balance of $45,000 is to be paid by the trustees within ten years of the final probate of the will in such installments and at such times within the said ten years as the trustees may determine. The $50,000 is to accumulate until the year 2020, or until such sum accumulates to $1,000,000, and the sum is then to be used for a suitable building to be erected in the City of Boston to commemorate the lives and deeds of the founders of New England. The city is to complete the building in all such details on December 31, 2025.

I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Ordered, That the City of Boston accept the bequest contained in the will of James Phinney Baxter, late of Portland, in the county of Cumberland, state of Maine, upon the terms and conditions therein imposed, and that his Honor the Mayor, in the name of and in behalf of the city, file forthwith an acceptance of said bequest in writing with the trustees under said will.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATION, SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 21, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Acting Soldiers' Relief Commissioner has submitted a request for an additional appropriation of $250,000 to meet the demand under Item F, special item No. 8, State and Military Aid, Soldiers' Relief and Burials, a copy of which is herewith appended.

I do not agree with the conclusion reached by the Acting Soldiers' Relief Commissioner with reference to the amount of money that may be necessary for the balance of the year.

The Employment Bureau, co-operating with the Civil Service Commission and the Soldiers' Relief Department, have found it possible to provide employment for World War veterans who had been receiving unemployment aid from the city, and invariably it has been found that the World War veteran has preferred employment rather than direct aid from the city.

The peak of the expenditure was reached in March of the current year, when the total expenditure under Item 8 was $135,970.

Through the agencies to which I have made reference, namely, the Employment Bureau and the Civil Service Commission, in the procuring of employment for veterans, payments for the month of July show a reduction of $36,000 as against March, and further possible reductions during the balance of the year should represent in this one department a saving of approximately $300,000.

Consequently, in my opinion, I believe that $150,000 will be ample to meet the requirements for the remainder of the year, and recommend the adoption by your honorable body of the accompanying order for $150,000.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

TRANSFER FOR LEE PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 24, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication received from the Board of Park Commissioners, requesting a transfer of $20,000 from the appropriation for a gymnasium at South Boston to the appropriation for the Christopher J. Lee Playground and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, July 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At the last meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners it was voted to ask his Honor the Mayor to request the City Council to transfer $20,000 from the appropriation, "Gymnasium, South Boston," to the appropriation, "Christopher J. Lee Playground, Improvement and Extension of."

The amount appropriated for the improvement and extension of the Christopher J. Lee playground is $75,000.

Two contracts have already been awarded, one for grading, loaming, etc., approximately $38,425, and another for fences, approximately $4,300, and, together with incidental expenses incurred of $557, makes a total of $43,282.

Proposals have been submitted for the construction of a locker building at this place, the lowest bid being $41,400. If awarded, this will make an additional amount needed of $9,682. In all we will need the following itemized amounts in order to complete the playground:

Balance needed to award contract for locker building	$9,125
Architect's services on locker building	2,484
Shelter building for children	2,500
Planting	1,500
Apparatus	2,500
Tennis courts and grounds for other games	1,891
Total	$20,000

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea, Chairman.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Gymnasium, South Boston, $20,000, to the appropriation for Christopher J. Lee Playground, $20,000.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MUZZLING OF DOGS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 24, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The report of the Health Department for the month of June sets forth that there were twenty-four cases of persons who were bitten by dogs and that seven persons are now undergoing treatment at the City Hospital for rabies.

I transmit herewith communication received from the Health Commissioner urging immediate action in order that the public may be protected, and respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Health Department, July 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—For many months there has been an increasing number of dog bite cases reported to this department, and in many cases the animals after examination and diagnosis have proved to be rabid.

On May 12 of this year, through you, I had inserted as a news article in the press of the city a request that all dog owners keep their dog leashed, and in conference with the Police Commissioner effected the co-operation of the Police Department. Inasmuch as this was simply a request and not an ordinance, or order, or regulation, it did not have the effect of law and consequently was of little avail, with the result that but few dogs are found leashed in the streets of this city, with consequent danger to the citizens not only from dogs owned by citizens of Boston but from dogs owned by residents of the adjoining cities and towns, and a corresponding increase in number of cases.

In most cases a dog bite case costs the city $25 for the treatment which we are obliged to purchase from New York, and in addition there is the annoyance, discomfort and loss of labor of the patient, because he or she is obliged to report daily for treatment for a period of twenty-one days.

I would therefore suggest, if the attached order meets with your approval, that it be presented for approval by the City Council.

Respectfully,
F. X. Mahoney,
Health Commissioner.

Ordered, That all dogs within the limits of the City of Boston be muzzled or restrained from running at large for the period of three months from the date of the passage of this order, and the members of the police force of the City of Boston are hereby authorized and empowered to make special service upon the owner or keeper of each dog within the limits of the city by delivering to the owner or keeper of such dog a certified copy of this order.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BUILDING LINE ON PROVINCE STREET.

The following was received:

Finance Commission,
July 18, 1922.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Finance Commission submits the following report to your honorable body in the matter of an appropriation order of $250,000 from a loan in the matter of an appropriation order of $250,000 from a loan to establish a building line on Province street, between School street and Bromfield street, submitted by his Honor the Mayor.

The first notice that the Finance Commission had that the establishment of such a line was contemplated this year was the report in the public press of a meeting of the owners of the real estate on Province street, the Street Commissioners, and his Honor the Mayor at the Mayor's office on Thursday, July 6, 1922. Such investigation as the Finance Commission has been able to make since that time establishes the following facts.

1. The establishment of a building line, or the widening of Province street, as the project is now called, was not considered by the Street Commissioners in their program for this year.

2. Early in June the desirability of widening Province street was suggested to the Street Commissioners by one of the trustees of the McAleer estate who, at the same time, interviewed the owners of the land abutting the easterly side of Province street on the matter and found them opposed. He did no more about it.

3. The proposed widening contemplates a 50-foot street and substantially all the land necessary for the widening is to be taken from owners abutting on the easterly side of the street.

4. The land on the easterly side of Province street is owned or controlled by the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, the Olympia Realty Company, and George U. Crocker and others, trustees of the Ballard Real Estate Trust.

5. The Olympia Realty Company owns or controls a frontage on Province street of 105 feet about midway between School and Bromfield streets, and is now engaged in building a theater upon this land which will have its entrance on Washington street. The city issued a permit to tear down the old buildings on this land May 9, 1922, when the work of tearing down the buildings was begun.

6. Mr. Max Shoolman is the treasurer of the Olympia Realty Company. He stated to the Finance Commission that the building plans contemplated a building devoted to stores and offices on Washington street, with an arcade entrance to the theater, and that one of the stores is already leased on a long term and includes a basement extending under the theater to the present Province street line.

7. The taking by the city to widen Province street to 50 feet, Mr. Shoolman states, would leave an insufficient depth for a theater and the construction of a theater and part of the basement to be constructed under the theater would have to be abandoned.

8. The Olympia Realty Company has excavated to a depth of 35 feet on the Province street frontage and has built cement walls on three sides the entire depth. Much of the steel for the proposed building is in place. Mr. Shoolman stated that 500 tons of steel would be rendered worthless except for a junk value if the theater building is abandoned.

9. The Boston Five Cents Savings Bank has tentative plans for a new bank building to be erected in the near future. The taking of part of its land to widen Province street to 50 feet will not prevent such building as is contemplated for banking purposes, provided the bank is able to procure certain land in the rear of such land fronting on School street as remains after the taking.

10. The trustees of the Ballard estate, corner of Bromfield and Province streets, have a frontage of about 60 feet on Bromfield street. To widen Province street to 50 feet it will be necessary to take about 30 feet of this land, all the way back to Province court. This would leave a parcel remaining of not more than 30 feet in width, which is probably too narrow to develop to the best advantage.

The debt incurring power of the city was estimated at the beginning of the present fiscal year at $3,642,050.65. During the first five months loans aggregating $3,160,000 were authorized by your honorable body, leaving a debt incurring power as of July 1, 1922, of $482,050.65.

Of the loans already authorized, $1,025,000 is to be devoted to park and playground improvements; $800,000 for sewerage works; $500,000 for making of highways; $500,000 for building Police Station 2; and $335,000 for rebuilding two brildges.

The Finance Commission believes that Province street ought to be made wider. The time that it has had to study this matter has not been sufficient to enable it to consider all the factors that enter into a determination of the extent of the widening.

The commission does not believe that the widening of Province street to 50 feet would solve present traffic conditions to any appreciable degree. If the widening of Province street is to be the beginning of the construction of a through street parallel with Tremont street north and south, that fact ought to be known and a thorough study of the whole situation made before any part of it is begun. But whatever the purpose of the proposed widening, very much more time to study the problem than has been given to any of the parties vitally interested, including city officials who have a duty in the matter, should be allowed before an appropriation order is passed.

There seems to the Finance Commission to be an insuperable financial objection to this widening in this financial year. A conservative estimate of the cost of widening and constructing Province street will exceed $1,000,000 by a substantial amount. As the commission understands the matter, the city is now proposing to take such action as will prevent the Olympia Realty Company from continuing to build upon certain of its land bordering on Province street. The city proposes to do this for the purpose of widening Province street its entire length. The city cannot be said to be establishing a building line when it is actually depriving the owner of real estate of its present use. Before undertaking such a public improvement, the city must have the money available to pay for it. There are not now sufficient funds available to carry out this proposed widening project, even if the entire balance of the debt incurring power is used.

The Finance Commission has repeatedly reported on the danger to the city of reducing its borrowing power below $500,000 so early in the financial year. To further reduce the city's borrowing power, now $482,000, would be to place the finances of the city in a perilous condition for the next six months.

The Finance Commission recommends that your honorable body do not approve the order now before you for an appropriation of $250,000 to establish a building line on Province street.

Respectfully submitted,
Michael H. Sullivan, Chairman,
Courtenay Guild,
John F. Moors,
J. Waldo Pond.
The Finance Commission.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 19, 1922.

Hon. Michael H. Sullivan, Chairman, Finance Commission, 413 Tremont Building, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge receipt this day of your communication relative to the improvement of Province street.

Replying thereto I beg to state that the recommendation made to the City Council provided for the creation of a building line to continue until June 1, 1928. This recommendation was made for the sole purpose of safeguarding the city financially and making such provision as was possible for the convenience of the public and the establishment of a new business thoroughfare in the heart of the city. The question of the ultimate establishment of a permanent thoroughfare of which the portion between Bromfield and School streets would serve as a part is a question that can best be determined by the City Planning Board. To follow the recommendation of the Finance Commission and to delay action at this time would result in a later increased cost which might render the proposed improvement impossible of consummation. My personal opinion is that at no time during the past half century has it been possible to carry through a project of this character at a less cost than at the present time and there is no way in which either the City Council or the Mayor can justify further delay.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Finance Commission,
July 20, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—Your letter of the 19th instant in reply to a report of the Finance Commission, dated 18th instant, to the City Council, in the matter of an appropriation from loan of $250,000 for establishing a street line on Province street, has been received.

The commissioner is in accord with your Honor in believing that the widening of Province street would be a desirable improvement. The real questions at issue, however, are whether the finances of the city will justify the proposed widening now and whether the way proposed is the appropriate way.

The Finance Commission is not in accord with your Honor in the opinion expressed in your letter that at no time during the past half century has it been possible to carry through a project of this character at a less cost than at the present time.

It appears that during the past three months the abutting owner of the land where your Honor now desires to establish a street line has expended or contracted to expend a sum approximating the amount that you ask the City Council to appropriate, not including the value of the land itself.

In the opinion of the Finance Commission the time to have widened Province street on the east was three months ago, before these expenditures were undertaken and before the city had authorized the use of nearly the whole of its borrowing power for the year for other purposes.

Respectfully submitted,
Michael H. Sullivan, Chairman,
Courtenay Guild,
John F. Moors,
J. Waldo Pond.
The Finance Commission.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Buildings Department.

Upon August 7 the Mayor approved a contract with R. J. Connolly for the removal of floor timbers and new construction work at the Quincy Market. A communication from Fred J. Kneeland, Superintendent of Public Buildings, was as follows:

Boston, August 7, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I wish to advise you of the following facts, namely:

The tenancy of one of the stalls in the Quincy Market recently changed hands, and in making some changes it necessitated the removal of a large refrigerator. When they attempted to do this it was discovered that many of the floor timbers were so badly decayed that it was really remarkable they had not given away before this time.

I immediately put contractors to work on same, and not being able to estimate the possible cost, I have asked Mr. R. J. Connolly to give me a price and he informs me that it will be over $1,000, but probably will not exceed $1,800.

I therefore respectfully request, inasmuch as this is an emergency, permission to award a contract to him without the usual form of advertising, in a sum not to exceed $1,800.

Respectfully yours,
Fred J. Kneeland,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon August 7 the Mayor approved a contract with Bernard M. Marcus for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, July 24, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Bernard W. Marcus, 271 Dean road, Bookline, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,
Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon August 7 the Mayor approved a contract with Carmine Russo for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, August 3, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Carmine Russo, 5 Clarendon avenue, Roslindale, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,
Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon August 10 the Mayor approved a contract with the Morrison Skinner Company for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, August 9, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Morrison Skinner Company, Wakefield, Mass., is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,
Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

School Committee.

Upon July 31 the School Committee awarded a contract, without advertising, as follows:

Ballard Fuel Oil Terminal Corporation, 309,000 gallons of fuel oil for use in the Boston Public Schools, at a price of 4.25 cents per gallon, with a guaranty of 18,500 B. T. U. per pound.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

An addition, amounting to $5,348.75, on contract with John T. Shea, Jr., for recutting and relaying granite block pavement in Berkeley street, from Providence street across Columbus avenue, city proper, on account of barring out, recutting and relaying granite blocks on 6-inch concrete base with cement grout joints in the track area of the Boston Elevated Railway Company. Original contract, $13,513.28; total addition, $5,348.75; contract as standing, $18,862.03.

Public Works Department (Sewer Service).

An addition, amounting to $120, on contract with George J. Regan for sewerage works in Morton street, Dorchester, on account of removing cesspool at 960 Morton street in line of trench; maintaining flow from two houses, and refilling two cesspools. Original contract, $7,067.15; total addition, $120; contract as standing, $7,187.15.

An addition, amounting to $8, on contract with S. J. Tomasello for sewerage works in Adams street, Dorchester, on account of cutting guttermouth in existing edgestone. Original contract, $1,743.10; total addition, $8; contract as standing, $1,751.10.

An addition, amounting to $1,500, on contract with Antony Baruffaldi for sewerage works in Glendale road outlet, Section 1, and North avenue, West Roxbury, on account of removing 50 feet of old stone culvert under New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West Roxbury Branch, and caring for all water flowing under the railroad on line of culvert, as indicated on the plan, being different from what was found on excavating. Original contract, $46,554; total additions, $4,625; contract as standing, $51,170.

Public Works Department (Water Service).

An addition, amounting to $6 on contract with Carmin Russo for laying and relaying water pipes in Bellevue street, Catherine road, Cowing and Frances streets, Kingsboro park, Martin street and Richards avenue, West Roxbury; Central avenue, Walter and Winthrop streets, Hyde Park, on account of removing broken post hydrant box and resetting new box. Original contract, $3,732; total addition, $6; contract as standing, $3,738.

An addition, amounting to $450, on contract with P. DeCristoforo for laying and relaying water pipes in Dudley street, between Blue Hill avenue and Magnolia street, Dorchester, on account of relocating two catch-basin drains; cleaning out and removing catch-basin at Magnolia street; resetting about 150 linear feet of edgestone; lowering 6-inch water pipe in Brook avenue; bracing and blocking 24-inch low service water pipe, and assisting Water Service employes to transfer twelve services to 16-inch high service pipe. Original contract, $4,511.50; total additions, $979.88; contract as standing, $5,491.38.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

A deduction, in the amount of $48, on contract with the Hart & Hutchinson Company for work at the Dorchester High School. For deducting 32 double tier Durand lockers at $1.50 per door. Original contract, $8,068 60; total deduction, $48; contract as standing, $8,020.60.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor has approved, with the indorsement of the Corporation Counsel, the following claims:

Antonio DeLuca, 7 Bay State place, South Boston, in the amount of $35, as refund of fee for a pool table license at 37 Essex street, city proper, which was never used.

Rev. L. D. Tobin, in the amount of $100, as compensation for removal of fence and damage to trees at 3 Kenton road and Lawn street, Jamaica Plain, caused by the taking of land in September, 1919.

Angelo Minichello, in the amount of $400, as compensation for personal injuries caused by hole in sidewalk opposite 28 Bremen street, East Boston, May 7, 1922.

REJECTED CLAIMS.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, the Corporation Counsel, states the Law Department has disapproved seven claims against the city, in one of which no amount was specified, and the other six aggregated $645.99 and are classified as follows:

Against the Fire Department, two, amounting to $466.24; against the Public Works Department, five, in one of which no amount was specified, and the other four amounted to $179.75.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liability on the part of the city.

GARAGE PERMITS APPROVED.

The Mayor has approved the following petitions for garages, received from the Board of Street Commissioners:

Mary H. McLaughlin et al., 125 School street, Ward 15, three cars.

Ellen T. McCarthy, 903 Broadway, Ward 10, two cars.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with Martino DeMatteo for sheet asphalt pavement in Humboldt avenue, from Walnut avenue to Seaver street, Roxbury, from August 1, 1922, to September 15, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that the many rainstorms have delayed the prosecution of the work, and the relaying of Elevated Railway tracks will delay the city contractor from proceeding with his work as rapidly as would otherwise be possible.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with Antony Baruffaldi for building sewerage works for Glendale road outlet, Section 1 and North avenue, West Roxbury, from August 1, 1922, to November 1, 1922, ninety-one days. This extension of time is occasioned by delay caused by heavy rainfall and flooding from overflow of Charles river.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with Samuel J. Tomasello for bitulithic pavement in Stark street, from Cambridge street to Roland street, Charlestown, from August 15, 1922, to October 1, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that drains being laid by private drain layer have prevented the contractor from starting his work, with the result that he cannot complete his contract before October 1.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with John T. Shea, Jr., for recutting and relaying granite block pavement in Berkeley street, from Providence street across Columbus avenue, city proper, from August 15, 1922, to October 1, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that the Edison Electric Illuminating Company has been laying a conduit in this street which has delayed the contractor with his work. An addition to the work to be done originally by the contractor has been made because of order given to him to repave the space between the rails of the Boston Elevated Railway Company.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with the Holbrook Construction Company for recutting and relaying granite block pavement in Northampton street, from Washington street, across Albany street, city proper, from August 15, 1922, to October 1, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that the contractor has been given an order for additional work to pave between the rails of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, which will take him longer to complete the work than was at first estimated.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with Simpson's Patent Dry Dock Company, East Boston, for repairing main engine and auxiliaries in ferryboat "John H. Sullivan," from August 1, 1922, to August 31, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that the Worthington Pump Company failed to deliver a pump at the time promised the Simpson's Patent Dry Dock Company and the city, and also because of the extra work devolved when the boat was placed in dry dock.

Joseph Ruggo has been granted an extension of time until October 1 for the completion of contract for the construction of a locker house at the Allston Playground.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with John Cuarino for building sewerage works in Humboldt avenue, between Walnut avenue and Seaver street, Roxbury, from July 18, 1922, to August 19, 1922, thirty-two days. This extension of time is occasioned by the fact that exceptionally difficult work has been encountered.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of contract made with Samuel J. Tomasello for building sewerage works in Catherine road, between Wren street and Park street, West Roxbury, from August 5, 1922, to September 9, 1922, thirty-five days. This extension is occasioned by the fact that the work was not begun until two weeks later than was anticipated when the date for completion was set.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 91.

The commanding officer of Division 3 has called to my attention some very meritorious police work recently performed by Patrolmen John A. Russell and Joseph Decker of that division.

On August 1, the captain having received information that certain persons were trying to sell a large quantity of narcotic drugs, assigned Patrolmen Russell and Decker to the case, who succeeded in arresting the drug sellers and securing from them a large assortment of drugs and a quantity of liquor, which one of the men said was obtained by breaking and entering a drug store on Division 16. The men were prosecuted in court and convicted.

I am very much gratified to learn of this most excellent police work on the part of Patrolmen Russell and Decker, and I take pleasure in extending to them my warm commendation of the tact and skill which they showed in bringing about the arrest and conviction of men so dangerous to the welfare of the community.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 93.

General Order No. 95.

There has been brought to my attention the following meritorious police work performed by patrolman Mark J. Leonard of Division 9.

On Saturday, August 5, at 7.15 a. m., a message was received at headquarters that a girl, eighteen years of age, a state ward, had run away from her home in Newton. Patrolman Leonard having been detailed to the deputy superintendent's office that morning, heard of the runaway, and upon being relieved at headquarters, and while on his way home, saw a girl in the South Station, who proved to be the girl who had run away, and brought her to Station 4, where later she was turned over to the proper persons.

This was a most excellent piece of police work, and I warmly commend Patrolman Leonard for the alertness of mind and quickness of observation which enabled him to recognize and detain the runaway girl and restore her to her friends.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 96.

The commanding officer of Division 16 has called to my attention a most meritorious piece of police work performed by Patrolman William B. Boyden of that division.

About four o'clock p. m., Sunday, August 6, as Patrolman Boyden was doing motor cycle duty in the Fens in the vicinity of the Boylston Street Bridge, he heard cries for help, and running to the river, saw a boy clinging to the side of an overturned canoe in the middle of Muddy river.

Throwing off his coat, Patrolman Boyden swam out to the boy, who was almost exhausted, and brought him safely to the shore, where he was cared for and taken home by his friends.

I am exceedingly gratified to learn of this brave act on the part of Patrolman Boyden, and I most heartily commend him for his courage as well as for the quickness of thought and promptness of action which enabled him to prevent a possible fatal accident.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 98.

A Trial Board, consisting of Captains Fitzgerald, Hickey and McConnell, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman James P. Stuart of Division 6, charging him with untruthfulness, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which the said Patrolman James P. Stuart was on July 25, 1922, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due notice of such dismissal, with the reason therefor, was duly and specifically given in writing on July 25, 1922, to the said James P. Stuart.

On the twenty-sixth day of July, 1922, the said James P. Stuart, by his attorney, requested in writing a hearing as provided by the General Laws, and the Police Commissioner set down Monday, August 7, 1922, at two o'clock p. m., at the office of the Police Commissioner, as the time and place for said hearing and duly notified the said James P. Stuart.

The said James P. Stuart was present at the said time and place with counsel and was heard with his witnesses. Whereupon, after hearing the case, the Police Commissioner found that the said James P. Stuart should stand dismissed from the Police Department of the City of Boston.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

RECREATION PROVIDED CHILDREN.

For the encouragement of athletics among the children of the city, and the improvement of the health of the young, Mayor Curley, through the Park Department, has announced a series of athletic events to be held during the month in which all the children of the city are invited to compete.

The first of these was a tennis tournament held during the present week at Franklin Field. Gold and silver medals were awarded in each event and the contests were divided into two classes, for boys and girls under eighteen years of age, and for boys and girls under fifteen years of age.

There will also be district swimming meets for all districts on August 12 and the finals the following day at the Head-house, City Point. Certificates will be awarded in the district meets and medals in the finals.

The last of the events of the season will be an athletic meet at Franklin Field on Sunday, September 3. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded in each of two classes in all races, except the relay, for which special prizes will be given. The meet will be open only to boys.

SAFETY SLOGAN ADOPTED.

Mayor Curley has formally approved a suggestion presented by Harry H. Kay, resident manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, in behalf of the Kiwanis Club, who are especially interested in the safety campaign which the Mayor has inaugurated.

The slogan suggested by Mr. Kay is:

"Lose a Minute and Save a Life."

Mr. Kay has called Mayor Curley's particular attention to the fact that during the year 1921 thirty-three persons were killed each day by automobiles in the United States; that these deaths were needless and it is the duty of the American people to save their children from being killed or crippled by automobiles; to instruct them to look both ways before crossing the street, not to cut corners, but use the crossings and not to hurry.

Drivers of automobiles are particularly requested to drive slowly where children play, and especial attention is called to the fact that public streets are the only playgrounds that many children enjoy.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES.

Maj. William J. Casey, Acting Commissioner, has presented the following report relative to the activities of the Fire Department for the month of July, 1922:

City of Boston,
Fire Department,
August 5, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In accordance with your Honor's circular letter No. 3, I submit herewith a report of the activities of the Fire Department for the month of July, 1922:

On July 13, 1922, the horse-drawn steam fire engine in service with Engine Company 6, Leverett street, was replaced by a motor-driven American LaFrance combination 750-gallon pumper and hose car, displacing three horses. The old apparatus was placed in reserve.

On July 19, 1922, the horse-drawn steam fire engine in service with Engine Company 12, Dudley street and Blue Hill avenue, was replaced by an American LaFrance motor-driven combination 750-gallon pumper and hose car. At the same time the horse-drawn hose wagon in service with this company was replaced by an American LaFrance motor-driven combination hose and chemical car. These changes displaced five horses. The old apparatus was placed in reserve.

On July 21, 1922, the horse-drawn steam fire engine in service with Engine Company 24, Quincy and Warren streets, was replaced by an American LaFrance motor-driven combination 750-gallon pumper and hose car. At the same time the horse-drawn hose wagon in service with this company was replaced by an American LaFrance motor-driven combination hose and chemical car. These changes displaced five horses. The old apparatus was placed in reserve.

Chemical Company 10, Dudley and Winslow streets, Roxbury, was disbanded on July 28, 1922, and the members of the company reassigned to strengthen other companies in the department. The disbanding of this company is in line with the policy of abolishing chemical companies throughout the city, in view of the fact that all the motor-driven hose cars are now equipped with chemical tanks.

Arrangements have been made to install a new fire alarm box at the corner of La Grange street and Brook Farm road, West Roxbury district.

"Field Practice," a manual published by the National Fire Protection Association, has been distributed to the chief officers and men detailed on inspection work.

In the schools of the department twenty-five officers and men have completed the course of instruction in the care and operation of automobiles; twenty men have completed the course of instruction in the operation of gasolene pumping engines, and eight men were instructed in the operation of steam fire engines.

The various branches of the department have performed their duties in a proper and satisfactory manner.

Yours very truly,

William J. Casey,
Acting Fire Commissioner.

ZONING COMMISSION APPOINTED.

Mayor Curley has appointed the Zoning Advisory Commission, who will work in co-operation with the members of the City Planning Board in the preparation of a zoning plan and ordinance for the City of Boston.

The members of the commission comprise B. Preston Clark of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts; P. Harry Jennings, secretary and business agent of the Boston Central Labor Union; Elbridge R. Anderson of the Boston Real Estate Exchange; Dana Somes of the Boston Society of Architects; John Nolen, president of the Boston Society of Landscape Architects; C. Frank Allen of the Boston Society of Civil Engineers; Luther C. Greenleaf of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange; George F. Stebbins, secretary of the Team Owners Association; Walter R. Meins of the United Improvement Association; James C. McGaw of the Master Builders Association.

The representative of the Boston Chamber of Commerce will be named on September 15.

The first meeting of the commission will be held in the office of the City Planning Board, 47 City Hall, upon Monday, August 14, at 3:30 o'clock.

THE POPULATION OF BOSTON.

The Statistics Department announce after most careful figuring the population of Boston is estimated as 832,678 as of July 1, 1922. The Vital Statistics Division of United States Census Bureau is at present estimating our population as 764,017. According to the latter, Boston's death rate for the first six months of 1922 is 15.56. This is too high, higher than most of the other large cities. Our estimate approximately correct, is 14.27, about normal.

MUNICIPAL ROSE GARDEN.

Mayor Curley has rejected the proposal for a $300,000 rose garden for Arnold Arboretum in favor of a $100,000 herbaceous garden in Franklin Park, in the Seaver street and Blue Hill avenue sector of this playground, where more persons can enjoy the exhibit.

The Mayor states he will forward to the City Council an order transferring $25,000 of Parkman Fund income for the purpose this fall, when some measure of the preliminary work can be accomplished. Next season the Mayor will ask for the additional $75,000 to finish the work.

Arthur A. Shurtleff, the Park Department's consulting architect, has drawn the plan for the garden layout.

Architect Shurtleff says:

"These gardens are to be built at Franklin Park as a continuation of the flower planting already commenced on the north side of the mall toward Seaver street. The ground is well protected from the wind by high trees and lies in a sunny situation north of a long ridge upon which level and sightly ground for the pergola exists overlooking all the gardens. The gardens are to be planted around the margins of the present meadows.

"The easterly portion of the garden is primarily for herbaceous plants grouped in a naturalistic way, using shrubbery and trees as a background. The center of this area will be occupied by a pond for aquatic plants. Beaches are arranged at several points. Water is to be led from a "Grotto" fountain.

"Picturesque footbridges are thrown over the streams which lead from this fountain and across the waterway which feeds the special pool for plants like the lotus, papyrus and other plants of unusual interest and requiring special protection. A collection of rock plants will be included on the knoll which lies northwest of the pond.

"At the westerly part of the scheme a special garden of oval shape is arranged for roses. A trellis is designed for the margins to display climbing and pillar roses. Within this inclosure will be displayed a great variety of roses, including standards. The outer margin of the garden is raised about three feet higher than the central portion to give visitors a good view of the interior.

"Ample spaces are arranged for the accommodation of large gatherings. It is intended to make this rose garden one of the finest rose collections in the country. Unusual care will be taken to prepare the soil for the reception of these plants.

"The long pergola which overlooks all the gardens and which faces the great mall of the Zoo will be built substantially of oak timbers and will be covered with climbing roses and flowering vines. Space is arranged for a display of flowers on each side of the pergola on the approach from the mall. A terrace on the north side of the pergola on the high ground also overlooks all the gardens and is connected with the winding paths below by flights of steps.

"Flowering trees and shrubs and an extensive collection of hardy herbaceous plants will be used liberally throughout the scheme for the enjoyment of visitors during all the season from May until the latter part of October."

MAYOR ADDRESSES CLUB MEMBERS.

The Kiwanis Club of Boston were hosts to Mayor Curley at the Boston City Club upon the 8th instant. The Mayor spoke of the hope which he entertains in the success of the movement started by him for the preservation of human life through the establishment of health units in congested sections and by a campaign to reduce the number of deaths and accidents in the streets.

Mayor Curley declared that the tax rate has a most important bearing on the welfare of the community. In 1914, during his first year as Mayor, Boston enjoyed the lowest tax rate of all cities in the Commonwealth with the exception of Peabody, and he believed that the Boston rate this year, to be announced within a few days, would not increase above the present rate of $24.70.

Proceeding to discuss health measures, Mayor Curley spoke of the accidents and deaths in the streets. In the Commonwealth of Massachusetts there were 550 deaths last year and 11,500 accidents. Hudson street alone contributed thirteen killed in one year and Commercial street twenty-two in three years. When it is considered that by safety-first program New Bedford had succeeded in reducing street deaths to two in a year and Pittsfield had a clear record, the public is given an indication of what can be accomplished by a campaign of education.

Though the Mayor had suggested a slogan of "Start Ten Minutes Earlier and Save Human Life" for the motorists to observe, he admitted that the slogan suggested by the insurance interests, ' Lose a Minute and Save a Human Life," was better. He explained the inception of the campaign against deaths and accidents which centers about the presentation of a scenario in the parks, playgrounds and schoolyards of Boston, with the co-operation of the Elevated road, the insurance interests and the School Department, and referred to the $5,000,000 benefaction to the City of Boston from the will of George R. White, with which it will be possible for the city to establish five health units in the next few years.

Mayor Curley said it is the opinion of medical authorities that with the establishment of health units, such as is proposed, and properly managed, infant mortality of Boston can be reduced 25 per cent. As an example of health work he referred to the Blossom street institution in the West End, where 26,000 persons were treated the first year and in which section the death rate during the influenza epidemic was less than in the Town of Brookline.

The Mayor has been invited to address the club because of the co-operation in the health campaign which the directors had voted to give. The Mayor referred to this co-operation as a great help and said he hoped that similar organizations in the city would respond as sympathetically in order that public opinion shall be aroused to the limit.

PROFESSOR NORTON WILL SERVE.

Mayor Curley has approved the request of Commissioner of Public Works Rourke for employing Prof. Arthur E. Norton of Harvard University as consulting engineer upon the Calf Pasture pumping station work. Professor Norton was engaged by the previous Commissioner of Public Works and his services were continued by the present Commissioner. The maximum expense will be $3,500.

CONSERVATION BUREAU ESTABLISHED.

As a result of a conference by a temporary committee held with Mayor Curley Wednesday afternoon at the Mayor's office, City Hall, it was decided to create a permanent "Boston Conservation Bureau," whose purpose will be to present information by means of organized programs for meetings of men, women and children, which shall encourage the protection of human life and the safeguarding of public health, through education and co-operation.

The Mayor is having drafted an ordinance for the purpose, which will be presented to the City Council at its next meeting.

Part of the plans are already being carried out in the open-air "Boston Park Shows" under the supervision of the Park Department in municipal parks and playgrounds, several evenings of each week. For the present the points to be emphasized are street accident prevention, safety, and protection of children, individual and community health information, clean streets, care of parks, and utilizing municipal resources.

Later, when the new Bureau is organized, it will constitute a central clearing house for constructive information related to the welfare of the people of the community. This information is to be presented at summer meetings to be held outdoors as at present, together with smaller neighborhood meetings in schoolyards and small parks. During the fall and winter there will be indoor meetings, with programs of similar character in municipal buildings, school centers and before organizations interested to co-operate. It is the unanimous opinion of the Mayor and the committee that a year-round service is essential if results are to be accomplished.

It is the hope and expectation of Mayor Curley in launching this organized campaign for the welfare of the children and adults of the city that there may be a considerable tangible reduction in the number of accidents and deaths in the streets, and a betterment in the city's health record through attention to common sense precautions against preventable illness.

This is the main feature to be given immediate attention, but the plan is much broader than that. In fact, the programs in which these subejcts are emphasized will at the same time, as in the outdoor park shows now, convey by means of motion pictures, by "silent talks" on the screen and even by the words of suitable songs, inspiration that may be a contribution to the general maintenance of desirable citizenship in nation, state and city.

One form of service will be to help "Sell Boston to Bostonians," so the people who live in the city may know more about its resources and opportunities and be able to talk intelligently on the subject. Special programs may be arranged for presentation during conventions. Information will be given which will help people of the city visualize the Mayor's "Health Unit" plan, so that when other health units are added to the pioneer unit in the West End, the people may appreciate the value of these institutions to the welfare of individuals and to the community.

The information will be conveyed primarily by visual education means, through a plan and an organized program which has been developed by a group of interested men and women during the past seven or eight years, known as "Service Unit Programs," which has been used in an experimental andl imited way in the city parks, in school centers and on public holidays.

The directors of the Kiwanis Club of Boston have voted to get behind the new plan and be a main factor in making its success assured. At a meeting of the members of the club held at the City Club on Tuesday the action of the directors was confirmed, and ways and means are now being worked out.

There are to be two competitions open to all men and women interested to take part. One competition will be for a suitable general slogan. Two suggestions have been made, namely: "Protect human life and safeguard public health through education and co-operation," and as a second suggestion, "Boston our city, let us conserve its safety, cleanliness, health and happiness." It is expected that with suggestions from many sources, including trained writers of catch phrases, a striking and significant slogan may be evolved.

The second competition will be for a design or trade-mark. Information of the time of the opening of both competitions will be announced later.

Besides the general slogan there will be one for each phase of the campaign. Applicable to the prevention of automobile accidents two suggestions have been made, namely; "Start ten minutes earlier and avoid endangering human life by speeding," and another which finds much favor with both the Mayor and the committee, "Lose a minute and save a life." The latter slogan is being broadcasted nationally by one of the great life insurance companies.

For a health slogan this has been suggested: "A clean city is a healthy city."

The temporary committee, which has been considering the matter for several weeks, includes the following:

H. Bertram Potter, Frank Leveroni, John J. Keenan, Lewis E. MacBrayne, James R. Nicholson, Frank Chouteau Brown, William C. Conant, John F. Dowd, Hon. Thomas H. Dowd, Franklin W. Ganse, H. N. Guterman, John H. Johnson, H. H. Kay, John J. Morgan, Dr. Sarah E. Palmer, Mrs. Eva W. White, J. T. Sullivan, and E. B. Mero as director. Mayor Curley and General Manager Dana of the Boston Elevated Railway are honorary members of the committee.

Present at the meeting Wednesday, in addition to a majority of the committee, were City Auditor Carven, Park Commissioners Shea and Lewis, with Deputy Commissioner Long. Other city departments whose co-operation is already assured are the Health, Library and the School Departments. It is the Mayor's hope that organizations of city-wide membership will co-operate to make the new "Boston Conservation Bureau" the success it should be for the advancement of the city along civic and welfare lines.

MAYOR IMPROVES STREET CONDITIONS.

The Board of Street Commissioners has adopted the suggestion of Mayor Curley in the matter of "No Parking" signs placed on the sidewalks by private individuals, sidewalk gasolene pumps and unit garages.

The Board has informed the Mayor that the "No Parking" signs are plainly illegal and that the Police Department has been asked to see that the practice is stopped.

Gasolene pumps have been authorized for sidewalks at rare intervals in the past two years, and no more will be authorized where the convenience of the public is involved.

Garages above three units in size also will receive unfavorable attention unless there are circumstances concerned with their erection which are more unusual than those ordinarily presented.

City of Boston.
In the year Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-two.
An Ordinance Relative to Park Frontages in the City of Boston.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. No building erected or placed upon land abutting upon parks or parkways in the city of Boston, to a distance of one hundred feet therefrom, shall be used for a livery or public stable or public garage, or for any mechanical, mercantile or manufacturing purposes; nor exceed five stories in height above the basement or cellar; nor exceed seventy feet in height from the mean grade of the edgestone or sidewalk in front to the ceiling of the extreme upper story (excepting churches or chapels), and no roof shall be used for laundry or clothes drying purposes, except that if written permission be granted by the Park Department, a roof or roofs may be used for laundry purposes when entirely screened from view of the park.

Sect. 2. On lands abutting upon parks and parkways and to a distance of one hundred feet therefrom, from the Fens to Franklink Park, both inclusive, no wooden house arranged for more than one family, nor wooden block consisting of more than two houses, nor wooden house or block standing at a distance less than five feet from the side line of the lot upon which the same is placed, and no wooden house costing less than five thousand dollars, nor brick or stone house costing less than seven thousand dollars, nor apartment house costing less than four thousand dollars per suite of apartments, exclusive in each case of the cost of the land, shall be erected or placed upon said premises.

Sect. 3. On land abutting upon parks and parkways and to a distance of one hundred feet therefrom, on the Dorchesterway and Strandway, no wooden house of more than three stories, nor wooden block consisting of more than two stories, nor wooden house or block standing at a distance less than five feet from the side line of the lot upon which the same is placed, and no wooden house costing less than four thousand dollars, nor brick or stone house costing less than six thousand dollars, nor wooden apartment house of two stories costing less than five thousand dollars, nor wooden apartment house of three stories costing less than six thousand dollars, nor apartment house of brick or stone costing less than three thousand dollars per suite of apartments, exclusive in each case of the cost of the land, shall be erected or placed upon said premises.

Sect. 4. No building shall be erected or placed upon said premises within twenty feet from the exterior line of said parks and parkways, from and including the Fens to Perkins street,—and no building shall be erected or placed upon said premises within twenty-five feet from the exterior line of said parks and parkways from Perkins street to and including Franklin Park; provided that steps, windows, porticos and other usual projections appurtenant to the front wall of a building are to be allowed in this reserved space of twenty and twenty-five feet respectively, subject to the following limitations, viz.: First, that no projections of any kind (other than doorsteps and balustrades connected therewith, and also cornices and roof of the building) shall extend more than five feet from the rear line of the aforesaid space; provided, however, that outside the building limits piazzas projecting not more than ten feet shall be permitted within the reserve space from the Fens to Franklin Park. Second, that no projections in the nature of a bay window, corner bay, circular front, or octagon front, with the foundation wall sustaining the same (such foundation wall being a projection of the front wall), will be allowed (excepting oriel windows, above the first story on a street corner), unless any horizontal sections of such projections would fall within the external lines of trapezoids, the sum of whose bases upon the rear line of the aforesaid space does not exceed seven-tenths of the whole front of the building, and the base of any one of which trapezoids does not exceed eighteen feet, and whose side lines make an angle of forty-five degrees with the base; and each house in a block shall be considered a separate building within the meaning of this limitation.

Sect. 5. No building shall be erected or placed upon said premises within twenty feet from the exterior line of said parks and parkways, on the Dorchesterway and Strandway; provided that steps, windows, porticos and other usual projections appurtenant to the front wall of a building are to be allowed in this reserved space of twenty feet, subject to the following limitations, viz.: First, that no projections of any kind (other than doorsteps and balustrades connected therewith, and also piazzas projecting not more than eight feet) shall extend more than five feet from the rear line of the aforesaid space. Second, that no projections in the nature of a bay window, corner bay, circular front, or octagon front, with the foundation wall sustaining the same (such foundation wall being a projection of the front wall), will be allowed (excepting oriel windows above the first story on a street corner), unless any horizontal sections of such projections would fall within the external lines of trapezoids, the sum of whose bases upon the rear line of the aforesaid space does not exceed seven-tenths of the whole front of the building, and the base of any one of which trapezoids does not exceed eighteen feet, and whose side lines make an angle of forty-five degrees with the base; and each house in a block shall be considered a separate building within the meaning of this limitation.

Sect. 6. This ordinance shall take effect upon its passage.

City of Boston,
Park Department, July 31, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—For the purpose of carrying out the scheme of development along the border of the parkways and for improving and beautifying the city, we recommend the passage of the inclosed ordinance.

The provisions of this ordinance are but an enactment into law of the restrictions that were placed in the deeds given of the premises by the owners to the city. In course of time these restrictions will become obsolete, and to carry out the spirit of the original improvements and to preserve the beauty of the parks it is necessary to have an ordinance similar to the one proposed, as this is the only method of regulating the character and the use to be put of the buildings bordering on the parks.

The authority for passing this ordinance was given by the provisions of chapter 601, Acts of 1920.

Yours respectfully,
Board of Park Commissioners,
Daniel J. Byrne,
Secretary.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

PETITIONS REFERRED.

The following petitions were received and referred to the committees named, viz.:

Notice was received, in accordance with law, on interest in contract with the Schoolhouse Department of John F. Hickey (Board of Examiners).

Placed on file.

AMENDMENT OF STREET TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.

A communication was received from the Board of Street Commissioners of amendment to the street traffic regulations, viz.:

One-way streets to vehicular traffic: Central street, westerly from Broad street to Kilby street; Water street, easterly from Liberty square to Broad street.

Washington street, between Essex street and Cornhill, between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and six o'clock p. m., vehicles may stand on either side of the street for not more than two minutes.

Placed on file.

WILLIAM J. CORBETT SQUARE.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to name the junction of Huntington avenue, Riverway and Jamaicaway William J. Corbett square, in memory of said Corbett, who died in the United States service during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, this is a repetition of an order introduced sometime ago, naming a square after the same young man; but the boundaries were wrong and the departments named as having authority over the particular location mentioned in the order were the wrong ones, and I have corrected it. I ask a suspension of the rule.

The order was passed under a suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT TO WILLIAM SEGAL.

Coun. GILBODY offered an order—That under the provisions of chapter 536 of the Acts of 1922 there be allowed and paid to William Segal the sum of $2,500, to compensate him for injuries sustained on account of being burned while working as an inmate in the laundry of the Rainsford School for Boys, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

RECESS TAKEN.

The President declared the Council in recess, at 2.40 p. m., subject to his call.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 4.50 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. FORD, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on message of Mayor and orders (referred today) for various transfers within department appropriations—that the orders ought to pass.

Report accepted; orders passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

2. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) transferring $12,000 from Reserve Fund to appropriation for Bridges, Repairs—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

3. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) for transfer of $5,000 from Reserve Fund for appropriation for Public Celebrations—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

4. Report on order (referred July 24) to accept chapter 207 of the Acts of 1922 relating to the Atlas Construction Company—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted.

Coun. DONOGHUE moved that the order lay on the table. The motion was declared lost.

Coun. DONOGHUE doubted the vote and the order was laid on the table, yeas 5, nays 4, the vote being:

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Lane, Moriarty, Walsh—5.

Nays—Coun. Ford, Gilbody, Hagan, Watson. —4.

5. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred July 24) for appropriation of $45,317.85 for County of Suffolk—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

6. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred July 24) for transfer of $32,000 for Municipal Building, Old Ward 12)—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was given its first reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

3. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred July 24) for appropriation of $50,000 from Parkman Fund income for Fens, Improvements—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, years 9, nays 0.

FINANCE.

Coun. LANE, for the Committee on Finance, submitted a report on message of Mayor and order (referred July 11) for loan of $250,000 for establishment of building line on Province street—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I cannot vote for this order. I beg to differ with his Honor the Mayor as to the advisability of widening Province street at this time. Province street at best can only be an alleyway, even though you widen it to fifty feet. It runs between two streets, School and Bromfield, neither of which is a large business street in the ordinary acceptance of the term as used here in Boston. The Mayor has told us that it is going to relieve congestion. His Honor is mistaken. It is going to cause greater congestion to put that street through. At the present time the corner of Tremont and School streets is one of the most congested parts of the City of Boston. School street is a one-way street, and when traffic is sent down School street it does not now stop until it gets to Washington street; but if you widen Province street it makes another right-hand turn, and before half the traffic coming down School street can enter the street at Tremont there is a block at Province street. The same thing is true of Bromfield street. Traffic goes one way—up Bromfield street. Half-way along Bromfield street there will again be a turn. And there will be no good end served. Bromfield street, like School street, will remain a bad street for traffic. So far as this plan opening up the retail section of the City of Boston is concerned, that is absolutely absurd. If we want Boston to grow we should push it out toward Park square. The trouble with Boston has been that everybody wants to do business in a small space, in a store somewhere between Boylston street and Scollay square. The congestion must be relieved; business must be pushed out. Relief certainly cannot come by increasing the present congestion of School and Bromfield streets. If some comprehensive plan might be adopted for an artery paralleling Tremont and Washington streets as far along as Boylston street, I might be with it. But that would be a different thing. I certainly cannot see how the Council can agree with this proposition. We advertised our hearing, sending notices to the Chamber of Commerce, the Central Labor Union, the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, the Boston Real Estate Exchange, and editors of the Boston newspapers. How much did we hear in favor of the project? His Honor the Mayor has given his views; the Boston Real Estate Exchange sent a letter here saying they were opposed to it unless the widening was continued to Boylston street. The Central Labor Union had taken no action, but a representative, I think the business agent, said he thought he would favor it because it would mean work for mechanics and laborers. The Massachusetts Real Estate Association and the Chamber of Commerce took absolutely no notice of the meeting. Two of the newspapers have been out editorially giving good reasons why the project should not go through. Another paper has come out somewhat lukewarmly in favor of it, but I cannot see that the public of Boston demand anything of the kind. I wish to be recorded as against the proposition.

The order was passed, yeas 6, nays 3.

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Ford, Moriarty, Walsh, Watson—6.

Nays—Coun. Gilbody, Hagan, Lane—3.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

HERBERT LYONS SQUARE.

President BRICKLEY offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Shawmut avenue and Dedham street be named Herbert Lyons square, in memory of said Lyons, who died in the service of the United States during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

EDWARD McNAMARA SQUARE.

President BRICKLEY offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Washington and Waltham streets be named Edward McNamara square, in memory of said McNamara, who lost his life in the service of the United States during the World War, and that suitable signs be erected to mark the square.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

PLAYGROUND, BALDWIN PLACE.

President BRICKLEY offered an order—That the sum of $70,000 be appropriated to be expended by the Park Commissioners for playground, Baldwin place, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

The rule was suspended and the order was given its first reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President BRICKLEY called up unfinished business, Nos. 1 to 6, inclusive, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor July 24, 1922, viz.:

1. Thomas F. Coffrey, Jr., Marcian DiStasio, Jacob A. Frischberg, Bronis Kontrim and Charles L. PPerriello, to be Constables.
2. Robert B. Harlow, John C. McDougald and Andrew Millington, to be Weighers of Coal.
3. Winthrop E. Sibley, to be a Measurer of Wood and Bark.
4. David Kaplan, to be a Measurer of Leather.
5. Herbert T. West, to be a Gauger of Liquid Measures and a Weigher of Goods.
6. Patrick J. Cummings, to be a Weigher of Goods.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Ford and Walsh. Whole number of ballots cast 8, yeas 8, nays 0, and the appointments were confirmed.

INVESTIGATION OF SUPERIOR CRIMINAL COURT OFFICES.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That a committee of the City Council of Boston be hereby authorized to investigate the office of the Superior Criminal Court, and to give public hearings during said investigation and have the same reported; the expense attending the same to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjournd at 5.08 p. m., on motion of Coun. MORIARTY, to meet on Monday, August 7, at two o'clock p. m.

MORE PARKING SPACES.

Upon the initiative of Mayor Curley work is progressing to prepare the Common side of Charles street, between Park square and Beacon street for unlimited automobile parking.

The sidewalk is being removed, as was done on the other side, and within three weeks the space will be ready for 200 automobiles, thus making a large addition to the limited parking privileges downtown. Three large elm trees will not be harmed by the conversion, as adequate measures will be taken to protect them.

As soon as the Public Works Department announces that the Charles street sidewalk has been removed, the Board of Street Commissioners will pass the necessary order.

MUNICIPAL REPORTS RECEIVED.

The following reports have been lately received by the Statistics Department, Room 73, City Hall, and placed on file for the convenience of the public and department heads:

Chicago, Ill.: Report Fire Marshal, 1919; Report, Treasurer, 1920; Report, Police Department, 1920; Report, Municipal Court, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920; Report, Gas and Electricity, 1920; Report Department of Public Works, 1920; Report, Comptroller, 1920.

Charleston, S. C.: Year Book, 1920.

Edinburgh, Scotland: Report, Veterinary Department, 1921; Report, Tramways Department, 1921; Report, Public Washhouses, 1921.

CLOSING OF BATH STREET.

By the terms of an order approved by the City Council, Bath street, which leads from Postoffice square, will be discontinued to permit the Postoffice Square Company to erect an eleven-story office building.

In consideration for the 1,766 square feet of land contained in Bath street, the entrance to which faces the postoffice on Congress street, the city will receive $47,370 and be given 200 feet of the land to permit a passageway between the proposed building and the delta structure at the corner of Congress and Water streets.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz. 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

BOSTON NOTES.

PUBLIC STREETS OF BOSTON.

Total length of the 2,447 paved (accepted) streets, February 1, 1921, 604.80 miles; total area, 11,410,829 square yards, or 8.46 per cent of the City's total land area. This is exclusive of the private streets (not accepted), numbering about 2,870. 375.28 miles, or 62.05 per cent, are paved with macadam (including 121.21 miles bituminous macadam); 105.23 miles with granite block; 43.88 miles with asphalt; 30.38 miles with gravel; 27.68 miles with asphalt concrete (17.32 m. being bitulithic and 10.28 m. Topeka); 11.06 miles with wood block; 5.39 miles with brick. Old macadam pavement is gradually being replaced with more satisfactory and durable kinds, such as bitulithic, concrete, granite block, etc., over $4,000,000 having been expended during the past three years in resurfacing about 300 streets and parts of streets or total area of 1,350,000 square yards. Granolithic sidewalks laid in 1920, 76,201 square yards or 16 miles, averaging about 8 feet wide, 50 per cent of cost assessed on estates benefited.

New highway construction completed in period 1917-1920 includes 6 streets in Boston Proper; 32 in Dorchester; 31 in West Roxbury; 13 in Roxbury; 19 in Brighton; 6 in East Boston; 2 in Hyde Park; 4 in South Boston, and 1 in Charlestown, roadway pavement bitulithic or asphalt surface on concrete, and bituminous macadam. Gross debt outstanding February 1, 1921, for all street construction, including damages, $21,341,441 or $267,080, less than in 1920.

PUBLIC RECREATION IN BOSTON.

Number of large parks, 24; separate playgrounds, 43, with total of 324 acres, also 13 playgrounds in parks, with area of 155 acres; small parks and squares, 75; total area, 2,685.68 acres. Cost of Main Park System, i. e., 1,386 acres (incl. Common and Public Garden, 72.65 acres) land and construction (since 1877 when begun), $12,180,832; of Marine Park System, i. e., 457.9 acres (since 1883), $4,474,150; of all other parks and public grounds, $2,274,437; of separate playgrounds, $4,385,346. Total cost, $23,314,765.

The leading attraction of the Main Park System is Franklin Park (named for Benjamin Franklin), acquired in 1883-84, and containing 527 acres, about 80 of which are occupied by the Zoological Garden, 15 miles of walks, 8 miles of driveways, etc., the entire cost up to 1921 being $4,496,801. There are also within the City limits 958 acres of Metropolitan parks and parkways under State control, chief of which is Stony Brook Reservation in West Roxbury, containing 464 acres of wild forested hill and dale with many rocky knolls and an extensive view of the Charles River valley and beyond.

Number of public indoor baths open all the year, 14; 9 beach baths and 7 floating baths open during summer; indoor gymnasia, 11; total number of indoor baths taken in year 1920, 1,389,994, of which 74.2 per cent were by men and boys.

Collector of Taxes for the City of Boston.

EXAMINATIONS FOR CITY APPOINTMENTS.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commission announce examinations for desirable positions in the municipal service as follows:

Plumbing Inspector, Boston Building Department, August 28, 1922.

The salary is $2,000 per year, with a maximum of $2,100. Under chapter 142, section 11, of the General Laws, inspectors of plumbing shall be practical plumbers, and shall also have practical experience, either as masters or as journeymen continuously, during the five years last preceding the date of appointment. According to section 12, chapter 142 of the General Laws, no person can be employed in this position who, at the time of said employment, engages in or works at the business of plumbing. Applicants should possess a journeyman's or master plumber's license.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 5; report, 1; special questions, 4; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Special Examiner (Female), Boston Auditing Department, August 29, 1922.

The salary is $2,700 per year. Applicants should have a knowledge of municipal procedure as it affects both the city and county in connection with appropriations, loan orders, issuance and transfer of bonds, claims and executions of court, appointments, transfers and compensation of employees, retirements and pensions, tax limits, tax levies, budget procedure and other matters as they arise which require special examination and investigation. It is desirable that applicants have a knowledge of the fundamentals of accounting and be able to typewrite. Applicants must be not less than 25 years of age at the time of filing application. A certificate of date of birth must be filed with the application.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 1; special questions, 1; total, 2.

Gas Fixture Inspector—Investigator, Boston Health Department, August 28, 1922.

The salary is $2,000 a year. The duties of this position are to investigate all deaths caused by illuminating gas poisoning in the City of Boston and the immediate causes of such deaths, in order to secure accurate data and facts for new rules and regulations concerning gas and combination gas-electric fixtures and their connection with such deaths. Applicants must be practical gas fitters of at least five years' continued practical experience and should have a knowledge of ancient and modern types of fixtures and methods of installation. Applicants must be not less than thirty years of age at the time of filing application. A certificate of date of birth must be filed with the application.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 4; report, 1; special questions on the duties of the position, 3; personality and fitness as determined by an oral interview, 2; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in section 23 of chapter 31 of the General Laws.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Works Department (Bridge Service).

Upon August 15 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston Barrier & External Brake Company for the construction of highway barriers at Fort Point channel. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, August 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Your permission is respectfully requested for the award of a contract, without competition, to the Boston Barrier and External Brake Company for the construction of highway barriers on each side of Fort Point channel at Summer Street Bridge, the total cost of the same not to exceed $11,000.

The contractors guarantee that this barrier will stop a 22-ton car going at a speed of 15 miles per hour and will do this within a distance of 15 feet from the line which connects the centers of the right hand and left hand barrier posts. Also, that within the same limits of weight and speed, it will stop automobiles, cars or trucks. Payment of the sum agreed upon in the contract is contingent upon satisfactory tests that the guaranties for the barrier will be fulfilled to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Public Works.

As this is in the nature of an experiment participated in jointly by the Boston Barrier and External Brake Company and the Public Works Department, the commissioner has the assurance of the contractor that the City of Boston, in case this barrier is successful, will be allowed a considerable reduction for future installations by the city over the cost to any other individual or corporation for whom the gates may be installed.

Yours respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon August 14 the Mayor approved the resetting of edgestone and relaying of granite block pavement, with grout joints, in Foundry street, from West First street to West Fourth street, South Boston. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, August 10, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to reset edgestones and relay granite block paving with grout joints in Foundry street, from West First street to West Fourth street, South Boston, with division forces, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $6,000.

This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Works Department (Sewer Service).

Upon August 15 the Mayor approved a contract with the C. & R. Construction Company for laying approximately 300 feet of 12-inch pipe and 200 feet of service pipe in Norfolk avenue, Roxbury. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, August 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, to C. and R. Construction Company for laying approximately 500 feet of 12-inch pipe and 200 feet of service pipe in Norfolk avenue, northerly from East Cottage street, at an agreed price of $3.50 per linear foot, approximate estimate of the cost being $2,450.

This work should be done at once in connection with a sewer contract in this street now being prosecuted by this concern, which would prevent any other contractor from going in without serious interference. Under the sewer contract with the C. and R. Construction Company they will have to maintain the paving in Norfolk avenue for six months after the completion of the work.

The price submitted is fair under the conditions existing which will require the sheeting of the entire length of trench necessary to install main and service connections.

Yours respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Schoolhouse Department.

Upon August 14 the Mayor approved a contract with the Library Bureau for furnishing and installing library equipment in the new Public Latin School. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

Boston, August 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your honor, under the provisions of Chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of a contract, without advertising, to the Library Bureau, 43 Federal street, in the sum of three thousand three hundred and nineteen (3,319) dollars, for furnishing and installing complete library equipment for the new Public Latin School. As this is the only concern in this section of the country specializing in this kind of work, and it has satisfactorily performed work of a similar character in the past for the department, the Board believes that no advantage to the city would result from advertising, and has therefore voted, subject to the approval of your honor as above, to award the contract as stated.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas P. Glynn,
Chairman.

Upon August 14 the Mayor approved a contract with John Y. Gillespie for installing additional sanitation and making other alterations at the building 701 Centre street, Jamaica Plain. A communication from Chairman Thomas P.

Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

Boston, July 10, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of a contract, without advertising, to John Y. Gillespie, 708 Columbia road, in an amount exceeding one thousand (1,000) dollars, for installing additional sanitation and making other alterations in the building at 701 Centre street, known as the Rogers Building. Part of the second floor and all of the third floor of this building have been hired for school purposes by request of the School Committee, who desire to have the premises ready for occupancy at the opening of the school term in September, and as this does not allow sufficient time for the preparation of specifications and receiving of bids, the Board has voted, subject to your approval, to award the contract as above set forth.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas P. Glynn,
Chairman.

Upon August 14 the Mayor approved a contract with John A. Gerrity for installing additional sanitation and making other alterations upon the building 100 Beacon street, Back Bay. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

Boston, July 10, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of a contract, without advertising, to John A. Gerrity, 370 Centre street, in an amount exceeding one thousand (1,000) dollars, for installing additional sanitation and making other alterations in the building at No. 100 Beacon street. This building has been hired for school purposes by request of the School Committee, who desire it to be ready for occupancy at the opening of the school term in September, and as this does not allow sufficient time for the preparation of specifications and receiving of bids, the Board has voted, subject to your approval, to award the contract as above set forth.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas P. Glynn,
Chairman.

Supply Department.

Upon August 15 the Mayor approved a contract with the Linscott Motor Company for two ambulances. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Company was as follows:

Boston, August 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, to the Linscott Motor Company, 566 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, for two ambulances mounted on the standard Reo Model F speed wagon chassis, at a price of $2,245 each, complete and delivered to the Public Buildings Department, ambulance station, National street, South Boston. These ambulance bodies are to meet the approval of the Superintendent of Public Buildings. These ambulances are being purchased instead of Ford ambulances, on which bids were received by this department, after public advertisement, as it was decided that the Ford ambulance was too light for use in the City of Boston departments.

Trusting that the permission requested will be granted, I am,

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon August 15 the Mayor approved a contract with Funderburk, Smith & Mitchell, Inc., for furnishing three automobiles for the Park Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, August 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, to Funderburk, Smith & Mitchell, Inc., for furnishing to the Park Department one Ford sedan and two Ford runabouts with box bodies, all to be equipped with self-starters and demountable rims, for the sum of $1,598.64, less allowance of $425 on one Stearns Knight and two Ford runabouts which are to be taken in trade. The entire list of Ford dealers in and around Boston were canvassed for bids on these new machines and also asked to submit allowances on old machines to be taken in trade.

The above-named concern has submitted the best proposal. I have found that better allowances on trade-ins are made to the City of Boston on invitation bids than are secured on publicly advertised contracts, and I feel that the awarding of this contract without advertising is for the best interests of the city.

Trusting that the permission requested will be granted, I am,

Yours respectfully,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon August 15 the Mayor approved a contract with Castner, Curran and Bullitt, Inc., for furnishing semibituminous coal to the South Ferry, Calf Pasture pumping station, and the Boston City Hospital. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, August 15, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract without publicly advertising for same to Castner, Curran & Bullitt, Inc., for furnishing the following amounts of semibituminous coal to the various departments indicated:

Five hundred gross tons to the South Ferry, Ferry Service, at $11.20 per ton; 500 gross tons to the Calf Pasture pumping station, Sewer Service, at $11.40 per ton; 500 gross tons to the Boston City Hospital, at $11.40 per ton.

This department has been in communication with the Fuel Administrator's office regarding the above requirements out of the steamship "Deepwater," and it is with the sanction of the Fuel Administrator that these requirements have been secured.

Inasmuch as the price is as low as could possibly be secured at this time, and also in view of the fact that it is of vital importance that these three departments be protected, I respectfully request that the permission asked for be granted.

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Supply Department.

Upon August 17 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston Buick Company for furnishing five passenger automobiles to the Fire Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, August 16, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is requested to award a contract, without advertising, to the Boston Buick Company, 97 Massachusetts avenue, for furnishing to the Fire Department:

Two six-cylinder, five-passenger Buick touring cars and three six-cylinder Buick roadsters, $7,535; less allowance on one Buick touring car, $200; one Velie truck, $25; three Buick trucks, one at $50, two at $25 each, $50; total allowance, $325; net amount of contract will be $7.210.

No advantage would be obtained by publicly advertising for these cars, and as the Fire Department has standardized on Buicks I feel that it is for the best interests of the city to award this contract to the Boston Buick Company.

Trusting that the permission requested will be granted, I am,

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

PAVING IN BUSINESS STREETS.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners that in accordance with the request of the Commissioner of Public Works, dated May 19, 1922, upon which due notice and a public hearing have been given, in accordance with law, the said Commissioner of Public Works is authorized to make specific repairs in the following-named streets:

Franklin street, from Pearl street to Oliver street, by the substitution of wooden block pavement on concrete base for the present granite block pavement.

Pearl street, from near Milk street across Franklin street, by the substitution of wooden block pavement on concrete base for the present granite block pavement.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of contract of the M. DeSisto Company for building sewerage works in Centre street between Ardale street and Knoll street, West Roxbury, from August 19, 1922, to September 9, 1922, twenty-one days. This extension of time is occasioned by the fact that the work was not started until nearly three weeks later than was anticipated when the date for completion was set.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract of the Rowe Contracting Company, for asphalt concrete pavement in Arborway, from Forest Hills street to Morton street; and Morton street from Forest Hills avenue 1,200 feet easterly, from August 15, 1922, to September 1, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that it was impossible to lay asphalt pavement during the recent wet weather.

An extension of time has been granted on contract of William H. Welch Company for installing and completing the heating and ventilating system in the Municipal Building, Old Ward 12, until October 1, 1922.

An extension of time has been granted on contract of the National Electric Construction and Supply Company for installing and completing electric, gas and elevator equipment in the Municipal Building, Old Ward 12, until October 1, 1922.

An extension of time has been granted on contract of the W. G. Cornell Company for installing and completing plumbing system in the Municipal Building, Old Ward 12, until October 1, 1922.

An extension of time has been granted on contract of Michael Seretto, for the erection and completion of the Municipal Building, Old Ward 12, until October 1, 1922.

Joseph Puzo, 7 Paulding street, Ward 16, two cars.

Sara Miller et al., 82 Roxbury street, Ward 13, four cars.

EXPEDITING BUILDING PERMITS.

Commissioner John H. Mahony of the Building Department has devised ways and means for expediting the granting of building permits, upon request of Mayor Curley.

The following communication is self-explanatory:

City of Boston,
Building Department,
August 17, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—By dividing the Plan Division of this department into two sections, I feel that I have been able to lessen the delay in the granting of permits. Division A, construction engineers, give their time to first-class construction and alteration. Division B takes third-class construction. Minor matters are acted upon at the desk on immediate action applications, and permits are granted at once.

After September 1 fees for new construction and alteration will be at the rate of $1.00 per thousand on the valuation of the work, and payment of fee will be required when application is filed. This will also aid in lessening delay as it will tend to eliminate tentative applications and plans.

I feel that the department will be able to handle all business with reasonable dispatch.

Yours very truly,

John H. Mahony,
Building Commissioner.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 99.

The commanding officer of Division 17 has called to my attention an exceedingly meritorious piece of police work recently performed my Patrolman William J. Harrow of that division.

About nine o'clock on Sunday evening last, Patrolman Harrow noticed at the elevated railway station at Rowe's Wharf three men acting in a very suspicious manner. Recalling the superintendent's order of July 20, in which police officers were directed to keep a lookout for three pickpockets and if possible to arrest them, Patrolman Harrow watched these men and saw them pick one man's pocket and make an attempt on another person. He then called on Sergeant Manning, who happened to be at the railway station in plain clothes, for assistance, but as the officers moved toward them the three men ran down the stairs to Atlantic avenue, and it was only after chasing them for several blocks that the officers succeeded in arresting them. These men answered to the description given in the above-mentioned order of the three pickpockets and admitted that they were New York men with police records.

I am very much gratified to learn of this most excellent police work on the part of Patrolman Harrow, and I warmly commend him both for his attention to the orders of his superior officers and for the alertness of mind and quickness of observation which enabled him to recognize and arrest these men.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

APPEAL TO PRESIDENT.

Mayor Curley, realizing the shortage of coal and the dangerous situation which may result in Boston and the suburbs, has made an appeal to President Harding that shipments of anthracite coal west of the Mississippi river may be suspended until after March 1, 1923.

The communication of Mayor Curley to President Harding is as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
August 17, 1922.

Hon. Warren G. Harding, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.:

Your Excellency,—No section of America will suffer more from a coal shortage than the New England section The people in this part of America have been accustomed to using anthracite as fuel and are unfamiliar with the use of bituminous coal.

A real service can be rendered New England through the issuance of an order by the National Fuel Administrator, Mr. Henry D. Spencer, that shipments of anthracite west of the Mississippi be suspended until after March 1, 1923.

Trusting you will find it possible to issue this order at once, I remain,

Respectfully yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

EXTENSION OF SEWER CLEANSING.

The Mayor has approved the extension of sewer cleansing in the North End.

The report of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

"In the early part of July complaints were received that there was an overflow of sewage into Battery Wharf. An investigation by this department disclosed the fact that the Commercial street sewer, between North and Battery streets, had become clogged with a solid accumulation. John J. Loonie was engaged to clean this portion of the sewer. It was expected that the cost would be about $900. As the work progressed, it was apparent that this figure would be exceeded. The total cost will now be about $1,600.

"This work has to be done at night and at such times as the street is free of freight cars and vehicles. Advertising for bids would have delayed its progress, and it would have been difficult to prepare a contract which would be fair for competitive bidding. Loonie was selected as he had the necessary qualifications and equipment.

"I respectfully request authority to continue this work, at a total estimated cost of $1,600."

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

The Central Construction Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for repairing bituminous pavement on any streets upon which the maintenance guaranty has expired. Items ordered: Excavate excessive depth of bitulithic pavement on west side of Massachusetts avenue, at approach to Boston & Providence Railroad bridge, the estimated cost of extra work being $300.

NEW ENGINE HOUSE.

Every modern convenience in behalf of the firemen will be installed for the new building to be erected for Engine 7, East street, city proper, the contract for which has just been signed between the city and the C. & R. Construction Company for $38,900.

The building will be of dark red glazed brick with limestone trimmings. Particular attention has been given to the men's quarters on the second floor. In the rear will be the locker room with showers, toilets and lavatories. There is also a small room for use as a library, where the men may study, read or write in quiet. On the third floor there will be the recreation room with billiard and card tables, piano and phonograph. In the rear of this floor will be the dormitory, and the remaining space on this floor will be given over to a combination kitchen and mess room. At the top of the building there will be a room opening upon a roof garden.

The plans were drawn by James T. Ball, architect-engineer of the Boston Fire Department.

ABATEMENT OF ASSESSMENTS.

The Mayor has approved the ruling of the Board of Street Commissioners for revision of assessments levied on account of the construction of sewerage works, under the provisions of chapter 359 of the Acts of 1896, and deeming it just and proper that such action should be taken upon said application.

Ordered, That the amounts hereinafter specified, being the annual apportionments of said assessments for the year specified below, be and the same are hereby abated.

Jane Cronin, 1921 Apportionments, Plan 1916–44:

		Amounts.
Lot 2.	Loretto street, June 7, 1918	$9 90
Lot 4.	Loretto street, June 7, 1918	9 90
Lot 5.	Loretto street, June 7, 1918	9 90
Lot 6.	Loretto street, June 7, 1918	9 90
Total		$39 60

THE TAX RATE OF 1922.

Upon the initiative of Mayor Curley the Board of Assessors are taking additional steps in seeking increased property values, and it appears their efforts are meeting with success in the determination of the 1922 tax rate. The Mayor's announcement that real estate was in such healthy condition that the total increased valuation on that class of property would be $100,000,000 appears capable of fulfillment.

There will be a substantial advance in realty values, but no previous record will be broken. The great handicap of the assessors this year is that of providing for a $4,000,000 loss in revenue from the State. The present rate is $24.70. Unofficial opinion is that the present tax rate will be lower.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630.

BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED AUGUST 10 TO AUGUST 16.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 58.

DEFECTIVE PAVEMENTS.

The following letter has been received from the Commissioner of Public Works:

"In accordance with the suggestion received from his Honor the Mayor as regards keeping the streets of Boston in better condition, particularly as regards the safety of the men in the fire service, if not entailing too much work for your department we would welcome a weekly report of grave defects in pavements and their locations to which we could give consideration in our maintenance work."

District chiefs are directed therefore to observe and submit a weekly report of grave defects in pavements and the locations of same. These reports should be received at headquarters on Mondays.

General Order No. 59.

I. "ONE-MAN CARS."

The attention of the department is directed to the following rule adopted by the Boston Elevated Railway concerning "one-man cars":

"A rule has just been established, with the approval of the general manager, that employees and other free riders on one-man cars shall be required to ride on the rear end of the cars so far as practicable."

Members of the department will be governed by this rule when using cars of the type described.

II. NEW FIRE ALARM BOXES.

New fire alarm boxes will shortly be established at the following locations:

Box 5144: Commonwealth and Summit avenues. Box assignments will be the same as for Box 5143. The box will be connected into circuit No. 46.

Box 671: Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad Shops, Orient Heights. Box assignments will be the same as for Box 678. The box will be connected into circuit No 6.

III. CHANGE OF LOCATION OF FIRE ALARM BOX.

Fire Alarm Box No. 2764, formerly located at Spring and Gould streets, has been moved to Spring and Billings streets.

Company commanders will make this change in assignment cards.

IV. CIRCUIT CHANGES.

The following changes in circuits have been made:

Box 2632 taken out of circuit No 65 and connected into circuit No. 23; Box 2745 taken out of circuit No. 13 and connected into circuit No. 65; Box 2746 taken out of circuit No. 65 and connected into circuit No. 13.

Company commanders will see that these changes are made in the circuit cards.

V. MOTOR APPARATUS.

On August 9, 1922, the motor-driven chemical and hose car in service with Engine Company 49 was replaced by American-La France motor-driven triple combination pumper, chemical and hose car. The old apparatus was placed in reserve.

On August 10, 1922, the horse-drawn ladder truck in service with Ladder Company 26 was replaced by a ladder truck equipped with a Christie tractor.

The old apparatus was placed in reserve and the horses turned over to the veterinary surgeon.

VI. Engine Co. 7.

Because of the reconstruction of the quarters of Engine Company 7 on East street that company was obliged to vacate the present station.

At 10.30 a. m., August 10, 1922, Engine Company 7 was relocated at Fort Hill square in the quarters formerly occupied by Rescue Company 1, where it will be stationed during the reconstruction of the station on East street.

The horse-drawn apparatus formerly in service with Engine Company 7 was taken out of service and the company was equipped with an American-La France motor-driven combination 1,000-gallon pumper and hose car.

By order of the Acting Fire Commissioner:

Daniel F. Sennott,
Acting Chief of Department.

HEARINGS ON PROVINCE STREET WIDENING.

The Board of Street Commissioners will conduct public hearings during the first week of September upon the question of taking by eminent domain the real estate that will be necessary for the widening of Province street.

Mayor Curley has authorized the Street Commission to advertise its hearings. These hearings, which are necessary under the statute, will give the property interests involved opportunity to be heard. The city officials will subsequently enter into negotiations with the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, the Olympia Realty Company and George U. Croker, the three interests whose property will be affected by the widening.

Definite statement has been made by Max Shoolman, treasurer of the Olympia Company, that all plans for a moving picture house had been abandoned, and that the structure now under way on the company's land, at the head of Milk street, with its rear on Province street, will be an office building, eight stories high on Washington street and seven stories on Province street. The city will take a thirty-five-foot strip of the company's land on Province street, which would involve the entire stage of the theater which was in contemplation.

There is a 3,600-foot plot of land on the northern end of the Olympia concern's property which is available for the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, at a price to be arbitrated. It is understood that the Olympia Company has no particular use for the land, whereas the bank, according to President W. R. Evans's statement to the Mayor several weeks ago, is anxious to acquire it to increase its bank facilities, in view of the loss of the old bank building for the street widening.

EXTENSION OF TIME.

An extension of time has been granted for the completion of the contract made with John T. Shea, Jr., for installation of street watering hydrants, from August 1, 1922, to September 1, 1922. This request for extension is asked as the contractor was delayed owing to the slow delivery of stock by the Water Service and the Coffin Valve Company.

LAND-TAKING IN CITY PROPER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the discontinuance as a highway of the southerly portion of Bath street, city proper, and the widening and construction of Bath street, city proper, as a highway, at the easterly corner of Post Office square.

The highway discontinued is bounded as follows:

Southwest by Post Office square, twenty-seven and 92–100 feet; west by the westerly line of said Bath street as it existed previous to this discontinuance, seventy-two and 48–100 feet; south by the southerly line of said Bath street as it existed previous to this discontinuance, twenty and 77–100 feet; northwest by the southeasterly line of said Bath street as hereby established, thirty-two and 30–100 feet; northeast by the northeasterly line of said Bath street as it existed previous to this discontinuance, ten feet; and east by the easterly line of said Bath street as it existed previous to this discontinuance, one hundred four and 23–100 feet; containing seventeen hundred and eighty-six square feet, more or less.

The highway named Bath street is hereby widened at the easterly corner of Post Office square, and ordered constructed.

The part of said highway as widened herein and the land, exclusive of trees or structures, standing upon or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southwest by Post Office square, nineteen and 82–100 feet; north by the southerly line of Bath street as it existed previous to this widening, by two measurements, eighteen and 44–100 feet and fifteen and 40–100 feet; and south by the southerly line of Bath street as hereby widened, twenty-one and 50–100 feet, containing two hundred and fourteen square feet, more or less.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the making of the public improvement consisting of the discontinuance, as a highway, of the southerly portion of Bath street, city proper, and the widening and construction of Bath street, city proper, as a highway, at the easterly corner of Post Office square, and awards no damages therefor.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works in Salt Creek brook, city proper.

The right is taken to exclusively use and occupy, for six months from date of entry on said lands, and to work therein for the purpose of constructing sewerage works, and leave in substantially the same condition as at the present time to the full ownership and control of the present owners thereof, their successors, heirs and assigns, when said sewerage works shall have been made, the parcels of land bounded and described as follows:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to the Boston Buick Company, bounded:

West by taking made by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes October 5, 1898, by two measurements, two hundred twenty-two and 22-100 feet and thirteen and 23-100 feet; north by taking made for sewerage purposes by the City of Boston May 19, 1920, forty-six and 69–100 feet; east by other land of said Boston Buick Company, two hundred seventy-two and 82–100 feet; south by the same, fifty and 21–100 feet; west by land of owners unknown, one and 39–100 feet; again north by land of owners unknown (Ashford street), nine and 70–100 feet, more or less; again west by the same thirty-nine and 23–100 feet; again south by the same, twelve and 20–100 feet, more or less; containing thirteen thousand two hundred and forty square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Ashford street, bounded:

North by land herein before described as taken from the Boston Buick Company, twelve and 20–100 feet, more or less; east by the same, thirty-nine and 23–100 feet, more or less; south by the same, nine and 70–100 feet, more or less; west by land of owners unknown (Ashford street), thirty-seven and 90–100 feet; containing four hundred eleven square feet, more or less.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the aforesaid temporary taking and awards no damages therefor.

RESTRICTION OF CARNIVALS.

Mayor Curley has approved the following ruling of the Board of Park Commissioners:

City of Boston, Park Department,
August 16, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—During the present summer season a number of applications have been made for the use of playgrounds and parks covering anywhere from three days to one week for the purpose of holding carnivals. These carnivals are held for the financial benefit of the various organizations making the application, including church societies, posts of the legion and other organizations of philanthropic or social character. This Board finds on investigation that many of these affairs are run in a so-called circus fashion and the supposed beneficiaries receive only a portion of the receipts, the balance—being much or little—going to the promoters of the circus scheme.

The Park Board are unanimous in the opinion that the exploitation of public property for private gain is contrary to sound public policy, and the Board finds further that some of the units composing the circus scheme are objectionable on account of the physical danger which exists and also on account of the objections made from the social and moral standpoint. Two of the most important of these which can be mentioned are the ferris wheel and the merry-go-round.

The Board believes that the public good demands a refusal of any concession of this kind in the future and wishes to be placed on record as opposed to the scheme as at present carried on.

Very respectfully yours,

James B. Shea,
Chairman.

IMPORTANT THOROUGHFARE PROPOSED.

Mayor Curley has announced his intention to apply to the incoming Legislature for the right to borrow $10,000,000 outside the debt limit to construct a new thoroughfare from the rebuilt Province street to West and Mason streets. This is in accordance with his promise made to property interests when the Province street widening was recently discussed.

MAYOR PROVIDES FULL HONORS FOR IRISH HEROES.

His Honor Mayor Curley granted full and explicit permission for honoring of the memory of the noted Irish heroes, Cathal Bri Bruga and Harry Boland, by a great public meeting upon Boston Common, Sunday, August 13, and denied the protest of the Loyal Coalition against the assembly.

The communication of the Loyal Coalition was as follows:

The Loyal Coalition,
24 Mt. Vernon Street, Boston,
August 10, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Honorable Sir,—The press of Boston of Thursday evening, August 10, publishes a story to the effect that the Amalgamated Irish-American Societies, the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, and the Cumana B'Han intend to honor the memory of two non-American citizens by a parade through the streets of the City of Boston, and with a demonstration on the Boston Common.

It is also advertised that you are to be one of the speakers at the exercises on Boston Common.

The Loyal Coalition of Boston, an American patriotic society with a membership of several thousand American citizens, does hereby emphatically object to any public parade or demonstration being made in the streets of Boston or on the Boston Common on Sunday next, August 13, 1922, or at any other time, in honor of Cathal Bruga and Harry Boland, late citizens of the Irish Free State.

The late Cathal Bruga and Harry Boland were not citizens of the United States, and are in no way entitled to recognition by the people of these United States, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or the City of Boston.

The Loyal Coalition opposes and protests against the use of the United States flag in such a proposed parade or demonstration, either carried as the colors of the United States or draped or laid upon the proposed catafalques.

The Loyal Coalition also protests against the appearance in any such parade or demonstration of the Governor of the Commonwealth or his representative, the Mayor of the City of Boston or his representative, or any other person holding public office as a servant of the people of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the City of Boston, or any other city, town or village in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Very truly yours,

Telfair Minton,
Secretary.

His Honor the Mayor addressed the following reply:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor.
August 11, 1922.

Mr. Telfair Minton, Secretary "The Loyal Coalition," 24 Mt. Vernon Street, Boston.

Sir,—Your letter of August 10, 1922, protesting against the use of the streets and Common of this municipality by certain citizens of Boston for the purpose of honoring the memory of "Cathal Bruga and Harry Boland, late citizens of the Irish Free State," has been received and its contents noted.

I note also that your alleged platform contains this phraseology in part: "Promotion of American traditions and ideals, undivided allegiance to the flag, Constitution and government of the United States" and other propositions of a less American character and flavor.

Under the Constitution and laws of Massachusetts the rights of free speech and peaceful assembly are guaranteed the people, subject only to the municipal ordinances and rules for the regulation of order and the preservation of the peace; and by virtue of these constitutional and legal provisions the citizens of Boston, against whom your society lodges a protest, are entitled to the use of the streets and Common after they have met the requirements needed in such cases and are not engaged in any transactions dangerous to the peace and safety of the community nor repugnant to the honor and interest of the United States and Commonwealth.

Their contemplated use of the American flag appears to be proper and entirely legal. Many of the persons engaged in this project, I am advised, served the flag and country loyally and with honor and distinction during the war, and they can be trusted on this occasion to do nothing calculated to dishonor either. Your protest would seem to be based on motives other than a sincere desire to preserve the traditions and practices of American democracy; and, on the contrary, to be subversive of and antagonistic to the constitutional rights and privileges of American citizenship.

The American people have all down their history been accustomed to gathering in meeting to honor the valiant dead of the world, to express their sympathy with the cause of human liberty and the struggles of oppressed peoples for self-government and better conditions; and these activities have redounded to the credit and good faith of the nation abroad and made the people at home more tenacious to the principles which have given greatness and glory to the American Republic. A few days ago the Lithuanians of Boston paraded our streets and occupied our Common in peace to express their joy at the attainment of political independence by their fatherland and its recognition by our government, and nobody deemed it necessary to question their loyalty to their adopted country, nor to protest their right to parade, assemble and speak their minds. Even the Loyal Coalition was inarticulate; and your protest of this particular time is suggestive of a discrimination that impugns your motives and of an allegiance not wholly American.

The names, characters and records in peace and war of the persons listed as your officers on your letter head do not impress me as a guaranty of that patriotism, Americanism, and unfaltering allegiance to flag and country that would impel me to interfere with and restrict the Constitutional rights and privileges of any body of citizens living within this municipality.

Yours very truly,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

RESTRICTION OF CARNIVALS.

Mayor Curley addressed the following communication to the Licensing Board upon the 14th instant:

Mr. Fletcher Ranney, Chairman, Licensing Board, 1 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—I would appreciate an investigation by your Board as to the advisability of discontinuing the granting of licenses for carousals or nightly outdoor exhibitions in Boston, for the reason that numerous complaints have been received and that the prevailing opinion, we find, is that this character of amusement is conducive to immorality and direct injury to the city.

If, however, upon investigation, your Board in its wisdom deems it proper to continue the granting of these licenses, I beg to suggest that the closing time of evening performances be 9 p. m.

Respectfully yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate, by the making of the public improvement, consisting of the laying out and construction of Beryl street (formerly Berry street), as a highway, from Cornell street to Aldrich street, West Roxbury district, and awards no damages therefor.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works in Zeller street, West Roxbury.

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city. Said lands are in that part of Boston, formerly West Roxbury, and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Rudolph O. Pacht, bounded:

Southwest by Hewlett street, five feet; northwest by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes September 16, 1909, one hundred nine and 50–100 feet; northeast by land hereinafter described as taken from James A. Murphy, five feet; and southeast by other land of said Pacht, one hundred nine and 50–100 feet; containing five hundred and forty-eight square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to James A. Murphy, bounded:

Southwest by land hereinbefore described as taken from Rudolph O. Pacht, five feet; northwest by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes September 16, 1909, one hundred nine and 50–100 feet; northeast by land hereinafter described as taken from owners unknown (Zeller street), five feet; and southeast by other land of said Murphy, one hundred nine and 50–100 feet; containing five hundred and forty-eight square feet, more or lesss.

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Zeller street, bounded:

Southwest by land hereinbefore described as taken from Murphy, five feet; north by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes September 16, 1909, twenty-eight and 99–100 feet; northeast by the same, five feet; south by another part of Zeller street, twenty-eight and 99–100 feet; containing one hundred and five square feet, more or less.

The Board determines that the undermentioned estates sustain damages in their estates by the taking of an easement for sewerage purposes in Zeller street, West Roxbury, in the amounts hereinafter respectively set against them and awards said amounts therefor:

	Amount.
Rudolph O. Pacht, 548 square feet......	$82 20
James A. Murphy, 548 square feet.....	54 80
Total..........................	$137 00

DEATH OF SUPERVISOR WARD.

Langdon L. Ward, Supervisor of Branches of the Boston Public Library, died at the Eliot Hospital on Tuesday afternoon, Augsut 15, after a brief illness. Mr. Ward was born on Pinckney street, Boston ,June 25, 1858. He attended the Boston Latin School and was graduated from Amherst College in the class of 1879.

Mr. Ward entered the service of the library in 1896 as custodian of the Broadway Extension Reading Room. In 1898 he was made Supervisor of Branches, which position he filled successfully and faithfully for twenty-four years. During his incumbency the branch system was greatly enlarged and popularized. Four new independent branch buildings were erected and three branches in municipal buildings were added. Mr. Ward was very democratic in his associations and was universally beloved by his colleagues and subordinates in the library.

Mr. Ward was a son of the late Langdon S. Ward, treasurer of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. He leaves a son, Lauriston Ward, and a sister, Ellen S. Ward, both of this city.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, August 7, 1922.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m., President BRICKLEY in the chair and all the members present.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR.

The following were received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 7, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Subject to confirmation by your honorable body, I appoint William A. Cohen, 23 Temple street, Boston, and Corrado Palladino, 15 Sheafe street, Boston, to be constables of the City of Boston for the term ending April 30, 1923.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 7, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Subject to confirmation by your honorable body, I appoint the following named persons Weighers of Goods for the term ending April 30, 1923: Cedric C. Lee, 227 Bradford street, Everett; John L. Rounsevell, 48 West street, Braintree; Richard L. Grey, 636 Tremont street, Boston; Albert West, 168 Bradstreet avenue, Beachmont; Carl G. Braun, 262 Bowen street, South Boston.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Laid over under the law.

MOTOR AMBULANCES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 7, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication received from the Superintendent of Public Buildings requesting a transfer of $2,000 to provide motor ambulances and equipment for the South Boston Ambulance Station, and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
August 1, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—On May 26, 1922, the Public Buildings Department made a request for a transfer from Reserve Fund in the sum of $3,060 for furnishing motor vehicles and equipment for the motorization of the ambulance station, South Boston. At that time the idea was to procure a Ford one-ton chassis. In obtaining figures for furnishing same, I discovered the fact that the Ford chasses were not heavy enough to do the work as called upon by the ambulances located in our station, and therefore it will be necessary to procure some other style of make.

I have looked into same thoroughly and find that the Reo chassis is the one desired, but it will cost somewhat more than we figured on paying for the Fords. I therefore request a further appropriation to be credited to C-4 Equipment, Motor Vehicles, in the sum of $2,000.

Respectfully yours,
FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer from the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $2,000, to the appropriation for Public Buildings Department, C-4, Motor Vehicles, $2,000.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER, STREET LAYING-OUT DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 7, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith request for transfer within the department appropriation and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
August 4, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Street Commissioners respectfully requests that the following transfer be made within the maintenance appropriation of the Street Laying-out Department for the current year:

From Chairman, 1 at $4,500, to B-39, General Plant, $500.

A number of new one-way streets for vehicular traffic have been made by the Board this year. A very large part of the General Plant appropriation has been expended for traffic signs for these streets and the Police Department has made unusually large demands for new signs to replace old ones. It still needs more to place on streets where special regulations are in force. The $500 for which this transfer is asked is needed for the purpose of supplying new signs and replacing others that are out of repair, as we are unable to complete the year with the balance of the General Plant appropriation.

Respectfully yours,
JOSEPH F. SULLIVAN, Secretary.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to make the following transfer in the appropriations for Street Laying-Out Department:

From the appropriation for A-1, Permanent Employees, Chairman, 1 at $4,500 per year, $500, to the appropriation for B-39, General Plant, $500.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SALE OF CITY LAND, HYDE PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 2, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the accompanying report of the municipal real estate expert with reference to land at Hyde Park, formerly known as the Fairmount Reservoir land, located on Milton avenue near Reservoir street, a portion of said land containing 73,430 square feet being in Milton and 121,948 square feet in Hyde Park. The city being unable to utilize this property for water or other purposes I recommend the adoption by your Council of an order in conformity with the recommendation made by the municipal real estate expert.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

30 State Street, Boston, August 2, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In pursuance of your communication of July 21, 1922, relative to the sale of the Fairmount reservoir land located in Milton and Hyde Park, I submit the following report:

Mr. James W. Rollins, whose estate adjoins the reservoir land, made an offer of $5,500 in 1915 for the property, agreeing to allow the city to reserve a right of way from Milton avenue to the standpipe, and I rendered the following report:

December 14, 1915.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I herewith inclose a communication from James W. Rollins of 6 Beacon street, in which he offers the City of Boston $5,500 for its land in Milton and Hyde Park, located on Milton avenue near Reservoir street, adjacent to land owned by him.

He will allow the city to reserve a right of way from Milton avenue to the standpipe, which holds, excepting in winter, an auxiliary supply of water for fire purposes.

I showed Mr. Rollins a memorandum of title, which I inclose, and he is satisfied to purchase subject to the conditions therein. Mr. C. F. Day and Miss E. M. Taylor of the Law Department are of the opinion that there are no restrictions on this land, but this is merely a conjecture as to what the decision of the court would be, if any action were brought in court. The restrictions as to the dwelling houses and maintenance of Milton avenue they hold to be purely personal covenants of Newsome, and not applying to his assigns.

The lot contains 195,378 square feet, as follows: 73,430 square feet in Milton; 121,948 square feet in Hyde Park. It is assessed for 4 cents a foot (about $1,750 an acre), making a total valuation of $7,815.15, and is worth about $6,500.

Good land in this vicinity sells for about $2,000 an acre, but as the reservoir indicated on the inclosed blueprint will have to be filled in at considerable cost, the land graded, and much of it used for new streets, in addition to being divided by the standpipe and the right of way from Milton avenue, I consider Mr. Rollins' offer of $5,500 (approximately $1,200 an acre) a fair one for the lot, and advise that it be sold at public auction at an upset price of $5,500.

I inclose also letters from the Public Works and Assessing Departments, and snapshots of the reservoir and standpipe.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN BECK.

I understand, however, that the city has no further use for the standpipe, so that now the land can be sold without being divided by the proposed right of way. Therefore Mr. Rollins agrees to pay the city $7,500 for said land, allowing the city to either remove the standpipe, or sell it at public auction, with the stipulation that it be removed by the purchaser within a reasonable time from the premises.

There has been no demand for land in this vicinity for speculative or development purposes.

Mr. Rollins is the logical purchaser.

I consider his offer a fair one, and as the city has no further use for the land I advise that it be sold at public auction at an upset price of $7,500.

I inclose plans, also communications from Mr. Rollins, Mr. John C. Kiley, and the Public Works Department, relative to said land.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN BECK.

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be authorized to sell at public auction land of the City of Boston located at Hyde Park and containing approximately 195,378 square feet of land, known as the Fairmount Reservoir land, at an upset price of $7,500 for the land, and be it further ordered that the Public Works Commissioner be authorized to invite proposals for the razing and removal within a reasonable length of time the standpipe upon the Fairmount Reservoir land.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

SALE OF PIGS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 7, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication received from the Institutions Commissioner, requesting authority to sell pigs at the House of Correction, Deer Island, and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Institutions Department, August 2, 1922.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to sell 100 small pigs, exceeding $500 in value, located at the House of Correction, Deer Island.

If we are permitted to make the sale before August 10 a saving of 50 cents each for treatment may be effected. I am today requesting the Superintendent of Supplies to secure bids for the disposal of those pigs.

Very truly yours,
DAVID J. JOHNSON, Commissioner.

Ordered, That the Superintendent of Supplies be and hereby is authorized to sell pigs belonging to the Institutions Department exceeding $500 in value.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

ACTION ON RETIREMENT BILL.

The following was received:

Boston Central Labor Union,
August 7, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Boston Central Labor Union at a meeting on August 6 voted to request that your honorable body take no action on the retirement bill now pending before you.

Respectfully yours,

P. H. Jennings,
Business Representative.

RETIREMENT ALLOWANCES.

The following was received:

Finance Commission,
Boston, August 5, 1922.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:

Gentlemen,—There is now pending before you for approval chapter 521 of the Acts of 1922, entitled "An Act Providing Retirement Allowances based on Annuity and Pension Contributions for Employees of the City of Boston or of the County of Suffolk."

There are now in force in the City of Boston and County of Suffolk ten different pension systems, to which those who are eligible to become beneficiaries make no contribution whatever. These systems provide for firemen, policemen, school teachers, laborers, school janitors, school attendance officers, judges, court officers, probation officers and veterans of past wars. They include about one half of the 16,000 employees of the City of Boston and the County of Suffolk.

The employees of the city or county for whom no pension benefits are provided are the clerks of courts and the clerical, engineering, library, investigative and inspection forces.

In addition to these ten systems many special legislative acts have been passed, each one of which provides for an individual pension.

These individual pension acts enable the city government to use public funds for the payment of individual pensions. In recent years the city government has invariably approved the payment of pensions in these special cases. The result is a rapidly growing class of individual pensioners based on no uniformity in the character or amount of service, but upon the ability of the beneficiary to procure enabling legislation and thereafter the approval of the city government. The inequity of this procedure consists not so much in the benefits conferred upon individual pensioners as in the neglect of many equally entitled to pensions who lack ability to secure special legislation and in the failure to provide for the large group of employees for whom no pension system exists.

This year the City of Boston will pay approximately $750,000 in pensions under the above mentioned systems and acts. The ultimate cost to the City of Boston of the present pension systems is not known. The rate of increase for the past ten years indicates that even if no other class of public employees is added, these systems will cost the city ten years hence over $1,500,000. Nor will this amount represent the peak of the cost. It will continue to increase indefinitely.

With this should be considered the cost of retaining in the service the 278 employees who are now over 70 years of age to whom the city pays annually $446,000. There are also about 1,200 employees between 60 and 70 years of age. Many of these are necessarily unable to render efficient service. The retention of such employees produces dissatisfaction because it prevents the advancement of younger and abler persons, stifles ambition, slows down activity and necessitates increasing the number of employees in every grade of service.

Chapter 521 of the Acts of 1922 takes care not only of all future employees on a contributory basis, but also the past and present employees on the basis of the present systems, namely, noncontributory. It is optional for all present employees; they may retain unimpaired all advantages of existing systems, or they may come under the provisions of the new system, in which case the city meets the entire expense of the contributions that they would have made if the system had been in effect when they entered the service.

The cost to the City of Boston to cover all future employees of the city and county on a contributory basis of 4 per cent of the salary is as follows:

Firemen	$122,716
Policemen	133,087
Teachers, men	50,834
Teachers, women	160,831
Clerks	79,412
Laborers	196,864
Total	$743,744

The cost to the city on account of present employees will depend entirely upon how many of them join the proposed system.

What a given employee in any department of the city will receive as a retiring allowance under the pending system will depend upon how long that individual has worked for the City of Boston when he retires and the age at which he retires.

At the age of 60 or at any age between 60 and 70 he will be retired at his own request or at the request of the head of his department; he must retire at age 70.

The following table gives the annuities expressed as percentages of the average salary of the last five years of service which will be provided at the ages of retirement shown. In addition to these annuities an employee will receive a pension of an equal amount but the pension is limited to one half final average salary.

The Finance Commission recommends the acceptance of this act to accomplish the following purposes:

1. To enable the city and county to improve the service and efficiency of their employees by retiring with equitable allowances those who have become superannuated or disabled.
2. To distribute equitably to all employees of the city and county such public funds as are appropriated for pension purposes.
3. To establish a pension system for all employees of the City of Boston and of the County of Suffolk on a basis that is actuarially sound and economically defensible.

INVESTIGATION OF SUPERIOR CRIMINAL CLERK'S OFFICE.

The following was received:

The Finance Commission,
Boston, August 4, 1922.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—It appearing from the public press that an order was passed by the City Council providing for an investigation by your honorable body of the office of the Clerk of the Superior Criminal Court, I am taking the liberty of calling to the attention of your honorable body an opinion of Thomas M. Babson, Esq., a former corporation counsel of the city, dated April 15, 1911, to the effect that the City Council is without power to make such an investigation.

I inclose a copy of the opinion. It is printed in the City Council Minutes of 1911, page 118.

Respectfully submitted,
Michael H. Sullivan,
Chairman.

Power of the City Council to Investigate.

The following was received:

Law Department, Boston, April 15, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—There have been referred to me two orders offered by members of the City Council, one providing for an investigation of the bids submitted for the reconstruction of the wardroom in Ward 8, and one providing for an investigation of the Building Department, both investigations to be made by committees of three members of the City Council. I am requested by your honorable body to give my opinion as to the power of the City Council to make such investigations.

In my opinion the City Council has no authority to make such investigations. By chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909 the duty of making such investigations has been taken away from the City Council and given to the Finance Commission by sections 18, 19 and 20 of said chapter. The investigating powers of the City Council under the charter amendments are those given to it by section 7 of the charter amendments. Any action taken under that section must be by the City Council and not by a committee thereof.

Yours respectfully,
Thomas M. Babson,
Corporation Counsel.

4. Report on order (referred June 12) accepting chapter 521 of the Acts of 1922 relative to retirement system—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. WATSON.—Mr. President, this bill that we are asked to enact into form today has been before this Council as long as any measure I can remember that has been before it in any shape or manner. Each and every member has conscientiously sat here in this chamber and heard all those who desired to be heard on the proposition, both for and against. Learned, capable gentlemen on both sides have furnished us with information which they had at hand, for us to use in guiding our minds to the proper solution of this proposition. One thing I have noted concerning it all through the hearings up to now—and I trust that when we have taken our concluding act upon it everything will have been in the friendliest of spirit—is that there have been some strong statements made concerning some of the sponsors of the measure. I will not take issue with that gentleman, or the gentlemen, who take that position because their position concerning that particular matter may be absolutely correct, and of course he or they will act according to their best judgment after having heard all the information that we could secure on the subject. I will admit in the beginning that this bill is not a perfect measure. There never was an advance step taken in any movement that was perfect, or with results that were perfect. As long as humans act in the matter of drawing bills and securing legislation, as long as they pen a word or a letter, there will be those who can come along and improve upon that particular missive, or act, or letter. I want to say—and I know that the councilor opposite, who is my friend, will agree with me—that I am not actuated in my position here today because of any desire to play favorites with the Finance Commission, but he certainly must agree with me that I am right when I state that I am not taking this position in order to be befriended by any political civic organization that may have to do with candidates for public office, with their indorsement or their denunciation. I am taking this position independent of any advice from the Finance Commission or the Good Government Association. No member of this body ever stood on the floor of this Council or on the public platform that has said stronger things concerning the Good Government Association and the Finance Commission and its membership than I have; and after fifty-two years in this world, and after a considerable number of years' membership in this body, I have never yet taken back, nor do I desire to take back, one word that I have said concerning the Good Government Association, the Finance Commission, or its membership, now or those that I may have attacked. And I know that the gentleman had no reference to me when he suggested that I should not line up, as I would line up today, with three members of the Good Government Association. I believe it is my duty, if I can do that which is right and proper according to my conscientious judgment, to align myself with those whom I consider my inferiors. In the great war that was fought across the sea, the man who shouldered a gun and took his place in the trenches did not select his position there because of the inferior quality of a comrade, or his better quality, for that matter. He took his position there because he believed his duty demanded that he take it there. And while it may be a far step from the great World War to our action here today, nevertheless there is something akin concerning it. I would not care today if I stood alone on this proposition. I believe I am right. If I am wrong, then I am only human. If I am right, I am glad of it. If I was right on everything I would be superhuman, but I am just an ordinary poor mortal like my fellow members. The fact that some will draw large benefits from this proposition shall not, ought not, and will not deter me from performing my duty towards those who derive no benefit under the present system of pensions. If a better bill could be drawn by killing this, then, by the same token, perfecting amendments can be secured to improve it. I do not deny that the amount paid to the scrubwoman under this measure is altogether too small, but we cannot improve it. It may be that some of the masters in the schools will receive too much, but, after all, those two are merely but items of detail in this great proposition we are considering. Think of the elevatormen, think of the carpenters and the blacksmiths, the deckhands, and all the rest. I might go on indefinitely and refer to those who do not receive any pension. Only this day I had an old gentleman come to me who has served a great many years as paymaster, and he asked me if I would listen to his plea concerning the pension act, and I told him frankly that I was for it, independent of what his position was, because I thought I had the fullest information on it. Then I thought that under the act he would receive a bountiful pension but that as he went tottering out of the office of the Clerk of Committees I said that that old gentleman, according to the law of averages of nature, would draw his pension, if he receives it now, at once, but a short time. That is true of many more. Now about the 108 members in the School Department about whom Councilor Donoghue spoke who will receive benefits and retire immediately under this act. That may be true, and I do not question it. The question is how long will they remain beneficiaries. That depends upon the Great Almighty. But there is another element that enters into it. There are a great many of our youths and girls who are seeking employment, and the field for their employment is limited. By the natural process of elimination, if those 108, if that is the number he spoke of, go out, 108 must be advanced to their positions, and there will be a movement all down the line to the bottom until 108 new employees come into that department. So it is in the Street Department—in all the departments. As soon as one goes out another comes in, and therefore employment is going to be increased in that way. I have been handed a memorandum from somebody concerning amendments to the act, but not being conversant with it I would rather not touch upon it, and I prefer that whoever handed it to me should discuss it from the knowledge they have in hand rather than have me do it because I am afraid I could not do it properly or with justice to the proposition, and further I know nothing about it. Now, Mr. President, I think I am doing right. What more can man do "Do the best you know how under the circumstances that confront you." I believe we are doing right in considering it today, whether we pass it or not. And I did not know when I got up to suggest that it be reported back today whether there was more than one vote than my own for it or not, and when Coun. Moriarty sized up the situation as being 6 to 3, I did not hesitate to believe that he was correct, because he must have been canvassing. Mr. President, I do not want to detain the Council longer. Somebody had to start the ball rolling, and I did it. I sincerely trust that our action here today will be the proper action, and I have in mind all the time something I am told by those who are interested in my conduct and in my career and my actions, that, after all, majorities with individuals can always be decided on this principle: God and one are a majority, and if you have your own opinion on your side and you believe you are doing your duty, and God prescribes you should do it, then to me that is a majority, and if today eight members vote "No" and I vote "Yes," I will still say that, to me, I am in the majority. I am glad, Mr. President, that there has been no rancor, and that we have not lost our heads over this proposition. We haven't. I think today we stand here, independent of our action, as a body of nine members who are entitled to the respect of this community for our sincerity of purpose in this measure. We have given it the very best attention in us. We have not attempted to stop one single person who desired to be heard. We have given up our business; we have met with many inconveniences in being here in this warm weather. We adjourned, as we were entitled to adjourn, to have a little recreation in the summer time; but we came in and got busy and in the warmest days we have sat here and listened attentively, each and every one of us, to every person who has appeared here for and against this proposition. And I am satisfied, as I must be—whether I must be or not I will be satisfied—that whatever action we take here today will be the best for all concerned. I sincerely trust, Mr. President. that while my words are rather lengthy and rambling, they at least have disclosed for the record my purpose to vote right on this measure, and my reasons for voting, as I shall, God willing, "Yes," and that perhaps I have conveyed to my colleagues some information that may be of benefit to them in reaching a conclusion as to their votes on the measure ultimately.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I am going to read from this that I received in an envelope, supposing that it came from the Finance Commission:

"This year the City of Boston will pay approximately $750,000 in pensions under the above mentioned systems and acts. The ultimate cost to the City of Boston of the present pension systems is not known. The rate of increase for the past ten years indicates that even if no other class of public employees is added, these systems will cost the city ten years hence over $1,500,000. Nor will this amount represent the peak of the cost. It will continue to increase indefinitely."

I want to say that whoever wrote that and signed their signatures to it do not know what they are taking about. Judge Sullivan made the statement before the Executive Committee some months ago that if there was not some pension bill carried through the city would be bankrupt. Now he has brought it down that it will cost $1,500,000 in ten years, and that is somewhat different from bankruptcy so far as the City of Boston is concerned.

"With this should be considered the cost of retaining in the service the 278 employees who are now over seventy years of age to whom the city pays annually $446,000. There are also about 1,200 employees between sixty and seventy years of age. Many of these are necessarily unable to render efficient service. The retention of such employees produces dissatisfaction because it prevents the advancement of younger and abler persons, stifles ambition, slows down activity and necessitates increasing the number of employees in every grade of service."

I want to say that that, in my estimation, is absolutely the "meat" of this pension bill, that they desire to get rid of 278 employees who are over seventy and the 1,200 employees that they claim are inefficient. I want to say in my estimation that everyone of the 278 and 1,200 is more efficient than the same members of the Finance Commission. There isn't any member of this body, either present or past, since the Finance Commission has gone into vogue who can show me where they have ever saved a 5-cent piece for the City of Boston. They are exempt from the budget. They would be afraid to put in an estimate and ask that their money be alotted to them in the same way as every other department connected with the city has to do. No! They have to go to the Legislature, and the Legislature provides that we have to pay to the Finance Commission so much money yearly, whether needed or not. And in answer to one of my colleagues on the other side, who said he believed that the members of the Finance Commission had gone into this, I want to say that it is my belief that of the five members of the Finance Commission there is absolutely only one that knows anything about this bill, and that is the chairman. One of the members here has said that a committee from Local 149, which is composed of laborers in the Sanitary and Street Cleaning Departments, waited upon him. The secretary of that local, who sat in the gallery when that statement was made, called me from the room and said that no action has ever been taken by 149 and no committee was ever appointed to wait upon any member of this body asking that this pension bill be passed. I was called from the hall, with no request of my own, by the secretary, who sat in the gallery, and he informed me that there was no action of his organization, and therefore Local 149 as an organization has not requested any member of this Council to vote in favor of this pension bill. The councilor who has just taken his seat said I may have canvassed. I want to say to that that I did not canvass him, and he will dmit that; so I did not know how he was going to vote, any more than from his actions before the Council. And I did not even request any member of the Council what way they were voting. I took it from their attitude in the Council, and anybody that could not judge from their attitudes how they are going to vote must have been very dull. I stated a month ago, practically after the first hearing that was held here, that the vote, at that time in my estimation, would be 7 to 2, and from later developments it turned out to be 6 to 3. Of course I may be a keen observer. The only one I can thank for that is the Almighty. But let me say to you this: We spent $9,000 for an investigation on a pension bill, and the Finance Commission has not thought well enough of this Council even to give them a report of the money that they spent. I do not say that Judge Sullivan lied deliberately, but I say that Judge Sullivan lied when he came to the Executive Committee asking for an appropriation and telling this Council that he would give us a report before the bill was filed. I said that Coun. Lane agreed to that. He was not here when I made the statement before. Coun. Ford has come to me since I made the statement in executive session, and he agrees that Judge Sullivan made that promise to the Council. I say to you that something is being pulled over, and it is being pulled over, unfortunately, on the city employees. And I say to Coun. Gilbody, did he ask any city employees when they requested him to vote for it what they were going to get? I think I know as many city employees as almost anybody here, and there is not one city employee who has been able to tell me what he was going to get on retiring at 60 years. They do not know what they are going to get, and when they go down to the treasurer's office, as Coun. Donoghue has said, and the city gives them 37 cents a day for past services, what are they going to think of you and me. Of course, the schoolmasters took good care of themselves. When that schoolmaster was here I asked him how much salary he was getting, and he said $4,700 a year, I think; and I asked him what he was going to get, and he said he would get approximately $2,000. So these figures here on this slate must be pretty near right. He admitted that he was one of the committee, or that he sat in with the committee. The master of a school, after twenty-nine years' service, gets $2,200, or 46 per cent. Coun. Hagan said that they paid him 4 per cent. Of course they pay him 4 per cent. A man getting $4,700 is able to pay in 4 per cent. But a man getting $24 a week has to pay 93 cents per week. That is what he has got to pay—93 cents per week. Why didn't they go farther? The veteran is excluded. The veteran gets, if he is a schoolmaster, $2,200, without paying anything in. If the veteran is a laborer and works thirty years, he gets $305, or that approximately. These figures are not right. The veteran is exempt from this. I do not say that the veteran is not entitled to it, and if he is entitled to anything he is entitled to more. The scrubwoman, after twenty-six years, gets $134.52 a year, approximately. A fine Christmas present to give! The poorhouse staring her in the face! Of course, they do not call it the "poorhouse" in these days. They changed it. That word has been changed because it sounded too harsh, and they name it the "almshouse" now, but it is the same old poorhouse. There is no better treatment. There is the same service. And that is the only thing that is facing the laborer. Yes, and I may say the clerk. Of course I don't know what salary this clerk was getting, but I believe that there are a lot of clerks working for the city twenty-seven years that won't gets $537.69. But the percentage tells. The clerk gets 29 per cent. The laborer, after twenty-six years' service, gets 23 per cent. Another laborer, after thirty years, gets 24 per cent. Another one, thirty-two and one half years, gets 32 per cent. The janitor 19 per cent the scrubwoman 17 per cent; and the master of the school 46.5 per cent! I feel that the schoolmaster is entitled to 46 per cent. So is everybody else. I do not think that his work is any more dangerous than that of the elevatorman. I do not think that his work is any more dangerous than that of a scrubwoman. I do not think that his work is any more dangerous than that of a laborer. And of course if this pension bill is for service rendered, the small-paid people are not being given much consideration. I have said some harsh things. I feel that I have been justified in saying those harsh things, and when I feel that I am justified in saying them I say them. Everything I have said about the Finance Commission I reaffirm—not only what I have said today but what I have said in the past; and I feel that February next the members of this Council who sit here to go into the budget will find that the Finance Commission, through this Retirement Board that is going to be formed, will cut approximately 1,200 or 1,400 employees at the age of 60-70 from the pay roll. I make that prediction today—that that will be a recommendation from the Retirement Board, through their emissary, the Finance Commission. Of course, there has not been a word said, but I wonder who is going to get all the good jobs on the Retirement Board. I wonder if some of those people that are the "pets" of the School Committee that sat here, that did not go along with the vote of their own organizations, I wonder if they are going to be the ones who are going to get those good jobs? And I will say to you this, that if they get those good jobs there won't be any of them that will go out on a pension of $287, $305, or $134. I suppose, working on the adage "Take care of your friends," the Finance Commission are going to take good care of their friends. There may be some members of the Council that may be taken care of for voting "yes." I don't expect to! Because I can't be taken care of now by any of the heads of departments. They won't do much for me. I feel that if there was ever a curse, and I believe that there are only two curses in so far as city employees are concerned, the first one being when they went to work for the city, the second curse will be when this Council by vote today accepts this pension bill, which curse will be put on to every employee who enters the service after a certain date. I believe that you are putting something on them for which every city employee other than those getting a fair salary will condemn this Council. And I have had some friends speak to me. One of the councilors has said he had a paymaster speak to him. Well, I don't believe in sacrificing many for a few, and I believe that when we put this bill through that is all we are doing. If I was working in the City Treasurer's office for thirty years and a pension bill was up here, I would be up here asking the members of the Council to vote for it, or if I worked in any other department and was getting the salary that that same man is getting that asked Coun. Watson to vote for it, I would be up here advocating it. But it is a selfish proposition in so far as that man in the treasurer's office is concerned. He does not care for the 16,000 other employees as long as he is taken care of. I would rather see it abolished. In preference to accepting this, I would vote to abolish every pension system in Boston, firemen, policemen, and every other department that comes under a pension system, before I would vote to accept this act. I would rather start anew. There is my feeling against this act. Contributory! And a percentage. I will say that I have no feeling in so far as the members of the Council are concerned. They are here with the same right I am. I have a right to vote as I see fit. Every other member of this Council has likewise. I feel that my stand is absolutely correct. I feel if I was playing politics I would vote "yes." I believe that in a few years anybody who has voted for it will be considered an enemy of the low paid employees of the city. I believe that anybody that votes against it the city employees and the low paid city employees will have more thought of, when they go to the window and get 37 cents a day for a pension after paying 93 cents a week. They don't know, even if the man does not draw down the money that he pays, whether it will ever go to their beneficiaries or not. Nobody knows where that money is going. And I say that you have a slick bunch, and I say openly here that I see the hand, the same hand in this pension bill that has been in all of the financial bills that have entered this city. I find the keen hand of that same lot of men. "Jim" Storrow is the one who has always been able to get the likes of the chairman of the Finance Commission and bring him up on a milk bottle and then throw him out to do his bidding. And that is the unsolvable thing in this city. They have been able to do it in the past, and they are going to do it in the future—coming in here. And they hold no seats in here, and when they did hold a seat in here, when Storrow sat the first year that I had the pleasure of sitting here, he did not attend but the first and the last meetings, and he drew down his salary. And then they say that those men who work for the city for years and who have attained the age of sixty or seventy are not efficient. I ask you who is the most efficient, the man who is elected by the people to serve the people, who did not attend the meetings, or the city employee who has given his best for thirty odd years with his pick and shovel, or the scrubwomen with their brushes? Who gave the most for their money, him, with $1,500 a year, attending those few meetings, or the laborer, whether he did a tap or not, who put in all of his time? Who did the efficient service? "Mike" Sullivan is going to be very busy. I wish he was here to hear that. Of course he can read, but I would rather he heard it because it sounds better when heard. I feel very, very set on the bill. I feel that some of the members that are voting will at some future time admit that they have helped to foster something on the city employees that they did not want.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, as I said in my impromptu remarks in connection with this bill I did not intend to enter into any long dissertation in connection with its passage, either in favor or against the bill, but I feel obliged, Mr. President, to say a word here in behalf of its passage and to explain my position. It was my speech, or remark, or whatever it might be termed, before this honorable body which caused in some degree this debate. and I feel because of the importance of the bill that I should say something in connection with my vote. To the members of this body in executive session I stated briefly my position, and I stand on that same position now. I feel perfectly satisfied with it without having the assistance or the help of anybody. I do not know Judge Sullivan from a hole in the ground, and I do not know any of the bug-a-boo gentlemen who have been mentioned here this afternoon to brow-beat the bill into defeat. I would not know them if they were standing or sitting in front of me, and I say that I vote on this bill from my own initiative any my study and my personal survey of the desires of the poorer classes of people who will come under it. Now let us appreciate this situation, Mr. President. We waved the poor scrubwoman and the poor city laborer before us here, and we found what? That they are going to be benefited by this bill in a measure that is surprisingly good. Let us take now—and now is the time to consider him, not in the future, but now—let us take this poor, tottering laborer and find out after his twenty-eight years of service what he gets. His twenty-eight years in the city's service is all we can consider. He has twenty-eight years in the city's service, and he has got too old, Mr. President, and he contributes his little mite, whatever it might be, and he gets a very substantial pension annually, or retirement allowance, as it is so called in this bill. That is the true situation, Mr. President. We can't go into the future. We must take the bill as it is now, and if I am not correct I am greatly mistaken. A man now twenty-eight years in the city's service, I repeat to be plain, goes two more years. What does he get for the two years during which he contributes annually to the bill? He gets a pension of at least $500, or approximately half, for two years' services, Mr. President. Now I maintain that there is a special privilege in connection with our present pension system. I do not believe that the policeman, or the fireman, or the school teacher should be more favored than any other employee in our city. I maintain, and I know this to be true, that the city laborer pushing the cart on the road is as much liable to accident and injury as is the fireman or the policeman, and statistics prove that that is so, that there are as many of them injured and killed as there are in the other branches which now enjoy a fat pension, and have for years, at no expense whatever to the City of Boston. Now, Mr. President, another reference has been made by an honorable member of this body in connection with the expense to the City of Boston. The main feature of the bill is this: That the person desiring a pension goes to the Legislature and unquestionably gets the legislation that he desires for a pension. He comes back here and then goes into the city treasury, without any compensation back into the treasury whatsoever; and if that system continues, as well it may, and must, where is the taxpayer going to be in ten years? Whereas now we meet a problem which is fair and equitable. I think that that bill in its every feature is one that deserves a start. It deserves a start, Mr. President. And let us not lose sight of this fact, that nobody in the future will want to accept employment in the City of Boston. And they say, "Why?" "Because there is an awfully bad bill in connection with our pension before us." What are we going to do? We are going to have no employees if we don't take some measures to cut out the iniquitous parts of this bill, Mr. President. We must do something to get people to work for us if the system is going to be so bad. And I am in favor for another reason, that we have in the city's employ hundreds and hundreds of old men and old women who should have a pension and get young blood on the job, and in favor of young blood I speak, and I vote in behalf of this bill as one who is in position to holler as loud and long for the city employees as any other member of this honorable body. I believe, with honesty and fairness to each and every member. Mr. President, I am voting "'yes," and I am voting "yes" on my own guts and initiative, and nobody has told me how to vote for it. Nobody has spoken to me, Mr. President. I got in here, and now because I am here a bug-a-boo is raised this way and that about my connection with people I never saw except once or twice here and other people I never saw at all since my advent into the world. I am standing, as I said, on my two feet, and I am considering this bill from the point of view of the low-paid person rather than any other, and I am going to vote "yes," Mr. President.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I want simply to make a correction of a statement that was made which in a measure seemed to be a question of veracity, and probably was so intended. I said in the committee meeting that I was approached by a committee from Local 149, who asked me to vote for the acceptance of this bill. I was so approached by four men whose faces were familiar to me, whom I have met at the meetings of Local 149, men who are active in the affairs and deliberations of that organization, and I gathered that they were a committee that were sent to wait upon me, and I so stated it in my honest opinion and judgment. They did ask me to vote for this measure. I want that in the record, that there may be no misapprehension that I made any statement that is not a true statement.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I want to say that I would not have made that statement if I had not been called out of the room by a man who told me that he was the secretary of Local 149, and who I know is secretary of Local 149, and he told me that in so far as action of that local was concerned they never took action and never appointed a committee to see anybody. The statement was made there was a committee from Local 149, and the committee representing Local 149 asked to have that action, and the secretary's statement is that no such action ever took place.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, of course I am very much opposed to this bill because I do not believe that it is what we all preach when we are candidates for office as to the "square deal" for all employees and every citizen of Boston. We all also claim that we are in favor of "home rule" for Boston. Still, if we accept the provisions of this act, we are going to place upon the pension rolls and saddle on to the backs of the citizens of Boston the duty of paying pensions, the longest day they live, to at least 750 to 800 county employees, residents not of Boston but of Somerville, Medford, Malden, Stoughton, Wareham, and every other city and town around this state. We have paid the expenses of Suffolk County, including the cities of Revere and Chelsea and the town of Winthrop, in my opinion, long enough, and there isn't a member of this Council that when he is a candidate for public office has not proclaimed to the four winds that he stands for "home rule" for Boston, and still in this Council we see the spectacle today of men voting to saddle on to the backs of the taxpayers of Boston not alone the salaries of these county employees but also a pension after they have ceased to be employed by the county. I think that that one feature of this bill alone ought to be enough to defeat it. But that is not the only bad feature of this "perfect" instrument, so called by the sponsors for it. They tell you, standing here, and they tell me, that this bill is as near a perfect instrument as it is possible for them to draw. In the beginning they said that, and in the beginning the chairman of the Finance Commission—and I have no quarrel with him but merely acknowledge that he is the moving light behind this entire proposition—said that he would have to see any amendments that were to be submitted to this bill before he would commit himself whether or not he would favor any amendments to the act, and later on during the hearings he himself admitted that amendments to this act might be possible. Showing that at least he had been influenced somewhat in his own judgment as to the perfectness of this bill. This bill, in my opinion, is the most imperfect, iniquitous bill ever presented to the City Council. This bill has so many flaws in it that even those that are voting in favor of it apologize for voting for it and say that they would like to vote for a more perfect instrument, that they would like to see the lower-paid employees paid more than they are going to receive under the provisions of this act; but still they are willing to accept the crumbs from the cake, they are willing to give the high-salaried employee who has been well paid for his services by the citizens of the City of Boston a pension that will amount in many cases to more than $2,000 a year. More money than the majority of the city employees of Boston receive as a salary will be paid to these men as a pension. There is no contributory feature involved in a great many instances in so far as this bill is concerned. Many of the so-called superannuated employees that are going to be shoved out the moment that this bill goes into effect have contributed absolutely nothing in so far as money is concerned to the provisions of this bill. Still the laborer is going to receive an annuity of 4 per cent of his salary during the years that he worked for the city, from $6 a week in many cases up to the present salary of $24 a year, and he is going to be given credit for 4 per cent on those accumulations, and with that 4 per cent it purchases a certain annuity, and that annuity is going to be matched by a like amount of pension under the provisions of this bill. The well-paid employee has contributed absolutely nothing. He is eligible to a pension, and, as I stated, 122 of them eligible to a pension immediately in the School Department of our city will draw in salaries $222,000, and they have contributed nothing. How many laborers would be pensioned in order to eat up a like amount? In order to eat up $222,000 per year you would have to have a force of city employees in this city of practically 10,000. And of course we all know, and even those that vote for this bill know, that the future must be provided for. We are living in the present, that is true, and they talk of forward looking movements. If a matter is forward looking it must look to the future. We must look to the men who will come to work for the city in the future. We must look to the women that are to come to work for the city in the future. And what do we find under the provisions ofthis act? The city employee that comes to work for the city in the future, after forty years of service, will receive a pension of $250 a year, $110 less than he now receives as a pension. The lowest paid pensioner on the city rolls today receives $360; while after forty years of service under the provisions of this act he is going to receive approximately $250. If you say that that is fair, I disagree. I believe that the bill should primarily take care of the low-paid employee, and in that I differ as strongly as I can with the position taken by the chairman of the Finance Commission, when he admitted before this body that he believed the high-salaried employee should receive a high pension when he retires. I believe in a flat and equitable pension for all. I believe in the abolition of all poorhouses and the overseers of the poor. I believe that a fund should be created to take care not alone of the city employees but of all the citizens of Boston. I believe that they should be provided for against want in their old days, and under the provisions of this act I believe the city employee that is going to receive, as a scrub lady, 37 cents a day, and the laborer who is going to receive 83 cents a day, is going to pay his and her proportionate share of the $2,000, and better, pension that is going to be paid to those employees of the city who have been well paid while they worked for the city. I say that it is logical, and a logical position to take, to say that when an employee in the city's service severs his connection with the city he is of no more value or benefit to the city than the low-paid employee. But under this bill you are going to pay them at least $2,000 a year, and you are going to pay the scrub lady 37 cents a day. Is that an equitable bill? Is that a fair bill? Are we to be satisfied to see those that we come from take the crumbs from the cake while those who have the cake all their lives are going to retire with the cake in their hands and brush the crumbs to the laborer and to the scrub lady? I for one refuse to vote for any such bill, and I believe that a better bill than this can be enacted at the next session of the Legislature, and I think that a bill such as this is that has been drawn under the influences of men who are receiving high salaries from the City of Boston does not originate in the right place. I believe that those men who are actuated in seeing that the high-salaried employees are to be well provided for in their old days so that they may live in comfort should have some consideration at least from a humanitarian standpoint, if from no other, to see that the laborer, to see that the scrubwoman, to see that the elevatorman that they talk of the mechanic, the carpenter, etc., is also provided with at least a sufficient amount to allow him to exist, let alone to live. Who can exist on 37 cents a day? Who can exist on any 83 cents a day? The figures show from this paper here—and they are as authentic as any of the figures that have been submitted—that the schoolmaster is going to receive $6.52 a day, while the scrub lady receives 37 cents and the laborer 83 cents a day. In other words, the schoolmaster who has been well paid for his service is going to receive eighteen times as much, under the provisions of this act, as the laborer who has borne the heat and the burden of the day. I say that that is not fair, and I say that that is not justice to the employees of the City of Boston, and I say that it will not be tolerated or would not be tolerated by the citizens of the City of Boston had they a vote or a voice on this subject. I do not believe that the citizens of the City of Boston who do not work for the city would ever agree to pay city employees that have been well paid all their lives a pension of better than $2,000 a year. On the other hand, I do not think that you will find any men or women in this city of ours who would be adverse to paying a flat pension of, say, $700 or $800 to all employees. Why not give the laborer at least a pension of $700 or $800? The same amount to be given to the high-salaried employees. The high-salaried employee has had an opportunity at least to provide for a rainy day, while the laborer has had to struggle to make both ends meet. He has had no opportunity whatever to set aside anything for his old age, and still you are going to say to the man who comes to work, or the woman who comes to work for the city, after he or she has worked forty years, "We are going to allow you $2.59 a week to live on, comfortably." You are going to say to the laborer, "We are going to allow you $5 a week to live on comfortably." And you are going to say to the master of the schools, "We are going to take care of you during your remaining days as we have taken care of you while you worked for the city, and we are going to pay you as a pension $45.64 a week." Are you going to say that? I don't think you are. I am voting on this measure having in mind primarily the care of those who need to be provided for and only secondarily those who have been well paid while they have worked for the city. Eight hundred county employees saddled on to the backs of the city laborers and the other citizens of our community! Eight hundred residents of Chelsea, Revere, Winthrop, Wareham, Stoughton, and the Lord only knows from whence they come! We are going to say to the laborer, "You are going to pay an even share to pay his salary and his pension; you have got to contribute as much, possibly in a different way, but you are going to be taxed for it just the same; you are going to help pay out of your $2.59 that you are going to be allowed when you retire, you are going to be compelled to pay the master $45.64." And that proportion that they talk about as an even, equitable one—the 4 per cent—in my opinion is absolutely unjust. Why our Overseers of the Public Welfare Department pay to widows and their dependents $14, $16 and $18 a week. If this bill goes into effect, I predict that they will wipe that department out, and then they are going to see how drastic the provisions of this act are. Then they are going to be compelled to feed the mouths of little ones on $2.59 a week, and then these members of this Council that are going to vote for this bill are going to come face to face with the problem that they have helped to reduce from $18 a week payments by the Overseers of the Poor Department down to $2.59, the amount that will be allotted or might be allotted to the person who has worked for forty years. The laborer today has to work twenty-five years and he retires on $360. Under this act he will work for forty years and he will retire at less than $250. No credit should be given to anyone for compulsory saving of my money or your money or the laborer's money. That money belongs to them, and they are giving them absolutely nothing when they give them 4 per cent on the moneys they take from them, and they are actually giving them less than they can get on the outside today. Anyone who contributes or who sets aside a certain percentage of their savings from week to week will receive more than 4 per cent a year on that money when it is compounded, not as it is in this bill, semiannually, but in very many instances and by many institutions in this city monthly, compounded monthly against compound interest every six months. Then they say, and I believe that it is a fact, that one of the real reasons for this bill was to get rid of the so-called superannuated employee. And they are not going to be, as it has been said. No, but when they go, their places are going to be filled by young blood. Young blood is going to fill their places, and they are going to come under the provisions of this act. Not voluntarily! There is no voluntary effort involved in it. Once this bill goes into effect future employees are compelled to come under its provisions, and I believe that that will apply to the veterans, even though it has been stated here by one who says that he is interested in the welfare of the veterans, and who evidently was, who lobbied this bill in so far as he could through the State House, he had the veterans exempted in so far as he could, and then he came before us, and I wondered often what his interest further was, to see that this bill is put over in its present form. The veterans in his opinion will be excluded. But the chairman of the Finance Commission, who is the leading light in this proposition and under whose hand this bill will be administered, stated that if any veteran in the future comes to work for the city and seeks to stay out of the provisions of this bill, he will bring him to court and have a test case of it. And when a general act such as this is has been passed, no logical reasoning can do other than to say that it will include veterans, and that is my opinion, that the veteran is going to be included under the provisions of this act. The veteran today, after ten years' service, can retire on one half pay. If he comes under the provisions of this act after forty years he will receive $250 a year. Do you say that that is a square deal for the veteran? Do you say that that is a square deal? No one will deny that the police and the firemen come under the provisions of this act, and I differ from one of the councilors opposite when he says that their duties are not more hazardous than any one else's in the city's service. I believe that statistics will show that the nature of their work is extra hazardous, and that that was one of the reasons why the Legislatures in the past agreed to pension those men when they were no longer fit for service at half salary, or $900 a year. You are going to include under the provisions of this act the policemen and the firemen and the elementary teachers. Those, of course, who have appeared before us of the elementary teachers do not have to come under the provisions of this act, but if they do not come under the provisions of this act, why, I can't understand, myself, why they won't. It will be a good thing for them, for those that have had long service, because they are getting something for nothing, and when their position has been descried in this Council because they have a pension plan of their own which pays them $600, you lose sight of the fact that if they care to they can come in under the provisions of this act and raise up that retirement allowance from $600 to around $1,000. Of course they ought to be in under it. If the majority prevails of course they will come under. And it is going to add up the expense, and the only one who is not going to be benefited under the provisions of this act is the fellow who is going to come in to toil for the city in the future, the man or the woman who is going to come in and retire after forty years at $250 a year, while, on the other hand, the high-paid employee is going to receive better than $2,000 a year. I make no apologies to anyone for my position on this bill. I think that I am absolutely sound on it. We have had evidence of the feelings of the people of our community on the question of old age pensions. I believe in an old age pension, and it has been voted on in this city of ours, and in practically every community they have voted in favor of it in a ratio of at least 7 or 8 to 1. But would they vote, would the citizens of Boston vote to pension high-salaried employees at better than $2,000 a year? Of course there is no one in here, any member of this Council, that would ever dream that they would. They talk about the political standpoint. I believe that from the political standpoint this bill is absolutely political suicide for anyone that votes for it The veterans in the future, in my opinion, will be absolutely against it. The police, the firemen, the elementary school teachers, and the citizens of Boston who do not work for the city, and those citizens of Boston also who do not believe that the county employees should be saddled on to the backs of residents of Boston, will be against it; so that from the political standpoint I cannot see what anyone has to gain by voting for the provisions of this bill. And of course I have friends the same as anyone else that have been well paid and held down good jobs for the city, and I have had personal interviews with some of them asking me to vote for this bill. Of course it is selfish on their part to ask that I vote for this bill, but nevertheless those are the only ones that I have seen before this Council, the high-paid employees, that are advocating the passage of this act, and I hope that the bill will fail of passage.

Plumbing Inspector, Boston Building Department, August 28, 1922.

The salary is $2,000 per year, with a maximum of $2,100. Under chapter 142, section 11, of the General Laws, inspectors of plumbing shall be practical plumbers, and shall also have practical experience, either as masters or as journeymen continuously, during the five years last preceding the date of appointment. According to section 12, chapter 142 of the General Laws, no person can be employed in this position who, at the time of said employment, engages in or works at the business of plumbing. Applicants should possess a journeyman's or master plumber's license.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 5; report, 1; special questions, 4; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Gas Fixture Inspector—Investigator, Boston Health Department, August 28, 1922.

The salary is $2,000 a year. The duties of this position are to investigate all deaths caused by illuminating gas poisoning in the City of Boston and the immediate causes of such deaths, in order to secure accurate data and facts for new rules and regulations concerning gas and combination gas-electric fixtures and their connection with such deaths. Applicants must be practical gas fitters of at least five years' continued practical experience and should have a knowledge of ancient and modern types of fixtures and methods of installation. Applicants must be not less than thirty years of age at the time of filing application. A certificate of date of birth must be filed with the application.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 4; report, 1; special questions on the duties of the position, 3; personality and fitness as determined by an oral interview, 2: total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Gasfitting Inspector, Boston Building Department, August 28, 1922.

The salary is $1,600 per year. According to section 5, chapter 265, Acts of 1897, inspectors shall be practical gas fitters, of at least five years' continued practical experience. Applicants should possess a gas fitter's license.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 5; report, 1; practical questions, 4; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in experience.

Special Examiner (Female), Boston Auditing Department, August 29, 1922.

The salary is $2,700 per year. Applicants should have a knowledge of municipal procedure as it affects both the city and county in connection with appropriations, loan orders, issuance and transfer of bonds, claims and executions of court, appointments, transfers and compensation of employees, retirements and pensions, tax limits, tax levies, budget procedure and other matters as they arise which require special examination and investigation. It is desirable that applicants have a knowledge of the fundamentals of accounting and be able to typewrite. Applicants must be not less than 25 years of age at the time of filing application. A certificate of date of birth must be filed with the application.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 1; special questions, 1; total, 2.

Building Inspector (Construction Engineer), Boston Building Department, September 6, 1922.

The salary is $2,400 a year. Applicants should possess all of the qualifications as given above for building inspector and in addition should be competent to design and check up designs of steel frame, concrete and reinforced concrete construction and to make calculations for stresses, strains, loads, etc. It is desirable that they have had some office experience along these lines.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 9; report, 2; practical questions on carpentry, brick and stone masonry and building materials; concrete; steel and reinforced concrete work in the construction of buildings; foundations; designing concrete, reinforced concrete, steel frame and masonry buildings and structures; making necessary computations for strains, loads, stresses, etc., 9; total, 20. The special questions will include arithmetic. Special importance will attach to the questions on steel, concrete, reinforced concrete, etc.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience and in the practical questions.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

According to chapter 550 of the Acts of 1907, no person shall be appointed as inspector of construction in the Building Department of Boston who has not had at least five years' experience as a builder, civil engineer or architect, or as a superintendent or foreman, or as a competent mechanic in charge of construction.

Poultry Man and Officer, Boston Institutions Department, House of Correction, Deer Island, September 8, 1922.

The salary is $1,200 per year. The duties of this position are to raise and care for about 2,000 chickens. The chickens are raised in brooders from about the first of February. Applicants must also be able to construct the hen houses and instruct in cement work. They should have a general knowledge of farm work so that they will be able to assist the farmer.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 6; practical questions, 4; total, 10.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in section 23 of chapter 31 of the General Laws.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

Collector of Taxes for the City of Boston.

MUNICIPAL EXAMINATIONS.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commission announce examinations for the following desirable positions:

Building Inspector, Boston Building Department, September 6, 1922.

The salary is $2,000 per year. Applicants must be competent mechanics with a knowledge of masonry, steel, concrete and wood framing as used in building construction; must possess a reasonable knowledge of the building law of Boston and special acts relating to construction; must be competent to read plans and make application of same to requirements of building law.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 4; arithmetic, 1; report, 1; practical questions on the duties of the position, 4; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience and at least 50 per cent in practical questions.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

According to chapter 550 of the Acts of 1907, no person shall be appointed as inspector of construction in the Building Department of Boston who has not had at least five years' experience as a builder, civil engineer or architect, or as a superintendent or foreman, or as a competent mechanic in charge of construction.

Engineering Inspector, Boston Public Works Department, September 8, 1922.

The salary is $1,600 per year. The duties of this position are to investigate sewer complaints. To do this applicants should be able to distinguish between overcharging and obstruction of a sewer, be able to compute roughly the amount of water coming to a sewer and its capacity to carry it. It is desirable that applicants know the sewer system of the City of Boston, including location of main sewers and surface drains, city and state intercepting systems, district and individual regulators and how they work, and present condition of district regulators; areas from which storm water is pumped by the Calf Pasture pumping station; location of auxiliary pumping stations and systems served; location of tidal areas and of the separate system district; use of back-water traps and hand valves and how properly placed in the plumbing system; common sources of water in cellars, such as tidewater, ground water, roof leaders, old unstopped sewer connections and leaking water pipes; legal grade of cellars.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Proposals for Sewerage Works in Allston Street, Boulevard Terrace and Commonwealth Terrace, Brighton.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States, for sewerage works in Allston street, Boulevard terrace and Commonwealth terrace, Brighton. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of two thousand (2,000) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Plans and proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sewerage Works in Allston Street, etc.," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Wednesday, September 6, 1922, with a certified check for seven hundred and fifty (750) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.
Boston, August 17, 1922. (Aug. 19.)

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Proposals for Hay, Grain and Straw.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Superintendent of Supplies, Room 801, City Hall Annex, until 12 o'clock, Wednesday, August 30, 1922, when they will be publicly opened and read, for furnishing hay, grain and straw to the various city departments for the month of September, 1922. The bidders must include the cost of delivery. The bidders are requested to quote on No. 1 New York or Michigan timothy hay, clean and sweet; the straw to be rye straw in good condition. The grade of hay and straw must comply with the National Hay Association, and shall be weighed and inspected by a weigher appointed under the ordinances of the City of Boston. MAYOR WARNS REGARDING COAL SITUATION.

Mayor Curley announces Boston faces the most crucial coal shortage in her history.

Inquiries show that unless there is immediate relief there will be an unprecedented crisis, with results that may prove to be of utmost gravity. Only an immediate settlement of the coal strike can avoid this crisis, the Mayor said.

The figures are:

Hard coal in Boston today—8,000 tons.
Soft coal in Boston today—38,000 tons.

Boston uses an avergae of 1,800,000 tons of hard coal a year. This means that the present supply is adequate for about one and a half days.

The city uses an average of 4,300,000 tons of soft coal a year. The present supply would take care of Boston's requirements for a little more than three days.

In practically the same degree, Mayor Curley said, all of New England will suffer unless there is immediate relief.

One of the first effects of the coal shortage here will be the closing of Boston schools. The Mayor said that the suffering at hospitals and among the poor will be unparalleled if the supply of coal does not increase immediately.

The situation is so dangerous that the Mayor has sent letters to the president of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company asking that they offer to the public an emergency reduction of rates.

The letter of Mayor Curley was as follows:

"The present strike of the coal miners and the railroad workers of America has brought Massachusetts and Boston face to face with conditions pregnant with peril and suffering, and which, unless met with courage and public spirit, must bring distress and disaster to this community.

"The necessary supplies of coal to tide Boston over the coming winter are not in sight; the available stocks of other fuels are neither sufficient nor practical to meet the emergency now almost upon us; and even were the coal strike settled tomorrow the hampered and disorganized conditions of railroad transportation contains no promise of relief calculated to satisfy the insistent demands of the crisis.

"The gravity of the occasion calls for prompt preparation and immediate action if the city is to be saved from what, without exaggeration, may be termed a threat to our civilization and a serious danger to the peace, prosperity and security of Boston.

"As Mayor of the city this alarming problem has given me many anxious hours; and I would be derelict in my duty if I did not seek a remedy for the impending ills and call upon the best brain and heart of Boston for aid and advice. The crisis I am convinced is a call to duty to your company, an occasion when profit will be made subordinate to human suffering and communal need.

"The industries of Boston must be supplied with fuel that work and wages may continue and that the conditions may not be made harder by unemployment and its consequent evils. The problem of household heating can be measurably met and solved by the adoption of a wise and humane policy on the part of the light, heat and power corporations of the city.

"I believe it is their duty to meet the situation as it should be met and that I can rely upon their public spirit now, as we did in war days. I want to suggest the advisability of an emergency reduction of prices in both heating and lighting, the rates to continue during the existence of emergency conditions; and I am satisfied that were this policy accompanied by a sane publicity campaign of advertising, setting forth the convenience and merit of your product, the increase in consumption would more than offset the reduction in rates.

"To companies such as yours whose industrial success is contingent upon the continued prosperity of the communities they market their products in, the preservation of measurable normal industrial and social conditions is imperative and vital.

"May I count upon the co-operation of you and your enterprise in this crisis? May I not ask that you call your directors and administrative officers together at the earliest possible moment to give this grave problem your serious consideration and humanitarian action."

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

The contract of the J. B. Hunter Company for the furnishing of finish hardware for the Public Latin School, Avenue Louis Pastuer, Back Bay, has been extended to October 1, 1922.

An extension of time has been granted the John Bowen Company for the erecting and completing of an elementary school in the Lewis District, Walnut avenue, Harrishof and Haley streets, Roxbury, from August 22, 1922, to September 12, 1922.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of contract made with R. Zoppo for building sewerage works in Woodstock avenue, between Bellvista road and Summit avenue, Brighton, from September 2, 1922, to September 30, 1922 (28 days). This extension is occasioned by difficulty in blasting rock encountered in the excavation.

An extension of time has been granted the J. C. Coleman & Sons Company for completing contract for furnishing and spreading loam at Franklin Park golf links, Boston Common, Public Garden, The Fens, Mount Hope Cemetery and four in-town cemeteries until September 1, 1922.

CHILDREN'S COMPETITIONS.

The first seven of the twenty-eight bathing suits offered by Mayor Curley for competition in a series of pushball contests on the Frog Pond were won upon Monday by youngsters forming a team called the Boston Blues. The score was 1 to 0, the Boston Red Sox being on the losing side.

There will be other contests for the remaining suits. Those on the first winning team were: Abraham Yanovitz, Warren Flynn, Max Oramberg, Franklin Hurd, Robert Martin, Frank Loud and James Balsama.

The game was refereed by George T. Connell, swimming instructor. The suits were offered as the result of the enthusiasm of Mayor Curley over the game he watched last week when he was a visitor upon the Common.

HEATING BUILDINGS BY OIL.

Mayor Curley believed all public buildings of the City of Boston, including schoolhouses, should be heated by petroleum by December 1, in order to be independent of the coal situation. The Mayor has signed a contract with the Petroleum Heat and Power Company, the lowest bidder, to install oil-heating apparatus in the City Hospital immediately, at a cost of $19,445.

The hospital will be ready to use petroleum instead of coal by November 1, it is believed, and for illumination as well. Similar apparatus is being installed in City Hall Annex and is on trial in five school buildings. The Mayor is opposed to any possible closing of schools in case of coal shortage.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon August 21 the Mayor approved a contract with Alfred Brenci for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, August 19, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Alfred Brenci, 298 Chelsea street, East Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon August 23 the Mayor approved the resurfacing, with asphalt macadam, of Gardner street, from Baker street to Morrison street, West Roxbury, with division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, August 17, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to resurface, with asphalt macadam, Gardner street, from Baker street to Morrison street, West Roxbury, with division force, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $6,000.

This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon August 24 the Mayor approved a contract with Louis Martiniello for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

Boston, August 22, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Louis Martiniello, 49 Dighton street, Brighton, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Schoolhouse Department.

Upon August 23 the Mayor approved a contract with the Reo Company for an automobile for the department use. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

Boston, August 22, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests your Honor's approval to the purchase, without advertising, of a Reo business coupe, catalogue equipment, at a cost of one thousand nine hundred (1,900) dollars, delivered.

This car is to be used by Commissioner Mahar, and also, as may be required, by other members of this Board and chiefs of divisions of this department.

The reason for requesting authority to contract without advertising for bids is that no advantage would result from advertising. The car to be purchased is the type deemed most suitable for the requirements of the department, and the price is the lowest that could be obtained.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas P. Glynn,
Chairman.

Supply Department.

Upon August 21 the Mayor approved a contract with the East Boston Coal Company for furnishing to the Calf Pasture pumping station about 400 tons of New River semibituminous coal. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, August 19, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising the same, to the East Boston Coal Company for furnishing to the Calf Pasture, Sewer Service, approximately 400 tons of New River semibituminous coal at a price of $10.50 per ton.

This office was in touch with the Fuel Administration regarding this offer and were advised to secure the coal. The following prices were secured on this requirement:

Stetson Coal Company, $10.50 net, plus labor.

Maritime Coaling Company, English coal, $11.50, alongside East Boston.

New England Coal and Coke Company, English coal, $12, alongside Charlestown.

East Boston Coal Company, New River, $10.50 net, delivered to Calf Pasture.

As the last semibituminous coal bought by the city was purchased at a price of $11 per ton, I would recomment that the permission asked for be granted.

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works for the following construction work:

A sanitary sewer of 18-inch by 15-inch concrete and a surface drain of 2-foot 6-inch by 2-foot 6-inch concrete and 12-inch earthen pipe in Queensberry street, between Public Alley No. 926 and a point 62 feet westerly, in the Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $1,171.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in River street, between Perkins avenue and a point 356 feet northeasterly, in the Hyde Park district, at an estimated cost of $2,848.

A sanitary sewer of 18-inch by 15-inch concrete and a surface drain of 18-inch by 24-inch, 18-inch by 18-inch, and 19-inch by 15-inch concrete in Public Alley No. 925, between Jersey street and Kilmarnock street, in the Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $10,379.

A sanitary sewer of concrete, 18-inch by 15-inch, and a surface drain of concrete, 2-foot 6-inch by 2-foot 6-inch, in Public Alley No. 926, between Queensberry street and Kilmarnock street, and a sanitary sewer of concrete, 18-inch by 15-inch, and a surface drain of 2-foot 6-inch by 2-foot 6-inch concrete and 12-inch earthen pipe in Queensberry street, between Public Alley No. 926 and a point 62 feet westerly, in the Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $14,883.

A surface drain of 10-inch and 12-inch earthen pipe, conductor drains and two catch-basins in Pasadena road, between Columbia road and Normandy street, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $2,200.

A surface drain of 15-inch and 20-inch earthen pipe in Edison green, south, between Pond street and a point 412 feet easterly, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $3,000.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe, surface drain of 10-inch and 15-inch earthen pipe and seven catch-basins in Breck avenue, between Langley road and Brayton road, in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $5,300.

Five catch-basins; remodel fifteen catch-basins, 10-inch cast-iron pipe drains to be built in sea wall and 50 feet of minor drain in Dorchester avenue, between Summer street and Fort Point channel, in the city proper district, at an estimated cost of $7,087.

VETERANS ARE MONEY SAVERS.

Mayor Curley reports a tremendous saving over the contract cost, in the construction of the East Boston Tunnel terminal at Maverick square, as a result of the employment of war veterans as laborers.

The work is about 35 per cent completed and on this basis not only is a record being made for speed and efficiency, but it is estimated that approximately $100,000 has been saved over the contract cost of the same work.

Still another saving comes as a result of the increased employment of veterans who if out of work would receive soldiers' relief payments. The amount spent by the city in this way, as a result of the work in East Boston, has dropped from an average of $139,000 a month to less than $100,000. From these figures the officials estimate that the total saving on the entire job will be not less than $660,000.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

The C. & R. Construction Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for laying high pressure fire pipes, in Pearl street, between Milk and Franklin streets, city proper. Items ordered: Cut out with acetylyne torch, and remove 400 linear feet old steam heat pipes; this order includes all oxygen and carbic used upon the entire work—the estimated cost of extra work being $300.

The C. & R. Construction Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for laying high service water pipes in South street, High street, Oliver street, Milk street and McKinley square, city proper. Items ordered: Regulate 4-inch fire pipe to 161 South street; cut out and relocate 12-inch water pipe in Beach street, at South street; cut out and relocate 12-inch water pipes at junction of Beach and South streets, remove one length of 24-inch pipe—the estimated cost of extra work being $250.

The Holbrook Contracting Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for paving Tilton street, from Fellows street northwesterly, Brighton. Items ordered: Construct concrete retaining walls to support the artificial stone sidewalks where directed. Price to be paid for each cubic yard of concrete retaining wall constructed, the sum of $14—the estimated cost of extra work being $75.

L. DeSisto & Co. have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for laying and relaying water pipes in Ogden street and Wilmington avenue, Dorchester; Ashfield street, Berry street, Conway street, Dunbar street, Fairview street, Maple street and Orange street. Items ordered: Relocate house drain, Conway street; refit service, Ashfield street, on account of main being shallow and out of alignment; extra fittings to set post hydrant on Primrose street and reconnect services and repair gate box on Walter street—the estimated cost of extra work being $60.

MUNICIPAL REPORTS RECEIVED.

The following reports have been lately received by the Statistics Department, Room 73, City Hall, and placed on file for the convenience of the public and departmental heads:

Liverpool, Eng.: Proceedings of the Council, 1920–21. Holyoke, Mass.: Holyoke City Documents, 1921. Grand Rapids, Mich.: Manual of the City Commissioner. San Francisco, Cal.: City Auditor's Annual Report of Financial Transactions. Baltimore, Md.: Proceedings of City Council, 1920–21. Middlesex County, Mass.: Treasurer's Report, 1919.

EXTENSION OF PIPE CONTRACT.

The Mayor has granted permission for an order to the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company for extra work under their contract of March 25, 1922, for furnishing cast-iron water pipe and special castings to the Water Service, in order to pay the difference between the cost of freight by rail and freight by water. The contract calls for delivery by water, but the division engineer of the Water Service is in immediate need of this 36-inch pipe and cannot wait for delivery by water.

WASHINGTON FIRE CHIEF HERE.

Battalion Chief Thomas O'Connor of the Washington, D. C., fire department, who was assigned to study the methods employed by the Boston department in fire fighting, witnessed an exhibition drill at fire headquarters on Bristol street upon the 24th instant. Thirteen men, selected from various stations throughout the city, took part in the exhibition, and their work was highly praised by Chief O'Connor. The drill was started by a demonstration of ladder erection, and the handling of hose lines. This was followed by wall scaling by means of a chain of Pompier ladders, descents by a rope from high altitudes, the rescue of persons overcome by smoke, and jumping into the life net.

Chief O'Connor said that he had been told by an engineer of the National Board of Underwriters, before coming here, that the Boston Fire Department was the best drilled and disciplined in the country. "I have not been misinformed," he said. "The men of the Fire Department here in Boston are the best I have ever seen in this respect." It was really on the suggestion of this engineer that Chief O'Connor was delegated to come to Boston, as two others had previously been sent to New York for the same purpose.

The men were in charge of Lieut. Daniel W. Baker, assigned to headquarters as drillmaster, and the drill was under the supervision of First Deputy Chief Daniel A. Sennott, acting chief of the department. Starting September 1, it is planned to hold similar drills both in the forenoon and afternoon in order that every man in the department may become thoroughly familiar with duties of this nature.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor has approved, with the indorsement of the Corporation Counsel, the following claim:

Edward A. Thomas, petitioner, in the amount of $1, for damages on account of the laying out of Calendonian avenue, West Roxbury, with the understanding that whenever a betterment assessment is made for the laying out of said avenue that the same is to be assumed by the city; and that the sewer assessment, on account of the sewer placed in said avenue, shall be abated in full.

REJECTION OF CLAIMS.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, the Corporation Counsel, states the Law Department has disapproved eleven claims against the city; in seven of which no amounts were specified, and the other four aggregated $410.96, and are classified as follows:

Against the Collecting Department, one, amounting to $352.41; against the Police Department, two, in which no amounts were specified; against the Public Works Department, eight, in five of which no amounts were specified, and the other three amounted to $58.55.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liability on the part of the city.

POLE LOCATIONS GRANTED.

The Mayor has approved the following petitions for poles received from the Board of Street Commissioners:

Edison Company, E street, Ward 11, erect two poles.

Edison Company, Poplar street, Ward 23, erect two poles.

MUNICIPAL EXAMINATIONS.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commission announce examinations for the following desirable positions:

BUILDING INSPECTOR (CONSTRUCTION ENGINEER), BOSTON BUILDING DEPARTMENT, SEPTEMBER 6, 1922.

The salary is $2,400 a year. Applicants should possess all of the qualifications as given above for building inspector and in addition should be competent to design and check up designs of steel frame, concrete and reinforced concrete construction and to make calculations for stresses, strains, loads, etc. It is desirable that they have had some office experience along these lines.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 9; report, 2; practical questions on carpentry, brick and stone masonry and building materials; concrete; steel and reinforced concrete work in the construction of buildings; foundations; designing concrete, reinforced concrete, steel frame and masonry buildings and structures; making necessary computations for strains, loads, stresses, etc., 9; total, 20. The special questions will include arithmetic. Special importance will attach to the questions on steel, concrete, reinforced concrete, etc.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience and in the practical questions.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

According to chapter 550 of the Acts of 1907, no person shall be appointed as inspector of construction in the Building Department of Boston who has not had at least five years' experience as a builder, civil engineer or architect, or as a superintendent or foreman, or as a competent mechanic in charge of construction.

POULTRY MAN AND OFFICER, BOSTON INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT, HOUSE OF CORRECTION, DEER ISLAND, SEPTEMBER 8, 1922.

The salary is $1,200 per year. The duties of this position are to raise and care for about 2,000 chickens. The chickens are raised in brooders from about the first of February. Applicants must also be able to construct the hen houses and instruct in cement work. They should have a general knowledge of farm work so that they will be able to assist the farmer.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 6; practical questions, 4; total, 10.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in section 23 of chapter 31 of the General Laws.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

MUNICIPAL ENTERTAINMENTS FOR THOUSANDS.

Free open air "Boston Park Shows" have been conducted several nights a week since July 10, and are to be continued until early September by the Park Department. The direction and arrangements is in charge of the Service Unit organization, which developed this method of combining constructive recreation with the presentation of information in a form acceptable to the audiences.

The schedule of dates and places for the month of August was as follows:

Tuesday evening, August 1, Wilson Park, Brighton.
Wednesday, August 2, W. E. Carter Playground, Columbus avenue.
Thursday, August 3, Columbus Park, Strandway South Boston.
Tuesday, August 8, Cottage Street Playground, East Boston.
Wednesday, August 9, Vincent Cutillo Playground, North End.
Thursday, August 10, Neponset Payground.
Friday, August 11, McConnell Park, Savin Hill.
Monday, August 14, Carolina Avenue Playground, Jamaica Plain.
Wednesday, August 16, Washington Street Payground, Roslindale.
Thursday, August 17, Hyde Park Municipal Building Grounds.
Monday, August 21, Charlesbank, Men's Gymnasium.
Tuesday, August 22, Mission Hill Playground, Roxbury.
Wednesday, August 23, Rutherford Avenue Playground, Charlestown.
Thursday, August 24, Washington Park, Roxbury.
Monday, August 28, Rogers Park, Brighton.
Tuesday, August 29, Madison Square, South End.
Wednesday, August 30, Ashmont Playground.
Thursday, August 31, North End Park.

From July 10 to August 24, twenty-three "Park Shows" were conducted in various sections of the city, with an average attendance of 2,500 to 3,000 people, and a total attendance of approximately 60,000, of which 40,000 were adults and 20,000 children.

The methods developed by the committee which has carried on the Service Unit activities, under the direction of E. B. Mero, will form the basis for the plan being perfected for a permanent "Boston Conservation Bureau" for which Mayor Curley is to present an ordinance to the City Council, as stated in the City Record of August 12.

The purpose of each of the "Park Show" programs is to convey information to men, women and children of the city, which may inspire them to safeguard their personal and neighborhood health, and give attention to carefulness which will decrease the number of street and other accidents. The programs are so arranged, however, that there is enjoyment and even honest fun mixed in with the educational features. Every program is a combination of motion pictures, singing by the audience, and "silent talks" which convey solid information.

A new feature this year, introduced through the co-operation of the Boston Police Department and the Massachusetts Safety Council, is the presence of a traffic officer to explain the signals used to regulate automobiles and pedestrian traffic at busy street corners, and especially the advantage to all concerned if the signals are intelligently obeyed.

A brief description of one of the "Park Shows," given at Mission Hill Playground the evening of Tuesday, August 22, will given an idea of their character.

First, a cornetist sounded assembly at quarter past eight. Then one of the Police Department's force of traffic officers explained the various signals used to regulate the traffic for the convenience and safety of both automobilists and men, women and children on foot.

By means of announcement slides on the screen, the audience was informed that this program was arranged to help in the process of making "Our City of Boston Safer, Cleaner, Healthier, Happier."

The singing of "America" by the audience with a song leader and cornetist, was followed by an animated cartoon, and then what the program styles a "silent talk" on the subject "Boston in History Points to the Future" in which was shown pictures of various historical incidents in this community, coupled with statements tying them up to the Boston of the present.

Motion pictures showed methods of life saving in the water. Another reel dealt with safety and street accident prevention. A parody song by the audience, "Keep Boston Home Fires Burning," was rendered by the men, women and children of the audience, followed by "Dear Old Boston," dedicated to Mayor Curley. Then came more information enlivened by pictures on the screen asking people to put waste paper in receptacles and not leave litter in "our parks." Other information from the Public Library was intended to inspire people to make proper use of the books and other resources of that municipal institution. The City's Health Department announced its readiness to give information relative to the Schick test for diphtheria prevention.

Motion pictures showed events of the official City of Boston observance of Independence Day last Fourth of July. The program came to conclusion with the singing of three old time familiar songs and a patriotic finale which included the singing of "Star-Spangled Banner," then "Taps" by the bugler and "Good Night."

HEALTH UNIT PLANS.

At a meeting of the trustees of the George R. White Fund, held upon 22d instant, plans for the construction of the first health unit provided under the will were discussed.

A site was selected now occupied by Police Station 8, Battery street, North End.

An architect will confer with Dr. Francis X. Mahoney of the Health Department and John Mahony of the Building Department to plan a tour of inspection of modern health centers in the United States, including the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore and the Rockefeller Institute.

Mayor Curley states that about $175,000 is available for the erection and equipment of the new building. The next center erected will probably be in East Boston, funds for which will be available next year.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 100.

The commanding officer of Division 15 has called to my attention a most commendable piece of police work on the part of Patrolman John Lynch of that division.

As Patrolman Lynch was patrolling his route on Washington street, Charlestown, at about 8.30 a. m. on the morning of August 9, he saw a woman running toward a house which was on fire. She called to him that her children were locked in the house and Patrolman Lynch immediately broke in the window and entered the house, which was in flames, and found a boy lying unconscious on the floor, whom he handed through the window to a citizen. He then attempted to go up the stairs but was forced back by a great volume of smoke, so left the building and took the boy to the Relief Hospital in a passing automobile.

I am very much pleased with this excellent work on the part of Patrolman Lynch and warmly commend him for the courage and presence of mind which enabled him to save the child from death in the burning building.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 105.

Patrolman Michael J. Brennick of Division 6 having arrived at the age of sixty-eight and ten twelfths years and having performed faithful service in the Police Department for forty and ten twelfth years, it is hereby Ordered, His Honor the Mayor having approved the same, that the said Patrolman Michael J. Brennick be retired from active service and that his name be placed upon the department pension roll with pay at the rate of nine hundred (900) dollars per annum, said sum being one half of the amount of compensation received by him in the office from which he is retired; to take effect Monday, August 21, 1922, at 5.45 o'clock p. m.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

PRAISE FOR PAVING WORK.

Mayor Curley received a communication from Robert L. Hall, commending the new paving work in Boylston street upon the 23d instant.

The letter was as follows:

Otto J. Piehler, Inc.,
360 Boylston Street, Boston,
August 22, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Mr. Mayor,—When work is well and expeditiously done it is always a pleasure to recognize it. The manner in which the repaving of that section of Boylston street, between Arlington and Berkeley, recently finished was done deserves the highest commendation and it is a pleasure for me to assure you of the gratitude of the people of the district.

Robert L. Hall.

PUBLIC FRUIT MARKETS.

The fruit crop this year gives promise of being the greatest that has been produced in the history of Massachusetts, and, as an indication of the quantity available and the difficulty of disposing of the same, the Superintendent of Markets has found it advisable to provide locations for twenty-five truck loads, consisting largely of peaches, apples and vegetables, at public markets, opening during the past week and continuing the same as listed:

Thursday, August 24, at Thomas Park, South Boston, from 6 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Friday, August 25, at Hancock and Bowdoin streets, opposite city yard, Dorchester, from 6 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Saturday, August 26, at Monument square, Charlestown, from 6 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Tuesday, August 29, at Columbus avenue, Roxbury Crossing, from 6 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Wednesday, August 30, at Central square, East Boston, from 6 a. m. to 1 p. m.

The above schedule will be carried out until further notice.

THE COAL SITUATION.

Mayor Curley received the following communication from George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to President Harding, White House, Washington, D. C., relative to the New England coal situation, upon the 23d instant:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.:
August 22, 1922.

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—The President has received your letter of August 17, and is bringing it to the attention of Secretary Hoover, whom he has asked to take charge of a temporary commission having to do with the distribution of coal.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE B. CHRISTIAN, JR.,
Secretary to the President.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

Mayor Curley, immediately upon the receipt of Secretary Christian's letter, indited the following telegram to Hon. Herbert Clark Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, Washington, D. C.:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
August 23, 1922.

DEAR MR. SECRETARY,—Secretary Christian, White House, advises that my letter to President Harding relative to the New England coal situation has been referred for your consideration. I desire to call your particular attention to the fact that no section of America will suffer more greatly from a coal shortage than New England. The people in this part of the United States are wholly unfamiliar with the use of bituminous coal. A real service can be rendered New England through the issue of an order by the National Fuel Administrator, Mr. Henry D. Spencer, that shipments of anthracite coal, west of the Mississippi, shall be suspended after March 1, 1923. Sincerely trust you will find it possible to issue this order at once.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MUNICIPAL TENNIS.

Winners of the elimination contests for tennis honors among the children of the city, inaugurated by Mayor Curley to stimulate athletics among the youth of the city, and conducted under the auspices of the Park Department, have reached the finals.

There were 170 entrants and those who survived and will play in the finals today are:

Senior Boys' Singles.—Holmes Perkins vs. Harold Driscoll.

Senior Boys' Doubles—Gerard Lake and Holmes Perkins vs. Stanley and Harold Driscoll.

Senior Girls' Singles—Wilma Batchelder vs. Hannah Weisman.

Senior Girls' Doubles—Hannah Weisman and Ruth Shain vs. Virginia Heald and Martha Ricker.

Senior Mixed Doubles—J. Levy and Ruth Shain vs. Esther Sulkin and Sam Legool.

Junior Boys' Doubles—C. Rosenfeld and H. Brown vs. Luce and Chase.

Junior Girls' Doubles—Pauline Berkowitz and Ann Rascol vs. Virginia Heald and Martha Ricker.

In addition to this there will be a match between the Savin Hill and Franklin Field Tennis Clubs, there being a four-man match in both doubles and singles scheduled.

PUBLIC MARKETS ASSURED.

Mayor Curley is in receipt of the following letter from Superintendent of Markets P. H. Graham, relative to the establishment of public markets, and which he has formally approved:

City of Boston,
Market Department,
August 21, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I most respectfully desire your permission to place out public markets at the following places:

Tuesday, August 22, Columbus avenue, Roxbury Crossing.
Wednesday, August 23, Central square, East Boston.
Thursday, August 24, Thomas park, South Boston.
Friday, August 25, Hancock and Bowdoin streets, opposite city yard.
Saturday, August 26, Monument square, Charlestown.

The Monday market at Jamaica Plain will be discontinued as it is impossible to get more than one or two farmers to go there, and as there is no demand for produce on Mondays, people having bought on Saturdays; it will be discontinued until further notice.

All farmers will be obliged to receive permits from the Superintendent of Markets' office on or before the above dates.

All scales and measures will have to be inspected and sealed at the Sealer of Weights and Measures' office at City Hall.

Respectfully yours,

Patrick H. Graham.
Superintendent of Markets.

BUILDING CLAIM SETTLED.

Mayor Curley has approved the order of the City Council in accepting the act of the Legislature which provides that the city may settle the claim of the Atlas Construction Company, in connection with the contract made by that company with the City of Boston in 1907, for the construction of a concrete wall on Deer Island, thus marking the boundary between land of the city and that of the Government. The amount of the claim is $15,630.18.

EXTENSION OF CEMENT CONTRACT.

The Mayor has granted permission to purchase an additional 5,000 barrels, more or less, of Portland cement, under contract with J. Massirman & Co., dated April 29, 1922, the cement to be used by the Transit Department. The price of this cement, $2.79 per barrel, is considerably lower than the present market price and Mr. Massirman assures early delivery.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT UPON PENSION BILL.

In signing the pension bill, providing annuities for employees of the City of Boston and County of Suffolk, Mayor Curley presented the following statement upon the 22d instant:

"In approving chapter 521 of the Acts of 1922, entitled 'An Act providing retirement allowances based on annuity and pension contributions for employees of the City of Boston or of the County of Suffolk,' I desire to say that a favorable decision by me was arrived at after a most careful perusal of all data received, both favorable and unfavorable to the measure in question.

"The two most serious objections to the measure were first, the injustice to the general public, a large portion of whom do not enjoy the continuity of employment guaranteed by civil service for city employees, yet who have to bear the burden of maintaining a pension system, and second, that the bill fails to provide either an adequate minimum or an equitable maximum.

"The major or first objection, however, is offset by the knowledge that the adoption of the bill extending, as it does, a pension status to some 8,500 city employees who, under present conditions, are discriminated against and enjoy no protection, and the further fact that, in the event of federal or state action upon the question of a general old age pension, it is a more simple process to repeal one existing law rather than a number of pension laws.

"The second objection, in view of the fact that the provisions of the bill do not become operative until February, 1923, is simple of correction in that an amendment by the Legislature at the coming session is possible which will provide a minimum of $500, which sum would be $140 in excess of that which is at present paid laborers in the employ of the city, and a maximum of $1,500, which is equitable in consideration of the fact that the individual receiving a salary as an educator in our public schools or as head of an important department would unquestionably in private employment be paid many times more for his service than he receives from the city."

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Proposals for Sewerage Works in Centre Street, Between Boylston Street and Roseway, and in Roseway, Between Centre Street and End of Roseway, About 265 Feet Southeasterly, West Roxbury.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States, for sewerage works in Centre street, between Boylston street and Roseway, and in Roseway, between Centre street and end of Roseway, about 265 feet southeasterly, West Roxbury. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of seven hundred (700) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Plans and proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sewerage Works in Centre Street, etc.," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Friday, September 8, 1922, with a certified check for three hundred (300) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.
Boston, August 22, 1922. (Aug. 26.)

ADDRESS DELIVERED BY HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, MAYOR OF BOSTON, AT THE BANQUET OF THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF PRINTING HOUSE CRAFTSMEN, COPLEY=PLAZA HOTEL, MONDAY EVENING, AUGUST 28, 1922.

It is an exceeding pleasure to present the key of the City of Boston which opens the door of hospitality to the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen, who in their Graphic Arts Exposition honor the city where was born America's greatest printer, Benjamin Franklin. It is a genuine pleasure for me as Mayor of Boston to instruct the Park Department of Boston to plant a tree on the Oliver Wendell Holmes mall, Boston Common, bearing the name of the president of your splendid organization.

It is given to few men to do many things in an exceptional manner, and no man in the history of our Commonwealth has been so blessed by Divine Providence as Ben Franklin, who as father of the art of printing in America, philosopher, statesman and patriot, gave to America a contribution in all four fields of achievement in a degree excelled by no American.

It is gratifying to know that the republic for which he labored and stood ever ready to make the supreme sacrifice largely through his service became a reality. He was more human than most great men, and the hardship and suffering endured by him instead of embittering made more generous his nature.

Boston owes more than any other city in America to his generosity and foresight, and perhaps the most frequented institution in our city is that which bears his honored name, the Franklin Institute, where the youth of our city are afforded opportunity to develop skill in mechanical lines. Through the instrumentality of the Franklin Institute, self-reliance, the most necessary element in a citizen, is fostered.

The Franklin Institute is as typically an American institution as was Franklin himself, since its doors are open to all men, without regard to race, creed or color. From its portals there goes forth annually a group of men equipped through the courses of instruction to contribute to the material prosperity of the nation and to proclaim the wisdom and generosity of him who made the institution possible, Benjamin Franklin. France remembered him as an able pleader for human liberty, England as a brilliant defender of American liberty. America loves him for the leadership and inspiration which his genius gave both in the hour of peace and in the hour of war.

A lover of liberty, whose memory we in Massachusetts revere, once said, "A nation's greatness lies in men, not acres. One master mind is worth more than a million hands."

All honor, then, to the master mind through whose genius in part American liberty, American progress, American inspiration and American happiness was so greatly enriched, the Boston printer, Benjamin Franklin.

* Contract awarded. † All bids rejected.

Supply Department.

Upon August 29 the Mayor approved a contract with the Republic Truck Sales Corporation for furnishing one two-ton truck to the Water Service, Public Works Department. Bids for the supply, opened August 21, were as follows:

The White Company.—$3,300, $3,425; delivery in three weeks; pneumatic tires on $3,425 truck.

Packard Motor Car Company.—$3,387; delivery in three to five days; standard make, solid tires.

International Harvester Company.—$3,150, No. 41; pneumatic truck cord tires, f. o. b. Boston.

Republic Truck Sales Corporation.—$2,500; delivery in five days; pneumatic tires in front.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon August 26 the Mayor approved a contract with James W. O'Brien for the building of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, August 25, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to James W. O'Brien, 39 Court street, Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon August 29 the Mayor approved a contract with B. F. Hanrahan for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, August 28, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to B. F. Hanrahan, 190 Paris street, East Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Works Department (Sewer Service).

Upon August 25 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston & Albany Railroad for supporting the tracks at Salt Creek brook, Back Bay. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, August 24, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Your permission is requested to award a contract, without advertising, to the Boston & Albany Railroad, for supporting the tracks beneath which the city is at present replacing an old section of Salt Creek brook, in the location west of Braves Field. This work is rather extensive in character, and, as agreed upon by the City Law Department and this department, will cost $5,800, exclusive of the items for flagging, in order that the proper speed may be maintained by the many trains which pass over the tracks at this point.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Schoolhouse Department.

Upon August 29 the Mayor approved a contract with the Petroleum Heat and Power Company for furnishing and installing oil burning apparatus in the Dorchester High School. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

Boston, August 25, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30 of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of a contract, without advertising, to the Petroleum Heat and Power Company for furnishing and installing complete oil-burning apparatus in the Dorchester High School, in the sum of six thousand seven hundred and forty (6,740) dollars.

The reasons for making this request are as already set forth in our letter to you of the 27th of June relative to a similar contract for the Roxbury High School. One of the members of this Board has spent much time in investigating oil-burning plants in and around Boston, and has seen several of the 200 installations made in this city by the above-named company, which are operating very satisfactorily in various types of heating and power plants, firing various kinds of boilers, carrying pressures from one to fifty pounds. Investigation has also been made of oil-burning apparatus installed by this company in several schools in Pawtucket, which were found to be operating successfully and economically. The Board feels that while oil burning is beyond the experimental stage, still it is an experiment as far as this Board is concerned, and the Board is therefore desirous of installing in this building apparatus which has been installed and successfully operated in many plants in this section. The Board has received figures from four other concerns for installing the tank in connection with the apparatus in the school named, but the figure given by the Petroleum Heat & Power Company is lower than the other figures submitted.

Since no advantage would be gained for the city by publicly advertising this work, the Board, as above stated, requests your approval of its vote awarding the contract to the Petroleum Heat and Power Company.

Respectfully yours,
Thomas P. Glynn,
Chairman.

Supply Department.

Upon August 28 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston Buick Company for one automobile for the service of the Public Works Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, August 22, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is requested to award a contract to the Boston Buick Company for furnishing one 6-cylinder Buick runabout to the Water Service, Public Works Department. As this best meets the needs of their department and as there will be no advantage in advertising the same, I trust the permission asked for will be granted, the cost of the above to be $1,285.

Respectfully yours,
Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

Schoolhouse Department.

An addition, in the amount of $147.92 on contract with Walter Curley for work at the John A. Andrew School. For, (1) Reinforcing the present stair construction against wall to take new framing as ordered: 100 feet of hard pine at 15 cents, $15; 4 days' labor at $10, $40; plastering pilaster, $9; painting, $3—$67. (2) Divide and glaze the present upper wood panels of vestibule doors as ordered: 30 feet of pine at $0.20, $6; 30 feet of molding (custom made) at 30 cents, $9; 8 lights of glass at 60 cents, 15 by 30, $4.80; 4 pounds of putty at 10 cents, $0.40; 4 days' labor at $10, $40; painting and graining, $20; 12 pounds of nails at 6 cents, $0.72—$80.92. Total, $147.92. Original contract, $1,435; total addition, $147.92; contract as standing, $1,582.92.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time has been granted for the completion of the contract made with L. DeSisto & Co. for laying and relaying water pipes in Ogden street and Wilmington avenue, Dorchester; Ashfield street, Berry street, Conway street, Dunbar street, Fairview street, Maple street, Orange street, Primrose street, South street, Walter street, Weld street, Westover street and Willow street, West Roxbury, from August 12 to August 22, 1922. This request for extension is asked as the contractor was delayed owing to the location of various underground structures.

The Warren Brothers Company have been directed to lay the bitulithic pavement against three rows of granite blocks of present gutter, instead of against 2-inch wooden forms, under contract for bitulithic pavement on Perkins street, Olmsted park, and Columbia road, Dorchester. There will be no change in the contract price for this work.

Contract price (estimated), $36,018; no additions or deductions; contract as standing (estimated), $36,018.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with the Holbrook Construction Company, 101 Pleasant street, Dorchester, for laying bitulithic and recut granite block pavement in Marie street, from Mt. Ida road to Percival street; and Tilton street, from Fellows street northwesterly, Dorchester, from September 1, 1922, to October 15, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that the work has been delayed on account of inclement weather.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with V. Grande for laying artificial stone sidewalks in Mt. Pleasant avenue, south side, from Blue Hill avenue to Fairland street, Roxbury, from September 1, 1922, to September 21, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that the bids were opened August 1 but the contract was not signed until August 21, 1922.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with Michael H. Loonie, for removing coal bins, runway and incinerator; constructing new door and window; and cutting opening in wall at the coal house, Calf Pasture pumping station, Dorchester, from July 15, 1922, to October 13, 1922, ninety days. This extension is requested for the reason that the contractor has been requested to delay the placing of door and window frames pending the installation of three new boilers by the Oil City Boiler Works.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works for the following construction work:

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Dana avenue, between Washington street and a point 148 feet southeasterly, in the Hyde Park district, at an estimated cost of $1,200.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe, a surface drain of 10-inch earthen pipe and two catch-basins in Holton street, between Litchfield street and Antwerp street in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $1,750.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Dana avenue, between Washington street and a point 148 feet southeasterly, in the Hyde Park district, at an estimated cost of $1,200.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Street Commissioners determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the laying out and construction of an extension of Holton street, Brighton, as a highway, over and including a way known as Elba street to Litchfield street, and awards no damages therefor.

PUBLIC RECREATION IN BOSTON.

Number of large parks, 24; separate playgrounds, 43, with total of 324 acres, also 13 playgrounds in parks, with area of 155 acres; small parks and squares, 75; total area, 2,685.68 acres. Cost of Main Park System, i. e., 1,386 acres (incl. GAS AS FUEL.

Mayor Curley received the following letter from President Barnum of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company upon the 31st instant:

Boston, August 30, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—Your letter dated August 23 was received at this office Saturday, August 26, and would have been answered before this had I not been out of town. Your communication has been given careful and serious consideration. The officers and directors of this company are in entire sympathy with you in your desire to obtain relief for the people of Boston in the present emergency and will do everything possible to furnish gas as a fuel.

We have been aware for some time past of the emergency that would probably arise this fall and winter in regard to fuel. Extra apparatus and emergency plants have been gotten ready in order to produce the maximum of gas. Arrangements for supplying them with fuel have been made and facilities for taking care of a large extra demand have been provided. We have made arrangements whereby we are reasonably well assured of raw materials. Our capacities in regard to generating, purifying, storing and distributing will undoubtedly be taxed to the limit, but everything that we can think of that will be necessary to meet the demand for gas this fall and winter has been done. We have a large force of trained men ready to install and take care of appliances, and we have provided an extra stock of heaters and cooking stoves which we think will be required.

These preparations have cost a considerable amount of money. The increased price of fuel will be an added expense. The operation of emergency plants and apparatus will also undoubtedly increase our costs. These items, together with the present rate of wages, make it impossible for us at this time to decrease the price of gas.

Sincerely yours,

D. D. Barnum, Preeidsnt.

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Special Exhibit on Graphic Arts.

During the week of the Graphic Arts Exposition, the Boston Public Library placed on view in the Exhibition Room of the Central Library, Copley square, a selection from its own books and prints, illustrating the rise and progress of the graphic arts. The exhibit comprised:

Examples of early printing in originals and fac-simile reproduction, both block books and incunabula.

Books and prints showing examples of earlier and later developments in art of illustration: Wood engraving, line engraving, mezzotint, aquatint, etching and lithography; engraving by photomechanical processes; color printing, early and modern, chromolithography and collotype.

A number of the rarer or privately printed works on the history of printing and engraving.

A selection from the library's rich collection of works issued from famous presses: Aldus, Elzivir, Plantin, Bodoni, Baskerville and others of the older publishers, as well as the modern art printers; the presses of Kelmcott, Ashendene, Cuala, Eragny, Essex House, Doves, Merrymount, Riccardi and Vale.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 62.

I. Boston Firemen's Relief Fund.

(Election of Members of the Corporation.)

The annual election of the Boston Firemen's Relief Fund will be held in accordance with Sections 3 and 4 of Article 5 of the by-laws on Monday, September 11, 1922.

The attention of the officers and members of the department is called to the provisions of Article 5 of the by-laws of the corporation.

II. Annual Drill and Inspection.

The annual drill and inspection of the various companies of the department commenced Friday, September 1, 1922, at the headquarters yard, Bristol street.

The drills will start with the First Division and continue with the Second and Third Divisions.

There will be two drills daily, namely, at 10.30 a. m. and 3.30 p. m.

Deputy chiefs will attend the drilling of the companies of their respective divisions and will respond to fires from the headquarters yard.

The evolutions will be similar to those of last year. The company commanders will give the commands for each evolution.

Deputy chiefs will designate the companies to report at the headquarters yard, without apparatus, and will arrange to cover the absent companies by details from their divisions.

A department automobile will be provided to convey members to and from the headquarters yard.

By order of the Fire Commissioner.

Daniel F. Sennott,
Acting Chief of Department.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

The United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for furnishing and delivering cast-iron water pipes and special castings. Items ordered: Ship twenty-nine 36-inch pipe by rail, City of Boston to pay difference between freight by rail and freight by water on which contract was based—the estimated cost of extra work being $300.

John T. Shea, Jr. has been directed to omit the following work under contract for paving Berkeley street, from Providence street, across Columbus avenue, city proper. Items ordered: Omit the construction of artificial stone sidewalks on East side of Berkeley street, between St. James avenue and Providence street, city proper—the estimated cost of omitted work being $220.

NO FORFEITURE OF CONTRACT.

The following ruling was passed at a meeting of the Commissioners of the Transit Department held August 28:

"Voted, that the forfeiture which the department was authorized to make to date on Contract 740 with A. V. Day & Co. for wall finish, Park Street Station, Cambridge connection, for nonperformance of the contract within the time stated in said contract, namely, twenty working days after the award of said contract, be not exacted."

PLUMBING PERMITS ISSUED AUGUST 24 TO AUGUST 30.

MAYOR REBUKES SECRETARY HOOVER.

Mayor Curley addressed the following communication to Hon. Herbert Clark Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, Washington, D. C., upon the 29th instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
August 29, 1922.

Hon. Herbert Clark Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, Washington, D. C.:

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of August 26, and regret exceedingly that your answer to my telegram was written without an attempt on your part to fully digest the contents.

I trust you will find opportunity from your duties to examine your files and under date of August 23 reread the telegram forwarded you by me.

The communication submitted by me on August 23 was sent as a result of statement contained in letter of George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to the President, and was sufficiently lucid, provided it had been read.

Trusting that you may forward, at the earliest opportunity, a reply that may be understandable, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

The letter of Secretary Hoover was as follows:

Department of Commerce,
Office of the Secretary,
Washington, August 26, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Mr. Curley,—I am in receipt of your telegram, and I also have for attention your letter of August 17, addressed to the President, both suggesting the immediate issuance of an order suspending shipments of anthracite west of the Mississippi.

Legislation before Congress at the present time gives the necessary authority for the creation of fuel distribution agents, and the matter you present can properly be taken up with the proposed fuel administrator, if Congress authorizes his appointment.

As you are of course aware nothing would be accomplished by the issuance of such an order at this time in any event, because there is no anthracite coal to be distributed, and until the anthracite mines are reopened, nothing can be done for its distribution.

Yours faithfully,
Herbert C. Hoover.

CIRCULAR FROM THE MAYOR.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
August 28, 1922.

To the Heads of Departments:

You are hereby authorized to grant leave of absence, without loss of pay, to all employees of the city who are delegates to the American Legion Convention, to be held in New Bedford, Mass., August 30, 31 and September 1 and 2, 1922.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

REMOVAL OF GARBAGE.

The following regulations for the removing or transporting of garbage, offal or other offensive substances through the streets of Boston were approved by his Honor the Mayor upon August 31:

Pursuant to the provisions of chapter 358, Acts of 1921 (chapter 110, section 31-A, General Laws), it is hereby Ordered, That any person desiring to remove or transport garbage, offal or other offensive substances through the streets of Boston shall first register with the Health Department of the City of Boston, pay a fee of $2, and comply with the following rules and regulations relative thereto:

1. Any person so registered for the removing or transporting of garbage, offal or other offensive substances through the streets of the City of Boston shall use vehicles in good repair, with water-tight and tightly covered receptacles. The vehicles and receptacles used shall be kept in cleanly condition, satisfactory to the Health Department; and all such receptacles shall be kept covered except at such time as the garbage, offal or other offensive substances are being placed therein or removed therefrom.

2. Every person removing garbage offal or other offensive substances shall designate to the Health Department the places (street and number) from which garbage is collected or is to be collected.

3. Collections shall be made before 8 a. m. daily, except Sundays and holidays, from all hotels, restaurants, stores and markets.

4. No person shall collect, remove, or transport garbage, offal or other offensive substances in that part of the city proper lying north and east of Massachusetts avenue from premises other than specified in paragraph 3, except on Mondays and Thursdays, and only provided said collection, removal or transporting of garbage, offal or other offensive substances is made or done before eight o'clock in the morning.

5. Any person removing garbage, offal or other offensive substances in parts of the city other than designated in paragraph 4 shall so remove garbage, offal or other offensive substances at least twice in every week, and may so remove garbage, offal or other offensive substances on any day of the week, except Sundays, and at any hour of the day.

6. Any person collecting, removing, or transporting garbage, offal or other offensive substances from any place or building shall collect and remove all the garbage, offal or other offensive substances and shall not select or separate said garbage or offal, but shall remove any and all the substances desired to be removed or collected by the person or householder which has been deposited in said person's or householder's garbage receptacle or container.

7. Any person collecting, removing or transporting garbage, offal or other offensive substances through the streets of Boston shall designate to the Health Department the depository used by him for such garbage and offal by him, and shall further inform the Health Department for what purpose the said garbage or offal is collected.

8. Any person collecting, removing or transporting garbage, offal or other offensive substances shall submit for the examination by the Health Department monthly, or as often as may be required by the Health Department, all vehicles and receptacles used by him in collecting, removing or transporting said garbage, offal or other offensive substances.

9. Every vehicle used by a person for collecting, removing or transporting garbage, offal or other offensive substances shall have affixed to such vehicle a registration number of block letter type at least three inches high, issued by the Health Department, which number shall be displayed in a prominent place on said vehicle.

10. Whoever violates any of the foregoing regulations shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars for each such violation.

FRANCIS X. MAHONEY, M. D.,
Health Commissioner.

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Approved as to form.
E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

Approved.
JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

LAND-TAKING IN BRIGHTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the laying out and construction of an extension of Holton street, Brighton district, as a highway to Litchfield street, over and including a way known as Elba street.

For the making of the aforesaid improvement an easement for street purposes is taken in the following described land exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto:

The land, owners unknown, between Holton street and Elba street, now known as Antwerp street.

The land, owners unknown, running from Antwerp street to Litchfield street, now known as Elba street.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Said highway is bounded and described as follows:

Southeast by Holton street (highway), forty and 12–100 feet; southwest by the southwesterly line of said extension of Holton street as hereby laid out, by two measurements, forty and 13–100 feet and two hundred forty-three and 49–100 feet; northwest by Litchfield street, forty and 1–100 feet; and northeast by the northeasterly line of said extension of Holton street as hereby laid out, by two measurements, two hundred forty-two and 62–100 feet and forty and 13–100 feet.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the abutting lots of land on the northeasterly and southwesterly sides of Holton street, from Antwerp street to Litchfield street, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein; each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against it herein:

The salary is $2,400 a year. Applicants should possess all of the qualifications as given above for building inspector and in addition should be competent to design and check up designs of steel frame, concrete and reinforced concrete construction and to make calculations for stresses, strains, loads, etc. It is desirable that they have had some office experience along these lines.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 9; report, 2; practical questions on carpentry, brick and stone masonry and building materials; concrete; steel and reinforced concrete work in the construction of buildings; foundations; designing concrete, reinforced concrete, steel frame and masonry buildings and structures; making necessary computations for strains, loads, stresses, etc., 9; total, 20. The special questions will include arithmetic. Special importance will attach to the questions on steel, concrete, reinforced concrete, etc.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience and in the practical questions.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

According to chapter 550 of the Acts of 1907, no person shall be appointed as inspector of construction in the Building Department of Boston who has not had at least five years' experience as a builder, civil engineer or architect, or as a superintendent or foreman, or as a competent mechanic in charge of construction.

Building Inspector, Boston Building Department, September 6, 1922.

The salary is $2,000 per year. Applicants must be competent mechanics with a knowledge of masonry, steel, concrete and wood framing as used in building construction; must possess a reasonable knowledge of the building law of Boston and special acts relating to construction; must be competent to read plans and make application of same to requirements of building law.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 4; arithmetic, 1; report, 1; practical questions on the duties of the position, 4; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience and at least 50 per cent in practical questions.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

According to chapter 550 of the Acts of 1907, no person shall be appointed as inspector of construction in the Building Department of Boston who has not had at least five years' experience as a builder, civil engineer or architect, or as a superintendent or foreman, or as a competent mechanic in charge of construction.

Engineering Inspector, Boston Public Works Department, September 8, 1922.

The salary is $1,600 per year. The duties of this position are to investigate sewer complaints. To do this applicants should be able to distinguish between overcharging and obstruction of a sewer, be able to compute roughly the amount of water coming to a sewer and its capacity to carry it. It is desirable that applicants know the sewer system of the City of Boston, including location of main sewers and surface drains, city and state intercepting systems, district and individual regulators and how they work, and present condition of district regulators; areas from which storm water is pumped by the Calf Pasture pumping station; location of auxiliary pumping stations and systems served; location of tidal areas and of the separate system district; use of back-water traps and hand valves and how properly placed in the plumbing system; common sources of water in cellars, such as tidewater, ground water, roof leaders, old unstopped sewer connections and leaking water pipes; legal grade of cellars.

Poultry Man and Officer, Boston Institutions Department, House of Correction, Deer Island, September 8, 1922.

The salary is $1,200 per year. The duties of this position are to raise and care for about 2,000 chickens. The chickens are raised in brooders from about the first of February. Applicants must also be able to construct the hen houses and instruct in cement work. They should have a general knowledge of farm work so that they will be able to assist the farmer.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 6; practical questions, 4; total, 10.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in section 23 of chapter 31 of the General Laws.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

POPULATION OF BOSTON BY GEOGRAPHICAL DISTRICTS.

East Boston (i. e., Wds. 1 and 2, including the islands) 63,051 or 2,629 less than in 1915; Charlestown (Wds. 3 and 4) 34,272 or 5,329 less; Boston Proper (Wds. 5, 6, 7, 8, and northern corner of Wds. 12 and 13) 170,637 or 25.663 decrease; South Boston (Wds. 9, 10 and northern part of Wd. 11 to Howell St.) 64,144 or 5,601 decrease; Roxbury (most of Wds. 12, 13, 14, 15 and all of Wd. 16) 135,024 or 7,341 increase; Dorchester most of Wd. 11, Wds. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 and part of 24) 157,932 or 19,813 increase; West Roxbury (including Jamaica Plain and Roslindale, i. e., Wds. 22 and 23) 63,190 or 7,119 increase; Brighton (Wds. 25 and 26) 41,724 or 6,942 increase; Hyde Park (most of Wd. 24) 18,086 or 628 increase. According to these unprecedented census returns, the five districts constituting the most densely inhabited part of Boston (i. e., from the northern boundary to Franklin Park, including Roxbury and South Boston) showed a net decrease from 1915 to 1920 amounting in all to 31,881, while the other four districts showed an increase of only 34,502. In the preceding five years, 1910-1915, the same five districts increased by 16,373 and the other four by 58,481, a total increase (omitting the 15,936 gained by annexation of Hyde Park in 1912) of 58,918, or more than 22 times the increase from 1915 to 1920 as shown by last U. S. Census.

BUILDING LINE, PROVINCE STREET.

President BRICKLEY called up unfinished business, No. 3, viz.:

3. Ordered, That the sum of $250,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated for the establishment of a building line on Province street, between School street and Bromfield street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On July 31, 1922, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 3.

The question came on the final reading of the order.

Coun. HAGAN.—Mr. President, I think I want to go on record as being opposed to this measure, and I would say a few words accordingly. Some three weeks ago, Mr. President, in this chamber, at a meeting of the Finance Committee, which is composed of the total membership of the Chamber, this matter was up for consideration, and at that time one of the members of this Council went on record as being absolutely opposed to this measure. In his statement to the Council, or to the committee (the Council of the whole), I thought he made some rather pointed references to the promoters of this measure that were a little bit far fetched, in my judgment and opinion. The attack that he made upon those men would lead me to believe that they were not public-spirited men, they were far from being good citizens, they were putting something over on the taxpayers of the city. The widening of Province street was characterized, if not in so many words, as a "land jobber's scheme," or a "land steal," or something of that nature, that carried with it, naturally, the thought that something terrible was happening, something bad to the taxpayers, something against the interests of the citizens of Boston. The name of Mr. Shoolman, the treasurer of the real estate concern which is putting up the building was brought up in that discussion, and I was led to believe from what I heard that he, of all citizens, was most undesirable, being the promoter of this bad measure. I was glad to hear that, not put [illegible] exactly the terms and the language that was used I was glad to hear the sentiment that the widening of Province street was a bad measure and against the interests of the citizens of Boston. So I quietly approached other members of this body, and I asked their viewpoint, which is quite customary, for I like to be enlightened, and from one of those men I was told it was a land deal—don't believe in it—don't approve of it. A few moments later I approached another member, and he gave me practically to understand the same sentiment, he was in opposition. And then, following the custom that we will indulge in, I made up my mind that that measure was going to be killed by this City Council. I know that there was two members of this body who are going to vote for that measure, not altogether because of the fact that they had unlimited confidence that it was for the best interests of the citizens but for a reason that appealed to them, whether or not it did to me, and for a reason that I can respect because it is a quite common reason in every legislative hall. Therefore, I figured that there were two members of this body who were going to vote for the widening of Province street and seven votes were going to be against, and that sentiment was certainly most pronounced. You can imagine my surprise, Mr. President, two weeks later—a week ago today—when this matter came up here for its first hearing to find that there were six votes in favor and three against this most obnoxious measure. No explanation, not a word of comment. They voted "yes" without a tremor, without a word of explanation to members of this Council who had heard them in opposition, without a word of explanation to the citizens who sent them here. Now there is a reason for everything in this world. Men do not do these things without a reason, and I would like to know what that reason was. In my experience in this body extending over a period of some years I question if I ever saw such a complete turnover in a short space of time in the minds and temperament of men. Now, some arguments were used to convince those men that they should change their minds, that they should change their sentiments, and that they should change their votes. There was a reason. Presumably it was a good reason, but what was the reason? Why is it that nobody approached me and educated me up to that point so that I could see the wisdom of voting for this measure? Why is it that the two other members of this Council, who are opposed to the widening of Province street as being against the public interest, were not themselves educated with me up to understand somewhat pertaining to this measure? Why is it that we three were left out in the cold, with no advances made to us to enlighten us as to the great, overwhelming reason that prompted this complete change of sentiment? I ask the question because I want to know. I feel that there is a reason, and I would like to know what that reason is. Perhaps I might vote for the widening of Province street if I knew the reasons that have been advanced to the gentlemen who changed their sentiment and who did vote for it. Perhaps the arguments that were advanced would convince me that I was in error and they were right. I do not know how substantial the arguments were until I get some enlightenment on that question. So I stand here now today asking and demanding on the part of the public of Boston that some explanation be given as to why men will vote for a measure who were instinctively opposed to it, who believed it to be a bad measure, believed it to be against the best interests of the city, and who characterized it as a "land jobber's scheme," that was most repulsive in character. I would like to know something about that matter if I can get any enlightenment today, Mr. President.

Coun. LANE.—Mr. President, two weeks ago today I rose on my feet to oppose this measure explaining to the Council that I was pretty clearly of the opinion that the widening of Province street was not to the advantage of the City of Boston either from the standpoint of relieving the traffic congestion or of opening up new taxable property upon Province street. It is seldom since I have been a member of this Council (five years) that I have voted with the Finance Commission. In this case I feel compelled to do so. We are confronted with the fact that the borrowing capacity of the city today is but about $485,000. Two weeks ago today we appropriated $70,000 for a new playground in the North End which will reduce that borrowing capacity to $415,000. Under this bill, if it goes through, we will take $250,000 more, and it seems to me criminal to exhaust the borrowing capacity of the city at this time of the year. We have still about six months to go in the fiscal year, and will have only about $165,000 left to meet any emergency which might arise. Now we are told that $250,000 is sufficient to establish this building line. From what the Finance Commission has told us from their investigations, this is going to cost the city a million and a quarter at least, and the $250,000 will be but a starter. Within six months they will require $250,000 more, and where is the money coming from? I am not going into a long dissertation upon this feature of the case but I think the figures alone will tell that it is unwise for the city at this time to enter into this project. As I have said, two weeks ago I think I also showed that it was unwise for the city to make the widening of Province street from other standpoints. We were told by His Honor the Mayor that if we widened Province street it would increase building by several millions. He held up before us the fact that the Five Cents Savings Bank woud erect a $2,000,000 building, which is a building that they wlil erect on the present site. If Province street is widened it is a question whether they will erect that building. The other building, the Shoolman building, so-called, is now in the process of erection, and if we widen Province street there is no reason to believe that that building which they will then erect will be worth any more money in taxable property to the city than the one they are now erecting. We have no reason to believe that the westerly side of Province street will be improved. Certain property there is now above the street level by several feet, and if Province street is widened they are going to lower the grade, and they will still be up in the air more than they are today. I think, gentlemen, that it is a great mistake for the City of Boston to enter at this time upon a project of this sort.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, it was not my intention to enter into any discussion concerning the proposition before this body, but in view of the fact that I am one of seven, or six, rather, who voted in favor of this proposition I feel that it is my duty to defend my position. I believe that each day that passes Boston is becoming a way station. Each day that passes other communities of large size, other large cities in the country are fast approaching us in a commercial way and will pass us soon unless we awake. The great oak from the little acorn grew. So we may take that same line of thought and apply it to the proposition under consideration—the widening of Province street. It may not have all the merit that some other improvements that lie in my mind have which I would prefer to vote for if they were presented here; but in view of the fact that there is no other proposition before us in the way of the starting of a great, big enterprise, I, as one member of the body, have a duty to perform, and that is to act upon this special matter. The Boston Herald has presented to the people of Boston in a rather crude way the question of building an arcade through the buildings at the continuation of Province street, and that enters into my reason for voting as I have in the past for this measure and as I intend to vote today. We can never have in my opinion—unless there is a Boston fire similar to '72 in this very location from Bromfield street through to and beyond Boylston street—a highway between Tremont street and Washington street such as is proposed by the starting of Province street. The arcade proposition is feasible, it is practical, and it is possible within my time and yours, Mr. President. Property values will increase with an arcade as suggested by the Boston Herald. And I am not a sponsor of this newspaper's ideas, but whenever the Boston Herald presents a proposition that has merit, I, as a sensible and rational man—at times at least—am in duty bound to take up and do what I can in carrying it forward. The widening of Province street is the beginning of a great improvement. It does away with a great fire hazard in the most valuable part of Boston. It provides a wide avenue, although short. And the argument about one-way streets leading out of a big street into a small street has no value. So far as I am concerned I see but very little merit in it, because if we went out and began to placard our streets and highways with traffic signs, as we are doing today, we would be just as blind in finding our way about Boston as we are today, because the present situation is chaotic. Therefore the question of coming down School street and going through to Bromfield street and back to Tremont street is a ridiculous routing of traffic and is of no moment. The question we are considering, Mr. President, is the merit or the opposite of widening Province street, and I believe the merit in favor outweighs the opposite. I know nothing about other members' reasons for changing their votes. That is their quarrel; that is up to them. I have no quarrel with the gentlemen who preceded me, either of them, but more particularly the councilor on my left, for his position. He knows his own business best. If he is seeking light he is only doing what we are all doing as public servants with a duty to perform. This question before us is to be determined on our individual opinion and judgment, based on information and facts obtained on the subject. Side issues should not enter into it. The question is, Is the Province street widening as proposed in this order a step in the direction of doing something in a big way for big Boston, or are we to stand here and nullify the first step in the direction of doing something to make Boston something more than a large village? And while perhaps I may not be the ablest member of this Council, I have had the experience here of nine years, two years in the old Common Council, and two years in the Legislature, and I will say frankly that with my narrow views on great, big propositions and big improvements in my first two years in the Common Council and, in a way, my two years in the Legislature, I am as much responsible for the lack of progress in Boston as any other man who ever held public office, and I make that frank confession. To do something worth while we have got to do it, after mature reflection, regardless of the views of those who may have a special reason for opposing us. And I have no reason but to believe that the two gentlemen who preceded me are absolutely honest and sincere in their position, and I am willing to let you have your opinions, gentlemen. That is for you and your Maker to determine whether it is an honest one or not, and I do not question it. Therefore, by the same token you should give me the same right, and my colleagues also. The proposition, in my opinion, is a worthy one, and delay in the matter leads us into greater damage suits. Further delay means more damages, means greater damages, and my opinion concerning the Province street widening, plus the arcade principle of the Boston Herald—arcading from Bromfield street through the buildings to Boylston street—has not changed a particle since my first vote. When the matter was first brought to my attention I believed that it was a good proposition, and I have not changed my mind, and since then my opinion has been ratified and strengthened by the new plan presented by the Boston Herald for doing the only feasible, sane thing that can be done in the matter of a thoroughfare from Bromfield street through to Boylston street—an arcade of some nature. And I do not give the Boston Herald all the credit for that arcade idea, because I had something to do with a principle along the same lines. I put an order in here inquiring into the expense of arcading Washington street from Adams square to Summer street, on both sides, and my plan was to build underneath where the store fronts are, build the front in the width of the sidewalk on each side, permitting the people to walk up Washington street without danger from vehicles, and then they could use the balance of the sidewalk for widening Washington street and give us a 20-foot wider street at a small expense. My plan met with no great enthusiasm on the part of the Boston Herald, but that is to be expected. Think of the author and the inventor of the idea, and you know why the Herald did not come in and say a word in favor of my arcade. I am bigger than the Herald, I hope. I think I am. I am more magnanimous. I know their plan is a good plan for arcading Bromfield street through to Boylston, and I approve of it heartily, and it enters into this proposition of widening Province street. It was my intention not to open my mouth today on the floor of the Council because certain members have certain pleasures that they desire to satisfy. They desired to go up to a ball game, to a benefit in aid of a worthy, good fellow, a friend of mine whose name I will not mention—it is not necessary—and we are going to try to get away, but, although I was not going to interrupt or interfere with the progress of the meeting in order that that might take place, this debate has been thrown into the Council, and I want to make my position clear—yes, and clean. I am voting for Province street widening because I believe that there is more merit in that position than there would be if I voted against it. It is the beginning of an improvement. That means something, in my opinion; and if the merchants of Boston continue their pickayune policy of trying to keep on with this "pay-as-you-go" policy that has been in vogue in this body since I have been a member—foisted on us by some new-fangled efficiency expert without a map—if it continues, and the business men do not wake up, I will lose my respect and regard for them. "Pay-as-you-go" policy! There isn't a merchant in Boston, or a bank president in Boston, or an institution in Boston that is operating today on the so-called "pay-as-you-go" policy. What is the need, Mr. President, of kidding ourselves? Every man has to have help in his business at times. He mortgages the future to take care of the present, and what is true of business houses is true of governments. You must make the future pay for the present, the benefit to accrue to them in the future. So I say that it is unfortunate that the business men of Boston do not wake up to the fact that pickayune ideas and standstill principles are not best for our city. It may seem strange to some of you here to hear me talking about big things, but, gentlemen of the Council, I have been doing a little research work in my humble way. I have been reading about what other cities are doing, smaller cities. I have seen what smaller cities and larger cities have done and are doing, and when I think of Detroit and Milwaukee, and even little Columbus, the capital of Ohio,—when I think of what they are doing in the way of big improvements, and how they are mortgaging the future for future generations to benefit by, and to pay, I almost feel like hanging my head in shame to think that Boston, the Hub of the Universe, the birthplace of liberty, where Faneuil Hall and Bunker Hill stand, must stand still and let Columbus, Milwaukee and Baltmore creep up on us. We have seen Detroit and Cleveland pass us, and Buffalo coming strong, and we are standing still. Gentlemen, that is my reason in part for voting as I did recently in favor of this widening. That is the reason I shall vote today to indorse my previous attitude, and if I had a reason to change and believed that my opinion was not based on good, solid facts, and that I was not doing that which is for the greatest good for the greatest number in our community, I would change my vote just as quick the other way as I voted rapidly in the beginning. I offer no apologies for my position. I think I have made it fairly plain, Mr. President and fellow members, that I am voting according to my lights and best judgment. If I err, as I have erred in the past, it is the error of the head and not of the heart. My conscience is absolutely clean on this proposition. There is more merit by voting "Yes" than there is to vote "No." I love Boston, and Boston has done much for me through its citizenship. The citizens have not elevated me to any great high office, but when I have gone to them with my story, sincerely and frankly told, they have listened to me and rewarded me by sending me to this body, a high honor, an honor that cannot be bought, an honor that you must receive at the hands of the people whom you are to represent; and I do not intend at this age in life and in my ninth year in this Council to vote against what I believe to be their best interests. I have been told that my position on the pension bill and on other measures was against my political future, if I had one, and while that perhaps has tingled my ears, I have always sat right back and said to myself, "Old man, you have a duty to perform, and perform it," knowing that I would meet with the displeasure of close friends. But my close friends, while they may criticize me on this vote or that vote, when they give me the time to tell them, man to man, my position and my reason for my position, I will bring them back to me as friends of yore. Therefore, Mr. President, I apologize to the members for this rather long-winded statement of my position, and I sincerely trust that my vote when cast, as it will be, in favor of the widening as per the order—the only thing before us—I will be doing that which I believe to be for the best interests of the voters of this city regardless of any affiliations.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, I am sorry that we have to say anything about the order and take up my good friend Coun. Walsh's time because I understand that he has an important engagement. He is going to speak in the western part of the state for weeks, but, however, it seems necessary because my good friend on the opposite side said that the measure that I voted for is a most obnoxious one, and of course that carries with it the thought or the idea that we have voted here for a measure idly and without due consideration. While I was sitting here I wondered what all the shooting was about, or why all the talk and argument. I can't help remarking, before I say a word or two on the measure in passing, that, when I heard my good friend, Mr. Watson, who, as he says, loves the City of Boston, and I hope the City of Boston loves him, speak of Milwaukee I thought of something else, and I could not help remarking to the person who was sitting on my right that when I thought of Milwaukee I thought of a brewery.

Coun. WATSON—Pardon me, Mr. President. Does the gentleman yield?

Coun. FORD—I will be glad to.

Coun. WATSON—I did not hear the last word.

Coun. FORD—"Brewery"; "b-r-e"—without the "q"—"brewery."

Coun. WATSON.—I was not thinking of that, but it is getting bad, at that!

Coun. FORD—I understand the councilor knows the location very well, we having been led into it, having it pointed out as one of the greatest institutions of the modern world, and the ancient world at least. Some time ago my good friend, Watson, related to me the story about the widening of Washington street. He spoke about some fellow that had been sitting in some public body—I think it was this body or one of its predecessors ——

Coun. WATSON—The Common Council.

Coun. FORD—The Common Council—that voted on a measure that required the expenditure of $100,000 for the widening or the extension of Washington street, and when that poor fellow came up for reelection the next year they defeated him, and defeated him by an almost unanimous vote, because they contended at that time that this man was spending the city's money in an idle manner, that the expenditure of $100,000 for such an idle project they could not stand for, and they had to repudiate him at the polls. That man had vision, and if that $100,000 order had passed and that had been spent some twenty-five or forty years ago, then of course Washington street would not be in the condition it is now—absolutely an inadequate highway for the City of Boston. That order promised much. Who knows what the widening of Province street would promise? It is not an obnoxious measure. It is one that may lead to better things. I have heard it expressed here on the floor of the Council that adopting the plan was to widen this street through Province street as far as Bromfield street, and perhaps farther, although entailing the expenditure of may be—well, guessing at it—probably $25,000,000, may be $50,000,000, that there would be considerable merit in it. When the Stuart street proposition was passed it was then contended privately that Stuart street was not going to finish at the corner of Eliot and Tremont streets but that they intended to extend Stuart street down to the South Station district and expend $25,000,000 in the extension of that street. These matters may promise much, and when I talk of promises I am reminded of a story I once heard about promising a whole lot. These two Irishmen, Mr. President, were out on a raft and the waves were rising up high. The ship had been wrecked, there was nothing in sight, so they thought they would do the only thing that could be done under the circumstances and in those terrible events, so they started to pray. Mike started in and he said, "If I ever get out of this I will never swear."

"Pat—If I ever get out of this I will never smoke.

"Mike—If I ever get out of this I will never get in a quarrel with my wife.

"Pat—If I ever get out of this I will never take another drink."

Mike started to say something, and Pat pulled his coat tails and said, "Mike, don't promise too much. I think I see land."

Now, Mr. President, you never know under these circumstances where the land may be that these widenings lead to, and Province street in this widening may lead to something. It may lead to the development of the City of Boston. There isn't any councilor in the city that will successfully contend or question successfully that we are in a congested situation as far as School street and running south is concerned. The Planning Board has had plans, and Miss Herlihy of the Planning Board said here that the Planning Board intended to extend this street farther down, that that was a part of their great plan. It cannot all be done at once. It is like the widening of Washington street with its $100,000; that would be a mere drop in the bucket at the present time. It may cost a million dollars, as Coun. Lane has said, and may cost more, but it is the beginning of something, and the beginning of something in the right direction. It is not an obnoxious measure. It is a meritorious measure, as nearly as I can see. And, in reply to the councilor opposite, I may say this, that when the councilor says that he has been left out in the cold, that no one used any arguments on him, oh, that is not absoluetly correct, and I know the councilor did not mean it in that wise. The Mayor used arguments, and presented himself here personally. Miss Herlihy talked on the matter, and we talked on it at great length. There were many arguments used. Of course I was one of the two—Coun. Watson and myself—that voted for it. The councilor intimated that we did not vote for the project because of reasons that were prompted by civic spirit. That was intimated. I wish to disagree. I voted for the measure purely and simply because I thought it was an improvement in the property and in the right direction. I voted for it in the first instance, and I am going to vote for it today. And when we see men shifting their votes it makes little difference. I have been in this body now for six years. I am about to leave the body, but it makes no impression on me, no strange impression, if the man on my right or the man on my left votes opposite to me. That makes little difference. He votes as he sees it. Even if he changes his vote I see nothing worthy of comment in it. Votes are changed for political considerations sometimes. That is not the proper civic spirit, to be sure; I know it; but it sometimes enters into votes. Sometimes men will be in a peculiar state of mind and change their votes. Arguments may be used, and a thousand or a million different directions that prompt men to change their votes. This may be the last time that I will have a chance to speak on a real estate improvement in the City of Boston, but I want to say that this is my experience, so that it may be a matter of record for anyone that may come after me, that when men, I do not care whether they are prompted by financial interests or other interests, are interested in a peculiar project or interested, to use a better word, in an individual project, or a project that interests them particularly, they will go through with that project until the bitter end. This is human nature, and it always enters into all our discussions and in all our votes, that when a body of men or a set of men are interested in a real estate extension they go through with that proposition to the bitter end, even though they think it is an expenditure of too much money, or even though they do not think that the City of Boston will be benefited absolutely. When a man's money is interested in a proposition he will go through with that proposition to the ultimate result. The human side or the human element, Mr. President, of the matter is indicated when betting on elections. When you see the most notorious or the most famous gambler in the world betting on an election, even though when he starts to bet he is not interested in the candidate on whom he bets, he will immediately after making the bet follow the money. He could no more get away from that than he could change human nature from the beginning of man to the present day. When men or a set of men are interested in a real estate undertaking they go through with it until the result is either accomplished or not accomplished. By the same token, when men are connected with those men that are interested in a friendly spirit because they are business friends, because they are political friends, or because they are other friends, at the same time having the city's interests in view, of course, they are prompted when the time comes by those considerations, and when men are lined up with a body of men who favor these real estate undertakings then of course they go along with it. We have had great experience in this Council on the biggest project that was put through when I was in the Council, the Stuart street proposition, as it was then called. We saw the City Council then dividing in a peculiar manner, peculiar probably, if we call it peculiar, but there we had a set of men that were interested in the real estate undertaking on one side, and then we had a set of men that were looking for the interests of the city on the other side, and then those men followed the situation to the ultimate result, namely, that when the Council could not pass it, they induced the Legislature to pass the bill so that the City Council could not vote upon it, passing the money outside the debt limit of $3,000,000 so that it could be borrowed, showing that in these real estate undertakings that where men or a set of men, or where the men in the Council are interested in these men, when they are not moved absolutely by the civic spirit, then of course they follow this undertaking. Province street, Mr. President, may or may not be a wonderful improvement for the City of Boston. Stuart street may or may not be a wonderful improvement for the City of Boston. If the retail dealers in the City of Boston do not see the light—and they are being forced almost to see light, so that you may have a retail district down in the Stuart street district and widen out the City of Boston—then of course we have spent almost $3,000,000 idly. They may or may not do that, but when you vote for the project or are interested in it, you hope there will be developments along those lines. Unless you make a beginning you can't make an ending. The Stuart street proposition was a beginning. I venture to say this, that if the project came into the City Council to widen Exchange street, or to build a tunnel under Post Office square, you would find a set of financial interests in the City of Boston back of that project. Now I will venture to say this also, that if the men in this Council—I use the argument in the proper manner—if the men in this Council—some of them may or may not be, but assume that they are—if they are connected with financial interests that own property in that particular corner, or if they are connected with the body of men that would be behind such a project, then those men, because they are human, will naturally be swayed in that direction, and all things being equal, with their eye, of course, still open to the civic betterment of the City of Boston, they will be with them because of these human interests in that direction. They can't help it and can't resist it unless they want to be in the position of the Irishman who would like to see the man that could convince him. That is always so. I think Province street will be a good thing for the City of Boston. I think that wide thoroughfare there, although not of course, as Coun. Lane properly points out, will be a good thing for the City of Boston, and if we widen it down right straight through as far as we can go, even though it cost a lot of money, then it will be a wonderful thing for Boston. Something has got to be done to make a radial highway north and south. This may not be the place, but it is a beginning to relieve congestion and stimulate building. Mr. President, I am not defending my vote. I want to say this, that I think the project is a good one. I think it is the proper one. I started in to vote for it, and I am going to finish in favor. Of course, we have an order, and the cost I think if it is continued and if it goes farther, even if it cost a million dollars—and, mind you, other interests in the City of Boston will try to make the city spend $25,000,000 to continue the Stuart street project, before the other real estate operators accomplish their view that the extension of Province street is the better improvement—those things must necessarily enter into it, and when those that follow us come to those questions it will be for them to decide as far as the benefit to the City of Boston is concerned which is the better project to spend money on the extension of Province street or Stuart street. It may be, Mr. President, that some of the opposition to Province street, or the beginning of another great widening which may develop in the future, the opposition to that improvement is this, that if you go in on that and you spend the city's money on that project, don't you see, Mr. President, that those that are interested in the Stuart street proposition, or in the Post Office square proposition, or in the Cambridge street proposition, will realize that we can't spend $25,000,000 or $50,000,000 in one decade, or in two decades, and consequently some of the opposition may come from that contention. Finally, Mr. President, I am sorry I talked too long,—it will remain for the future to judge. The councilor on the opposite side cannot determine, neither can I; neither have I vision enough to determine, but it remains for the future to tell whether or not in voting for the widening of Province street today we have been actuated in the best interests of the city, not of the present, but of the future.

Coun. MORIARTY.—Mr. President, I am surprised. I believe that this is the third time that this has been before the Council as far as voting is concerned and the man who has brought about this discussion in this meeting today has had a button on his lips. He has absolutely not said a word on this question one way or the other. Where has he been? He has said that he has risen here to look for enlightenment. Maybe I can rise for the same purpose and ask who has been to him since the last meeting, if insinuations are to be cast. He said many things but floundered around and said that if they did not say this they said something like that. What he should have done if it was said in the Council meeting was to have got the records to find out what was said. He does not want Coun. Ford or Coun. Watson to answer his question. I am the fellow that he wants to answer the question, but he did not have courage enough to get up and ask me to answer the question. I got under his skin a little bit at the last meeting and made him change some of the statements that he made and it hurt, and he is coming in here today with that venom. I have no apologies to make to him. I was not sent here by him because I know that he would not be allowed to vote for me from the angle in which he comes. So I am making no apologies to him or to any other Good Government nominee, because I did not come here from that element, and therefore I have no apologies to make to the Good Government Association for my vote. The other councilor who has talked in opposition to it I believe has an absolutely honest purpose. He talked against it a week ago. He talked against it two weeks ago. He was honest in his contention, but as to the first man to bring it up today, nobody knows what he said about it. Maybe he was waiting for an opportunity to change, and somebody beat him to it. I have no apologies to make to the councilor on the other side for any vote. Maybe if he knew the real reason why I changed, or one of the reasons, was I did not want to have the newspapers say, "Three Good Government members with Coun. Moriarty," because that would be a tough position to put me in. And if I did ever have the respect of people who are opposed to the Good Government I would have lost it if the newspapers had given me that heading. I never had the Good Government Association's indorsement, and I never expect to get it, because if they offered it to me I would refuse to accept it because I know it would mean my defeat. If the councilor who was the starter of this will remember in my opposition to this measure that I said if the Mayor of Boston would agree to go through with this proposition to Boylston street I would vote for it, and the Mayor of Boston has agreed with me that he is going in to the next Legislature to ask for a loan outside the debt limit to put Province street through to Boylston street, and before I voted for the measure I got that promise from the Mayor of Boston that it was his intention to go to the Legislature and ask for a loan order to put it through to Boylston street. The councilor on the opposite side could have got that. He could have got it a week ago if he so desired. He said that nobody got up to explain to citizens of Boston. I did not know that he was the guardian of everybody. I knew he was once guardian of Jerry Desmond and Bob Bottomley and a few more of the elite in the town, but I did not know that he was my guardian, and I don't intend that he shall be, either this year or next year, while I sit in this body, and if I so desire to change my vote I have no apology to make to the councilor on the other side at any time. I do not know what his game is. Maybe he might be interested in Cambridge street. I know there are a lot of people that are close to him, that have supported him in every election, that of course that is their aim, Cambridge street. Is it possible that the words of the last speaker may have thrown light on to something, that they desire to lick Province street for the purpose of carrying through Cambridge street? There has been a lot of spark down there for many years, for widening Court street and Cambridge street. Is it possible that since the last meeting—and a week ago last Sunday there was a big cut in one of the Boston papers in regards to Cambridge street—is it possible that the people who were responsible for having that cut in the Boston papers a week ago last Sunday are responsible for having this man come here today and bring about the situation that is here on the floor? I voted "no" on the first reading. I voted "yes" on the second reading after being assured by Mayor Curley that it was his intent to go through to Boylston street. In my talk I said that if the Mayor would agree to go through to Boylston street I would be with him. And I am with him, and I have no apologies to make to the councilor on the other side or to any other councilor in here, to the Good Government Association or anybody else outside of the real electorate of the City of Boston, and I am satisfied to put my destiny in their hands.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I had thought that during my period of time in this Council I had established a fair degree of reputation for at least having the courage of my convictions, yet I was compelled to listen here today to a tirade against me that I was lacking in courage. I am going to refute that argument here and now. When I got on my feet previously in this meeting to seek enlightenment on this big project I said that there were two members in this Council who were consistently in favor of the widening of Province street, that I knew the reasons that actuated them, and in a measure I had respect for those reasons; but I have lived long enough in a political atmosphere to have absorbed some of it into my system, to the detriment of that system. Therefore, when Coun. Watson and Ford stood up in here to make a statement as to why they voted for this widening of Province street, it was no new enlightenment to me. I knew what their arguments were, for they were the two that were consistently in favor at all times of this project; but I wanted enlightenment from four who were opposed and who suddenly turned turtle and voted for it. I wanted to know the reason if I could, for perhaps I would vote for it if they could give me a true and proper enlightenment. I listened to my esteemed friend on the right, Coun. Watson, to the arguments that he advanced when he spoke of the Boston Herald project as outlined by them of arcading Province street. He lost sight of the fact that the arcading cannot take place until the widening has taken place, and the Boston Herald is opposed to the widening and only injected the article for arcading in case the widening was accomplished. My good friend, Coun. Moriarty, opposite, did state in his argument before the committee on finance which he now takes me to task because I did not quote his exact words, oh, he knew then I could not except from memory, for the words were not taken down in the stenographic report; it was in the meeting of the committee on finance, when a stenographer is not present; but we all heard those words, and we all heard the charge that he made against Mr. Shoolman and his associates, we all got his viewpoint clear and without question of doubt. Why, a deaf man in the remotest corner of the gallery would have known just what he was saying and just what he meant. He was absolutely and apparently unalterably opposed to the measure on that day. Now we are told that he voted for it because the Mayor says he is going to extend that widening of Boylston street. Well, the Mayor may begin to fly over the moon, but I don't have to take that as an accomplished fact. And he is going to the Legislature to get official sanction for the further extension. Gentlemen, listening to common sense and reason, isn't it an argument that all this should be done first and not last; that the Legislature should be solicited to grant this great, big loan, public improvement, if this is supposed to be the first step in that direction? Why not go to the Legislature first and get their approval? For perhaps when you do go there you will find the approval will not be granted. And I am going to prophesy that this so-called first step will not be completed 100 years from today. In public projects as in private individual action, a bad beginning makes a bad ending, and we are making a mighty bad beginning here. Well, I listened to what the gentleman opposite said and it seemed as if most of his address or talk was devoted to making and taking a crack at me because I was comparatively silent during the early discussion of this important project. There is nothing new about that. I prefer to be silent at all meetings except on questions of fundamental importance. My mind was clear from the beginning as to what was best for the interests of the City of Boston, as I see it, to vote against this measure. The gentleman says he offers no apologies to me for his vote, but I did not ask for an apology. For the moment I did not hardly believe that his vote demanded or needed an apology. He evidently thinks it does. I asked for an explanation, and I got abuse but no explanation. The only thing that could by any stretch of the imagination be considered explanatory was that the Mayor said to him that he was going to extend this widening to Boylston street and go to the Legislature the next year to get legislative sanction. But why didn't the Mayor say that to me, to all the members here who are consistently opposed to this widening? What is the secret meeting that calls for these secret communications from the Mayor to certain members of this Council and not to other members? I am not alone in my curiosity in this matter. Representatives of the press appear to be curious. I read in a recent edition under date of August 2 this paragraph right after our last meeting:

"A further indication that Mayor Curley is the master mind in the administration is favorable action which the City Council has taken on the $250,000 loan order for the widening of Province street after weeks of debate and delay and parliamentary cross currents. A week ago the measure seemed doomed because the necessary two thirds vote appeared impossible. However, Coun. James T. Moriarty, who had vigorously opposed the proposition in its present form, voted in favor when it came up for its first reading. . . . The vagaries of City Council action seem to surpass all understanding."

Therefore, does it not appear that others are curious as well as I am? The statement has been made here only in the form of an intimation or a possible suspicion by my esteemed friend, as it were, apologizing for those who turned turtle and voted for this measure, as against those who are consistently opposed, in my judgment, and are now opposed to the measure as against public interest, and the councilor said with a note of apology in his tone, whether so intended or not, that perhaps the members of this Council who changed their sentiment in their vote were actuated by reasons that were selfish and not, as he put it, entirely civic. He said perhaps the business interests or perhaps the members were interested in those business interests or those owners of property. Is that so? Is the reason why other members here voted for this measure, that to my mind is so opposed to the public interest, because they are personally interested in the property owners and want to do them a favor at the expense of the public treasury? Is that so? I don't know, but the intimation was that "possibly" that was so. And again I repeat it was an intimation only, not a direct statement. Much has been said in here of a public-spirited nature on the part of my good friend on my right. Oh, I do think that he does possess a great deal of good, honest-to-God public spirit. He even apologized for some of his actions and his votes in the past that he characterized as being small and without vision; but, gentlemen, have you ever stopped to consider that old adage, that you can't have your cake and eat it too? When are the citizens of Boston going to realize fully and well that they can't spend their money and have it likewise? When are they going to realize that money cannot be frittered away in unnecessary measures, in wasteful measures, cannot be frittered away in measures that do not redound to public good, and yet have that money for the great big projects that stare us in the face day after day, that are being cried for by the community? That $250,000 that is going to be sunk into Province street to make a parking station for automobiles could be, with much better grace and more satisfaction to the citizens of Boston, spent in Dorchester, in Roxbury, in South Boston, and in some other place where the public are clamoring for improvements in their home districts. You cannot spend that money there because we are going to spend it on Province street, and we won't have it for Dorchester. That is only an example of the great many cases that come up in this body where money is appropriated unwisely for projects that are not necessary to the public good or the public welfare, and the result is we do not have the money for the crying demands of the people in all sections of the city. Gentlemen, the attack is on me. He never misses an opportunity to take a crack at me and I am never going to embrace an opportunity to get at him, for whether he likes me or not is of no great importance to me. I like him. I am, therefore, not going to place myself in the position of posing here as his guardian, to which he took exception, because if I was his guardian I would carry a whip around with me. Why? Well, in my judgment, as his guardian and his elder, he needs a spanking. The newspaper article says that Mayor Curley has proven himself to be the master mind. Is it a case where the Mayor cracked the whip? We have heard of cracking whips in this body before. No opportunity is left undone to talk about the Good Government whip that is being cracked over me, and I am so deaf I never heard it. Did the Mayor crack a whip? I have been told that the arguments that have changed the vote came from the Mayor's office. What were the arguments? I have heard only one—a wild, visionary one of a project that is going to cost forty to fifty millions, and the Legislature has not been asked to pass upon it. That is the only explanation that has been offered. I hope I am going to get some more. I hope I am going to find out how substantial were those arguments that came from the Mayor's office,—if they came from the Mayor's office, as I am told they did,—and I would like to know why the Mayor did not care to give me the benefit of his superior wisdom and judgment so that I may stand here and vote with greater enlightenment than I am going to be able to do because the Mayor has not seen fit to enlighten me. But he has seen fit to enlighten enough to turn a vote of seven against and two in favor to a vote of six in favor and three against, or in other words, he has just seen fit to enlighten enough votes to get six votes to pass the measure and the other three of us are neglected and ignored and treated as illegitimate children not entitled to the confidence of the Mayor. Was this the real crack of the whip we have heard so much about? Was it the crack of a whip that changed these votes, or was it some other argument, more substantial and more visible than a crack of the whip? What was it? I ask the question, and the public of Boston are going to continue to ask that question, and we have not heard the last of it here today.

The order was passed, yeas 6, nays 3, the vote being as follows:

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Ford, Moriarty Walsh, Watson—6.

Nays—Coun. Gilbody, Hagan, Lane—3.

PLAYGROUND, BALDWIN PLACE.

President BRICKLEY called up unfinished business, No. 4, viz.:

4. Ordered, That the sum of $70,000 be appropriated to be expended by the Park Commissioners for playground, Baldwin place, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

On July 31, 1922, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

Coun. WATSON in the chair.

TRANSFERS, MUNICIPAL BUILDING, OLD WARD 12.

Coun. WATSON called up unfinished business, No. 5, viz.:

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Recreation Building, West Roxbury, $25,000; Quincy Market Building, $7,000, to the appropriation for Municipal Building, Old Ward 12, furnishings, etc., $32,000.

On July 31, 1922, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

UNCLAIMED BAGGAGE.

Coun. WATSON for Coun. MORIARTY, for the Committee on Unclaimed Baggage, submitted a report on petition of Boston & Maine Railroad (referred August 7) for leave to sell unclaimed baggage—recommending the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the Boston & Maine Railroad be and hereby is authorized to sell at public auction on or before September 15, 1922, after publication of the time and place of sale, according to law, the articles left and remaining unclaimed in the possession of said railroad in the City of Boston.

Report accepted; order passed.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.50 p. m., on motion of Coun. BRICKLEY to take a recess subject to the call of the President. The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 4 o'clock p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. FORD, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on message of Mayor, communications and orders (referred today) transferring $1,000 in Park Department, and $791.71 in Public Works Department, Water Service—that the orders ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

2. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) for transfer for portion of Geneva avenue and East Second street to the custody of the Park Department for playground purposes—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE, CITY EMPLOYEES.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the heads of departments be authorized to grant a leave of absence, without loss of pay, to employees who are elected delegates by their respective bodies to attend the state convention of state, county and city employees on September 30, October 1 and 2, 1922.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a general reconsideration on all matters transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

NEXT MEETING.

Coun. DONOGHUE.—Mr. President, I know, of course, that the motion to adjourn for a month is not debatable, but I think that a rather long time to adjourn for.

President BRICKLEY.—You can call a special meeting at any time the Mayor wants or the Council wishes.

Coun. DONOGHUE.—We had an experience similar to this, Mr. President, about a month ago, where we moved to adjourn for a month and we had two special meetings called, to my knowledge, during the period we were supposed to be adjourned for. It seems to me that there is always something coming up from one week to the next, and I think that a great, big city like this, or city government, ought not to be adjourned for an entire month. I do not think it would be any great hardship upon the members of this Council to meet one day a week, on each Monday, and if any member of the Council is not present, why, most of the other members will be present, and the business of the city can be transacted. Of course, I know that there can be a special meeting called at any time, but still I believe we ought not to pass over to the Mayor or the President of the City Council the duty to call for special meetings. I think that we meet but little enough when we meet once a week, and I think that we ought to meet every week. I would like to amend that motion to adjourn, to meet one week from today.

Coun. HAGAN.—Mr. President, I hope the amendment will not prevail. It has been the custom of this body to adjourn for at least a month or six weeks during the heated term in pretty nearly every year, and never have we met unless pressing city business so compelled us. The calendar is now cleaned up, there isn't anything special that any of us know anything about that has to bring us here next Monday, and if there is anything special that does come up the Mayor always has it within his province and power to call a special meeting of the Council, or the President of the City Council has that power in his control, and there is nothing to prevent a meeting being called, with a quorum here to transact city business.

Adjourned to meet September 11, 1922, at two o'clock p. m.

Monday, August 28, 1922.

Special meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m., Councilor WATSON, senior member, presiding and a quorum present.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1909 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms.

UNDERGROUND RAPID TRANSIT IN BOSTON.

The Boston Transit Commission, consisting of five members, two appointed by the Governor and three by the Mayor, began its official existence July 1, 1894, and ended it July 1, 1918, after seven extensions of the original term. It constructed, under the authority of Acts of the Legislature, the following subways and tunnels, the ownership of which is vested in the City of Boston, and all costs to be covered by revenue from same, not by taxation; Tremont Street Subway from Broadway and Tremont st., South End, to North Station and from Boylston st., near Charles to Park st., 1.68 miles, opened to Park St. September 1, 1897, and to North Station on Sept. 3, 1898, costing with subsequent alterations, $4,416,000, the first municipal subway in the United States; East Boston Tunnel, from Maverick square, E. Boston, under Boston Harbor and State st. to Scollay square, Boston Proper, 1.42 miles, opened December 30, 1904, costing $3,336,000; Washington Street Tunnel, from Ash st. opp. Nassau, South End, to Traverse st., near North Station, 1.16 miles, opened November 30, 1908, costing $8,496,700 (including $2,850,000 land damages); Cambridge Connection Subway, from under Park st. station of Tremont St. Subway to Grove st., near Cambridge Bridge, 0.47 miles, opened March 23, 1912, costing $1,465,000; Boylston Street Subway, from Commonwealth ave., near Kenmore st., Back Bay, to Tremont St. Subway, near Charles st., 1.5 miles, opened October 3, 1914, costing $5,327,000; East Boston Tunnel Extension, from Scollay square to North Russell st., 0.41 miles, opened March 18, 1916, approximate cost, $2,450,000; Dorchester Tunnel, from Park st., Boston Proper, to Andrew square, South Boston, 2.26 miles, opened December 3, 1916, as far as South Station, on December 15, 1917 to Broadway, South Boston, and on June 29, 1918, to the Andrew Square terminal; trains of four or six cars are run in the Washington St. Tunnel, continuing on elevated track to Forest Hills, also in Dorchester Tunnel and connecting Cambridge Tunnel from Andrew sq., So. Boston to Harvard sq., Cambridge, while only single or double street-cars are run in the other tunnels and subways; amount borrowed to 1921 for the Dorchester tunnel, $10,750,000. Total cost of all subways and tunnels, about $36,995,000, incl. loan of $825,000 for new Arlington Station, against which a sinking fund of $5,818,710 has been accumulated from the revenue, payable mostly in 40 years from date of each loan (loans since 1911 payable in 45 years), annual interest averaging 3.8 per cent. These underground ways about 8.9 miles in all with total of 19.27 miles of single track were leased to the Boston Elevated Railway Company (which furnished the equipment) for term of 25 years (except Tremont Street 20 years) at annual rental of 4½ to 4⅞ per cent of net cost (except East Boston Tunnel which was at ⅜ of one per cent of all annual gross receipts of said company). In accordance with Chapter 741, Acts of 1911, the various leases were extended to July 1, 1936, the rental to be 4½ per cent of net cost after expiration of the first-term leases.

By Chap. 185, Special Acts of 1918, the powers of the Transit Commission, whose term expired that year, were transferred to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and City Treasurer, or such person or persons, not exceeding three, as the Mayor might appoint. By Chap. 3, Ordinances of 1918, the Transit Dept. was established as a regular City department, to be in charge of three commissioners.

POPULATION OF BOSTON BY WARDS.

In stating the population by wards and comparing same with the ward totals in 1915, various incredible decreases appear. The 1920 totals are as follows, with increase or decrease from 1915 stated for each ward by + or — sign: Wd. 1, 24,738 (+962); Wd. 2, 38,313 (—3,591); Wd. 3, 18,566 (— 2,450); Wd 4, 15,706 (—2,879); Wd. 5, 63.267 (—14,306); Wd. 6, 35,030 (—2,220); Wd. 7, 38.091 (+3,007); Wd. 8, 39,105 (+788); Wd. 9, 28.959 (—5.037); Wd. 10, 25,727 (—14); Wd.11, 26,875 (+641); Wd. 12, 28 015 (—1,401); Wd. 13, 26.380 (—4,153); Wd. 14, 26.003 (—1,796); Wd. 15, 25,960 (—265); Wd. 16. 29,363 (+3,959); Wd. 17, 27.277 (+1,424); Wd. 18, 28,547 (+2,670); Wd. 19, 24,810 (+2,062); Wd. 20, 26,546 (+3,588); Wd. 21, 33,938 (+7,439); Wd. 22, 25,989; (+2,177); Wd. 23, 24,904 (+3,462) Wd. 24. 23,849 (+1,234); Wd. 25, 22.8282 (+5,681); Wd. 26, 20.020 (+1,639). Gain of 40,733 in 15 wards, mostly in Wards 16 to 26 incl.; loss of 38,112 in 11 wards, mostly in Wds. 2 to 15 incl. These 11 wards contained 56.8 per cent of the foreign-born residents in the entire city in 1915.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to September 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Proposals for Sewerage Works in Broadway, from a Point About 65 Feet Northwest of Harrison Avenue to a Point 125 Feet Northwesterly, City Proper.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States, for sewerage works in Broadway from a point about 65 feet northwest of Harrison avenue to a point 125 feet northwesterly, city proper. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of seven hundred (700) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Plans and proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sewerage Works in Broadway," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Friday, September 8, 1922, with a certified check for one hundred and twenty-five (125) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Boston, August 31, 1922. (Sept. 2.)

POPULATION OF COUNTIES (U. S. CENSUS) WITH INCREASE OVER PREVIOUS CENSUS (STATE) RANKED FROM LARGEST.

(1) Suffolk (3 cities and 1 town) 835,522 or 8,721 over 1915; (2) Middlesex (11 cities and 43 towns) 778,352 or + 44,728; (3) Essex (9 cities and 25 towns) 482,156 or + 18,494; (4) Worcester (3 cities and 57 towns) 455,135 or + 24,432; (5) Bristol (4 cities and 16 towns) 359,005 or + 12,041; (6) Hampden (3 cities and 20 towns) 200,305 or + 37,361; (7) Norfolk (1 city and 27 towns) 219,081 or + 17,174; seven other counties (4 cities and 127 towns) 422,800 or — 3,905. Total for the 14 counties (38 cities and 316 towns) 3,852,356 or 159,046 (i. e., 4.3 per cent) over 1915. Of said total, 2,741,599 (i. e., 71.17 per cent) were in the cities and 1,110,757 (i. e., 28.83 per cent) in the towns. The four counties, Suffolk, Middlesex, Essex and Bristol contain 63.73 per cent of the state's inhabitants.

If the municipalities having a population of 5,000 or over are properly called urban, then the percentage of urban population in the entire state reaches the notable figure of 90, while the rural shows but 10 per cent.

BOSTON NOTES.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT OR "GREATER BOSTON."

Consists in the most inclusive sense of 40 municipalities, including Boston, or 14 cities and 26 towns, all within 15 miles of the State House. The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester. North and northwest of Boston are situated 11 of the cities and 12 of the towns; south and southwest, 2 cities and 14 towns. Area of Northern Division, 150.8 sq. miles and population in 1920, 699,685, or a density of 4,619 per sq. m.; Southern Division, 214.8 sq. miles and 211,191 population, or density of only 983 per sq. m.; in the whole Metropolitan District, 4,051 per sq. m. In percentages Boston shows 10.5 p. c. of District's area and 45.09 p. c. of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 42.18 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.73 of population. In the period 1915–1920, increase of population 34,798 larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

Total land area of District, 409.5 square miles; population by census of 1920, 1,658,936 or 4.08 per cent increase over that of 1915. Of the total population of the State, "Greater Boston" has 43.06 per cent; of total valuation, 51.23 per cent; of total value of manufactures, 32.21 per cent.

Total valuation of taxable property in District on April 1, 1920, $2,737,589,002, i. e., for realty and tangible personalty, including bank stock, intangible personalty being exempt from taxation (except income therefrom) in 1917 and thereafter. The said total exceeds the 1919 valuation by $130,698,130, a gain of 5.01 per cent. Of said total 57.57 per cent was in Boston and 42.43 per cent outside. The four organized Metropolitan Districts existing for the purpose of constructing and maintaining certain extensive systems of public works under State control are as follows: Metropolitan Park District, established by chapter 407, Acts of 1893, including all the cities and towns except Lexington, and managed by a State Board of five commissioners; Metropolitan Water District, established by chapter 488, Acts of 1895, including 10 cities and 9 towns, and covering an area of 175 square miles; Metropolitan Sewerage District, established by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, consisting of the North System and South System, including 17 cities and towns in the former system and 8 in the latter, and covering an area of 225 square miles; the last two districts managed by a single State board of three commissioners; Charles River Basin District, established by chapter 465, Acts of 1903, including all the cities and towns except Cohasset and Lexington, and in charge of the Metropolitan Park Commission. By Chap. 350, General Acts of 1919, the two Metropolitan boards were abolished and a single Metropolitan Commission of five members was established.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914 by the enactment of chapter 795. In this district are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading and Rockland, a total of 26 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. This office was also abolished by said Chap. 350, the work of same being transferred to Dept. of Public Safety.

Total gross Metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers and Charles River Basin improvements on July 1, 1920, $77,292,543; sinking funds, $27,263,179; net debt, $50,029,364 or $1,796,817 less than in 1919. The division of this net debt was Water supply, $26,399,132; sewers, $12,301,741; parks, boulevards, etc., $8,044,420; Charles River Basin, $3,284,071. Of the latter, $1,106,345 is payable by Boston alone, i. e., $640,884 for Boston Embankment, and $465,461 for Charles River Bridge. Of 1920 tax rates, the highest of all the cities was Quincy's ($32.20) and the highest among the towns, Saugus's ($35.95); the lowest among the cities was Boston's ($24.10) and among the towns, Dover's ($9.00). Mean tax rate of the 13 cities in the District outside of Boston, $29.10 or $3.29 more than in 1919. Mean tax rate of the 26 towns, $24.61 or $3.87 more than in 1919. There were in the District in 1918, 4,319 manufacturing establishments, value of product, $1,240,496,193; capital invested, $672,377,072; value of stock and materials used, $737,506,555; total wages paid, $210,781,794; average number of wage earners, 212,629 (maximum number 251,867); increase over 1917 product, 30.87 per cent. Rank, 1 to 12, in value of product: Boston, $522,646,032; Lynn, $130,386,667; Cambridge, $130,022,595; Somerville, $107,572,650; Quincy, $85,248,312; Watertown, $53,131,801; Everett, $34,366,419; Chelsea, $31,492.524; Malden, $20,583,671; Woburn, $18,786,306; Waltham, $17,608,720; Newton, $14,817,126. Boston's total product value was 42.13 per cent of the Metropolitan District's.

PORT OF BOSTON.

Best of natural harbors, sheltered, spacious for anchorage, main ship channel 35 feet in depth at low tide, near open sea, area about 6,300 acres; waterfront (i. e., lineal pier space) 40 miles, 6 miles fronting on 30 feet depth at low water. A 45-foot channel from entrance of harbor to President Roads, and 40-foot from there to wharves will be dredged in the near future. New Commonwealth Pier No. 5, South Boston, 1,200 feet long, 400 feet wide, accommodating five 600-foot ships at one time, 40 feet depth at mean low water on both sides, with three 2-story fireproof buildings of steel and concrete construction, containing 900,000 square feet of floor space; total cost of this enterprise to State, $4,500,000. Commonwealth Pier No. 6, South Boston (Fish Pier), buildings on same erected by lessee, Boston Fish Market Corporation, cost to State, $1,487,361. New Commonwealth Pier No. 1, East Boston, 900 feet long, costing State $764,600 for site and about $345,000 for construction. New dry dock at South Boston (probably the largest in world), completed in 1919, 1,200 feet long and 120 wide, costing over $3,000,000 and taken by U. S. Government at total cost of same to State. Islands in Boston Harbor over 3 acres in area, 17, with total area of 965 acres; Long Island the largest, or 215.5 acres. Owned by United States, 392 acres; by City of Boston, 334 acres. Number of wharves, 146, of which 8 are owned by the City. There are 24 foreign steamship lines. In 1915 a revision of the harbor lines was made and the project undertaken whereby 600 acres of flats between Governor's Island and Jeffries Point, East Boston, will be filled in and used for extensive commercial development under State control.

In April, 1918, the Government decided to establish its Army Supply Base on a portion of the Commonwealth lands in South Boston. About 57.6 acres were purchased of the State, the price being $1,317,510, quickly followed by the construction of two pier sheds, each 920 feet long, a wharf shed and other buildings, including one of the largest storehouses in the world, built of reinforced concrete, eight stories high, 1,638 feet long, 126 feet wide and with floor space of over 1,650,000 square feet. The total outlay for the plant was about $26,000,000.

Total Federal expenditure for improvement of Boston Harbor from 1790 to June 30, 1918, $12,525,981; total expended and provided for by State, $18,364,947 since 1859.

HOW THE CITY DOLLAR WAS SPENT DURING THE LAST FINANCIAL YEAR.

For Public Schools, $0.23 cents (if the total amount appropriated had been expended, the correct figure would be 0.262); Public Works, 0.176; State Tax and Assessments, 0.133; Debt Requirements, 0.12; Police Dept., 0.08; Fire Dept., 0.07; Institutions and Poor Relief, 0.039; Hospitals and Health, 0.038; General Government, 0.037; County Courts, etc., 0.037; Public Recreation, 0.027; Public Library, 0.013, making a total of 100 cents. This excludes all expenditures from loans, etc., but includes Special Appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income.

The revenue of the departments amounted to 16 per cent of their gross expenditures. The revenue of Public Service Enterprises alone (including Water Service, Markets, etc.) amounted to $3,997,166 or $234,117 more than their total expenditures. The fractions of the dollar above stated represent net expenditure, computed after deducting department revenue.

Revenue from another class of public $19,979.55 more than the interest and sinking-fund requirements of the Rapid service enterprise, i. e., Rapid Transit subways and tunnels, $1,446,516.75 or Transit debt in 1920.

INCORPORATION OF BOSTON.

Boston was incorporated as a city February 23, 1822, this being the date when the Act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said Act, viz. Chap. 110, 1821-22, as its first City Charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. Ten futile attempts had previously been made to incorporate as a city, viz., in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. Revised charter adopted in 1854. Charter again revised in 1885 and amended in 1909.

ADDRESS OF COL. GEORGES A. L. DUMONT, MILITARY ATTACHE OF THE EMBASSY OF FRANCE, WASHINGTON, D. C., DELIVERED AT THE CEREMONIES UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE CITY OF BOSTON, UPON THE 165TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BIRTH OF THE MARQUIS DE LAFAYETTE AND THE EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF THE MARNE, BOSTON COMMON, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1922.

Your Honor, Ladies and Gentlemen, and Friends.

It is my honor and privilege, as representing here today the French Ambassador, to convey to you the messages sent from France to your national committee.

Message from M. Millerand, President of the French Republic, to the Committee of the "Lafayette Day."

"I congratulate your committee for associating, in the commemoration of September 6, the remembrance of the French hero of the American Independence and the battle of the Marne, that first and decisive victory in the new war for liberty in which the United States were to take part. You are thus evoking glorious examples of patriotism and generosity common to both of our countries and capital in the history of the world."

Message from M. Poincare, Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs.

"The name of Lafayette cannot fail to remind of your revolution and of ours, origin of our two great democracies. The name of the river Marne cannot but evoke the battlefields through which it flows, the one of September 6 and the one of Chauteau Thierry, where once more French and American blood was shed for liberty. Your committee was auspiciously inspired in associating the commemoration of these two events which have had such remarkable consequences in the history of both countries. Therefore I wish to congratulate you most cordially."

Message from M. Jusserand, Ambassador to the United States.

"From the land of Joffre and Lafayette I send the warmest greetings to our American friends on this auspicious double date so important in the history of liberty in our two countries and in the world. What we were then, we shall ever be."

Ladies and Gentlemen and my dear Comrades:

I am most happy to have been selected to come here, on behalf of the French government, in order to bring you the fraternal greetings of my old beloved country, France; and at the same time I feel it is a perilous honor for me to address such an audience on such a day.

This is a great day indeed.

You celebrate the birthday of the man who came from France to lend his arm, his name and his prestige to the cause of human liberty, represented by the thirteen colonies in that day.

And is it not a wonderful accident of fate that on the birthday of Lafayette, who did his very best to secure the independence of the people of the United States, there should have been fought out upon the soil of France the battle which was to determine not only the liberties of France, not alone the liberties of the self-governing nations of Europe, but maybe also the liberties of countries over the seas.

If General Joffre had failed to stop them at the Marne, the onward march of autocracy would not have been stopped for years and years to come.

So we justly celebrate together Lafayette and Joffre, the man of Yorktown and the man of the Marne, the American victory and the French victory, and above all the victory of liberty and democracy against autocracy, of right against might and violence.

Considering the way the national committee has honored Lafayette upon his anniversary, I presume and even know that the prediction of President Andrew Jackson is fulfilled, and that Lafayette's memory is really "second only to that of Washington in the hearts of the American people." And we French people fully realize what that means.

After so many orators of the last seven years, all over the country, and here today, how could I venture to tell you anything new about this true son of liberty, this major-general in the army of the United States at the age of twenty years.

Speaking in this great city, may I recall one simple fact. When the Revolution in France was raging, Lafayette wanted to send his only son into another country for safety, and he decided to send this young man, George Washington Lafayette, to this country, and General Washington sent him to Boston, entrusting him to the care of Senator George Cabot, great-grandfather, if I am well informed, of the present senior senator from Massachusetts.

And furthermore is it not fitting to recall that two gallant young officers who could boast of having Lafayette's blood in their veins, and were allowed to revive the name of Du Motier de Lafayette, were killed during the World War when fighting, as their ancestor did, for liberty and the foundations of the world's peace.

And we hope they have not died in vain.

Now perhaps, as I am a soldier, you expect me to say a few words about the military side of the Battle of the Marne, and about our great leader of those days, familiarly called "Papa" Joffre. Now you have seen Marshal Joffre in Boston, five years ago. He was then the same as he was at his headquarters in 1914, and just the same as he is today, beloved by the soldiers and by France. I speak of this knowingly, because I served under him before and during the war. It was he who specially detailed me from his general staff to the staff of General Gallieni, commanding the armies of Paris; and under these circumstances you will allow me to refer mainly to my personal recollections of exactly what happened on and about the 6th day of September, 1914.

Our armies had been compelled to a most strenuous retreat, and the left wing had reached the Marne on September 3, a line north of the Seine and of Paris, on September 5. The pressure from the enemy was very heavy; everything seemed to go wrong for us, but the chiefs of our armies were waiting for their hour to come at last.

Waiting more anxiously than others, because of his being responsible for Paris, was General Gallieni, watching, on a big map in the office, the movements of the enemy's right wing, then under the orders of General von Kluck, commanding the 1st German Army. All of us came now and then to the chart room, anxious for news.

One afternoon we saw the big lines showing that the enemy columns were turning away from Paris. General Gallieni immediately ordered all available troops of the armies of Paris to throw themselves on the flank of the enemy, reporting at once to General Joffre. And General Joffre, receiving the message, understood that the opportunity he had long looked for had come at last, whereupon he directed all armies to cease retreating and to forge ahead.

On the morning of September 5, when all our soldiers were rushing forward, came out the ever famous order of the French commander-in-chief:

"At this moment, when a battle is about to begin on which depends the fate of our country, we must remind everyone that there is no longer time to look back; all efforts must aim at attacking and repelling the enemy. Any unit that can no longer advance must at all costs keep the conquered land and die on the spot rather than fall back. Under the present circumstances no failure can be tolerated."

It is on behalf of the date of this order that this great battle, the Battle of the Marne, is celebrated on the 6th of September; and it is because of this order, responded to so nobly by our sons, that General Joffre is justly called the Victor of the Marne.

France and America have been bound together to see that democracy, that self-government, that human liberty, should not perish from the earth; and thanks to America we have seen this great struggle to its ultimate conclusion and to victory.

I know the part that Massachusetts and Boston played in this. As Lafayette volunteered to come to the aid of America, there were also sons of this city and state, who, with the same spirit as the man you are honoring today, volunteered to go to the aid of their brothers of France.

The names and deeds of Prince, Farnsworth and Putnam are well known. And what are the praises I cannot sing of the numerous relief committees founded in Boston, such as the American Field Service, the Committee of the Fatherless Children of France, the Fund for French Wounded, the Lafayette Kit, the Surgical Dressing Committee, and the Committee for Devastated France.

The gratitude of France extends to all those who left their homes and families to fight side by side with us, and I, as a soldier of France, want to compliment and thank the comrades in arms who are here with us today.

M. Jusserand, speaking on this same day four years ago, said:

"Hand in hand, when the day comes, after years of suffering and of hope, having perfected that great task, with an equal courage and abnegation, the honest nations of the world will walk towards the temple of justice, two of them will look like twin sisters, the Republic of America and the Republic of France."

This day has come.

May the people of the two republics, under the Stars and Stripes, and the Tricolor banners, their blue, white and red flags, continue their joint devotion to those names and to the spirit of justice they symbolized,—Lafayette-La Marne.

ADDRESS OF HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, MAYOR, DELIVERED AT THE CEREMONIES UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE CITY OF BOSTON, UPON THE 165TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BIRTH OF THE MARQUIS DE LAFAYETTE AND THE EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF THE MARNE, BOSTON COMMON, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1922.

This day is the anniversary of two great events in human history pregnant with importance to America, the world and to humanity and both events are interwoven with the annals of the pleasant land of France.

One hundred and sixty-five years ago there was born into the world a son in one of the ancient and historic families of France, a house saturated with the traditions of days and deeds that had meant so much for the religion, civilization and progress of Western Europe, the mother of America. This boy, Lafayette, grew to young manhood with a great and generous soul which bore the impress of a great inheritance of chivalrous achievement, and the impelling sense of great causes which make the sacrifice of self a duty and a refusal to answer the call a disgrace. This young man, the Marquis Lafayette, heard the cry of a weak congeries of colonies in America struggling for human liberty and seeking to cast off the oppression of a mighty king and empire; and putting aside the pleasures and preferments of the most polished court of Europe, the ties of home, and the bonds of kinship, he answered the call and came with his soul aflame to offer his sword and service to America.

The youth and charm of Lafayette caught the imagination of both France and America; and these, united with his unquestioned military talents, made him a welcome guest and ally in the tents of Washington and the ranks of his army, and did their share in inspiring the hearts and nerving the souls of the men in arms against England and her king.

America has never forgotten Lafayette and his service to the struggling colonies. His name is written indelibly into the history of the Republic; a thousand places within our frontiers bear his name, and hundreds of thousands have been proud to name their children for this chivalrous son of France, this friend of human liberty, who was potent in planting a branch of liberty's tree on the soil of his own beloved France.

While human liberty endures and the flag of America flaunts the skies, Lafayette will be a name to conjure with.

Eight years ago today the fate of human liberty hung in the balance; government of the people, for the people, by the people was facing the greatest peril France had encountered since the days of Valmy; irresponsible militarism and unbridled autocracy were moving to the destruction of democracy; and all the world watched the struggle with bated breath. The great decision, the victory of free government and the defeat of militant imperialism, was given on the Marne, and when bleeding but triumphant democracy emerged from the smoke and slaughter of the day the world rejoiced, for indomitable France and modern civilization were saved on the banks of that historic river. It is fitting and proper that Boston, the cradle of American liberty should mark this splendid anniversary and give to France her thanks and felicitations for the valor of her unconquerable legions and the salvation of the world's civilization. Let me say to the official representatives of the French Republic that America will not, cannot, dare not, forget her services to us and the world; for while the magnificent spirit of the French nation endures and the splendor of her tradition of service to humanity and freedom remain, democracy and civilization cannot perish.

FILM PRODUCTION ENDORSED.

A most conspicuous stand was taken in favor of beinging about imperative legislation for the use of noninflammable films in the motion picture world and for nonprofessional uses by Boston representatives at the International Association of Fire Engineers' convention in San Francisco last month Chief John O. Taber of the Boston Fire Department offered a resolution, unanimously adopted, calling upon federal, state and municipal governments to take steps to prohibit by law the use of nitro-cellulose, or inflammable, motion picture films after January 1, 1925. This was supplemented by a most able and convincing address by Secretary Franklin H Wentworth of the National Fire Protection Association of Boston, which emphasized some of the reasons why insistence should be laid on the necessity of barring the inflammable films The Taber resolution does not seem to be burdensome, as it gives the manufacturers two years in which to adjust themselves. In that time the great bulk of current films will have become of little value and the trade supplied with the new noninflammable films Such educational films as have been made on the old stock can be properly stored, or if in demand, reproduced from the negatives on the new stock The argument of the producers is that the noninflammable film costs more, some three fourths of a cent per foot more, and that the pictures produced are not as clear The cost can hardly be considered a strong argument in the face of the danger to life and property from the inflammable film. Moreover there is a very heavy burden of expense incurred because of the use of the quick burning film which might be largely obviated If the safer film has not the photographic possibilities, which seems doubtful in view of the fact it is used for the finest of educational films, that is a problem for the manufacturers to solve and it should not be a difficult one The city of Paris has passed an ordinance barring the inflammable film after 1925. If such a law is good for Paris it is good for American cities With the increased use of motion picture cameras, and new models for amateurs are now appearing in the market, as noninflammable film becomes an important consideration

Public Works Department (Artificial Stone Sidewalks).

Upon September 7 the Mayor approved the setting of edgestone and laying of artificial stone sidewalks in Wachusett street and Walk Hill street, near St. Andrew's Church, West Roxbury, with the division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, September 6, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to set edgestone and lay artificial stone sidewalks on Wachusett street and Walk Hill street, around St. Andrew's Church, West Roxbury, with division force, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $900. This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Works Department (Bridge Service).

Upon September 7 the Mayor approved the laying of asphalt pavement on Cambridge street, from the Boston & Albany Railroad to 163 feet east of North Beacon street, Union square, Brighton, with the division force. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, September 6, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to lay sheet asphalt pavement in Cambridge street, from Boston & Albany Railroad to 163 feet east of North Beacon street, Union square, Brighton, with division force, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $20,000. This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Supply Department.

Upon September 6 the Mayor approved a contract with the East Boston Coal Company for furnishing approximately 1,000 tons of New River or Pocahontas bituminous coal for public buildings. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, September 1, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising for same, to the East Boston Coal Company for furnishing approximately 1,000 tons of New River or Pocahontas semibituminous coal to the various public buildings of the City of Boston from September 1, 1922, to October 1, 1922, at a price of $11.50 per ton.

Under date of August 29 prices were requested on the above requirements for coal from practically the entire list of coal dealers in Boston, and bids were received as follows: Metropolitan Coal Company, $11,75; East Boston Coal Company, $11.50. An analysis of these two bids show the cost per million B. T.U. to be as follows: Metropolitan Coal Company, 41.23; East Boston Coal Company, 40.57.

In view of the prevailing conditions in the coal situation, which I have emphasized before, I request that the permission asked for be granted.

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

An addition, amounting to $75, on contract with the Holbrook Construction Company for laying bitulithic and recutting granite block pavement in Marie and Tilton streets, Dorchester, on acount of constructing concrete retaining walls to support the artificial stone sidewalks where directed, for the sum of $14 per cubic yard. Original contract, $47,621.75; total addition, $250; contract as standing, $47,871.75.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR.

September 27, 1922, will mark the bicentenary of the birth of Samuel Adams, a patriot, whose devotion to human liberty, representative free government, and the principles of democracy, made him the outstanding figure of the Bay State Colony when Massachusetts began the struggle for American independence and during the bitter years of the Revolution and the days that tried men's souls.

His intrepid courage, unyielding tenacity, firm resolution and unfaltering fidelity to the cause he fostered and inspired, coupled with his constant and fearless advocacy of the patriot cause and his stubborn opposition to oppressor and oppression earned him the admiration and loyalty of his fellow citizens and the fierce resentment of the king and his adherents.

Samuel Adams lived and wrought greatly and dying he passed into the glorious confraternity of America's immortals, writing his name and fame indelibly into the history of his country and his times. His work has endured, and as the years go by and strange doctrines echo in American ears it is well to recall his teachings and recount his activities that free American government may endure.

Now, therefore, as Mayor of Boston I direct that the flag of the Republic be flown over every public building of the city on September 22, and I ask the citizens of Boston to recall the splendid courage and patriotism of Samuel Adams and hang out their flags in honor of the man and the day.

Here in the city of his greatest activities we must never forget the man and his services to liberty and humanity, for his accomplishments are among our most treasured heritages.

"Only the actions of the just Smell sweet and blossom in the dust."

Given at City Hall, Boston, September 7, 1922.

James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

LETTER OF APPRECIATION.

Mayor Curley received the following letter of appreciation upon the 7th instant:

Vice Consuldao dos Estados
Unidos do Brazil
em Boston, Mass.
September 6, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Honorable Sir,—I have the honor and pleasure to acknowledge receipt of the courteous telegram of felicitations sent by your Honor, in the name of the great City of Boston, the home of the immortal cradle of American Liberty, to the United States of Brazil, upon the first centennial of her independence.

Permit me, Mr. Mayor, to extend to the City of Boston, and to you personally, in the name of Brazil which I have the honor to represent, the expression of its sincere appreciation of your warm salutations, and the hope for the continual prosperity of Boston and its citizens, and a warmer and closer relationship between the two sister Republics.

Please accept, Mr. Mayor, the protests of my high esteem and consideration.

M. A. Almeida,
Commercial Agent.

LAFAYETTE-MARNE CEREMONIES.

The observance of the 165th anniversary of the birth of Marquis de Lafayette and of the eighth anniversary of the Battle of the Marne, under the auspices of the City of Boston, upon Boston Common, upon the 6th instant, was attended by 3,000 persons.

The Parkman Bandstand was decorated with the Stars and Stripes and with the Tricolor of France, while a distinct military touch was lent to the affair by the presence of the 59th Company, C. A. C., under command of Lieut. P. W. Cole.

Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards was represented by Col. H. G. Learned, chief of staff of the 1st Corps Area, while Ambassador Jusserand, who is now in France, was represented by Col. Georges A. L. Dumont, military attache of the French Embassy at Washington.

The addresses of Mayor Curley and Colonel Dumont are published in the current issue of the City Record.

Rene Gingras, a student at Boston College, read a patriotic poem in honor of France. Miss Josephine Knight sang the "Marseillaise" in French and then sang "The Star-Spangled Banner," receiving great applause. The ceremonies were concluded with benediction by Rev. Fr. Joseph F. Sollier.

The ceremonies were notable and greatly appreciated by the French residents of Boston.

William Burns, in behalf of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, presented the following resolution, which was enthusiastically adopted:

Whereas, The service rendered by the men and women of America in the army, navy and Marine Corps during the World War was the determining factor through which success became possible; and

Whereas, The United States loaned to the allied governments the sum of ten billion dollars, a portion of which sum has been utilized by the allied governments for the payment of bonuses to their soldiers; and

Whereas, The Congress of the United States in its wisdom has seen fit to enact legislation providing for adjusted compensation to Americans who served in the World War; be it and it is hereby

Resolved, That upon this, the eighth anniversary of the Battle of the Marne, we, the citizens of Boston, assembled upon Boston Common to honor the memory of the Marquis de Lafayette, upon the occasion of his 165th birthday, and to pay tribute to the heroic dead who died for the preservation of free government at the Battle of the Marne, do hereby indorse the action of Congress, and pray that the bill as passed, providing as it does some measure of equity and justice for Americans who served in the World War, be approved by his Excellency the President of the United States, Warren G. Harding.

Mayor Curley extended a luncheon in honor of Col. Georges A. L. Dumont, military attache of the French Embassy, at Young's Hotel, at the conclusion of the ceremonies.

The guests included: Col. Georges A. L. Dumont, military attache of the Embassy of France; Hon. J. C. F. Flamand, Consul of France; Mr. Burns, charge d'affaires Consulate of Great Britain; Hon. Thomas F. Robbins, Consul of Belgium; Hon. Arthur P. Cushing, Consul of Bolivia; Hon. Joseph F. O'Connell; Hon. Pedro Mackay d'Almeida, Consul of Brazil; Rodolfo G. Betancourt, Counselor of the Cuban Consulate; Hon. Eugene N. Foss; Hon. Georges H. Barrel, Consul of Switzerland; Charles A. Coolidge; Hon. Eduardo O. Carvalho, Consul of Portugal; Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, Corporation Counsel; William D. Quint, Editor of Boston Post; George E. Phelan; Bruce Wetmore; John H. Johnson; J. Philip O'Connell; Commander Doyle of the American Legion; Gen. John H. Dunn, commander Veterans of Foreign Wars; A. J. Gordon, editor of the Boston Herald. Hon. Sherman L. Whipple; J. W. McKee, associate editor of the Boston Transcript and representatives of the Boston press assigned to City Hall.

MINERS APPEAL TO MAYOR.

Mayor Curley received the following telegram upon the 1st instant:

Philadelphia, Penn.,
September 1, 1922.

Mayor, Boston, Mass.:

Faced by miners' demand for continuation of old wages beyond next April, which would mean continuation of present prices, the producers of anthracite coal are seeking to find out whether the public approves of conceding this demand as a means of bringing about the prompt resumption of production necessary to secure an adequate supply of fuel for the coming winter. Our attitude more fully outlined in statement printed in today's papers. Shall greatly appreciate telegram from you today stating whether your community favors conceding the demand in view of existing emergency.

S. D. Warriner,
Chairman Anthracite Operators.

Mayor Curley sent the following telegram in reply to the miners' request:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
September 1, 1922.

S. D. Warriner, Chairman Anthracite Operators, Philadelphia, Penn.:

As Mayor of Boston I desire to be recorded in favor of the continuation of the old wage beyond April to anthracite coal miners. The New England section of the United States are familiar with the use of anthracite coal for fuel, and the adoption of bituminous coal as a substitute not only entails inconvenience but real hardship. Boston is less concerned about the question of wages than it is about the question of supply of coal. The people of New England need anthracite coal and are desirous that the strike, which in the opinion of most people should never have been permitted, should in the interests of public health and public welfare be ended without further inquiry or quibble.

James M. Curley, Mayor.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT.

An extension of time has been granted for the completion of the contract made with De Christoforo Brothers Company for laying and relaying water pipes in Bourne street, Gardner street, Grouse street, Hautevale street and Louder's lane, from September 2 to September 16, 1922. This request for extension is asked as the contractor was delayed owing to bad weather.

LABOR REPORT FOR AUGUST.

There was a decided improvement in business during August, according to the records of the Massachusetts Public Employment Office. The number of orders from employers shows an increase of 14 per cent over July, also an increase of 7 per cent over August last year. The number of people wanted by employers shows an increase of 8 per cent over July and an increase of 12 per cent over the same month a year ago. The number of positions reported filled shows an increase of 11 per cent over the previous month, also an increase of 6 per cent over August, 1921.

The attendance of applicants for employment shows an increase of 19 per cent over July, but a decrease of 53 per cent from August last year.

During the month 1,998 service men (1,138 soldiers, 860 sailors) visited the office in search of work. Of this number, 134 (101 soldiers, 33 sailors) were given cards of introduction to firms and 117 (92 soldiers, 25 sailors) secured positions.

The increased activity in the building industry shows many contractors are in need of bricklayers, plumbers, plasterers, sheet metal workers, roofers, carpenters and painters, while the supply which was once heavy is now practically depleted of skilled able men and any applicant for this line of work is quickly placed. Some branches of the metal trades, blacksmiths, molders' helpers, grinders and chippers, are active and there is a scarcity of applicants. During the latter part of the month there was some activity in the clothing industry, the call being principally for pressmen. The demand in the automobile and printing industries has been very quiet with a good supply of applicants, looking for work. There has been very little doing in the machinists' line and in the steam trades. There is a strong demand for all kinds of skilled mechanics in shipyards, with very few acceptable men applying.

The call for able-bodied laborers, especially for pick and shovel work, continues to be heavy, with very few good men available. The call for farmers who can milk and for man and wife on farms has been good, but suitable applicants are hard to secure. There has been a little more activity in the demand for casual workers, with every position easily filled.

The opening of schools has increased the demand for boys for errands, offices and apprenticeships. The supply of the right kind of boys is small, but there are large numbers of boys visiting the office daily who are indifferent as to whether they work or not and will only accept positions which offer big money.

In the women's branches there has been a little more activity. During the latter part of the month there has been a better demand for factory workers in candy, drugs and box making. The demand for power stitchers has been fairly good, with only a small supply of applicants. There has been a fair demand for hospital attendants and a number of positions have been filled. The demand for housework girls continues to be heavy, but very few positions have been filled because the wages offered were not attractive enough to interest the applicants. There has been a better demand for building cleaners and day workers, with an oversupply of competent help.

The average daily demand was 56, as compared with 51 in 1921; 105 in 1920; 71 in 1919; 104 in 1918; 93 in 1917; 95 in 1916, and 61 in 1915.

The average daily number of positions reported filled was 38, as compared with 37 in 1921; 56 in 1920; 47 in 1919; 61 in 1918; 60 in 1917; 61 in 1916; 47 in 1915.

Superintendent and U. S. Special Agent.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

Carmine Russo has been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for laying and relaying water pipes in Bellevue street, Catherine road, Cowing street, Frances street, Kingsboro park, Martin street, Richards avenue, West Roxbury, and Central avenue, Walter street and Winthrop street, Hyde Park. Items ordered: Locating old 6-inch main in Central avenue, Hyde Park—the estimated cost of extra work being $20.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Louder's lane, between a point about 400 feet southwest of Centre street and a point 502 feet westerly, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $3,184.

A sanitary sewer of concrete, 8 feet by 8 feet 6 inches, 8 feet 6 inches by 5 feet 8 inches, and 13-inch earthen pipe and two catch-basins in Hereford street, between Beacon street and Public Alley No. 428, in the Back Bay district, at an estimated cost of $34,939.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Centre street, northwest side, between 200 feet northeast of Green Hill avenue and a point 874 feet northeast and east in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $8,810.

A surface drain of concrete, 5 feet 6 inches and 4 feet 3 inches, Spring Street Brook, in Centre street, Board of Survey Street No. 487, and in private land, between Centre street and a point 983 feet southeast and easterly to a point about 95 feet west of Landseer street, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $29,251.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 124.

The Superintendent of Police is hereby directed to make the following details for duty at the State primary in this city on Tuesday, September 12, 1922:

1. Three patrolmen for duty in the office of the Board of Election Commissioners, City Hall Annex, from 12 o'clock noon, Monday, September 11, 1922, such detail to continue until all ballots cast at the primary have been returned.

2. An officer of rank above that of sergeant for duty at the City Hall Annex, to supervise the police detail, from 4 o'clock a. m., Tuesday, 12th inst., until relieved.

3. Three patrolmen for duty at the office of the Election Commissioners at 11.30 o'clock a. m., Monday, 11th inst., to guard ballots in transit on trucks at door of office of the Election Commissioners to its vaults in the basement of City Hall Annex.

4. The necessary number of patrolmen from the several police divisions to attend the several polling places in this city on state primary day, to preserve order and protect voters in the full exercise of their rights.

5. Two patrolmen from Division [illegible] to report at office of Board of Election Commissioners at 3 o'clock a. m., Tuesday 12th inst., and there to receive ballot boxes, ballots and other paraphernalia required for the primary in Ward 24, and deliver same on motor vehicle, furnished by the Election Commissioners, to the station house of Division 18.

6. Twenty-five sergeants, one to a motor vehicle, to report at office of the Election Commissioners, City Hall Annex, Court square, at 4 o'clock a. m., (excepting the sergeants for Wards 21 and 23, who will report at 3.30 o'clock a. m.), Tuesday, September 12, 1922; thence to proceed in such vehicle with ballot boxes ballots, etc., to the several precincts in their respective wards (Ward 24 excepted), and deliver same to the police officer detailed in each precinct.

7. Nine patrolmen from Division 18, one patrolman from Division 19 and one patrolman from Division 17, to report at the station house of Division 18, at 4.30 o'clock a. m., Tuesday, September 12; thence to proceed in a motor vehicle to be provided for the purpose with the ballot boxes and other paraphernalia and distribute the same in the various precincts of Ward 24.

8. One patrolman to each of the 274 precincts, to report at 5 o'clock a. m., Tuesday, September 12, to receive ballot boxes, etc., from sergeants detailed on motor trucks, in such cases provided; such detail to continue until the ballots are counted and the result declared. They are then to bring the ballots and returns to the Election Commissioners' office.

9. Cards with the ward and precinct number and location of voting booth printed thereon have been forwarded to the several police divisions, on which the division commander will write the name, the division number and the number of the officer detailed at 5 a. m., September 12, at the voting booth of each respective precinct on his division. This card, to be given to the officer so detailed at the voting booth, will be retained in his possession until delivered by him to an employee of the Board of Election Commissioners, who will arrive accompanying a sergeant on motor vehicle from the Election Commissioners' office on the morning of September 12, with ballot boxes, ballots, etc., as hereinbefore stated. This card, when returned by such employee to the office of the Election Commissioners, will be its receipt that the ballot boxes, ballots, etc., have arrived at their proper destination.

In the case of Ward 24, such cards, after having been properly filled out by the division commander, will be given to the two patrolmen who are to report at the office of the Election Commissioners at 3 o'clock a. m., Tuesday, 12th inst., a herein stated, and are to be delivered by them to the Election Commissioners on receipt of the ballot boxes, ballots, etc.

10. On receipt by the patrolman from the sergeant, detailed on motor vehicle, as herein provided, of registering ballot box, voting lists and such other documents as may have been received from the Election Commissioners, the patrolman detailed at polling place will deliver same to the warden or clerk of the precinct, allowing no person to take or handle them before such delivery, and hand the key of the registering ballot box to the warden. On delivery of ballots to the warden, the patrolman will take from him a receipt for the ballots, which receipt will be returned to the Election Commissioners.

11. After the warden has opened the box and allowed the election officers and the public to see that it is empty, the box is to be again locked and the key given to the patrolman, who is to retain it until after the polls have closed, except that, at the request of the warden, the patrolman may allow him to open the box for the purpose of pressing down the ballots, in order to make room for more ballots, after which the patrolman will see that the box is again locked, and the key returned to the police officer.

12. The patrolman will obtain from the warden copies of poster, which will be sent to the latter, in relation to smoking and the use of liquor in polling places, and post same in conspicuous places where it may be easily read. Tacks will be sent for the purpose.

13. The warden will deliver to the patrolman detailed at the polling place for his use at that place a copy of the descriptive voting list, which must be returned to the warden at the close of the polls.

14. When the polls are opened, the patrolman will mark in the place indicated on the tag attached to the key the figures which the register shows before any ballots are cast.

15. At 4 p. m., Tuesday, September 12, when the polls close, one sergeant will report in each of the twenty-six wards (Ward 24 excepted), to meet motor vehicle at last point of morning distribution; thence to proceed to each of the several precincts in his respective ward, and receive registering ballot box (which must be locked) and key thereof, voting lists envelope, signed by the warden and other election officers, receipt for ballots, unused ballot envelope (containing unused and spoiled ballots), stamps for marking spoiled ballots, carry them to the Election Commissioners' office and deliver same to some member of the Board of Election Commissioners.

16. When the polls are closed, the patrolman will mark on the same tag the figures which the register shows after all ballots have been cast. He will then hand the key to the warden, who will open the box and take out all the ballots to be sorted and counted. The warden will then cause the voting lists, including the list used by the police officer, to be sealed up in an envelope and the envelope certified by the signatures of himself and the other election officers, and the same returned to the Election Commissioners, as described in section 15 of this order. The patrolman will not allow this envelope to be put into the ballot box. The sergeant, who will report on motor vehicle, will keep it about his person until delivery at the office of the Election Commissioners. The unused and spoiled ballots are then to be put in the envelope for unused ballots, and the envelope sealed and certified.

17. When returning from polls, all motor vehicles must drive to the easterly side of City Hall Annex, Court square, where ballot boxes will be conveyed by chute to the basement.

18. It is important that the patrolman sees that the voting lists envelope is signed by the warden, clerk, and all the inspectors. The patrolman will also see that the special book for signatures of voters is returned in the registering ballot box.

19. In case a patrolman is detailed to relieve another after the close of the polls the commanding officer will see that he is instructed as to the duty of bringing the official returns, the box of ballots cast and the press return to the Election Commissioners' office as soon as they are delivered to him by the election officers.

20. When the ballots have all been counted, the ballots thus counted, tally sheets and nothing else, shall be placed by the warden in the leatheroid box sent for that purpose, which must be sealed up and signed by all the election officers. The patrolman will particularly see that this box is properly sealed up and that all the election officers have signed their names to the certificate on the box. The patrolman will then bring the box, official return, press return and stamps for marking defective ballots to the City Hall Annex, Court square, and deliver same to the Election Commissioners. The patrolman is directed not to allow the official return or record book to be placed in the leatheroid box.

21. After the close of the polls, a vehicle, to be provided for the purpose, will be sent to the various precincts in Ward 24, to bring police officers with regular ballot boxes, unused ballots, etc., to the station house of Division 18, from which place only two police officers need accompany the motor vehicle with the regular ballot boxes, unused ballots, etc., to the office of the Election Commissioners.

22. While the polls remain open, an officer of rank will visit the polling places in each division at stated intervals, to be designated by the captain, and in case of any disturbance will report the fact to the commanding officer at the station house without delay. If additional men are needed beyond the number available in that division, the officer in charge will communicate immediately with headquarters.

(Note.—Refreshments consisting of coffee and sandwiches will be provided by the Board of Election Commissioners in Station House No. 2 for the officers detailed to report at the office of the Election Commissioners on the morning of September 12.)

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 126.

The following promotion and assignment is hereby ordered, to take effect Saturday, September 9, 1922, at 7.45 o'clock a. m.

To The Grade of Sergeant.—Patrolman Edward J. Kelley, Jr., of Division 1, assigned to Division 18.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 127.

The resignation of Patrolman Daniel F. Sullivan of Division 17 having been presented while charges are pending against him, it is hereby accepted to take effect as of Wednesday, September 6, 1922, at 5.45 o'clock p. m., seven days' notice waived.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 128.

As the time for the fall election approaches, there are certain facts which I desire to call to the attention of the department. As many questions will undoubtedly arise on both primary and election days which will have to be answered by the officers who are assigned to the various precincts, I am setting forth in this general order a few salient facts with which I trust the department will make itself thoroughly acquainted, in order that there may be no confusion and misunderstandings around the polling places on primary and election days.

A voter, while outside the voting place, may be approached and asked to vote for a particular candidate for office, provided the voter is willing to stop and listen to the person making the request. The police, however, should not allow any one to persist in accosting a voter who apparently does not desire to be so accosted. If the situation should arise that because of the size of the crowd of persons stopping and soliciting votes the path of voters to the polls is obstructed and blocked, then the police should disperse the crowd and arrest anyone who persists thereafter in accosting voters.

Only precinct officers are allowed to speak to voters within the guard rail in the voting place and then only to answer questions that the voters may put to them.

A voter may be accosted and have particular names on a sample ballot, posted on the outside of the guard rail or on the outside of a polling booth, pointed out to him, provided the voter is willing to have the names so pointed out and does not object to the delay occasioned thereby, and provided also that it does not cause the gathering of a crowd which obstructs and blocks the path of the voters to the polls.

No automobiles or other vehicles decorated with banners of a candidate for political office are allowed within 150 feet of a polling place, except that automobiles or other vehicles actively engaged in carrying voters to and from the polling places may draw up to the entrance of the polling places and discharge their passengers. After the passengers have been discharged, the vehicles shall then withdraw to a distance of 150 feet, where they may wait until called to the entrance of the polling places to take away from the polling places voters who have just finished casting their votes and desire to be taken away from said polling places.

No party worker nor any person actively working for a candidate for political office shall wear a button, badge or card showing the picture and name of a candidate for political office in the polling place or within 150 feet thereof.

It is permissible to distribute and hand out within 150 feet of a polling place pasters or stickers to be used on the official ballot with the name thereon of a candidate who desires to run as an independent candidate, provided that the distribution of these pasters is done in an orderly manner, so as not to block the progress of the voter to the polls, and provided also that the pasters are not forced upon a person contrary to his desire. If a situation arises that because of the number of persons distributing pasters the path of voters to the polls is blocked or obstructed or impeded, the police shall then regulate the distribution of these pasters in such a manner that while the pasters may be distributed to all voters approaching the polls who desire them, there shall be no obstruction placed in the path of voters going to the polls.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

PORT OF BOSTON.

Best of natural harbors, sheltered, spacious for anchorage, main ship channel 35 feet in depth at low tide, near open sea, area about 6,300 acres; waterfront (i. e., lineal pier space) 40 miles, 6 miles fronting on 30 feet depth at low water. A 45-foot channel from entrance of harbor to President Roads, and 40-foot from there to wharves will be dredged in the near future. New Commonwealth Pier No. 5, South Boston, 1,200 feet long, 400 feet wide, accommodating five 600-foot ships at one time, 40 feet depth at mean low water on both sides, with three 2-story fireproof buildings of steel and concrete construction, containing 900,000 square feet of floor space; total cost of this enterprise to State, $4,500,000. Commonwealth Pier No. 6, South Boston (Fish Pier), buildings on same erected by lessee, Boston Fish Market Corporation, cost to State, $1,487,361. New Commonwealth Pier No. 1, East Boston, 900 feet long, costing State $764,600 for site and about $345,000 for construction. New dry dock at South Boston (probably the largest in world), completed in 1919, 1,200 feet long and 120 wide, costing over $3.000.000 and taken by U. S. Government at total cost of same to State. Islands in Boston Harbor over 3 acres in area, 17, with total area of 965 acres; Long Island the largest, or 215.5 acres. Owned by United States, 392 acres; by City of Boston, 334 acres. Number of wharves, 146. of which 8 are owned by the City. There are 24 foreign steamship lines. In 1915 a revision of the harbor lines was made and the project undertaken whereby 600 acres of flats between Governor's Island and Jeffries Point, East Boston, will be filled in and used for extensive commercial development under State control.

In April, 1918, the Government decided to establish its Army Supply Base on a portion of the Commonwealth lands in South Boston. About 57.6 acres were purchased of the State, the price being $1,317,510, quickly followed by the construction of two pier sheds, each 920 feet long, a wharf shed and other buildings, including one of the largest storehouses in the world, built of reinforced concrete, eight stories high, 1,638 feet long, 126 feet wide and with floor space of over 1,650,000 square feet. The total outlay for the plant was about $26,000,000.

Total Federal expenditure for improvement of Boston Harbor from 1790 to June 30, 1918, $12,525,981; total expended and provided for by State, $18,364,947 since 1859.

TEACHER FOR CHILDREN.

Mayor Curley, in a communication to Dr. David D. Scannell, chairman of the School Committee, has requested that a school teacher be provided for twenty children, patients at the Long Island hospital, who, because of contagious diseases, are unable to attend school.

The children have been without any educational facilities whatever, the Mayor states and he desires to have a teacher at the island institution for the full school term.

MAYOR CURLEY INVITES M. CLEMENCEAU, DISTINGUISHED FRENCH STATESMAN, TO VISIT BOSTON.

The arrangements for the American tour of Hon. Georges Clemenceau, the famous statesman of France, are being carefully prepared. M. Clemenceau will leave Paris about November 1, and will deliver but four addresses in the United States. No banquets or formal receptions will be allowed and as far as possible the tour of M. Clemenceau in the United States will be informal.

Mayor Curley addressed a most cordial invitation to M. Clemenceau at Paris, upon the 13th instant, to be the guest of the City of Boston, and to deliver one of his four addresses in this city.

The invitation of Mayor Curley was as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
September 13, 1922.

Hon. Georges Clemenceau, Paris, France:

Dear M. Clemenceau,—I am delighted to receive unofficial advices of your forthcoming visit in the United States, and your present plan to leave France about November 1 upon your journey. May I assure you I desire to extend in the name of the City of Boston a most cordial invitation to be the guest of our city, and to assure you that the citizens of this historic city have from time immemorial been the devoted friends of the Republic of France, and that every impulse has been prompted to strengthen the bonds of Franco-American good will.

I have noted your request that no formal entertainment shall be extended in your honor during your visit in America, and may I assure you if we can be honored by your acceptance, that a simple and informal program would be arranged for your reception in Boston, and which will meet your hearty accord.

It was in Boston that Marshall Joseph Joffre gave forth his ringing messages of the duty of America to support France in the crisis of the World War, for the preservation of human freedom, and the manner in which our devoted men and women answered the clarion call forms one of the most exalted chapters of the history of our Country.

Will you not, as the great leader in behalf of liberal government, accept an invitation to visit the City of Boston, to be our guest and assure our citizens that the ties between France and the United States are indissoluble, and leave with us a message which will appeal to every patriotic citizen? I sincerely trust that I may have the opportunity of greeting you in Boston during the month of November, and assuring you of our grateful affection.

With many assurances of my highest consideration and regard,

Sincerely yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

Mayor Curley also addressed the following communication to Comte de Chambrun of the French Embassy at Washington, D. C.:

September 13, 1922.

Comte de Chambrun, Minister Plenipotentiary, Embassy of France, Washington, D. C.:

Dear Comte de Chambrun,— May I inform you that I have this day had the distinguished honor to send direct to Monsieur Georges Clemenceau at Paris an invitation to visit Boston during his forthcoming tour of the United States in November.

I sincerely trust that the City of Boston may be honored by the famous statesman, and I assure you I have carefully noted his request that no formal invitations shall be extended in his honor. May I assure you if M. Clemenceau can visit Boston, a simple and informal program of entertainment can be arranged which will be strictly in accord with his wishes, and I sincerely trust that I may have the honor of your cordial support in the invitation which I have extended the distinguished son of France, a copy of which is herewith inclosed.

I know of no circumstance which would be of greater benefit to our country than a ringing message in Boston of M. Clemenceau of the indissoluble ties which join France and the United States, and upon the spot where the American Revolution began, and where the service of Lafayette, Rochambeau, DeGrasse, and other French immortals had its greatest appreciation.

I desire to extend to both Ambassador Jusserand and your good self a supplemental invitation to visit Boston in the event that we may be honored by a visit of M. Clemenceau, and assure you that every means which lies within my power will be extended to make the visit of the French statesman the most eventful and enjoyable of his Amercain tour.

With many assurances of my highest consideration and esteem,

Sincerely yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

COMMENDATION OF OFFICER.

Officer George A Nelson, 224 Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, in the service of the Institutions Department and assigned at the Deer Island prison, has been given a week's vacation, with pay, by Mayor Curley in recognition of his excellent work in capturing John Larkin, twenty-one years old, of the South End, who attempted to escape from the island upon Monday morning.

Nelson saw Larkin swimming Shirley Gut and fired two shots at the prisoner when the latter reached the Winthrop shore. Larkin feigned that he had been shot, but was on the run as soon as Nelson pocketed his gun. Nelson, undaunted, reached Winthrop, commandeered a milk wagon and arrested the prisoner. He was appointed as an officer June 17, 1922.

INVESTIGATION OF GAS RATE.

Mayor Curley has addressed a letter to Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan suggesting that he apply to the Department of Public Utilities for an investigation of Boston's gas rate, which he says appears prohibitive in contrast to rates in other American cities.

The Mayor thinks the department ought to order a reduction in the present rate because of prospective increase in consumption due to fuel shortage.

REPORT OF CHIEF JOHN O. TABER, BOSTON FIRE DEPARTMENT, UPON WESTERN INSPECTION.

City of Boston,
Fire Department,
September 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

My Dear Sir,—In compliance with your instructions, and in accordance with chapter 274, Acts of 1914, I left Boston at six o'clock p. m., August 4, 1922, via the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, for the convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers, of which organization I am a member, in the city of San Francisco, Calif.

I arrived at San Francisco on August 13, via the New York Central, C. B. & Q., D. R. G., and Western Pacific Railroads; also 205 miles by way of the Pacific electric trolley lines. Here I was met by a delegation from the city government and by Chief Engineer Thomas R. Murphy of the San Francisco Fire Department, and through their kindnesses matters pertaining to hotel accommodations were greatly simplified.

Monday, August 14.

A reception was on this day tendered by the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs to the International Association of Fire Engineers at the St. Francis Hotel. At this time a general discussion of fire matters and introductory exchanges, instructive to all concerned, between the members of both organizations took place.

Tuesday, August 15.

In the early part of the forenoon of this day the delegates were escorted from the St. Francis Hotel to the convention hall, at which time the convention was called to order by President Frank G. Reynolds, this being followed by an invocation by the Most Reverend Archbishop J. Hanna. An interesting address of welcome was then delivered in a most eloquent manner by his Honor, Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco, and he was followed successively by a speaker for the firemen of the West, a response by a chief from the East, the president's address, and the memorial service by Right Reverend W. F. Nichols, Bishop of the Episcopalian Diocese.

At the afternoon session a discussion of papers presented to the convention was read, and there were also read committee reports on fire standards as the same affect fire prevention. Many interesting features were developed during this session.

The concluding event of the day's activities was the witnessing by all those present of a grand parade and an elaborate historical pageant.

Wednesday, August 16 (Oakland Day).

At nine o'clock a. m., all members boarded the ferry at San Francisco for a trip to Oakland, and after landing at this city an automobile ride was had through Oakland and Berkeley.

We were driven at three o'clock p. m. to the University of California, where a session was held in the Greek Theater in honor of the foreign chiefs in attendance at the convention. Here an address was delivered by Prof. Frank Probert, dean of the School of Mines, University of California, on "Gases." This dealt mainly with the various gases that are apt to be encountered in the fighting of fire, and was followed by a practical demonstration of the use of gas masks by the Berkeley and Oakland Fire Departments.

On the return trip to San Francisco the delegates were treated to a night demonstration of the fireboats by the San Francisco Fire Department in the bay, and this revealed remarkable efficiency.

Thursday, August 17.

At nine o'clock a. m. on this day a round table discussion of matters affecting fire protection and prevention took place, and many interesting papers were read on general firemanic topics, which included, among other things, administrative duties relating to fire departments, and the progress made during the year 1921-22 in fire department circles.

At noon a demonstration of San Francisco's high pressure system was held in the Civic Center, a most admirable location in which to display the real efficiency of such a system, and from my observation San Francisco has one of the very finest systems in this country. This not alone covers the area of their congested value district, but also a greater part of the city in general.

A visit was then made to the various high pressure pumping stations, and it was the consensus of opinion of all who are familiar with high pressure pumping stations that the conditions here are ideal for the protection of both life and property.

In addition to their high pressure system and the necessary appurtenances in connection therewith, they have series of cisterns closely located throughout their municipality, filled with water, thus avoiding as near as possible a repetition of their recent disastrous conflagration, and in the event of fracture of water pipes or loss of water caused by physical uncertainties, they are assured of a reserve supply of water sufficient in quantity to efficiently fight fire.

It is interesting to note that in San Francisco provisions are made for the contemplated extension each year of its high pressure system until the entire or greater part of the city is covered, which in itself is a very good step in the right direction.

At 7 o'clock p. m. a banquet and ball were given at the St. Francis Hotel in honor of the visiting delegates, at which his Honor the Mayor and state officials were present.

Friday, August 18.

At nine o'clock a. m. on this day the final business session was held, at which reports were read and discussed on "The Care of Fire Hose, "Shingle Roofs," "Wood Construction," "Standpipes," "Sprinklers," and "Slow-Burning Films." In connection with the latter mentioned topic, the combustible film is made of nitro-cellulose; and a non-flamable film, or slow-burning film, is, I believe, made of an acetate preparation, the former being a compound in which there is much danger, and the latter a safe and sane film used mainly in schools and colleges for educational purposes.

Committee reports were then read, and it was ordered that the same be printed as part of the complete convention report, which will be issued later and a copy presented to your office. Officers for the ensuing year were elected and it was voted to hold the 1923 convention in Richmond, Va.

An interesting feature of the final days' activities was the presentation of medals for valor and heroism displayed in the rescue of life at fires. This presentation was made by his Honor the Mayor and was attended by much feeling.

San Francisco.

From data presented to me by Secretary Rainey of Mayor Rolph's office, I beg to submit the following interesting facts concerning this city.

Population, 600,000.

High pressure system, gravity through step system of equalizers, supplemented by pumps up to a pressure, if needed, of 325 pounds.

Total uniformed force for fire-fighting purposes, 1,012, with shop forces of 1,092.

Total number of engine companies, 41; truck companies, 13; chemical companies, 13; water towers, 1; fireboats, 2; 1 squad wagon; 2 high pressure pumping stations.

Two-platoon system in vogue in this city.

The salaries of the firemen (privates) range from a minimum of $150 per month to a maximum of $170 per month, and before attaining the maximum amount they must pass through three grades in a like number of years.

The deputy chiefs, battalion chiefs, captains and lieutenants receive approximately the same salary as do our officers here in Boston.

The salary of the chief of department is $5,360 per year, and in addition to this quarters are furnished him for his family in one of the department buildings.

The buildings provided for fire stations are particularly well constructed, in that they are of fire-resistive material.

I cannot speak too highly of the fire alarm headquarters in San Francisco, as I believe it to be one of the very best in this country. It is located remote from all possible fire hazard, being situated in the center of Jefferson Square, a public park. It is of fire-resistive construction, contains two floors, and its isolation from all other buildings makes it immune from the dangers of a general conflagration. Also it is so built that it will adequately take care of future growth. In a word, it is not built for the present but for the future. It is a building of character and is ornamental in keeping with its surroundings.

If need be I could give you a more exhaustive report on this most important adjunct of the Fire Department, and I will say at this time that it is a question which requires serious attention in our city.

The auxiliary water supply system of San Francisco was designed by the foremost engineering experts with a view to prevent the recurrence of a catastrophe similar to that which visited the city in 1906. It embodies every known principle of safety, and thoroughly covers not only the section of the city which was then destroyed by fire, but also reaches out into the residential territory. In addition to the reservoirs, distributing mains and pumping stations, there are a number of reinforced concrete underground cisterns, each holding 75,000 gallons of water.

In the city of San Francisco there are at the present time 5,000,000 gallons of water stored in the upper portion of buildings with what is known as a downpipe, i. e., a pipe connected with a tank which is released from the sidewalk if required for primary fire service in any section where such water is located, this down-pipe being fitted with a 2½-inch or 3-inch connection.

The courtesy and attention of his Honor the Mayor, Secretary Rainey, the Fire Commissioners, Chief Murphy and his entire personnel were so wholesome and homelike that every member of our association who visited San Francisco felt, within twenty-four hours, as though they were in the hands of real friends. The word hospitality, as expressed by the city of San Francisco, has been raised to unlimited heights, and it would be exceedingly difficult for any city to excel them in this respect.

Los Angeles.

Returning from San Francisco, we visited Los Angeles, where we met the Mayor, his secretary, and also through their courtesy, the chief of the Fire Department, all of whom were most courteous, and extended the hospitality of the city to the delegates. Calls were made at the various fire stations, and a trip was then had through their beautiful city, being accompanied by the chief of department. In so far as their equipment, apparatus and personnel are concerned, while in many respects their physical and climatic conditions are much different from ours, they, too, have an excellent department. This city possesses splendid fire houses, and they are providing two millions of dollars to increase their present force of 800 men, 35 engine companies, 7 truck companies, and 2 emergency wagons, by 300 more men and 50 additional pieces of new apparatus.

The two millions of dollars mentioned above, in addition to the apparatus and men, provides also for new buildings to be used as fire stations. The two-platoon system for firemen is also in operation in this city.

Colorado Springs and Denver.

After leaving Los Angeles a stop was made at the Grand Canon, the beauty of which it is impossible for me to adequately describe.

A trip was then made to Colorado Springs, where for a short time an enjoyable time was had by the visiting delegates.

Our next stop brought us to Denver, but our stay here was very limited due to the fact that strike conditions made it imperative for us to continue homeward in order that our schedule would not be impaired. In conversation with their chief of the Fire Department, he informed me that his department was rated very highly in firemanic circles, despite the fact that theirs is much smaller than ours.

Chicago.

I visited the Mayor and his secretary in this city, and was treated very kindly and shown all possible courtesies. I was introduced to the Fire Department officials. I found that they had a force of 2,300 men, 126 engine companies, 37 truck companies, 10 squad companies and 4 fireboats. There is a population here of 2,800,000 inhabitants. Here, too, the two-platoon system for the fire-fighting force is in operation.

Buffalo.

Arriving in this city I was shown every courtesy by Chief Edward Murphy of the Fire Department. They have a population of 500,000. There is a fire-fighting force of 1,082 men, not including shop forces, which is very efficient and in splendid condition. I can safely say that it compares favorably with the Boston Fire Department.

The two-platoon system is in operation in this department and should this plan be considered for adoption by our department it should be with a ratio of seven, eight or nine men on each company. It means that the congested value section shall be composed of nine-men companies, eight-men companies in the value section, and seven-men companies in the residential sections, thus insuring an efficient operation of fire forces at all times.

New York.

I visited Mayor Hylan, Fire Commissioner Drennan and other city officials, who through their kind offices made it a simple matter for me to look for any conditions which might improve our department, and I find that they have experimented, with much success, in oil-burning equipment on their new fire tug "John Purroy Mitchell." In this connection I also interviewed the National Board of Fire Underwriters to ascertain their idea of equipping boats with oil-burning equipment, and they stated that the tests conducted on the tug above mentioned were highly satisfactory, believing that it is more economical than the present equipment.

It is a fact that the oil-burning type of fireboat is far more efficient than the coal-burning type in use in our department at the present time. The mere manipulation of a single valve by one man is all that is required, and this eliminates the services of two or three men as is the case at the present time.

Conclusion.

In the City of Boston we have, generally speaking, more hazards than any other city in the country, in view of the fact that 28 per cent of our streets in the congested section approximate 25 feet in width. Further hazards may be found in our residential sections, due to the fact that over 85 per cent of the construction is of the "three-decker" type. In no other city in the country today do the same conditions, physical of course, exist as they do in Boston. No city has more real value stored in buildings within certain areas than has the City of Boston.

Concerning the workings of the two-platoon system, while I am not an advocate of increased taxes or any increase in monetary affairs unless it is absolutely necessary, still I am not furthering the cause of a two-platoon system; but I do believe that when you find that all cities, both large and small, throughout the country, that maintain a permanency in their department, with the exception of Baltimore, Providence and Boston, have adopted the two-platoon system, the question should be given some consideration.

The city of San Francisco has adopted a simple system such as is now in vogue in our postoffice department in the event of shortage of man power brought about through sickness or injury. They select men highest on the civil service list and place them in the companies in which the shortages of men occur, and in this manner some men who are on the civil service list, and who perform this duty, are appointed to the permanent force in the regular order of their ratings. While we have no such arrangement in this city, I do believe that such an arrangement, should we have a two-platoon system, should be made in this city, if the same is possible.

Our repair shops in this city go up into the air, while in other cities their shops are spread out on the ground, fitted to meet modern motorized conditions. In the main, our shops were constructed for horse-drawn apparatus, and the same is now very rapidly outgrowing our present conditions.

I am attaching hereto diagrams showing the high pressure system as it is installed in San Francisco; also photographs of demonstration of this system made in their Civic Center for the benefit of the visiting delegates.

The sense of the convention was for the most part intensive instruction, and it also gave one an opportunity to see what the other fellow has and is doing, and if suitable or an improvement for our city, and the changes can be made economically, then I say that the convention has paid for itself a thousandfold.

Having made a study of the many departments in many of our larger cities, I am rather proud of my connection with the Boston Fire Department.

I arrived in Boston at 8.45 o'clock p. m., August 29, 1922.

Respectfully yours,

John O. Taber,
Chief of Department.

THANKS OF FRENCH ATTACHE.

Mayor Curley received the following communication upon the 10th instant:

Embassy of France,
Washington, D. C.,
September 9, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

My dear Mr. Mayor,—Upon my return to Washington I find your very kind letter of the 7th instant, stating that you had requested a tree to be planted on Lafayette Mall, to commemorate my visit to your wonderful city.

I can hardly find words to express to you my deep appreciation of this honor, as well as of any other extended to me during my delightful stay in Boston. The manner in which the people of the great New England city are observing the anniversary of the birthday of General de Lafayette, and the manner in which the representative of France was received by them will go to the heart of my countrymen; for they shall know the tribute paid by these American people to the great man who had the good fortune of sowing Franco-American friendship on the battle fields of the American Revolution, as we as the heroes who, in 1914, aroused th world in their indomitable defence o civilization.

At a time when the enemies of right and order are attempting to undermine the good relations which shall always unite America and France for the defence of liberty, nothing is more refreshing than a day like the one I spent among your people on September 6.

For every manifestation of affection and brotherhood shown by the citizens of Boston, for all they did for us during the war, and for all they are doing to tighten the bonds of Franco-American friendship I send them the thanks of my countrymen and the expression of my personal gratitude through their worthy Mayor.

With renewed assurances of profound esteem, and personal wishes, I am, my dear Mr. Mayor,

Very sincerely yours,

G. A. L. Dumont,
Colonel, French General Staff,
Military Attache.

DEPARTMENT CHANGES.

Transit Department.

Patrick Mealey, Michael Botte, Archibald L. Gleason, William Manning, Charles Walther, Nathaniel Harris, Edward W. McHugh, Beurdatto Salamona, James A. Kaffanges, Frank M. Kelley, Hubert Mullen, John J. Costello, William H. Connolly, Edward T. Roach, Thomas V. Murphy, James E. Sullivan, James J. Donelan, Harold P. Joyce, James J. Murphy, Michael Trunfio, Patrick J. Mullaney, Charles Ring, Joseph A. Alberti, Patrick J. Sheehan, Thomas S. Iverson, Joseph M. Finneran, John A. Callanan, veterans, have been granted an extension of employment as laborers at a wage of $4 a day for a period not exceeding three months.

Michael J. Barron, Peter F. Murray, Henry P. O'Brien and William C. McCarthy, veterans, have been granted an extension of employment as laborers at a wage of $4 a day for a period not exceeding three months.

Michael J. Costello, veteran, has been granted an extension of employment as laborer at a wage of $4 a day for a period not exceeding three months.

Samuel Silverman, James F. Kelley, Ernest B. Solari, Henry P. Kennedy, William H. Veno, Thomas J. Mulvey, John F. Heil, Jeremiah Donahue, Clarence P. Shaw, Edward A. Doherty, Herbert A. Hoban, Frank T. McNamara, Michael C. McDermott, David R. Griffin, James A. McKinney, William A. McAlduff, John F. Doherty, Frank J. Sexton, Michael J. McDonough and Patrick Welch, veterans, have been appointed as laborers at a wage of $4 a day for a period not exceeding six months.

Martin J. Connolly, veteran, rodsetter, at a wage of $4.25 a day, has been restored to his former rating of laborer at a wage of $4 a day, and been granted an extension of employment as laborer for a period not exceeding three months.

Jeremiah F. Walsh has received change in rating from concrete cutter at a wage of $4.50 a day to working foreman of concrete cutters at a salary of $35 a week.

The following changes in rating and compensation are announced:

John J. Preston, ironworker, from a wage of 80 cents an hour to a wage of 85 cents an hour.

Luigi Luongo, from laborer at a wage of $4 a day to waterproofer at a wage of $4.50 a day.

John E. Driscoll, veteran, from laborer at a wage of $4 a day to skilled laborer at a wage of $4.25 a day.

Treasury Department.

Edwin A. Wall has been designated to serve as Acting City Treasurer at such times as City Treasurer John J. Curley may be absent during the ensuing four weeks.

Overtime Allowed.

The heads of various departments whose employees have received payment for overtime state in connection therewith that if any laborer has been allowed to work more than eight hours per day it has been only in case of emergency under the law.

Collecting Department.

John J. Hannon, extra teller, 15 days, $45.

Hospital Department.

For the week ending Thursday, September 14:

Main Department.

D. Bransfield, fireman, 24 hours, $16.50; H. O'Donnell, V. Pepe, firemen, 12 hours each, $8.25.

Haymarket Square Relief Station.

P. Joyce, porter and tending furnace, 12 hours, $6.25.

Total, $39.25.

Institutions Department.

The following overtime has been allowed at the House of Correction, Deer Island:

Engineers.— Robert Corbett, John Fay, William O'Melia, Walter Purdy, Ernest Rousseau, 1 day each, $6. Total, $30.

Firemen.—Patrick Casey, Timothy J. Hurley, Bernard Feeney, Thomas Finn, Patrick Shea, 1 day each, $5.50. Total, $27.50.

The following overtime has been allowed at the Boston Almshouse and Hospital:

Engineers.—Joseph Cox, William G. Feeney, John Melley, William Robinson, Walter J. West, 1 day each, $6. Total, $30.

Firemen.—David J. Tobin, Neil Grant, Joseph Doherty, 1 day each, $5.50. Total, $16.50.

Park Department.

For the week ending Thursday, September 7:

Aquarium.

Chief Engineer.—Patrick J. Gorman, 1 day, $6.

Engineers.—Peter McDonough, 1 day, $6; John Duncan, John Finn, Thomas J. Lynch, 1 day each, $5.50.

Firemen.—Thomas F. Lomasney, 1 day, $5.50.

Total, $34.

Park Department (Cemetery Division).

The following employees were engaged in making burials on Sunday, September 3, and Monday, Labor Day, September 4:

Mount Hope Cemetery.

Four funerals, September 3; one funeral, September 4.

Enrico Binda, Thomas H. Brahany, Michael Conway, laborers, 1 day each, $4; John J. Desmond, Joseph Horgan, Bernard McCabe, Henry J. Moylan, laborers, 2 days each, $8; John E. Mulrey, sexton, 2 days, $8.

Fairview Cemetery.

One funeral, September 4.

James Kingston, laborer, 1 day, $4.

The following employees of the division were engaged in making burials on Sunday, September 10:

Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Six funerals.

Enrico Binda, Thomas H. Brahany, Michael Conway, John J. Desmond, Bernard McCabe, Henry J. Moylan, laborers, 1 day each, $4; John E. Mulrey, sexton, 1 day, $4. Total, $28.

Fairview Cemetery.

One funeral.

James Kingston, laborer, 1 day, $4.

Public Buildings Department.

For the week ending Thursday, September 14:

K. McManus, telephone operator, 1½ days, $4.76; A. Donovan, telephone operator, 1½ days, $4.76; J. McDonough, elevatorman, 6 hours, $3; J. Reynolds, fireman, 3 hours, $2.06; T. Jennings, elevatorman, 1½ hours, $0.75.

Total, $15.33.

Public Works Department (Bridge Service).

For week ending Tuesday, September 12:

Drawtender.—James E. Murray, ½ day, $2.47.

First Assistant Drawtender.—John E. Fitzgerald, 3 days, $13.15.

Assistant Drawtenders. — Daniel L. O'Connell, 3 days, $12.33; Andrew J. Cannata, 1 day, $4.11; William L. Waterman, 1 day, $4.11.

Total, $36.17.

Public Works Department (Ferry Service).

For the week ending Monday, September 11:

Captains.—Charles F. Crocker, James Young, Richard L. Searle, David Callahan, Andrew A. Greer, Edward R. Gray, James J. Kelly, 1 day each, $7.67.

Quartermasters.—Florence W. Sullivan, Abiel A. Howard, Henry J. Scaife, Matthew L. Kelly, Joseph B. Nealon, Frank E. Carroll, William J. Wilkie, 1 day each, $5.43.

Deckhands.—Fred P. Craven, Robert E. Donnelly, Leonard D. Crumley, George M. Nagle, John H. Tyrer, Batista Forgione, Louis F. Gray, George F. Burke, William J. Stinson, John J. Murray, Henry J. Ferguson, Frank N. McGee, Henry J. Hayes, 1 day each, $4.25.

Tollmen.—Lendall P. Rollins, Fred C. Horner, John T. Callahan, Michael F. Powers, John E. Nagle, William G. Greenall, Thomas F. Lynch, John D. Mahoney, John J. Cronin, Henry H. McCarthy, 1 day each, $5.13.

Laborers.—Edward J. O'Brien, James Kearney, Edward Delehunty, Christopher T. Leonard, Joseph O. White, James L. O'Neil, 1 day each, $4.

Rigger.—Thomas J. Downes, 1¼ days, $6.25.

Engineers.—John H. Sullivan, Helmer G. Skonberg, Lawrence J. Keleher, Patrick W. Mackey, Charles Stomberg, John J. Reardon, Daniel F. Rowen, Ernest L. Yocum, 1 day each, $7.50.

Firemen.—John Gannon, Dennis Hannigan, James Gallagher, Michael J. Kennedy, Ernest L. Yocum, August J. Sommers, John A. Harrison, Owen F. Cox, Thomas Baggott, Owen Moore, John McQuade, Richard O'Brien, Christobal Fradau, Thomas Nugent, William N. Harvey, Thomas Murphy, James C. Fitzpatrick, Morgan J. Sullivan, John Turvanen, Henry W. McCusker, James H. Carlin, Francis M. Donahue, Timothy F. Tierney, Henry T. McConnell, Philip F. Gallagher, John W. O'Connell, 1 day each, $5.50; John Kelly, 2 days, $11.

Deckhands.—Thomas Barry, ¼ day, $1.06; Peter Milano, ⅜ day, $1.59.

Machinist.—William C. Blinn, ⅞ day, $4.38.

Total, $502.33.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

For week ending Monday, September 11:

Teamsters.—Timothy Donovan, John Doherty, Charles Bleiler, John Finnerty, Thomas Walsh, Charles Devine, 1 day each, $4.

Firemen. — Timothy Lyons, Frank Keenan, 1 day each, $4.50.

Yardman.—Daniel Crowley, 1 day, $4.

Laborers.—James E. Flynn, William Hurley, Vincent Fallon, Patrick McGee, Daniel J. Davis, Robert Cameron, Daniel J. McCormach, William Glennan, George McCormach, Thomas Dolan, Thomas Graham, Thomas Sheerin, John Devlin, Matthew Mooney, Arthur P. Connor, James Dolan, Dennis Cronon, Patrick Healey, 1 day each, $4.

Paver.—John Hurley, 1 day, $4.

Stablemen.—Patrick Devlin, Maurice Fitsgerald, Alexander McCarthy, Richard Howard, John J. Carroll, Michael Doyle, James McKenney, John Ring, James H. Fitsgerald, Joseph Ennis, Martin Norton, William Shaughnessy, Joseph Goodenough, John Lynch, John Cronin, Thomas Carroll, Thomas Calnan, Thomas Clark, Thomas Conboy, William Corrigan, Michael Barry, Bartholemew Dunn, 1 day each, $4.

Watchmen.—James Glynn, Timothy Callahan, James Noonan, Joseph Baxter, Timothy O'Keefe, Thomas Flesk, Henry Minard, 1 day each, $4.

Total, $229.

Public Works Department (Sanitary Service).

For the week ending Monday, September 11:

Laborers, Teamsters.—F. M. Williams, E. Collins, J. J. Lannon, C. E. Vilello, 1 day each, $4

Wharfinger.—G. A. Ham, 1 day, $4.

Watchman.—W. F. Ryan, 1 day, $4.

Total, $24.

Public Works Department (Sewer Service).

For week ending Tuesday, September 12:

Electrician. — Richard Shannon, $6\frac{5}{16}$ days, $35.35.

Sewer Cleaners. — Michael Mulvey, $2\frac{1}{4}$ days each, $10.13; Dennis Callaghan, John O'Connor, $1\frac{7}{8}$ days each, $8.44; Stephen Manning, Jeremiah O'Brien, Michael Neary, $\frac{1}{2}$ day each, $2.25.

Laborers.—James McNabb, $2\frac{1}{4}$ days, $9; Cornelius Sullivan, $1\frac{7}{8}$ days, $7.50; Thomas Byrne, Joseph Brown, $\frac{1}{2}$ day each, $2.

Assistant Engineers.—William Bragger, John McCarthy, Paul Maguire, 1 day each, $6.67.

Oilers.—Jeremiah Delaney, John Mahoney, John Drillio, John Jordan, Philip Lamb, Joseph Sullivan, Andrew Calnan, Martin Mullen, John Powell, 1 day each, $5.50.

Firemen.—James Conlin, Garrett Connolly, Edward Collins, Patrick Curley, Michael Reilly, John McGowan, 1 day each, $5.50.

Filth Hoist.—Patrick Keating, Patrick Thornton, James Fitzgerald, 1 day each, $5.50.

Coal Passers.—Alexander Kennedy, Thomas Lavin, Patrick Keeley, Joseph McCaffery, John McNeil, Thomas Naughton, 1 day each, $4.67.

Watchmen.—Peter Fahey, Thomas Slowe, John Henshon, Malachi Hanley, John Murphy, John Maguire, James Keeley, 1 day each, $4.

Total, $274.77.

Public Works Department (Street Cleaning and Oiling Service).

For the week ending Monday, September 11:

Yardman.—M. J. Hurley, 1 day, $4.

Stablemen.—M. Mullen, P. McManus, J. De Coursey, T. Downey, 1 day each, $4.

Teamsters and Laborers.—J. Considine, J. Golden, E. Noonan, R. Jennings, 1 day each, $4.

Total, $36.

Public Works Department (Water Service).

For week ending Tuesday, September 12:

Chauffeurs.—J. Broderick, J. Conlon, 1 day each, $4.50.

Emergencymen.—M. Carney, T. Kinahan, 1 day each, $4.25.

Foremen.—P. Mullen, 1 day, $5.

Repairers.—R. Welch, $\frac{9}{16}$ day, $2.53; W. Rice, $\frac{5}{8}$ day, $2.50; W. Martin, $\frac{3}{16}$ day, $0.75; P. Heffernan, $\frac{9}{16}$ day, $2.81; D. Incident to the award of this contract Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works made the following statement:

"The lowest bidder, P. F. Iarrobino, is entirely unknown to this department in so far as his ability to construct sewerage works is concerned and for that reason his bid has been rejected."

Upon September 14 the Mayor approved a contract with Bryne & Co., for Spring street brook conduit in Centre street and private land, West Roxbury. Bids for the work, opened September 12, were as follows:

Bryne & Co., $25,296.45; Antony Cefalo, $25,636.45; W. R. Trap Rock Company, $29,892.95; C. & R. Construction Company, $30,508.45; A. Baruffaldi Company, $34,278.45.

Supply Department.

Upon September 9 the Mayor approved a contract with Stanley Harlow, Inc., for three one-ton Ford trunk chassis and one Ford runabout chassis, equipped with body and self-starter and demountable rims. Bids for the supply, opened September 5, were as follows:

Chassis, Three 1-Ton Trucks.—Stanley Harlow, Inc., $549.82 each; Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $550 each; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $550 each; Universal Motor Company, Inc., $550 each; Daniel F. Mahoney, $550 each.

Chassis, One Runabout.—Stanley Harlow, Inc., $461.40 each; Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $427 each; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $469 each; Universal Motor Company, Inc., $427 each; Daniel F. Mahoney, $469 each.

Date of Delivery.—Coombs & McCoombs, Inc., immediately; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., at once; Universal Motor Company, Inc., at once; Daniel F. Mahoney, at once.

Taken in Exchange.

One Truck, No. 133.—Stanley Harlow, Inc., $150 each; Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $150 each; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $120 each; Universal Motor Company, Inc., $105 each; Daniel F. Mahoney, $130 each.

One Truck, No. 135.—Stanley Harlow, Inc., $140 each; Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $150 each; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $120 each; Universal Motor Company, Inc., $135 each; Daniel F. Mahoney, $160 each.

One Truck, No. 137.—Stanley Harlow, Inc., $160 each; Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $150 each; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $120 each; Universal Motor Company, Inc., $135 each; Daniel F. Mahoney, $160 each.

One Runabout, No. 139.—Stanley Harlow, Inc., $170 each; Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $147 each; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $125 each; Universal Motor Company, Inc., $140 each; Daniel F. Mahoney, $140 each.

Net Amount of Bid.—Stanley Harlow, Inc., $1,490.86;* Coombs & McBeath, Inc., $1,480; Lalime & Partridge, Inc., $1,634; Universal Motor Company, Inc., $1,562; Daniel F. Mahoney, $1,529 with body.

Incident to the award of this contract, Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department made the following statement:

"Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing to the Public Works Department, Water Service, three 1-ton Ford truck chassis and one Ford runabout chassis, equipped with body and self-starter and demountable rims, to Stanley Harlow, Inc., for the sum of $1,490.86. They are taking in trade as part payment three old trucks and one runabout upon which they have made an allowance of $620. While apparently the lower bidder was Coombs & McBeath, Inc., they quoted a price of $427 on the runabout chassis without body, the price of runabout with body being approximately $42, which would make their bid higher than that of Stanley Harlow, Inc., the low bidder on the equipment desired by the Public Works Department, Water Service."

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon September 14 the Mayor approved a contract with the Holbrook Construction Company for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, September 12. 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to the Holbrook Construction Company, 101 Pleasant street, Dorchester, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly, in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

School Committee.

Upon September 5 the School Committee awarded a contract without advertising to P. H. Graham & Sons Company for the purchase of old books, at the rate of $50.50 a ton.

Schoolhouse Department.

Upon September 12 the Mayor approved a contract with Kenney Brothers & Wolkins for adjustable cherry desks and chairs and adjustable birch desks and chairs. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

Boston, September 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30 of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of an order, without advertising, to Kenney Brothers & Wolkins, 224 Congress street, Boston, for 280 lid top adjustable cherry desks and chairs (regular pattern), 20 by 26 inches at $14.30 each, and 1,020 lid top adjustable birch desks and chairs (regular pattern, 20 by 26 inches at $13.80 each.

The Heywood Wakefield Company, who have the regular contract for this size furniture at $15.70 per set (Boston type), could not furnish this type in time for the opening of schools. Therefore we ask your approval of the same.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas P. Glynn,
Chairman.

Upon September 12 the Mayor approved a contract with the Heywood Wakefield Company for adjustable cherry desks and chairs and birch desks and chairs. A communication from Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department, was as follows:

Boston, September 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to the awarding of an order, without advertising, to Heywood Wakefield Company, 174 Portland street, Boston, for 524 lid top adjustable Eclipse cherry desks and chairs, 20 by 26 inches at $14.60 each, and 56 lid top adjustable Eclipse birch desks and chairs, 20 by 26 inches, at $13.60 each.

This company has the regular contract for furnishing 20-inch by 26-inch cherry desks and chairs (Boston type) at $15.70 per set, but they cannot furnish them in time for the opening of schools, and therefore they ask to be allowed to substitute the above furniture.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas P. Glynn,
Chairman.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

Public Buildings Department.

An addition, in the amount of $1,344, on contract with M. Saretto for erecting and completing Municipal Building, Ward 12.

For additional decoration about stage opening, $300; for change in two flights of stairs on Shawmut avenue side of building, $69; for changes in small flight of stairs from anteroom onto main stair landing, as suggested by the Building Department, $300; for changing location of gate and additional fence in area between this building and St. Clement's Home as proposed by Public Buildings Department, $275; total, $1,344. Original contract, $360,000; total additions. $6,923.06; contract as standing, $366,923.

Public Works Department (Water Service).

An addition, amounting to $20, on contract with Carmin Russo for laying and relaying water pipes in Bellevue street, Catherine road, Cowing and Francis streets, Kingsboro park, Martin street and Richards avenue, West Roxbury; Central avenue, Walter and Winthrop streets, Hyde Park, on account of locating old 6-inch main. Original contract, $3,732; total additions, $26; contract as standing, $3,758.

An addition, amounting to $90, on contract with V. Barletta for laying and relaying water pipes in Perkins street, West Roxbury, on account of relocating catch-basin drain; cutting manhole walls, and lowering 8-inch pipes under 36-inch main. Original contract, $9,806; total additions, $155; contract as standing, $9,961.

Schoolhouse Department.

An addition, in the amount of $3,394, on contract with the Leighton-Mitchell Company for work at the Samuel Adams District School. For partitions—Install a partition on 2-inch by 4-inch studs in the six openings from the two center rooms to the corridor, to be sheathed on both sides with North Carolina pine matched and beaded, to be located as near the bull-nose brick on the room side as possible in the opening. At the north end of each room there is to be placed a stock five-panel glazed door with the frame set against the present brick on the north side of the opening. In the two southerly archways of each room install a fixed sash with the bottom above the blackboard line to be glazed with clear glass ¼ round in angles. Floors—On the present concrete under floor of the four rear class-rooms set 2-inch by 4-inch cypress screeds on bricks set 16 inches on center and lay an under and upper maple or hard pine temporary floor and paper. This will raise the floor level about 6 inches above that in the corridor and the two rear vestibules. This will affect the two doors to the rear vestibule and the two doors to the stair hall (see Sheet 121 and Bulletin to estimators); a maple step is to be installed in the six doorways about 1½ inches inside the bullnose where it occurs on the corridor. Wood floors to have oil finish. Blackboards—In each room install a blackboard of slate on the end behind the teacher allowing 4 feet from the windows and making adjustment for any piping. A portable bookcase about 3 feet 4 inches will be installed but will not be included by the general contractor. Install wood hanging strips 3 inches wide on the brick walls at the opposite end from the teacher in each room one to be 3 feet 2 inches high and the other 3 feet 10 inches high. No hardware included. Painting—The stripe on the walls or originally specified will be raised to the level of the molding of the blackboard top. North Carolina partitions will be stained to match the other woodwork. In general all work is to be similar to that already specified except where especially noted. Original contract, $185,944; total additions, $12,513.46; total deductions, $1,615. Contract as standing, $196,842.46.

MAYOR'S ORDER FOR PIPES.

An order calling for the appropriation of an additional $100,000 with which to lay two miles of pipe for the completion in the North End section of the city's high pressure fire service has been forwarded to the City Council by Mayor Curley for action at next Monday's session.

This leaves but nine miles of piping to be laid, Mayor Curley declares. He hopes to find the money during the remainder of his administration to provide for completion on the basis of the original plan. No doubt the system will have to be extended over the plan originally drafted, as the city's commercial district enlarges to the westward. The $100,000 is to be provided out of water income.

LIGHTING OF BOYLSTON STREET.

Mayor Curley has received the congratulations of the Boylston Street Retail Merchants' Association for the illumination of Boylston street by a series of electric lights of special design and voltage, which were placed in operation Thursday evening, 14th instant.

The new electric lights are placed every 75 feet on both sides of the street from Park square to Copley square. This is another step in a chain of progressive activities to add to the beauty of Boylston street which had its beginning with the Arlington Street Subway Station and the repavement of the thoroughfare.

LAND-TAKING IN CITY PROPER.

The Mayor has approved an order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works in Albany street, city proper.

The property is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Sarah H. Stratton heirs, bounded:

Northwest by Albany street, ten and 85-100 feet; northeast by other land of said heirs, by two measurements, one hundred thirty-two and 1-100 feet and one hundred eighteen and 20-100 feet; southeast by harbor line, ten and 6-100 feet and southwest by land supposed to belong to Nelson Shumway heirs, by two measurements, one hundred nineteen and 50-100 feet and one hundred and twenty-eight feet; containing twenty-four hundred and eighty-eight square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: The rebuilding of the Oswego street overflow sewer, in the above described premises, being private land between Albany street and the harbor line.

The Board of Street Commissioners determines that the undermentioned persons sustain damages in their estate by the taking of an easement for sewerage purposes Albany street-Oswego street overflow, in the amount hereinafter set against them and awards said amount therefor.

Sarah H. Stratton heirs, 2,488 square ft., $1,244.

STREET REPAIRS.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners that in accordance with requests of the Commissioner of Public Works, dated June 29, August 11 and August 17, 1922, upon which due notice and public hearings have been given in accordance with law, the said Commissioner of Public Works be authorized to make specific repairs in the following-named streets:

Fairfield street, from Boylston street to Beacon street, by the substitution of asphalt on macadam for the present macadam pavement.

Congress street, from 73 north of Franklin street to Post Office square, by the substitution of wooden block pavement on concrete base for the existing granite block pavement.

Dorchester street, South Boston district, from East Eighth street to Dorchester avenue, by the substitution of sheet asphalt or bitulithic pavement for the existing granite block pavement.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor has approved, with the indorsement of the Corporation Counsel, the following claims:

E. F. Nicholson, 213 Newbury street, Back Bay, in the amount of $2, for refund of money paid for lodging house license, paid in duplicate.

E. V. B. Parke, 27 Audubon road, Back Bay, in the amount of $200, as compensation for personal injuries, caused by hole in pavement at northwest corner of Boylston and Ipswich streets, Back Bay, May 19, 1922.

Mabel Berg, 18 Gladstone street, East Boston, in the amount of $450, as compensation for personal injuries caused by hole in crosswalk on State street, at Devonshire street, city proper, October 11, 1921.

SETTLEMENT OF CLAIM.

Mayor Curley has effected an agreement with Frank J. Linehan whereby the city will pay the latter $7,500 in settlement of a claim of the Atlas Construction Company for building the Deer Island concrete wall which sets off that part of the island occupied by the Federal Government from the House of Correction.

The Massachusetts Legislature passed an act enabling the city to make a settlement if it deemed one warranted. The City Council accepted this act, specifying in its order, however, that the city should pay a sum not in excess of $15,000. The Mayor will now return the $7,500 order providing the settlement to the Council for acquiescence.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

DeChristoforo Brothers Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for laying and relaying water pipes in Bourne street, Gardner street, Hautevale street, Louder's lane, Washington street and Westbourne terrace, West Roxbury, also Chester street and Metropolitan avenue, Hyde Park. Items ordered: Assisting Water Department employees on 3-inch wrought-iron pipe over railroad bridge and on Smith sleeve connection. The estimated cost of extra work being $30.

REPORT OF TRANSIT DEPARTMENT.

Mayor Curley received the following communication from Chairman Thomas F. Sullivan of the Transit Department, upon the 12th instant:

September 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—During the month of August, while exceptionally rainy weather necessarily retarded the work of excavation, the construction of the Maverick Square Station of the East Boston Tunne has progressed satisfactorily. At the present rate of progress the structure will be completed within the estimated time and below the estimated cost.

The contract dated July 11, 1922, for furnishing and laying about 5,200 square yards of wood block pavement on a concrete base on Boylston street, between Berkeley and Arlington streets, was completed August 14.

The work of enlarging the stairway at Park Street Station has been completed, also the work of lowering platforms in Boylston Street, Adams and Haymarket Square Stations of the Tremont Street Subway. The work of enlarging the Devonshire Station of the East Boston Tunnel to adapt that station to use by train service on completion of the Maverick Square Station has been started.

The Board has been in conference with the Department of Public Utilities and with officers of the Boston Elevated Railway Company on so much of chapter 55 of the Resolves of 1922 as relates to improved rapid transit facilities of the Dorchester district.

The department has been engaged in the work of repairing fence and floor beams at Dartmouth Street Bridge.

Yours respectfully,

Thomas F. Sullivan,
Chairman.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land and buildings on the southeasterly side of Hebron street, about one hundred feet northeasterly from Oakland street, Dorchester district, supposed to belong to Henrik K. Johansen and Aurora M. Johansen, containing 6,426 square feet more or less for school purposes.

The property is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Henrik K. Johansen and Aurora M. Johansen, bounded:

Northwest by Hebron street, forty-eight and 52–100 feet; northeast by land supposed to belong to Burke Malman, one hundred feet; southeast by land supposed to belong to Bernard J. Nay and by land of the City of Boston, eighty feet; and southwest by land of the City of Boston, one hundred four and 83–100 feet; containing sixty-four hundred and twenty-six square feet, more or less.

The Board determines that the undermentioned persons sustain damages by the taking of their estate for school purposes, Hebron street, Dorchester, to the amount hereinafter mentioned, and awards said amount therefor.

	Amount.
Henrik K. Johansen and Aurora M. Johansen, 6,426 square feet and buildings	$3,100

THANKS OF PAN-AMERICAN UNION.

Mayor Curley received the following letter of thanks from Counselor Franklin Adams of the Pan-American Union, Washington, D. C., upon the 11th instant:

Pan-American Union,
Washington, D. C.,
September 8, 1922.

My dear Mr. Mayor,—Permit me to express to you my great appreciation of your courtesy in forwarding a copy of your cablegram felicitating the Mayor of Rio de Janeiro on his country's great centennial event. It is very gratifying to know that the flag of Brazil was flying yesterday from the historic City Hall of Boston. I know that if the large orchestras in the Boston theaters and motion picture houses played the overture of the Brazilian opera, "Il Guarani," your citizens had a special treat.

Last evening was Brazilian night in Washington at the Keith Vaudeville Theater. The Brazilian Ambassador was escorted by Acting Secretary of State Phillips. The boxes were occupied by State Department officials and members of the Embassy staff; the theater was beautifully decorated in Brazilian and American flags; the Brazilian anthem was played; slides of Brazilian scenes shown on the curtain, and the "Il Guarani" overture rendered by the large orchestra. The manager spoke from the stage, and his remarks were highly appropriate and pleasing. In fact, it developed into a very impressive function.

I wish to personally thank you for your very practical form of co-operation in our work in bringing the peoples of the Americas into closer acquaintanceship.

I am

Sincerely yours,
Franklin Adams,
Counselor.

BALLOT PROTEST.

Mayor Curley addressed a communication to Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, Corporation Counsel, relative to protests as to the validity of the recent primary election, upon the 13th instant.

The letter of Mayor Curley was as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
September 13, 1922.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan,
Corporation Counsel, 730 Tremont Building Boston:

Dear Mr. Sullivan,—I have been informed that it is the purpose of certain candidates for public office to file a protest, with a view to contesting the validity of the election, as a consequence of the extension of time in which voting might take place.

In view of the fact that I recommended immediate action by the Election Commission, subject to a legal opinion from you before authorizing the extending of the hour of closing, and in view of the further fact that it was my desire that no one entitled to vote be deprived of the privilege, and the additional fact that, if a large number were deprived, it might render necessary a special election entailing considerable expense, I would respectfully suggest that you confer at once with the Election Commission and the Secretary of State so that the position of the city upon the entire matter may be clearly understood.

Sincerely yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with the B. E. Grant Company for recutting and relaying granite block pavement in Essex street, from Washington street to Atlantic avenue, and Harrison avenue, from Essex street to Beach street, city proper, from September 15, 1922, to October 15, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that the contractor was delayed on account of underground work of public service corporations.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with the Mt. Pleasant Contracting Company for recutting and relaying granite block pavement in Causeway street, from Portland street to Beverly street; and Beverly street, from Causeway street to Warren Bridge, city proper, from September 15, 1922, to October 15, 1922. This extension is requested because of stormy weather and operations of the Boston Elevated Railway Company.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with the Bermudez Company for sheet asphalt pavement in Clarendon street, from St. James avenue to Stuart street; then St. James avenue, from Berkeley street across Clarendon street; Exeter street, from Beacon street to Commonwealth avenue; and Hereford street, from Beacon street to Boylston street, city proper, from September 15, 1922, to October 15, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that the contractor was delayed by building operations on the John Hancock Building and stormy weather.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with M. DeMatteo for laying sheet asphalt pavement in Humboldt avenue, from Walnut avenue to Seaver street, West Roxbury, from September 15, 1922, to October 15, 1922. This extension is requested for the reason that operations have been delayed on account of rainy weather and the Boston Elevated Railway Company.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works for the following construction work:

A sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Ogden street, between Wilmington avenue and a point 200 feet southerly, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $1,200.

A sanitary sewer of 18-inch earthen pipe in Broadway, between a point 175 feet northwest of Harrison avenue and a point 125 feet southeasterly, in the city proper district, at an estimated cost of $3,398.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch and 15-inch earthen pipe in private land, Arnold Arboretum and the Arborway, between Custer street and Centre street, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $9,400.

A sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Savannah avenue, between Oakland street and a point 1,165 feet northeasterly, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $11,700.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe and a surface drain of 10-inch, 12-inch and 15-inch earthen pipe in Newburn street, from existing sewer 670 feet south of Richards avenue to Richards avenue; and a sanitary sewer and surface drain of 10-inch earthen pipe in Richards avenue, from Newburn street to a point 123 feet northwesterly, in the Hyde Park district, at an estimated cost of $8,700.

A sanitary sewer of 15-inch earthen pipe in Arborway, southeast side, between Custer street and a point 380 feet northeasterly and northwesterly in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $2,000.

A surface drain of concrete 5 feet 6 inches, in Spring Street Brook, across Centre street, near Spring street, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $4,725.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Centre street (northwest side) between 200 feet northeast of Greenhill avenue, and a point 874 feet northeasterly and easterly, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $8,810.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 130.

My attention has been called to the fact that a number of police badges has been lost recently by officers of this department.

Heretofore it has been the custom to replace these badges, when lost through the carelessness of the wearers, at a merely nominal expense to them, but because of the increasing frequency of these losses and the possible unpleasant consequences of their falling into the hands of unscrupulous persons, it has become necessary to take drastic action in this matter, and the replacement price of badges, therefore, will hereafter be $5 for each badge so replaced.

It has also been brought to my attention that a large number of revolvers has been lost by police officers, frequently through their laying them down and forgetting to pick them up again, and also in other equally careless ways.

This is a serious matter, not only because the replacement of revolvers thus heedlessly lost is a cause of annoyance to the replacing officer as well as of needless cost to the officers who lose them, but, and particularly, because revolvers when lost are liable to come into the possession of irresponsible persons who are neither authorized nor fit to have them.

It should, therefore, be clearly understood that police officers must take care of the property belonging to the City of Boston which is intrusted to them, and for which they will be held responsible.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

THE MAYOR ON THE FUEL SITUATION.

BY HIS HONOR JAMES M. CURLEY, MAYOR OF BOSTON.

(Reprinted from "Current Affairs.")

I have read Fuel Administrator Eugene C. Hultman's "The Future of Coal as a Fuel" in "Current Affairs" of August 28, 1922, with interest; and while I find his facts and figures appealing I do not find myself in agreement with his suggested remedies or his conclusions.

Fuel—anthracite, and bituminous coal, coke or oil—is a necessity for the industries and homes of Massachusetts; and when its importation ceases by reason of the failure of the sources of supply, or because excessive prices engineered by operators, railroads and middlemen make its use prohibitive, then this state must revert to primitive conditions, industry move elsewhere, Massachusetts decline from its proud eminence and become merely a summer playground for the people of more favored regions.

Mr. Hultman makes two statements which may or may not be accurate, but which are commonly accepted as such—that the supply of anthracite is limited and that there is ample bituminous coal to last a thousand years. He says, "The limited deposits of anthracite make it a natural monopoly"; and it is an axiom of democratic government that any monopoly, natural or artificial, is dangerous in private hands and should be in the control of the government. Experience has taught us that the supervision and regulation of monopolies is a palliative and not a cure for monopolies. As long as the monopoly is a private possession and its profits go to its owners, greed and cunning will find a way to handle the supervisors and gouge the public.

We do not have to go outside Massachusetts to learn the truth of this statement.

And then as to bituminous coal: "The direct interest in bituminous coal by householders, who compose the vast majority of our inhabitants, together with the highly organized and powerful influence of the owners of our industries and public utilities, will give New England as a whole a common interest in fuel and tend to prevent future exploitation."

These are the fine words that butter no parsnips. "The highly organized and powerful influence of the owners of our industries and public utilities" may be exerted to protect their own special interest, but these bodies have seldom exhibited any unusual solicitude for the humble householders of the Commonwealth in the past; they have controlled their emotions admirably during the present crisis, and will doubtless lose no sleep over them in the future. Moreover, it is well to remember that many of these persons and interests are also owners of coal properties in the coal regions, and while they may protect themselves, they leave the unorganized and helpless householders to shift for themselves.

Doubtless Mr. Hultman means well, but he should know the real conditions behind the coal smoke screen.

He says, "Fair competition has always been a healthy stimulus to trade, and it has protected consumers from abuse by unscrupulous elements which are the small minority in all lines of endeavor."

"Fair competition" is an idle dream in 1922. The small minorities are highly organized and financed; the consumers constitute a helpless bleating, unorganized, sheep flock at the mercy of the wolves. These minorities control mines, railroads and the men and means of distribution; they command the economic field and make everybody stand and deliver; and until a government of strong, enlightened men is ruling the country from Washington present conditions will prevail. A handful of Spartans entrenched in the Pass of Thermopylæ and controlling the highway to Greece baffled the hordes of Persia.

Coal and oil are natural resources placed in the earth by God for the use of humanity; the fabrication and location of these fuel supplies were the work of nature; they did not cost man one minute of labor, one drop of sweat. Those who gained control of the mines bought the soil under which they lie cheaply and for other purposes, if they did not come to them as a gift. Intended by the Creator for all humanity, these coal properties should belong to the nation for the use of the nation, to be worked and distributed without profit to the nation to satisfy its necessities.

The men who have gained control of these natural resources have betrayed their trusts and plundered the people. Every recurring year we have much the same conditions of terror, panic and artificial shortage as in 1922; and these conditions, which have in them the threat of disaster to industry and household and danger to the peace and order of the country, have grown intolerable and must be brought to a permanent close.

Henry Ford of Detroit has let a great light in on the real conditions of the coal crisis and says they are the result of a deliberate conspiracy and combination to loot both American industry and the American people. He refuses to surrender to the coal conspirators; and even here in Boston and Massachusetts which are the victims of the hold-up, there is a press that rebukes Ford for refusing to pay the profiteer's price, while it affects to weep for the unemployed. To my mind the only cure for the fuel conditions lies in the seizure of the coal resources of America by the government, making fuel a government monopoly. Labor at the mines may be a trifle more expensive under public than private monopoly, but the price of coal to the consumer will be cut in two, as the parasites and drones of the coal industry will be eliminated.

Personally, I object to the general use of bituminous coal in Boston; it is dirty, unsanitary, wasteful, destructive of the beauty and attractiveness of the city, injurious to property, inefficient for household use and expensive in the equipment made necessary by the change from anthracite; and its substitution for hard coal would transform a city whose climate and atmospheric charm are its best assets into a replica of some of the towns of the Black Country of England.

If the government will not move to the aid of the people in this coal problem, I favor the substitution of fuel oil for coal, as a more economical, less wasteful, more efficient fuel, clean, sanitary, safe, labor-saving and practical in its application to every purpose for which coal is now used. Boston and its vicinity has ample vacant lands and shore front for immense storage purposes and delivery and distribution by water transportation. I favor making a public monopoly of oil as well as coal, or so regulating its sale and distribution as to make profiteering and hold-ups impossible. In the use of oil I see a solution of the coal problem when united with public ownership and with the growth and economic development of the use of fuel oil in New England, the greed and arrogance of the coal profiteer would be baffled and he would come here for business with his hat in his hand and not with a club.

Our own fuel and heat engineer, Mr. Mahar of the Schoolhouse Commission, has given a careful study to the use of oil as a fuel and his lucid and convincing report on the subject was accepted and adopted by the Boston City Hospital Trustees.

The introduction of great oil storage plants into Boston means their location and administration under conditions of absolute protection to the health, life and property of the citizens, and does not mean the opening of oil refineries here with the danger to health, the pollutions of waters and the injury to shore fronts, beaches and fisheries incidental to the oil refining industry; and that is a business that is separate and apart from the fuel question.

The great problem underlying the whole question is the protection of the public from the profiteers preying on them, the assurance of adequate and regular supplies to meet the needs and necessities of the community, and delivery to the public of any and every kind of fuel at reasonable prices. These things the government alone can guarantee and insure, and can do so best by taking back the resources that were permitted to pass into private ownership by tax laws and official chicanery. That rarest of things—an official courage—is necessary to accomplish this reform. Laws have already been passed withdrawing oil lands from sale and reserving them for government ownership. The principle has been incorporated into our public policy in the teeth of every corrupt and selfish interest in the country and the expansion of the policy is vital to the public peace, as well as a vigilant watch over the public officials administering the law to compel them to observe the spirit as well as the letter of the law.

Finally, I want to see this Commonwealth liberated from the thrall of every greedy, profiteering interest, zealous to prey upon our vital necessities. It is repugnant to the dignity and self-respect of a sovereign state and its people that year in and year out it must go to an organized body of private financial, industrial and transportation interests asking that its paramount rights be recognized and its necessities conceded as a favor. It is as humiliating as it is unnecessary, and this combination of exaction, insolence and terrorism should be ended for all time by making the requirements of all the people superior to the proprietary rights of the few.

The State of New York, 300 miles nearer the sources of coal supply than Massachusetts, has through its executive, Governor Miller, declared a state of emergency to exist and has called the Legislature to meet and provide funds and legislation to meet the crisis. Why is this Commonwealth sitting idly by, twiddling its thumbs in the shadow of disaster? It is time to be up and doing.

LAND-TAKING IN WEST ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved an order of the Board of Street Commissioners for a taking of land for sewerage works, in Spring street Brook, West Roxbury.

The property is bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Earl S. Sloan, bounded:

The examination will consist of the filing of a statement of training and experience. The mark given in experience will be combined with the mark given applicants by the State Board of Electricians at the time of receiving their license.

Successful applicants will be given a physical examination.

General Information.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in section 23 of chapter 31 of the General Laws.

SERIOUS FREIGHT EMBARGO.

Mayor Curley addressed the following letter to Frederic S. Snyder, President of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, relative to the serious embargo declared by trunk line railroads against east-bound freight destined to Boston and New England points, upon the 12th instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
September 12, 1922.

Mr. Frederic S. Snyder, President, Boston Chamber of Commerce,
177 Milk Street, Boston:

Dear Sir,— I am informed that the trunk line railroads have declared an embargo, which became effective at midnight September 10, against all east-bound carload freight, from all connections, at all junction points, and for all destinations, excepting from the embargo food, fuel and certain perishable articles.

I addressed telegram on the 10th instant to the presidents of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, the Lehigh Valley, and the New York Central Railroads asking if this results in an embargo upon New England freight from western points.

I have received no answer from the first two. President Smith of the New York Central, replies as follows:

"New York, N. Y.,
September 13, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Your telegram even date. Embargo issued by New York Central does not in any way restrict or interfere with movement of freight originating on any of the New York Central system lines and destined to New England points, nor does it restrict or interfere with movement of food for human consumption, livestock, feed for livestock, perishable products, coal, coke, fuel, oil, petroleum products, newsprint paper, fertilizer, food containers and United States Government freight originating on any railroad and destined to New England points. All other freight originating beyond rails of the New York Central system lines from connections Buffalo and West will be handled on permits issued by our freight traffic manager at Chicago or our general freight agent at New York. This embargo is designed entirely to protect free movement or regular business which is now being handled in record quantities against interruption by congestion due to abnormal wholesale diversions of freight to the New York Central from other railroads which already have embargoes in force and to insure a compliance with interstate commerce commission service orders. It places New England territory in exactly the same relative position as other localities on the New York Central system lines.

A. H. Smith."

While this statement shows a desire to meet the situation as far as possible, it confirms its seriousness to New England industry.

May I ask you to give the matter your attention and to advise me if I can be of service?

Very respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

PROTEST UPON BALLOT SHORTAGE.

Mayor Curley addressed the following communication to Secretary of State Cook upon the 12th instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
September 12, 1922.

Hon. Frederick W. Cook, Secretary of State, State House, Boston:

Dear Mr. Cook,—Melancthon W. Burlen, chairman of the Election Department, today stated that the vote cast in many precincts of the city was in excess of the total vote cast in those same precincts in the last Presidential election, and owing to the fact that the Secretary of State determines the number of ballots that may be apportioned to each precinct in certain places, there were insufficient ballots to provide opportunity for all persons desiring to vote the privilege of doing so.

As the result of a conference between the Mayor, Corporation Counsel and the chairman of the Election Board, it was definitely determined that the Secretary of State be requested to provide hereafter, at the polling places, a number of ballots equivalent to 50 per cent in excess of the enrolled voters of each party in each precinct of the city.

Sincerely yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

TRANSFER OF HORSES.

The Mayor has granted permission to transfer horses Nos. 1480, 1597, 1609, 1661, 1672, 1729 and 1735 from the Fire Department to the Public Works Department. On account of the new motor apparatus installed in the department there are more horses than are necessary for present needs. These horses are transferred with the understanding that the Fire Department may call for them at any time and they will be returned.

COAL OPERATORS INDORSE MAYOR.

His Honor the Mayor received the following communication from Mr. Edward W. Parker, secretary, General Committee of Anthracite Operators, Philadelphia, Penn., upon the 9th instant:

PHILADELPHIA, PENN.,
September 8, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I am requested by Mr. S. D. Warriner, chairman of the General Policies Committee of Anthracite Operators, to acknowledge with sincere thanks the receipt of your telegram of September 1, with reference to the acceptance by the anthracite operators of the proposal of Senators Pepper and Reed for the settlement of the anthracite controversy.

The sentiment expressed in the telegrams received by the committee was overwhelmingly in favor of extending the old wage scale to August 31, 1923, if by doing so mining operations could be immediately resumed and the necessities of the public relieved.

This was strengthened by a letter from the President of the United States urging in the name of public welfare that both operators and miners acceed to the proposal of Senators Pepper and Reed. Such action was accordingly taken and, as you are already aware through the reports in the public press, a contract has been entered into extending the wage scale and working conditions without modification to August 31, 1923.

Yours very truly,

E. W. PARKER, Secretary.

Upon September 18 the Mayor approved a contract with the Coffin Valve Company for assembling gates. Bids for the work, opened September 8, were as follows:

Coffin Valve Company, $6,500; Murray Engineering Company, $12,100.

Schoolhouse Department.

Upon September 21 the Mayor approved a contract with the Strahan Construction Company for erecting and completing, all trades, an addition to the Oak Square School, Brighton. Bids for the work, opened August 29, were as follows:

Strahan Construction Company, $30,715; M. S. Kelliher, $31,450; Joseph Rugo, $31,685.

Incident to the award of this contract Chairman Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Commissioners issued the following statement:

"The lowest bid submitted, that of the Strahan Construction Company, was approximately $7,000 higher than the amount of the appropriation for this work, and therefore we could not award this contract under the bid submitted.

"Since that date, at a conference of the Board, the lowest bidder and the architect, certain changes were made in order to reduce the cost, and the Strahan Construction Company has agreed to perform the work with these changes for the sum of twenty-one thousand nine hundred (21,900) dollars. Owing to the necessity of providing as soon as possible adequate accommodations for the pupils of the district, the Board feels that no advantage to the city would result from readvertising, and has therefore voted, subject to the approval of your Honor, to award the contract, without advertising, to the Strahan Constuction Company, 124 Worcester street, in the sum of twenty-one thousand nine hundred (21,900) dollars, under the provisions of section 30, chapter 486, of the Acts of 1909."

Supply Department.

Upon September 20 the Mayor approved a contract with the Barrett Company for furnishing 200 tons, more or less, of hot tar patching material to the Public Works Department. Bids for the supply, opened August 18, were as follows:

The Barrett Company, $24.20 per ton; Joseph J. Galvin, $29.85 per ton; Independent Coal Tar Company, $37.50 per ton.

Incident to the award of this contract Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department made the following statement:

"This contract is being made to secure the requirements of the Public Works Department. This department entered into a contract with George P. Sullivan for furnishing this material on June 19, 1922, and although Mr. Sullivan delivered the material according to specifications, the material was found to be unsatisfactory for use in the Public Works Department, and a release was obtained from Mr. Sullivan from his contract, and public bids were again solicited under specifications satisfactory to the Public Works Department, the Barrett Company being the lowest bidders, and I therefore recommend awarding the contract to them."

Superintendent Rock further stated:

"On June 19, 1922, this department entered into a contract with George P. Sullivan for furnishing to the Public Works Department 250 tons of hot tar patching material after public advertisement. This material was made up according to specifications furnished by the Public Works Department. After Mr. Sullivan had made delivery of this material it was found that although it was according to specifications, it was not the type of material desired for the work of the Public Works Department. The results obtained from it were not satisfactory.

"The Public Works Department desired to have the hot patching material made according to specifications that had been in use in the department for several years, and found to be satisfactory, and therefore we requested Mr. George P. Sullivan to release them, without damage to the city, from the contract which had been entered upon with him. Mr. Sullivan agreed to this release, and the matter was then referred to the Law Department in order that the proper release might be drawn up and that the City of Boston would be protected from any damages arising from this contract.

"Mr. Sullivan has signed this release, the original of which has been filed with the City Auditor. I therefore recommend that Mr. Sullivan be released from this contract and that I be given authority to enter into a new contract after advertising the same for the grade of hot tar patching material desired by the Public Works Department."

Upon September 21 the Mayor approved a contract with the Suffolk Coal Company for furnishing semibituminous coal to the fire and police boats. Bids for the supply, opened September 18, were as follows:

1,800 Tons, Fire Boat.—City Fuel Company, $10.50 per ton; Metropolitan Coal Company, $10.70 per ton; Suffolk Coal Company, $10.26 per ton.*

1,000 Tons, Police Boat.—City Fuel Company, $10.50 per ton; Metropolitan Coal Company, $10.70 per ton; Suffolk Coal Company, $10.26 per ton.*

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Works Department (Bridge Service).

Upon September 18 the Mayor approved repairs upon the steel work of the Arlington Street Bridge, city proper A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, September 16, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to order the Boston Structural Steel Company to make repairs to the steel work of the Arlington Street Bridge, over the Boston & Albany Railroad, city proper, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,000.

This is emergency work and the Boston Structural Steel Company is well qualified to do this work.

Unit prices are to be as follows: Old metal removed, 5¾ cents per pound; new metal furnished, 5 4-5 cents per pound; old rivets removed, 56 cents per rivet; new rivets furnished and driven, 45 cents per rivet; new holes drilled in the field, 90 cents per hole; other work, actual cost plus 15 per cent on cost of labor.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon September 18 the Mayor approved the rebuilding of the wooden flooring of the Arlington Street Bridge, over the Boston & Albany Railroad, city proper. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, September 16, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to rebuild the wooden flooring of the Arlington Street Bridge, over the Boston & Albany Railroad, city proper, by the day labor force of the Bridge Service, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $1,800.

This is regular maintenance work and, in my opinion, can be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke.
Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Works Department (Paving Service).

Upon September 15 the Mayor approved a contract with John Rugo for building artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, September 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to John Rugo, 149 Pleasant street, Dorchester, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters;

also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon September 18 the Mayor approved the rough grading of Stuart street, between Columbus avenue and Washington street, city proper. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, September 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to rough grade Stuart street, between Columbus avenue and Washington street, city proper, with division force, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $50,000.

This is an assessable street and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

Respectfully,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Supply Department.

Upon September 15 the Mayor approved a contract with the American Sterilizer Company for one formaldehyde disinfector for the service of the Health Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, September 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising the same, to the American Sterilizer Company, 200 Fifth avenue, New York City, for furnishing to the Health Department one American Kinzgown-Francis steam formaldehyde disinfector, 36 inches wide by 42 inches high by 84 inches long, with a radial arm door at rack end, complete piping, car, tracks, and all labor, to deliver and set in position in the Detention Hospital, at a price of fourteen hundred forty-six (1,446) dollars.

This disinfector has been selected as the one best suited for the needs of their department, and I therefore trust that the permission asked for will be granted.

Yours respectfully,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon September 18 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston Buick Company for furnishing one Buick sedan car to the Boston Fire Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, September 18, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising the same, to the Boston Buick Company for furnishing one 1923 Buick sedan to the Fire Department at a cost of $2,360, the following old cars to be taken and used toward the purchase price: Five Buick roadsters, 1916, at $100 each, $500; one Buick touring car, 1916, $125; total, $625.

The total amount of the contract will be $1,735.

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon September 18 the Mayor approved a contract with the Wedlake-Lamson Company for furnishing Christie parts to the Fire Department. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, September 15, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising the same, to the Wedlake-Lamson Company for furnishing Christie parts to the Fire Department, in accordance with the attached list, the amount of the contract to be $998.88. No saving could be made the city by publicly advertising these parts, owing to the fact that the Wedlake-Lamson Company are the manufacturers and can sell to the city at a lower price than any other concern.

In view of the above, I trust that the permission asked for will be granted.

Respectfully yours,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

Public Buildings Department.

An addition, in the amount of $211, on contract with the National Electric Construction and Supply Company for electric, gas and elevator equipment at the Municipal Building, Shawmut avenue and West Brookline street, Boston. For installation of two extra gas outlets in social room, $20.25; for installation of electric floor receptacle for speaker's stand in floor of stage in auditorium, $29.80; for installation of three additional outlets in ceiling of dressing rooms, $35.95; for installation of four electric fan outlets in library, $95; and for cutting, painting and patching plastering for these four outlets, $30; total, $211. Original contract, $11,700; total additions, $211; contract as standing, $11,911.

Public Works Department (Sewer Service).

An addition, amounting to $6, on contract with Thomas P. McMorrow for cleaning catch-basins in District No. 7, Dorchester and Hyde Park, on account of cleaning out concrete and stone in catch-basins. Original contract, $8,820; total addition, $6; contract as standing, $8,826.

Public Works Department (Water Service).

Additions, amounting to $65, on contract with DeCristoforo & Brothers Company for laying and relaying water pipes in Bourne, Gardner, Grouse and Hautevale streets, Louder's lane, Washington street, Westbourne terrace, West Roxbury; Chester street and Metropolitan avenue, Hyde Park, on account of installing 6-inch pipe in lieu of 12-inch pipe as shown on plans, and assisting Water Service employees on 3-inch wrought-iron pipe over railroad bridge and on Smith sleeve connection. Original contract, $4,407; total additions, $65; contract as standing, $4,472.

THE CITY TAX RATE.

The tax rate for 1922, as announced by the Board of Assessors, is $24.70 per thousand of valuation, the rate being the same as last year.

In view of the fact that thirty out of thirty-eight cities in the Commonwealth have increased their rates, in one case the increase being $7.90 per thousand, and in view of the additional fact that the average increase in the 260 cities and towns of the Commonwealth as reported by the Commissioner of Corporation and Taxation is $1.51 per thousand, the rate as announced by the Board of Assessors is most gratifying.

Seven of the eight cities in which a decrease has been made in the tax rate have a rate at present in excess of $30.

There is scant comfort for the avaricious landlords in the tax rate as announced, as substantially the major portion of increases in valuation were levied in the business section of the city. Consequently there can be no reasonable excuse for an advance of rentals in the residential section of the city.

NO RETIREMENT FOR CAPT. HALL.

Mayor Curley is not inclined to approve a recommendation which has been received from Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson for the retirement of Deputy Superintendent Forrest F. Hall, who has reached the retirement age of 65 years, and whose name is thus automatically presented for retirement. The medical examination revealed Deputy Hall to be in excellent physical condition, and Mayor Curley believes that he is able to perform his duties for the present.

Deputy Hall was recently promoted to the office of deputy superintendent, having gone to police headquarters from Station 14, Brighton, where he was commanding officer.

ACCEPTANCE OF STREETS.

The locations, directions, widths and grades of the private ways designated as Faxon street, from Austin avenue to Waupello road, and Waupello road, from Faxton street to Saratoga street, East Boston, have been approved.

CHICAGO ALDERMEN HERE.

The Committee on Efficiency, Economy and Rehabilitation of the Chicago city government and comprising Alderman Charles Scribner Eaton, chairman, and Aldermen John A. Richert, Oscar H. Olsen, Leo C. Klein, Walter P. Steffen, E. I. Frankhouser, Thomas R. Caspers, Benjamin S. Wilson, John P. Garner and John S. Clark, are guests of the City of Boston today for the purpose of observing methods employed in Boston for the collection and disposal of garbage and refuse, the movement and direction of traffic and the character of pavement best suited at traffic centres. The visitors will be in charge of Lieut. James Laffey of the Traffic Division of the Police Department, Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department, Chairman John H. Dunn of the Board of Street Commissioners and a representative of the Mayor's office.

Mayor Curley will extend a luncheon to the visitors at the Crystal Room of the Parker House at 1 p. m. today. In the evening the Chicago visitors will depart for Montreal.

MOTORIZATION OF FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Mayor Curley received the following communication from Fire Commissioner Glynn relative to the motorization of the Fire Department upon the 20th instant:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully submit the following report as to the horse-drawn apparatus in active service in this department up to September 15, 1922:

Engine Company 9, Paris street, East Boston.
Engine Company 27, Elm street, Charlestown.
Engine Company 29, Chestnut Hill avenue, Brighton.
Engine Company 32, Bunker Hill street, Charlestown.
Engine Company 34, Western avenue, Brighton.
Engine Company 40, Sumner street, East Boston.
Total of six engine companies.
Ladder Company 2, Paris street, East Boston.
Ladder Company 3, Harrison avenue, South End.
Ladder Company 9, Main street, Charlestown.
Ladder Company 19, Fourth street, South Boston.
Ladder Company 23, Washington street, Dorchester.
Ladder Company 24, North Grove street.
Ladder Company 27, Walnut street, Dorchester.
Total of seven ladder companies.

To complete the motorization of the Boston Fire Department twenty-four pieces of motor-driven apparatus will be required, and in view of this fact I believe that provisions should be made at an early date for the purchase of 10 Type 75, 750-gallon motor combination pump and hose cars.

7 Type 75, motor combination chemical and hose cars.
2 Type 17, 75-foot aerial trucks.
5 Type 16, city service ladder trucks.

The above-mentioned motor apparatus would only partially provide for the necessary reserve which is needed to replace apparatus out of service for causes incidental to fire service, such as accidents and necessary repairs. A large part of our present apparatus is of the American LaFrance make which has been approved as to engineering standards as apparatus most suitable to our needs and requirements. In the purchase of more of this apparatus we are standardizing our equipment and simplifying our entire operation by having one man or a thousand men capable of manipulating any piece of apparatus going to, returning from or at a fire. In addition to this we are reducing the maintenance cost by eliminating a tremendous overhead due to carrying in stock of many parts which a complete standardization will make unnecessary.

A 75-foot aerial truck ordered under contract dated November 23, 1921, at a cost of $15,156, and delivered May 19, 1922, was paid for out of this year's appropriation for motor apparatus, thus limiting us in the amount of apparatus that could be purchased this year.

The approximate cost of the motor apparatus outlined above is as follows:

10 combination pump and hose cars at $11,572 each	$115,720
7 combination chemical and hose cars at $8,290 each	58,030
2 75-foot aerial trucks at $15,156 each	30,312
5 city service ladder trucks at $9,400 each	47,000
Total cost (approximate)	$251,062

The fire-fighting force of the department is divided into the following companies:

53 engine companies (including three marine companies).
30 ladder truck companies.
3 tower companies.
2 chemical companies.
1 rescue company.
2 emergency squads. The squads perform night and day service in connection with the emergency wrecking wagon.

I realize the tremendous cost to complete the motorization of this department, but feel that conditions warrant quick action in this respect. If the financial condition of the city will not permit the purchase of the apparatus required at the present time I would appreciate action that would result in the installation of any part of the above quantity.

Yours very truly,
Theodore A. Glynn,
Fire Commissioner.

CONSERVATION BUREAU.

Mayor Curley has presented the City Council a draft of an amendment to the ordinances which will permit of the appointment of a commission of nine, known as the Conservation Bureau, to carry on prevention work for the protection of the health and the life of the public. The Council has formally approved the measure.

This matter is in line with Mayor Curley's recommendation as the result of the death toll among children in the South End, who play in the streets and are struck by automobiles and trucks, and also with respect to the Chamber of Commerce report for cleaning the city.

The Mayor believes that it is possible to stimulate interest in these matters by an active campaign in the schools, moving picture houses and in the parks. He will appoint E. B. Mero, secretary of the Public Celebrations Committee, as chairman of the new bureau, all members of which will serve without salary. He expects the life insurance companies, the public service corporations and other organizations will cooperate to make the movement successful.

NEW HEALTH UNIT.

Police Station 8, Commercial street, is to be converted into a district health unit for the North End, upon its abandonment next December, when the police will occupy their new home a few streets distant.

Mayor Curley announced this fact with a good deal of satisfaction, since by this action $100,000 of the $175,000 which was to be appropriated out of the George R. White Fund income can be spent toward erection of a new health unit for the East Boston section.

The Mayor announces that he has commissioned Coolidge & Shattuck to plan the remodeling of the old police station, and this firm's fee and the cost of renovating the building's interior will not exceed $75,000.

Manager George E. Phelan of the White Fund has agreed with the Mayor to ascertain whether the same course can be followed in East Boston with some piece of property owned by the City of Boston.

FREE PUBLIC LECTURES.

The Trustees of the Boston Public Library announce the twenty-fifth season of Free Public Lectures for the season of 1922-23.

The lectures will be given upon Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock and Sunday afternoons at 3.30 o'clock.

The entrance is from Boylston street only. The doors will be opened two hours before each lecture and closed ten minutes after the lecture begins. The Thursday lectures are always illustrated by lantern slides. The Sunday lectures usually are not illustrated. Exceptions are mentioned below. Lectures are given occasionally during the winter in the lecture hall of the Charlestown, East Boston, Jamaica Plain, North End, West Roxbury, and Upham's Corner Branches.
